Introduction

■ From its inception in 1947, Ambassador College has dared to be different! Unfettered by the restrictive bonds of archaic academic thinking and tradition, Ambassador's faculty and student body together enjoy the scholastic freedom of exploring new and valuable truths; pioneering today the right educational system of tomorrow.

■ An Ambassador education embraces more than the ivory tower pursuit of raw knowledge alone, divorced from the practicality of life. Its aim is to realistically prepare and equip each student to live a full, abundant and rewarding life. The big issues of life and living are met and answered. No facet of human need is left unpolished in the development of total character through a full curriculum of study, work, and social activities.

■ This education is the foundation for a life's work. Experience, knowledge and ability are granted to all those who will seek them diligently. Each student is taught to practice what he has proven right, to seek to serve others, to make a positive contribution to the society around him, and to assume the responsibility of taking his part in bringing peace and happiness to a world in desperate need.

■ This positive method of total education is called "The Ambassador Way." Leaf through these pages of the 1968 ENVOY for but a brief introduction to that way; a glimpse into the world's most exciting and challenging educational system.

Our Active Chancellor

HERBERT W. ARMSTRONG
Chancellor and President of Ambassador College

In the twenty-first year of Ambassador College, founder and President, Mr. Herbert W. Armstrong, continues his relentless and dynamic pace as chancellor of its three campuses in addition to directing a world-wide work. His compelling example of dedication and devoted service to the cause of true education daily inspires those around him. Under his leadership and guidance Ambassador College continues to set the example in the field of education for others to follow.

Ambassador College Wins Community "Beautiful" Awards

Since its founding in 1947 Ambassador College has continued to amaze and gratify Pasadena neighbors with a fast-paced program of campus growth and development. The fruits of a dynamic, progressive building program marked by consideration for civic improvement and beautification have brought to campus many citations by the Pasadena and Los Angeles Beautiful Foundations, honors from Southland publications, and recognition of leading national architectural journals.

Beginning at Ambassador

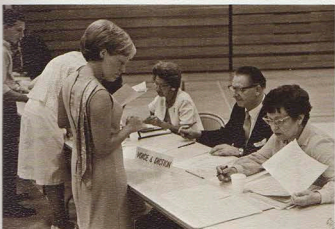

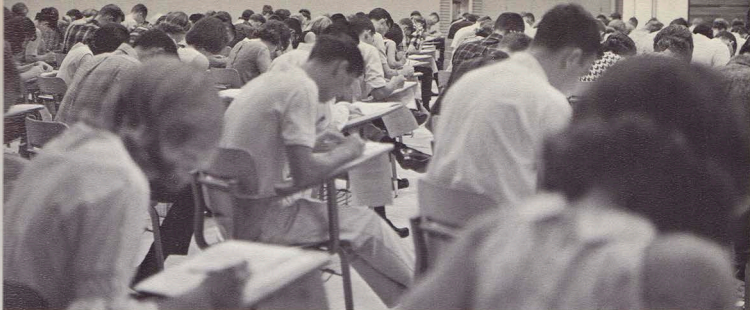

The whirlwind of campus activities into which incoming freshmen find themselves plunged brings with it the unforgettable thrill and excitement of starting a new life. Matching hundreds of new names to hundreds of new faces is a perplexing challenge soon met in Ambassador's friendly atmosphere. A round of "get acquainted tours"—a barrage of tests—the confusion of Registration and the intense emotions of the Faculty Reception give way to the relief of the Freshman Picnic beside the cool Pacific. With the close of the first week's hectic pace, incoming students are ready to settle down to the routine of classroom—work—and dormitory life.

1. Two men—ONE suitcase? It has to belong to a freshman girl!
2. Newly arrived toes meet Blue Pacific at "get-acquainted" beach party.
3. "I wonder who spent all night dreaming these up!"
4. Scratching pencils fill the gym with quiet test-time noises.
5. Faculty members assist students in planning next semester's work.
6. Freshmen first receive a handshake and welcome from the Chancellor as they pass through the receiving line at our annual Faculty Reception.
7. Fascinated freshmen "look the place over" on one of the many guided orientation tours.

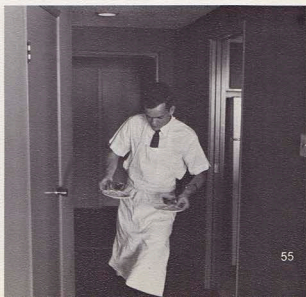

The Autumn Festival

With the coming of the Autumn Festival students looked forward to new adventures with growing anticipation. Preparation for serving the thousands who attended at five Festival sites filled day and night with busy hours.

The first day of Autumn Recess signalled a mass exodus from campus as students and faculty left for their respective assignments. Freshmen and senior students enjoyed a memorable bus trip en route to the beautiful Squaw Valley site while sophomores and juniors served in the magnificent ocean-side setting of the Long Beach area.

7. The Dining Room gives those who are willing an opportunity to serve.

Underclasses

An appetite for knowledge is soon whetted as underclassmen quickly respond to the stimulus of the lively, concerned teaching of interested educators.

3. Audiovisual aids spark interest in any subject.
4. Music Appreciation students enjoy fine music in our ultramodern listening lab.
5. Mr. Green tells students "all the dirt!"
6. Mr. Meredith gives freshmen some of the startling answers to life's biggest questions.
7. Here you see the target of a "disinterested audience" speech. It's a tough nut to crack, but a sure way to help make vibrantly interesting speakers.

