Student Body President Appointed

The night was May 4—the occasion was the Chorale Banquet. An evening of expectations turned out to have more surprises than the most hopeful anticipated. As the evening of champagne, sizzling steaks, and red-vested servers drew on, noble young Prince Esterhazy masterfully presented the praise and the presents to those who worked diligently to make the 63-64 Chorale a success. Little did he realize that he would receive the most unexpected surprise of all.

Mr. Garner Ted Armstrong followed the Prince on the program. After reminiscently lauding Mr. Ettinger, Mr. (Continued on page 8)

NEW NINETEEN SIXTY-FOUR ENVOY SETS STIFF PACE FOR ANNUALS

Thursday, May 21, witnessed the unveiling of the most fantastically beautiful ENVOY yet published! The 1964 ENVOY staff is truly to be congratulated for the breath-taking representation of artistic skill in design, color and cultural quality witnessed in this year's yearbook.

But The ENVOY is much more than merely a yearbook. The first thing you'll notice about it is the cover design and lay-out. The S. K. Smith Company, the publishing company responsible for the cover design and production, is using this year's Ambassador College ENVOY cover as a display of their ability to produce fine work. This year's cover is the largest metal appliqué for a yearbook they have ever produced. It features functional design, with a marked break in the tradition

YOUR Prayers Count!

by Dennis Pyle

This summer, nineteen upperclassmen (including undergraduates) from Ambassador College have the opportunity to serve God's work in the field.

WHAT DOES THAT MEAN TO YOU?

It means that your prayers have been answered! In Matthew 9:37-38 Christ said, "The harvest truly is plenteous but the laborers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that he will send forth laborers into his harvest!" Several times during each week you have prayed those exact words—now they are bearing fruit!

DON'T STOP PRAYING NOW!

This summer there will be three nation-wide baptizing tours plus the possibility of two shorter tours. They will be traveling in all types of weather over every kind of road conceivable.

You need to double the effort that you have been putting out in prayer. Here are some specific things that you can pray about concerning the tours and the men sent out this summer.

(1) PROTECTION: Pray that God will protect them from accidents; from Satan and his demons, for the cars to stand up under the grueling conditions, and many other things.

(2) HEALTH: Pray that God will guide them to get the proper amount of sleep, eat balanced foods, exercise and stay fit so they can have the proper energy to keep up a driving pace.

(3) WISDOM: Pray that God will give the tour leaders the wisdom that is necessary to discern if a person is ready for baptism, and that they will have the wisdom to understand and discern spirits and attitudes.

(4) DRIVE AND ZEAL: Pray that God will infuse them with the drive and zeal that is necessary when they are missing sleep; that they will have the resolve to keep forging ahead regardless of how their physical bodies feel.

(5) PEOPLE MEETING THE TOURS: Ask God to bless those who will be meeting the tours, that the weather will allow them to be at the right meeting place at the designated time. Pray that they will have no interferences from their friends and family who are vehemently hostile to the "Armstrong men."

(6) FRUITS OF THE SPIRIT: Pray that God will bless the men with the fruits of the Holy Spirit. Many of the people they will meet will have no local churches, Bible studies or Spokesman Clubs to attend for a few years. Pray that God will work effectively and zealously through those men on tours so they will leave the people with the impact that Jesus Christ personally would leave with them! Pray that God will put the love of Christ inside their minds and hearts to have compassion on those they meet, and to count the lives of those newly begotten "babes" above what their own lives are worth.

Above all, DON'T FORGET the men who are being sent out! The summer is nearly here. It is not a time to relax on the job. It is a time to work harder than ever—to prepare for the winter months that lie ahead.

Remember—YOUR PRAYERS COUNT! THE EFFECTUAL FERVENT PRAYER OF A RIGHTEOUS MAN AVAILETH MUCH!!

A first for Ambassador! Unique construction sets precedent for rest of world! Completion date is August.

Intercollegiate Basketball Plans Nearly Complete

Conditions "just worked out" that Ambassador College was to build a gymnasium as its first major construction.