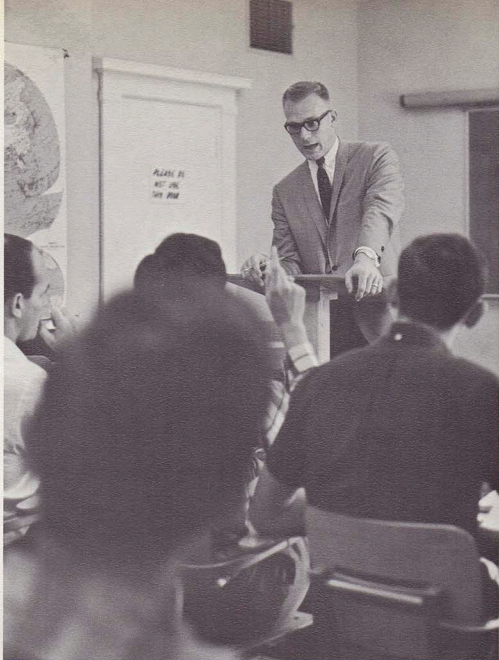

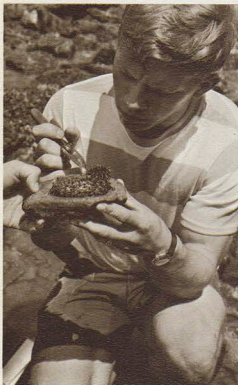

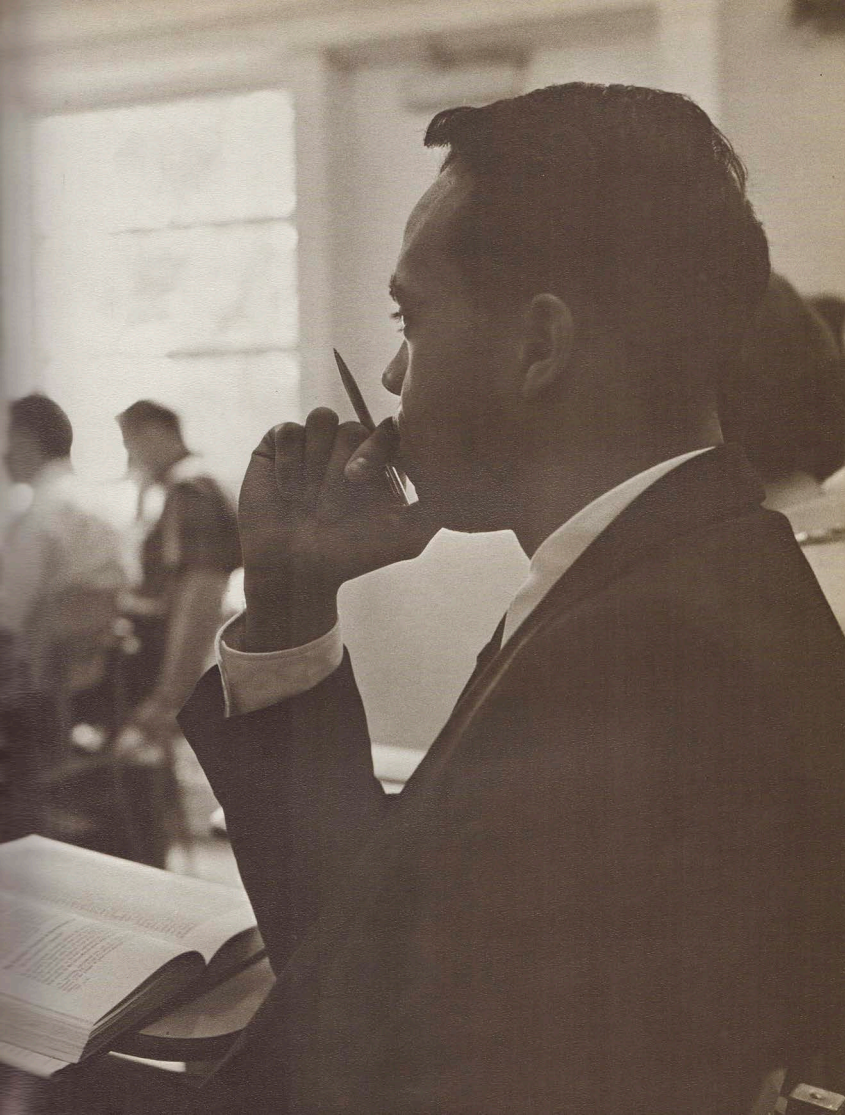

Upperclasses

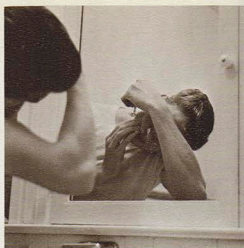

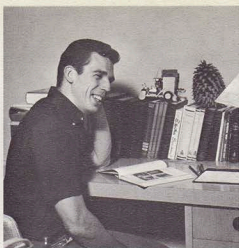

Study skills developed in underclass years pay big dividends as students move on to upper division work. The tougher challenges of advanced studies test the academic mettle of juniors and seniors.

Student Residences

A wholesome student residence life is stressed on campus in which Ambassadors learn to enjoy sharing life together in a warm and friendly family atmosphere. Whether studying or relaxing, busy Ambassadors develop a cheerful attitude of willing cooperation with and an outgoing concern for others. The development of a responsive social awareness through four years of dormitory life aids in building an Ambassador's appreciation for responsible citizenship.

Part Time Work

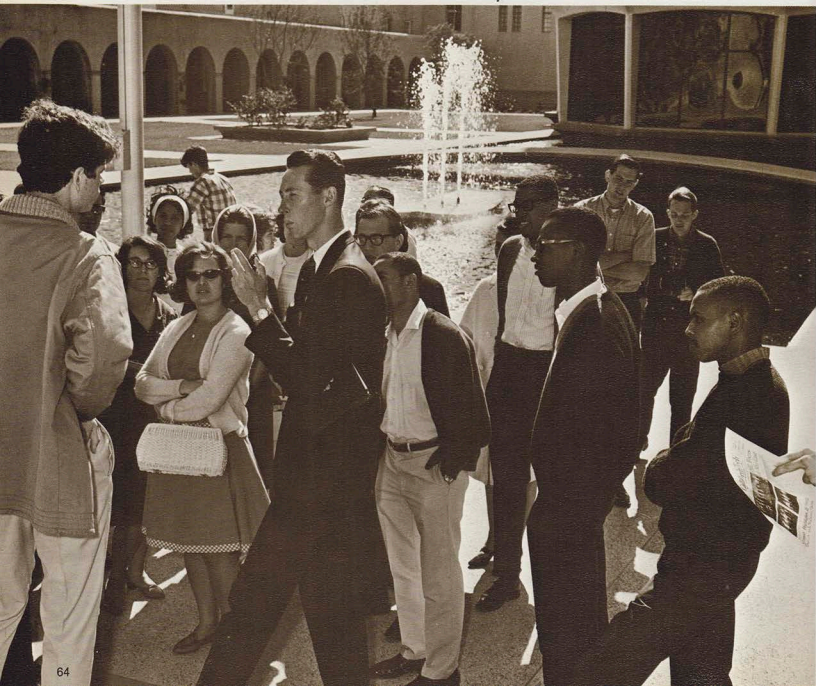

Full student employment is one of the many advantages provided by Ambassador College to deserving students. Beginning in the Freshman year with simple jobs which teach basic discipline, students advance through their college careers to types of work which expose them to increasingly useful associations in dealing with people and in using our many technical facilities.

4. Parts have just never been manufactured to fill many needs of our advanced television production. The answer . . . a "do-it-yourself-kit!"
5. The latest techniques in large volume food preparation are used by our kitchen staff.
6. Students learn about the virtues of Ambassador College from the ground up!

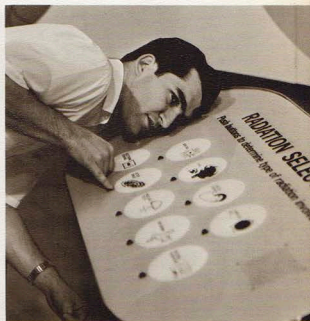

College Field Trips

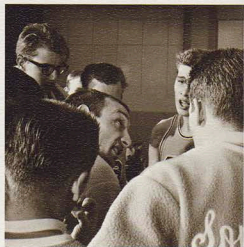

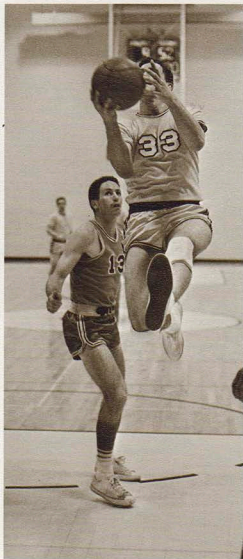

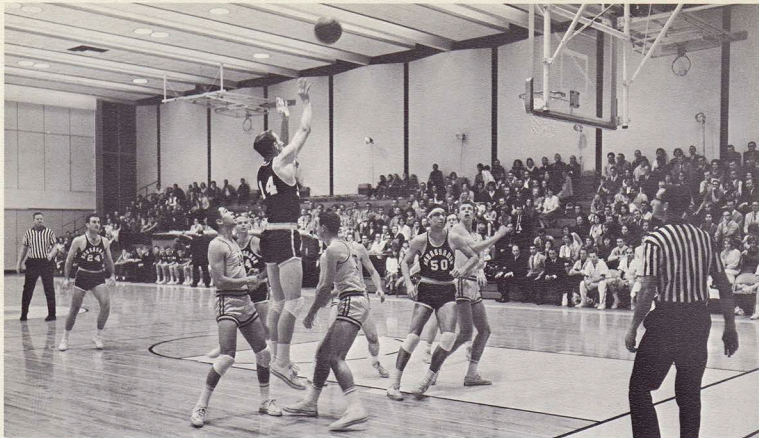

Off-campus travels are a stimulating tool of true education when enjoyed with purpose and proper planning. Where theory and classroom study leave off, practical application begins. That's why throughout the year, from Moscow to Tasmania and around the earth, Ambassador students may be seen looking, listening and learning. The world tomorrow will be managed by the truly educated students of today. And those young people are becoming educated to the facts, problems, solutions and joys of their world—not by theory and academics alone, but by a personal, firsthand examination.

Physical Education

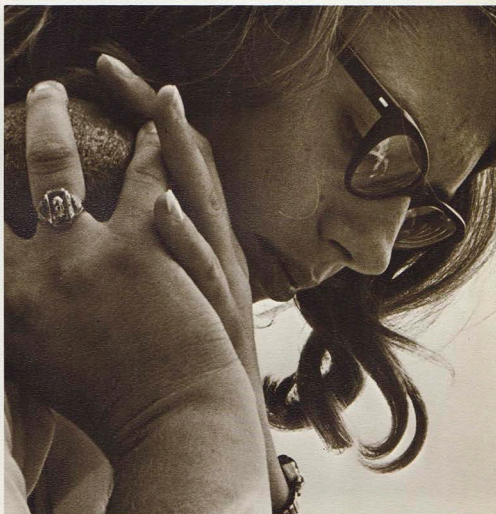

As students become involved with the pressures and demands of college life they soon realize that a vigorous, healthy body is a priceless asset. Physical education facilities, including Gymnasium and Natatorium together and a top teaching staff provide active men and women the opportunity to reach and maintain excellent physical condition. The annual sports Field Day and other organized athletic activities create the "friendly competitive" spirit that contributes to a well-rounded and balanced personality.

Midyear Vacation

Hundreds of visitors converge each year on the Pasadena Campus. The main function of this two week period is the annual worldwide Ministerial Conference. To complement these yearly meetings, each midyear vacation sees new and thrilling functions and events added to the busy schedule. This past vacation time marked the apex of these activities as, in addition to the annual Ambassador Invitational Basketball Tournament, the popular Ministerial Ball, the Annual Wives' Tea, various dinners and special occasions, we were privileged to attend the magnificent double concert performed at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium by the combined chorales of the three Ambassador Campuses together with an array of professional performers. As has always been the case in the past, the general enthusiastic consensus again this year was, "the best and most profitable midyear vacation yet!"