The idea of forming a basketball team to fill the gymnasium occurred and was adopted. As Mr. Jim Petty, the newly-appointed coach, began immediately to schedule games, conditions again "unfolded" in our favor. Most teams schedule their games long before April and May. But here was a fledgling, unheard-of competitor called Ambassador College trying to work out a schedule with already established, reputable colleges. It "so happened" that many top caliber teams needed one more game to round out their schedules and that those open dates they needed to fill dove-tailed precisely with our own scheduling. One coach looked over our schedule, saw some of the top teams listed, and commented: "You have pretty big aspirations there."

To build a reputation, you have to play reputable teams. Included in our probable twenty-game schedule (of which 17 games are confirmed) are such impressive small college names as Whittier, Caltech, Occidental, Claremont, and St. Michael's from Santa Fe, New Mexico. St. Michael's won the New Mexico Conference two years ago!

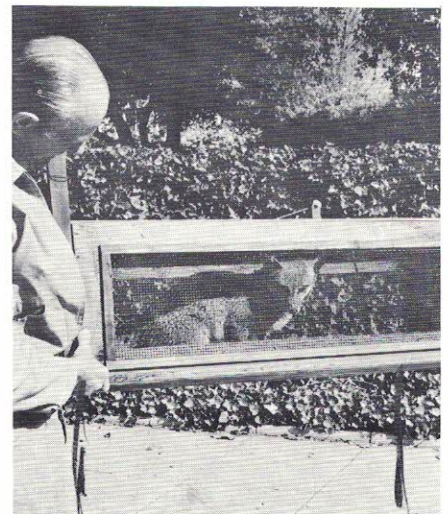

Several trips are scheduled for the two-and-one-half month basketball season which lasts from December to mid-February. They include a four to five day trip to Salt Lake City, Utah, during the semester break for two games and week-end jaunts to Phoenix, Sacramento, and Las Vegas. St. Michael's will be in our own 1,478 seat gymnasium for "homecoming" during the semester break. Another possible highlight of the season will be the "equipo" from The University of Mexico who barnstormed Central and South America last year and will be touring the United States this year.

With a new gymnasium to initiate

Festival Office Busily Plans For Feast of Tabernacles

With all the hustle and bustle of year-end activities, it is surprising to realize that the wonderful 1964 Feast of Tabernacles is just around the corner. Plans have been underway since last year and are now racing rapidly to completion for the biggest and best Feast yet.