At the Civic

The Pasadena Civic Auditorium provided the setting for what critics considered "tops" as Ambassador College invited the public on two evenings in January to hear the combined chorales of our three campuses perform the oratorios Messiah and Elijah. The Bricket Wood chorale with conductor Dr. Kenneth Abbott along with the Luton Choral Society and professional vocalists arrived from London on our chartered 707 jet. In the meantime the large group from the Texas campus had become situated and were eager to begin. The following days saw intensive rehearsals of the entire assemblage including a superb professional handpicked full orchestra from the various Hollywood studios. The final performances were each played to packed houses as the community of Pasadena as well as we who played host enjoyed these two evenings of truly fine music in the Ambassador tradition.

Assemblies

Forums and assemblies fulfill a specific need for Ambassador students. A time has been set aside each week when students and Faculty can mutually discuss the questions which arise during the school year. This is the purpose of the Monday afternoon Forum. In addition, many subjects or speakers are of such general interest and value that presenting them in individual classes is impractical. In order that the entire Student Body and Faculty might benefit from them, these presentations are made during the regular Thursday afternoon Assembly. As a rule, each assembly is sponsored by a different faculty member, while the Forums are conducted by members of the administration.

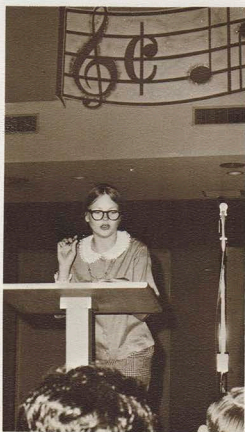

1. Mr. S. J. Rundt as he discussed questions informally with faculty and students.
2. The fascinating assembly provided by Mr. Rundt analyzed and explained many of the present and foreseeable dilemmas in international finance.
3. An interesting and sobering guest speaker was Chief Samuel Addis of the Pasadena Police Department.
4. Assemblies are entertaining as well as educational. Here Don Lee Ellis demonstrates the versatility of the Hammond X-66 organ.
5. A highpoint in the semester is the Women's fashion show sponsored by the Home Economics Department.

1. The hors d'oeuvre table was a popular stop during the annual Ministerial Ball.
2. Jodi turns music teacher during entertainment.
3. Faculty and students enjoy the evening's entertainment together.
4. Mrs. Van Der Veer and Mr. Portune offer another Freshman a warm welcome.

Formal Occasions

Faculty and student body are drawn close together through the many formal occasions during the school year. These events encourage the building of a balanced and mature social life. The continued association of faculty with students in all phases of campus activity engenders a bond of love and appreciation one for the other.

6. First panel of precast exterior goes into place. The required precision for successfully completing the job of facing the new Academic Center demanded the best efforts of hundreds of workers.

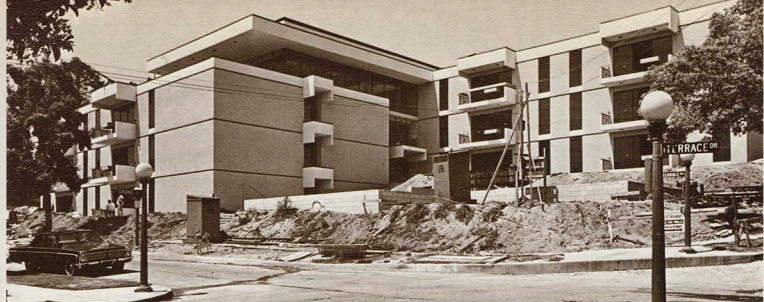

Expansion and Growth

Construction is a keynote of this year's activities. A $20 million building program is being carried out to improve and enlarge our facilities. The cacophony of heavy construction is music on campus as new buildings are being prepared to meet present and future needs. When completed, our building program will make the Pasadena campus of Ambassador College truly one of the finest and most beautiful in the world.

5. Construction well along—the men's residence takes on a semi-finished appearance.
6. Another wall panel goes into place. Such panels quickly erected gave quick shape to our new nearly 100,000 square foot press building.

Year's End

The end of the academic year brings with it welcome relief from the pressure of a long study-work schedule. Flagging spirits perk up and the campus comes alive with a refreshing round of events.

Then Senior prom gets the final week off to a good start. To finish up, an annual Women's Club Brunch inaugurates the "Big Day" — as faculty, students and old grads gather to share experiences. As graduation exercises approach, each senior finds himself asking, "where has the time flown?" Each recalls four years of happy, satisfying, memories that have been all-too-short.

2. A balcony view overlooks part of this happy scene during the Women's Club Brunch.
3. Seniors display mixed emotions as they march to their places in the graduation exercises. The receipt of Bachelor of Arts degrees will launch their new careers.
4. Everyone shares the joy of the moment. Kathy shows admirers that her degree is for real.

Loma Hall

Overlooking the lakes, Loma Hall, the new women's dormitory, impresses visitors with its striking architecture. The name Loma Hall honours the sincerity and character of Mrs. Loma D. Armstrong. Constructed of warm red brick, this new residence contains twenty bedrooms each comfortably accommodating four co-eds. Adjoining study rooms are finely equipped for the academic facet of their education. Each wing has its individual colour scheme. And a spacious lounge accents the corner of this L-shaped building.

An English Setting

A jewel amid the gently rolling hills of Hertfordshire, Ambassador College in England radiates its natural and architectural beauty both day and night. Students here receive cultural advantages no other college can offer. These fine facilities develop within our young men and women an appreciation for the heritage surrounding them. From the grandeur of Memorial Hall to the charm of the Japanese garden, this is without doubt the most beautiful college in England.

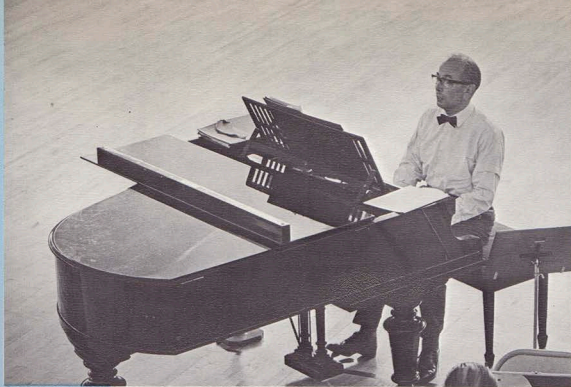

Music Makers

The Chorale has for eight years reflected the true character of Ambassador College. Once a year, together with local choral societies, Ambassador contributes to the cultural life of the community by presenting a special concert of the highest calibre at the Watford Town Hall. The magnificence of a finished performance conceals long hours of rehearsal. Sharing this same professional standard, the music of the Ambassador College Band makes an exciting addition to social and sporting activities.

Ambassador College Band

Classroom Facilities

Practical experience adds to textbook education. Our classroom facilities allow as much experience as possible. In the science lab, students investigate and record the laws of nature. We have our own observatory with a twelve-inch Newtonian reflector telescope. The recently completed Meteorological Station is now a part of the government network. British Opelem tape recorders are provided for foreign language students in the finely equipped Language Lab. And in our Domestic Science kitchen, women are able to use the most modern facilities.

Learning True Values

In Britain, education is in chaos. Never before have colleges and universities suffered mass rebellion at the hands of students—but at Ambassador College—no revolt exists. Students are taught the true values of right education. They learn how to live successfully the laws of successful living which bring order, peace, happiness and accomplishment to those trained to abide by them.

Men's Club: Davis Stirk replies enthusiastically to a table topics question. He is made to think on his feet.

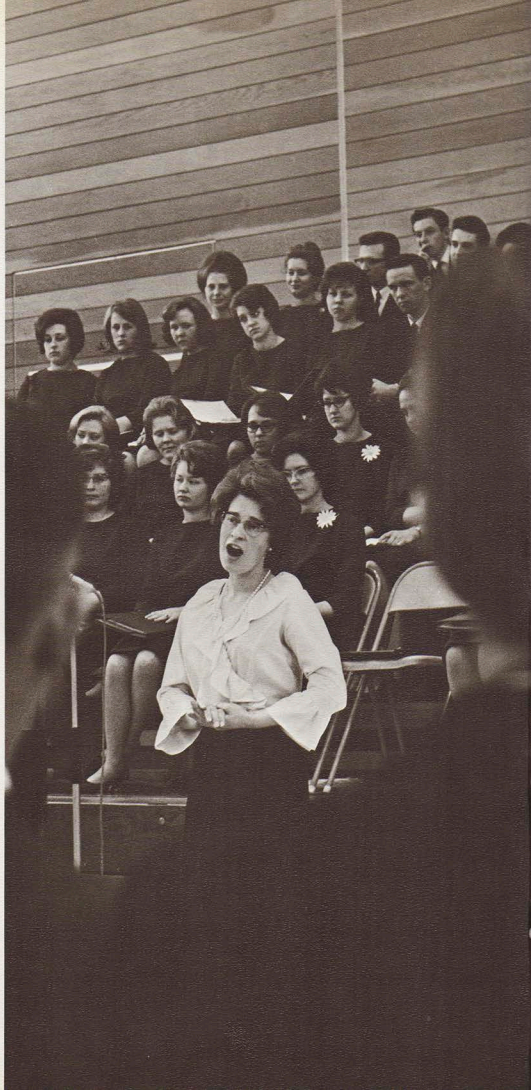

Ambassador Clubs

Today's world is confused. Government leaders do not know the solution. In this unstable society, Ambassador's speech clubs teach young men and women to face the facts of their age and to take a leading role in solving the challenging problems of today's world. Students are stimulated to exercise principles of leadership. In the men's, women's and language clubs—Ambassadors participate in a balanced program—from enthusiastic discussion to the five minute stimulating speeches and evaluations. Members hear first-hand accounts of life in other countries—America, Africa, and even Russia! Where else on earth are such opportunities available?

Concert Time

Music with rhythm, melody, and age-lasting quality. Music with a sparkle. Music that complements the enjoyment of life. This is music at Ambassador! It adds colour and variety to student activities. Come Springtime, members of the Chorale contribute their talents in a presentation of light music before the entire college. But the annual hi-lite is a formal concert at the Watford Town Hall (next page, bottom photo). This year's production included one of Borodin's best-loved works: the inspiring "Prince Igor." Whether these activities are formal or informal, the musical experiences created are long remembered.

RIGHT: Midway through the concert, Amie Stewart's soprano voice flits through Puccini's, "Oh my Beloved Father." NEXT PAGE, TOP PHOTOS: Gilbert and Sullivan was the theme of the annual concert before the student body. These photos illustrate how both conductor, Dr. Abbott, and singers project their personalities into the music.