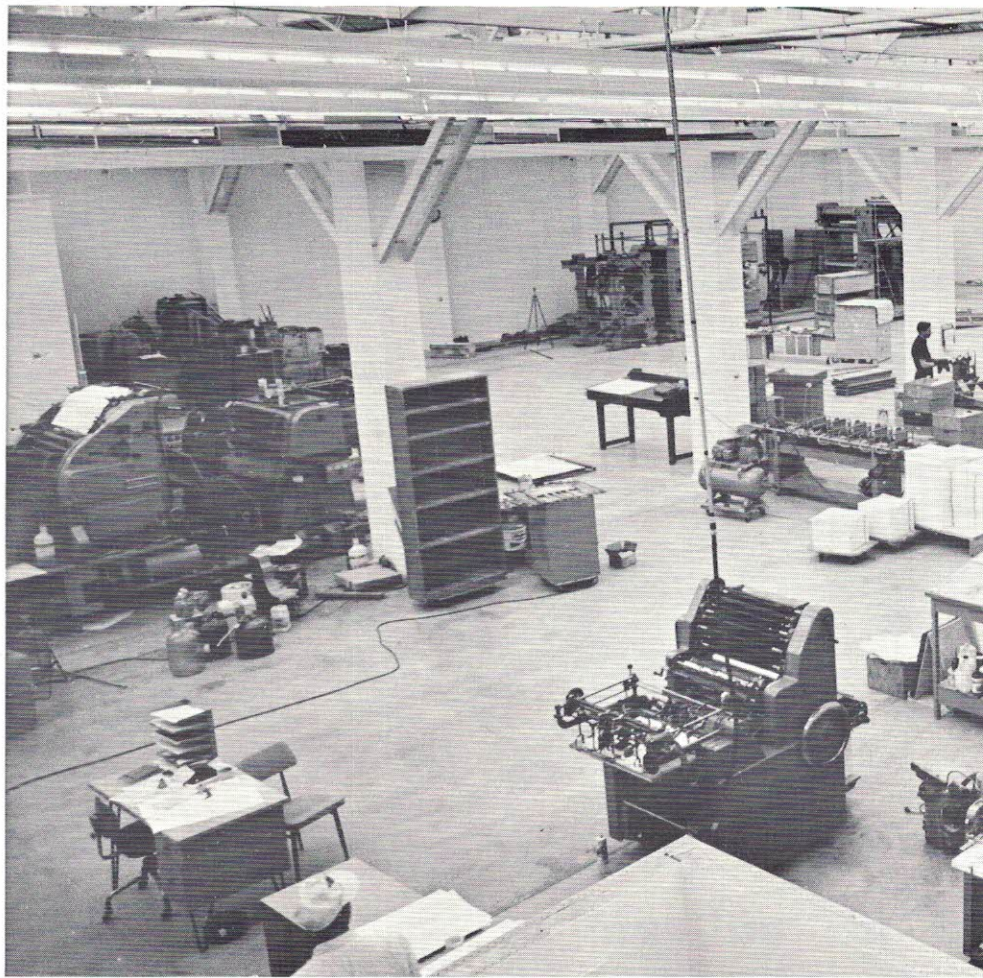

The Feast Office is busily readying letters, cards and forms to be sent out to brethren around the continent, concerning everything from tents to meal tickets and lanterns to coolers. This year, more than any other, will see a tremendous increase in the number of folks "dwelling in booths," or in more modern terminology—camping out. And since we are to do things correctly and in an organized manner, as well as really enjoy ourselves at the Feast, the camping equipment must be the best.

When you can buy the finest gear made and save money doing it—that's news, and we have news for you. The Feast Office has made arrangements to supply Coleman stoves, lanterns, coolers, stands, and ovens at almost 50% off the regular price. Combine this with the finest sewn-in-floor tents in sizes up to 12 feet by 14 feet at tremendous discounts and this is a fantastic opportunity for the brethren to buy once and then never worry about accommodations again.

Of course, all these blessings added to the planning needed to arrange for thousands of happy people in several locations around the United States mounts up to a GARGANTUAN task. Fortunately, with the complete cooperation of the entire membership, the job will be accomplished.

Remember after receiving the order and reservation forms, they must be returned by the deadline of July 30. By doing our part we will doubly insure the success and blessing of the 1964 Feast of Tabernacles.

Most men don't know where their business ends and their neighbor's begins.

NEW ENVOY

of the past. Yearbook covers have fallen into a rut over the years, until now when The ENVOY is blazing the trail for recapturing true values of artistic quality.

This is the seventh ENVOY to be produced by the Mirro-Graphic Company, a subsidiary of American Yearbook Company. Mr. Powell, the Manager of West Coast American Yearbook, has demanded excellence in this year's 264 page production. It has received his personal inspection and criticism throughout the preliminary stages, right up to the final printing! No second-rate inspection for The ENVOY!

One reason for this is that The ENVOY is to be evaluated this year in National Competition at Columbia University and University of Michigan by a group of professionals in the fields of art, journalism and lay-out. Mr. Powell feels certain that the 1964

ENVOY will finish with one of the highest ratings in the nation! This speaks well for his company.

But an even greater reason is that The ENVOY is one of this Work's most important and impressive presentations to the world by Ambassador College and the Church of God. To members, it is a miniature replica of what God's Work is doing. To advertising men and radio managers, it is a representation of The WORLD TOMORROW and Mr. Armstrong himself. That is why utmost care and highest quality are demanded from the ENVOY staff. We wish to extend heartiest thanks and sincere applause to our Editor-in-Chief, Mr. Howard Clark; Production Manager, Mr. Larry Altergott; Faculty Advisor, Mr. Kenneth Herrmann; and to the members of the 1964 ENVOY staff for their fine work this year.

Insomniacs don't sleep because they worry about it, and they worry about it because they don't sleep.

and progressive Press Building on earth!

Ambassador College Circulation Department

Growth and progress continue to be the keynote of Ambassador College. With the recent acquisitions of Crown City Lumber and Mill Co. buildings, and the decision to expand the Printing Department to include publishing The PLAIN TRUTH on a new web-fed press, the decision was made to call that department AMBASSADOR COLLEGE PRESS.

This decision, coupled with the relocation of the printing facilities, necessitated the renaming of two buildings. The former Ambassador College Press Building on Camden Drive is now the Ambassador College Circulation Department. The Crown City property is now the Ambassador College Press (Building) and will house the complete printing facilities, which will be the most modern and up-to-date printing plant in California!

Women's Club Readies Brunch

Wow! This exclamation aptly describes Women's Club finale of the year, the Annual Brunch, which is shaping up to be the most enjoyable ever!

Scheduled for 10 a.m., June 1, the year-end event will take place in the Lower Gardens, with serving behind the Library.

The tentative menu defies description, except to say it's designed to satisfy even the heartiest appetites. Eggs golden rod; ground meat squares; golden fried potatoes; nut cinnamon rolls; fresh fruit salad composed of oranges, melon balls, bananas, coconut and strawberries, with spiced whipped cream topping; pineapple-orange juice; hot chocolate or coffee and mints are all scheduled for serving.

So bring your ENVOY, for autographing, and yourself to the Brunch, 10 a.m., June 1.

Crew Installs Sprinkler System

As I peered from my concealed vantage point to the eerie scene below, I could sense there was something mysterious about the actions of the small group assembled on the plot of bare ground adjoining the Library. They seemed to be discussing a strange plan—some sort of ritual. Suddenly, several of them took long staffs with steel scoops attached and headed for four separate points. Then, as they faced the early morning rising sun, they began to scar the earth in a straight line toward a center point where they would meet.

As the weird rite progressed, the silvery headdresses glittered and shimmered in the bright, early light. I reflected for a moment that this was certainly curious procedure for Ambassador College Campus and perhaps would be well to check into. As I observed, these people seemed to be less interested in the depth of their excavation, than in its length. It was too shallow to be of use as I could discern. Why would this evidently organized team be laboring on a patch of earth, only to carve a seemingly useless—WAIT A MINUTE!! Like a clap of thunder, the meaning struck me! It became clear—the symbol these beings were cutting in the ground was sheer paganism!! Not content with this; they went so far as to take lengths of iron and lay them in these troughs, forming the ancient abominable symbol even more plainly!

However, just at that moment, these men must have repented, realizing what a terrible thing had been done. But since all that work shouldn't go to waste, a stroke of genius moved the construction crew to install another pipe or two and turn the whole thing into an underground sprinkler system, cover it up and plant grass seed! And that is almost the plain truth behind our beautiful new and well-watered lawn.

An optimist is a fellow who believes a housefly is looking for a way to get out.

Mrs. Mann

bray herself—began her fascinating life's story.

"I was a fisherman's daughter in Cape Breton," Mrs. Mann recalls. "When I was a girl, I helped at home all the time. We'd work very hard—but as soon as chores were done, we played—the whole peninsula of us."

Her schooling in Canada completed, Mrs. Mann journeyed to Boston, Massachusetts, where she began a busy job of taking care of children. From Boston, Mrs. Mann traveled to Michigan, finally settling in Detroit.

"In Detroit I first heard about an Anglo-Saxon Israel movement. It was interesting, and I began to study my Bible a bit. They seemed to have a little truth—but only a little."

After some 12 years in Michigan, Mrs. Mann crossed the country to live with her sister in California, where, interestingly enough, the Anglo-Saxon Israel movement in which she was interested had a branch office, in Los Angeles.

But Mrs. Mann's stay in California wasn't long. One day she happened to read an important ad in a local paper—an ad which was to eventually change her entire life!

"It was about Mr. Armstrong. He was holding meetings in Eugene, Oregon, at that time, and the ad said that he was preaching the truth concerning Israel. I asked my brother-in-law to find Mr. Armstrong for me—and he did! It was then, in the early 40's, that I moved to Eugene."