Berlin - '68

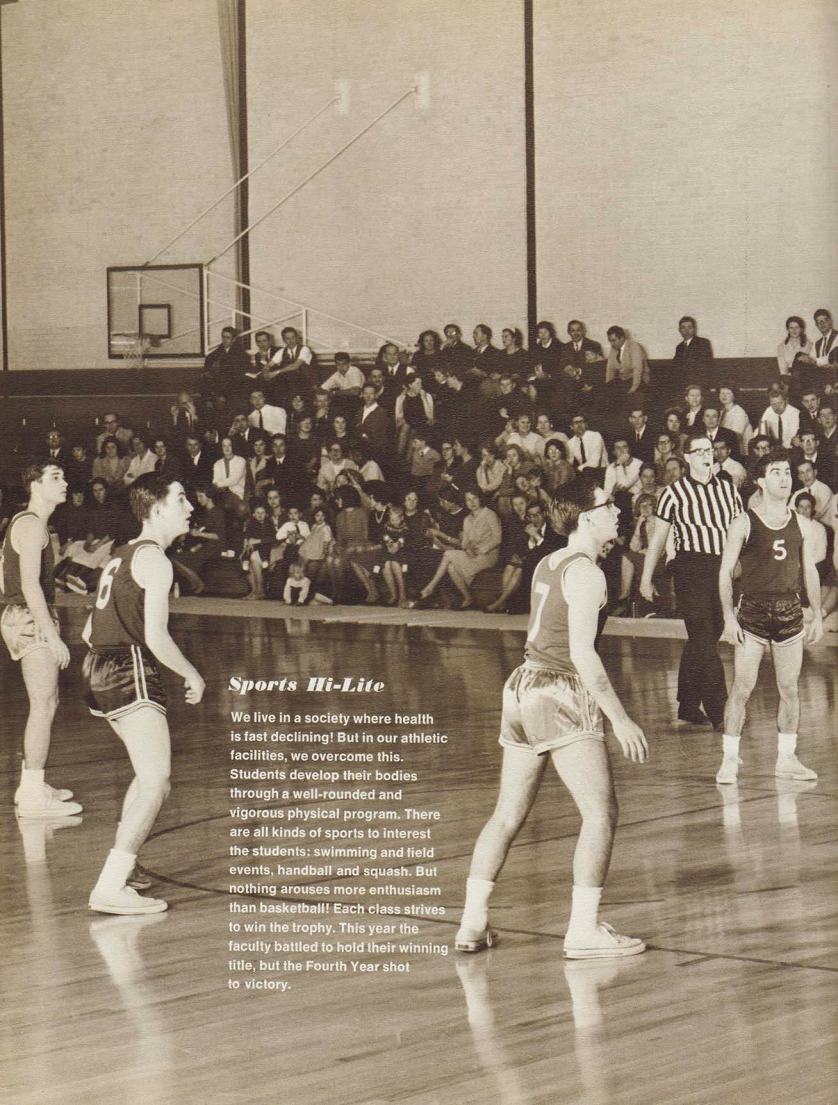

Travel broadens and matures searching minds. In 1968, our Fourth Year traveled through the heartland of Europe. Key stopovers were Bremerhaven, Hanover, Minden, Dusseldorf, Berlin and Brussels. Berlin—politically and militarily a divided city—was a sobering experience for these students. Aboard our own college coach, they visited the hated "Wall"; crossed Checkpoint Charlie into East Berlin; viewed the remaining ruins of W.W. II; and toured the impressive Russian War Memorial. They saw first-hand a prosperous, ever-expanding, industrial Western Europe and the depressing, yet developing, Communist East Germany. They visited centres that in the next few years will make world headlines.

Sports Hi-Lite

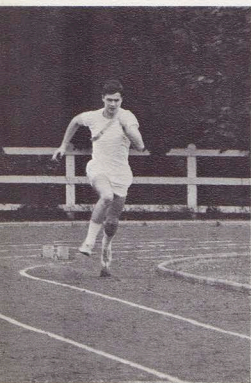

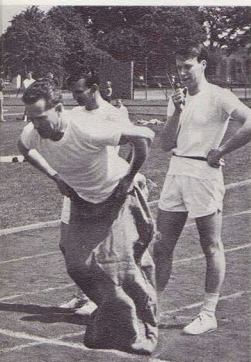

We live in a society where health is fast declining! But in our athletic facilities, we overcome this. Students develop their bodies through a well-rounded and vigorous physical program. There are all kinds of sports to interest the students: swimming and field events, handball and squash. But nothing arouses more enthusiasm than basketball! Each class strives to win the trophy. This year the faculty battled to hold their winning title, but the Fourth Year shot to victory.

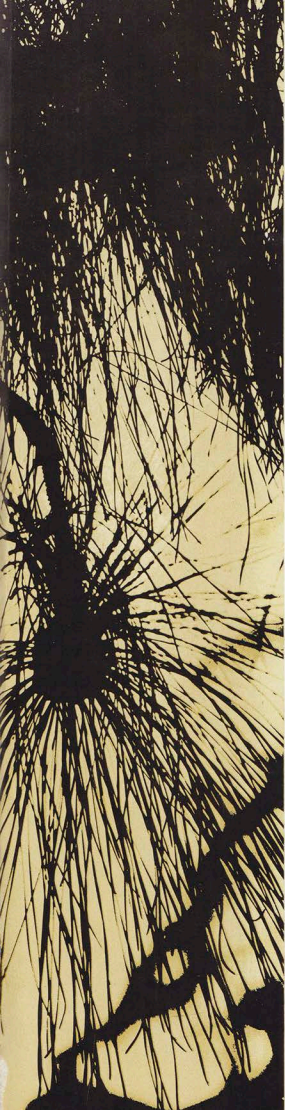

Sports Day - 1968

Sports Day—'68 was a day of relaxation and athletic endeavor. Each class had trained hard and long. But the Third Year finally triumphed! BELOW LEFT: In a quick move—David intercepts. BELOW RIGHT: Some of the students get the "sack" in this humorous race. BOTTOM: Muscles are tightened. The gun fires and the 100 yard sprinters streak into action. NEXT PAGE: Joyce snatches the baton from Lynn in the 220 yard relay. Yet another Third Year victory.

Our BIG SANDY Campus

September 1, 1964

This year's graduating Seniors entered Ambassador College Big Sandy, Texas as a pioneering class. These young men and women had followed an ideal to Ambassador. They were untrained, undeveloped, rough and raw but filled with that ideal — the recapturing of true values.