"I began to do odd jobs here and there—I even worked in the office reading mail!"

When it came to the Feast time, Mrs. Mann would journey to Belnap Springs to help there. Soon questions about a college arose, and Mr. Armstrong saw the need of starting Ambassador College.

"Mr. Armstrong asked if I would be House Mother when the College began. It was August 11, 1949 when I came to live on campus. I've lived here ever since."

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Begin Summer Tour

Wednesday morning, 8 o'clock, May 13, marked an important day in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kelly. They boarded a plane and said good-bye to Pasadena for an indefinite period of time. Their first destination was Big Sandy, Texas! During a two-day stopover, final plans and arrangements for their new home were taken care of.

Then, on the 15th, they left for New York, where they were for the Feast of Pentecost. By now, Mr. Kelly is conducting the German baptizing tour and Mrs. Kelly is back in Texas. She will fly to meet him July 7th at Cologne after the tour has been going about six weeks. Then they will be able to complete it together by approximately the middle of July.

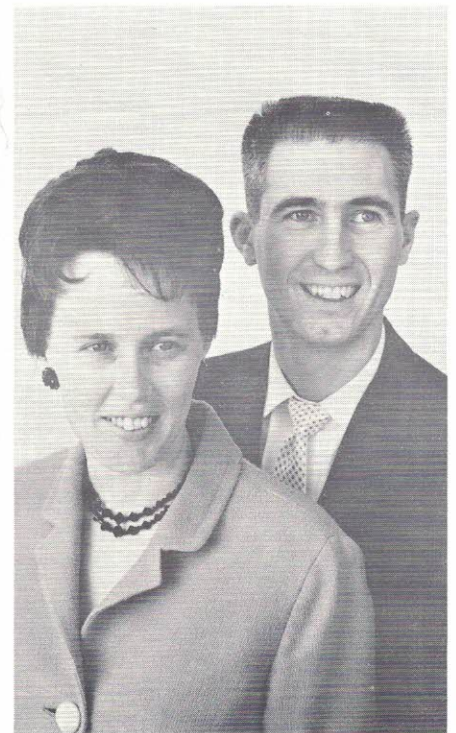

After this, the Kellys will be able to relax for a week while seeing Europe, and spend four or five days on the gorgeous English Campus. By the time they arrive back in Big Sandy, a breathtakingly beautiful, newly finished home will be awaiting them in the rustic East Texas woods!!

"Whenever I feel like exercise, I lie down until the feeling passes," said the man who lay down at 28 and never got up.

Chorale Holds Annual Fest In Assembly Hall

On the evening following their fine performance, the Chorale held its annual Chorale Banquet in the Assembly Hall. This year a delectable steak dinner was catered by Mr. Mott, and served by Chinese volunteers from fond admirers of the Chorale.

The colorful assemblage was dressed in the Viennese attire of the previous evening, complete with Tyrolean shorts on the folk dancers! Later the evening was further spiced by an entertainment session featuring the Three Blind Yiddish Beggars—Rube, Abe, and Morde-cai, who made the classic statement, "Didn't you just see what I didn't just see?!"

Only the deaf appreciate hearing; only the blind realize the manifold blessings that lie in sight.

Near the close came the presentation of gifts to those donating their service to the Chorale performance. The outstanding gift was to Mr. Ettinger: beach towel, sun-glasses and Copper-tone, wrapped in a fine leather Attaché case. Mrs. Dorothy Williams, long-time devotee to the Chorale, received an engraved bracelet from the members—just a token of the appreciation they share for her.

Now that the 1963-64 season is over, the banquet is past, and the next year is standing before us, we want to thank everyone in and of the Chorale for their service, and express our fond expectations for future years of service yet ahead!

Transportation Dept. Serves God's Work

After two years of hard driving by God's ministers, fantastic records were set by twenty-one '62 Dodge Darts and Chrysler 300s which arrived in Pasadena when the 1964 Ministerial Conference began. The total mileage of these twenty-one cars, which had rolled over the highways and by-ways of the United States, was OVER 1½ MILLION MILES—a distance comparable to SIX TRIPS TO THE MOON AND BACK.

Some of these cars, which are only a portion of the cars which are returned to Pasadena every year for replacement had been driven 100 THOUSAND MILES AND MORE during their time in the field. They needed repairs before they could be sold. This responsibility was relegated to Mr. Roemer, the man in charge of repairs and maintenance for an increasing fleet of Church and College vehicles.

Mr. Roemer talks about an automobile like most men would talk about a good bird dog or their favorite riding horse—he makes them live and breathe. Mr. Roemer's opinion of the few remaining Chrysler 300s which he just recently finished restoring could be summed up in these words: "After 100 thousand miles they were pretty tired."

In place of the faithful fleet of '62s, twenty-one NEW CARS now roll back and forth in the various church areas. Like any novice who has undertaken a new assignment, Mr. Roemer says, "They haven't proven themselves yet. But if they can match the '62s, they're GOOD CARS."

What new records will be set by this new fleet of restless road runners who are magnificently assisting God's ministers in getting the Gospel to Manasseh?

tion now without having to circumpectly watch every dark nook and cranny on campus.

Before safety was restored for the Ambassador College animals however, Mr. Homberger had a few false alarms before final success in capturing the vandal. Several innocent victims that were searching for a night's meal found themselves in a long, rectangular square box. This box was intended for the vandal mentioned above, but the cat kingdom (five cats in all) just could not resist their eating impulse. Finally after catching five cats Mr. Homberger succeeded in catching the fox that had been privately preying on Ambassador College campus animal life.

Library Lookout

The Fall of Rome—Can It Be Explained? Can you explain it? Edward Gibbon couldn't; Augustine couldn't; neither could Marcellinus. Questions and theories about Rome's manpower shortage, race mixture, climatic change, agricultural exhaustion and moral decay have all been examined as contributing factors. This new book, edited by Mortimer Chambers of U.C.L.A., combines selections from the writings of a dozen noteworthy authors and famous historians. Should you bother to look up this book? In the words of Chambers: "This is no minor historical event about which source material is scanty or trivial." By criticizing and evaluating this material, the reader will learn to sharpen his own tools of historical analysis and acquire permanently useful methods of thinking from a careful study of the fall of Rome.

One of the most extensive pictorial representations of stage history ever published is now available at the library! Photos used in World Theater In Pictures cover a 2000 year panorama of theater history from Aeschylus to Broadway. Every important period of the drama is covered. Tom Prideaux gives a concise coverage of each major period of world theater and then illustrates it with brilliant photographs from LIFE magazine of that phase of drama as presented today. All the "greats" are captured in their finest roles: Olivier, Gillgad, Barrymore, Evans, Cornell, Hayes and many more. Oriental theater from India to Japan, and popular entertainment from the music halls of Paris to Broadway's great musical shows also take their place in this theater parade. From the English Comic Genius to Clowns and Carnivals and from Picnic to The Man Who Came to Dinner. In all there are more than 130 famous plays of all-time presented with over 650 brilliant LIFE photographs. This book can be easily enjoyed in a short time by all who would and should know a little more about the theater. Look it up soon!

and a formidable schedule to tackle the fledgling team will have its work cut out for it—but not done for it! Official practice begins with the beginning of next school term. There will be from five to six hour-and-a-half workouts per week. Pre-season scrimmages are scheduled with Pasadena College and Pomona to help our team “get the feel” of inter-collegiate competition. Tip-off for our first official contest will be on November 28, 1964, against the La Verne Leopards. Mark that date well—you won't want to miss it!

President

Armstrong unexpectedly announced that the Student Body President for next year was present—none other than Prince Esterhazy himself, Mr. Dick Ames.

Although totally taken aback, the new officer-to-be inspired the banquet with words on the tremendous future of the Ambassador Colleges. He stressed the unlimited opportunities that all students have at Ambassador.

In Dick Ames Ambassador has a man of above average experience in the world for a student. He was an engineering student at Yale for a year. During the past summer he completed a project on a transportation system in Norfolk, Va., which he started before he came to college last year.