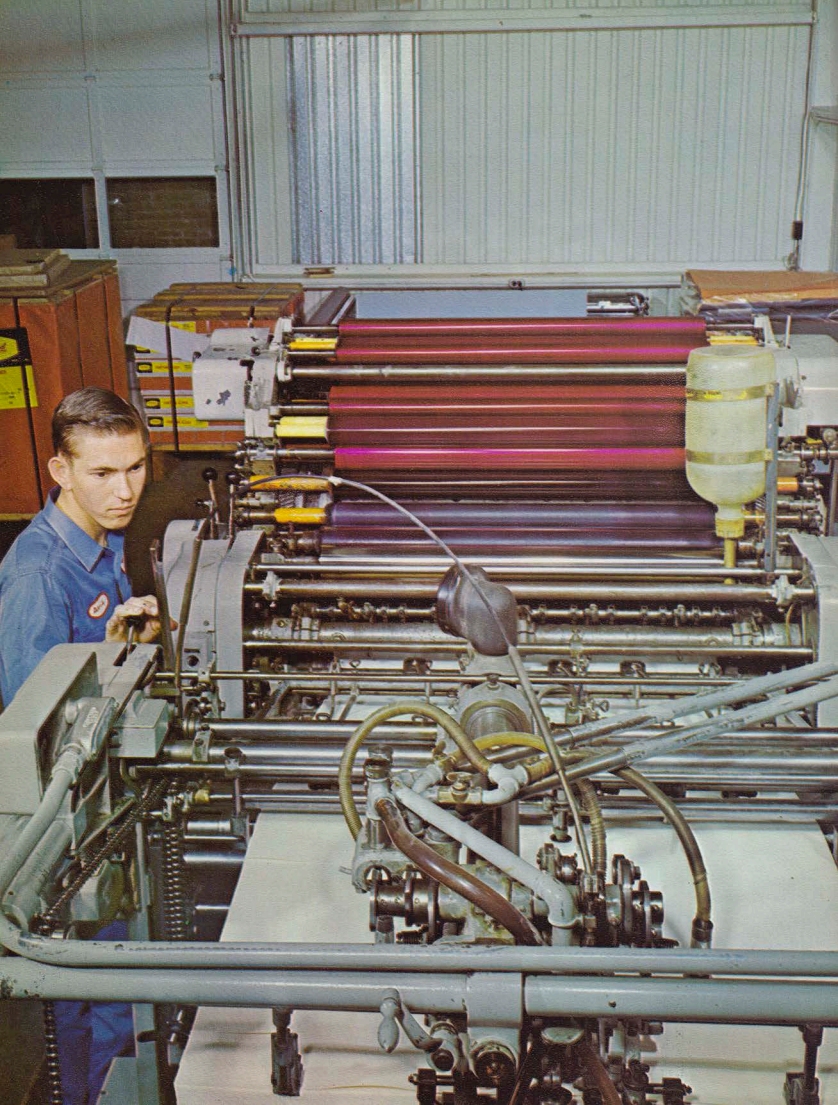

That year the campus matched the character of the pioneering class — rough, raw, short on fine things, but long on potential. Most important though to the class was that Ambassador College, Big Sandy offered them the opportunity to fulfill their ideal — if they would stick it out.

They did. Here in the beautiful East Texas countryside those pioneering students learned to live the ideal that brought them here.

As members of that pioneer class received their diplomas on June 7, 1968, they were quite different men and women. Now they were educated, refined, trained to develop the greater potential gained through proper education.

Now, too, the campus matches the character of those graduating pioneers. It, too, has changed — new dorms, new dining hall, new landscaping have brought refinement and improvement to the physical surroundings — and there's still more potential to be developed. Through the following pages you will see the story of those who pioneered yesterday and those who will continue to pioneer tomorrow.

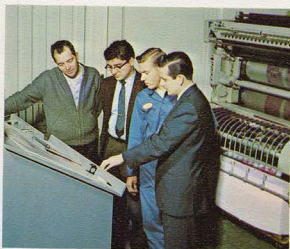

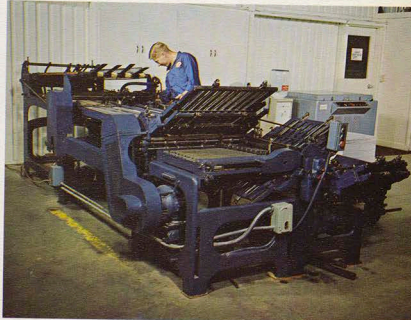

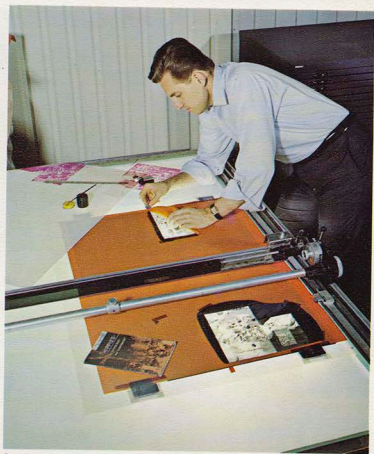

Del blocks a stack of paper in preparation for trimming with the Schimaneck cutter.

Ken prepares to feed through a stack of printed signatures for folding on the Christensen folder.

Dr. Dorothy confers with Plant Manager Ellis Stewart, left, and other staff members on the first copy of the Spanish PLAIN TRUTH, "La PURA VERDAD."

Gerry cuts out a "window" on a masking sheet which will go into the production of the four-color booklet, "Hippies, Hypocrisy, and Happiness."

new, expanding Printing Department

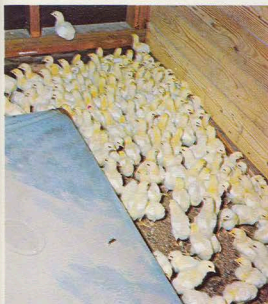

Dennis Marvin adjusts controls of the "Miehle 36" in preparing a color run. Our printshop facilities on the Big Sandy campus have been expanded to include full, four-color printing.