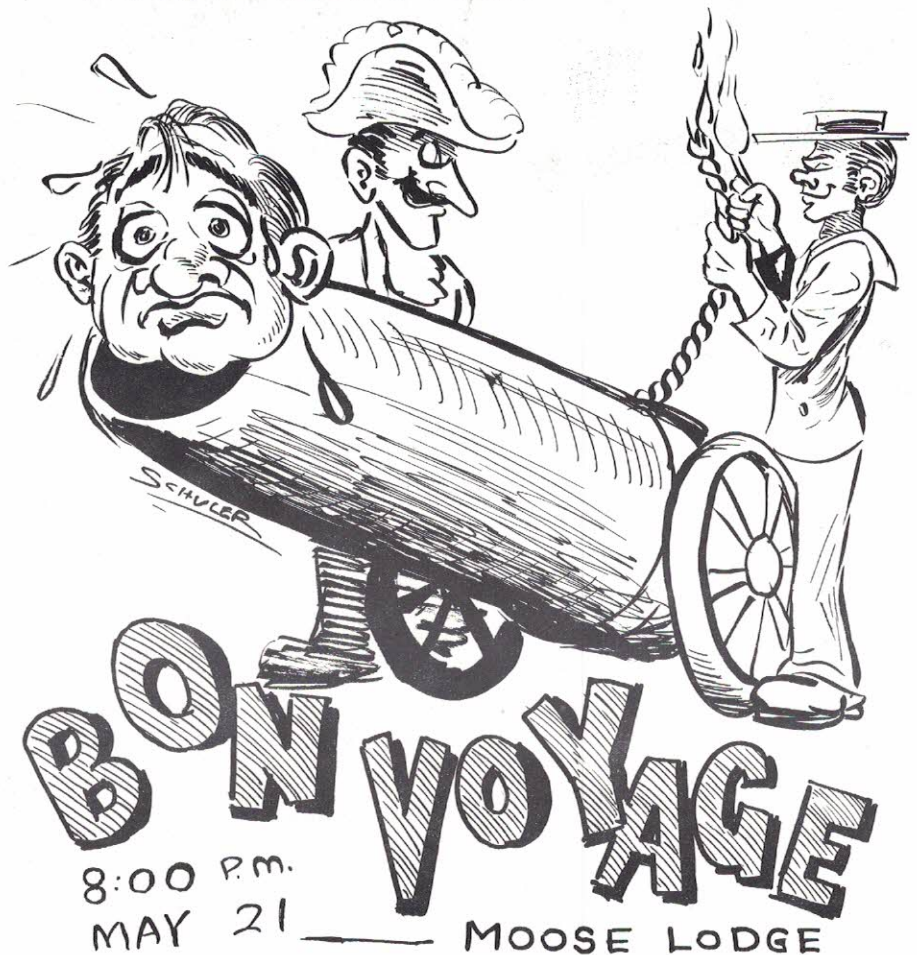

We will not see much of the new President this summer either as he leaves on a baptizing tour in June. All Ambassadors wish all success in the coming year to our 1964-65 Student Body President—Mr. Richard F. Ames.

Texas Growth

The Ambassador Who Confessed!

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sequel to a recent PORTFOLIO Editorial. Would you respond with his alacrity? Think about it as you read this article.

This is Ambassador College—and our students have proved it again!

Recently an Ambassador College man set the right example for many others who have yet to realize the importance of admitting mistakes.

This particular individual—after carelessly allowing some weights in the weightroom to mar the floor—immediately sent a note to Mr. Elliott. He offered to PAY FOR ALL DAMAGES! This took courage—perspective, and a real concern for others. Here is the “stuff” out of which Ambassador is made. Our anonymous Ambassador is an individual who is RECAPTURING TRUE VALUES.

We all make mistakes! We all become careless. This is a defect in character. But it merits only one spiritual swat.

The BIG SIN is covering up after the mistake—being afraid to “own up,” worrying about what others think of you. So don't be concerned about the IMMEDIATE embarrassment, instead of the LONG RANGE character—have the proper perspective.

Take this man's example. Admit you “goof up.” Be willing to make any possible restoration. Then be sure you never again make the same mistake.