Mr. Schurter reaps the fruit of many hours of labor in the wheatfield.

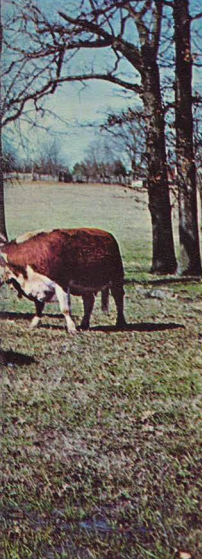

Ambassador College Agriculture

Thousands of baby chicks are hatched every year.

Cattle feed and water in their pasture area. Healthy range, with plenty of room per head figures greatly in production of excellent quality beef.

Registered Herefords gain rapidly at the Big Sandy Ranch feed lot. Constant upgrading of stock and improvement of feed-out techniques have resulted in amazingly high yields from our livestock program.

The agricultural program at Big Sandy is unique among our campuses. Being new to Ambassador has not restrained the young department's growth, however, and many students are taking advantage of growing opportunities to develop interest in and talents for animal husbandry and farm science. A large portion of meats, poultry and vegetables supplied to both the Big Sandy and Pasadena campuses comes right from our own farm. The experimental programs conducted on our grounds have led to the development of new and improved techniques of soil and herd management. Our policy of seeking new, better and more profitable farm methods has influenced the Texas State Department of Agriculture to an interested participation in our various research programs.

The Ambassador College Chorale.

Ambassador Music

The Ambassador College Music Department continues to bring enjoyment and relaxation to campus and surrounding East Texas communities. Many long hours of arduous practice pay off big dividends in enhancing the cultural appreciation of all who are served by department members.

The Faculty Chamber Ensemble provides many hours of musical enjoyment. The group is comprised of Mr. Leroy Neff, cello; Mrs. Kathryn Ames, violin; Mrs. Ruth Walter, piano.

Seniors

Mr. Ames directs a sing-along after scintillating Women's Club.

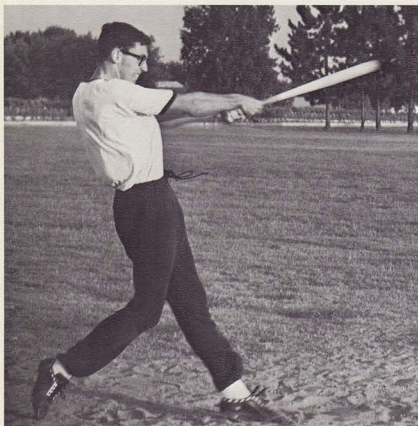

Clubs

*Top: Conversation during meal sparks Women's Club.
Above: Informal Ambassador Club at Lake Loma
culminates the year's activities.*

Active Student Body

A double for Gary? No, a third strike!

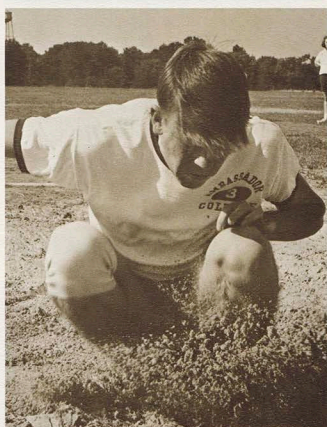

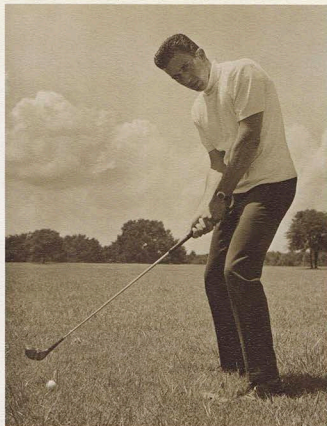

He-a-a-d um up, move um out!

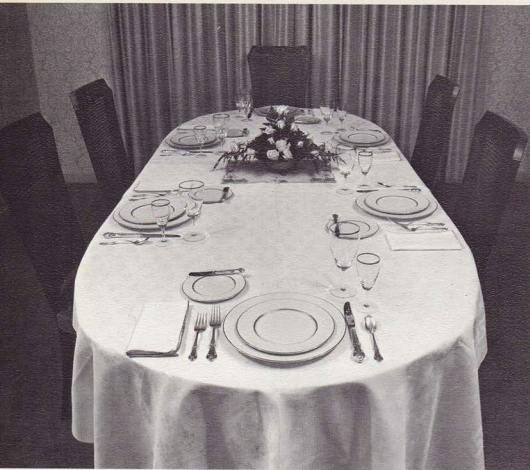

The college driving range affords exercise and enjoyment.

*Fast action climaxes the Faculty-Fresh contest.
Below: A sunny Fourth of July makes for lakeside enjoyment for the student body.*

Dave stretches long in men's broad jump competition.

Home Economics students learn the art of formal table setting.

Home Economics

The fast-expanding Home Economics Department of our Big Sandy campus is a big help in preparing our coeds to meet home management problems of the future. These fine facilities reflect the emphasis placed on high standards and quality work as taught by an efficient staff.

Mrs. Hegvold, Home Economics Director.

Coeds learn by experience the fine art of making new and original designs in clothing.

Our newly expanded multi-unit kitchen.

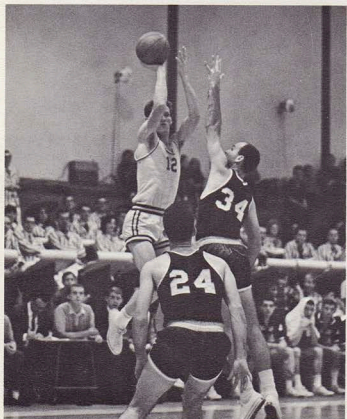

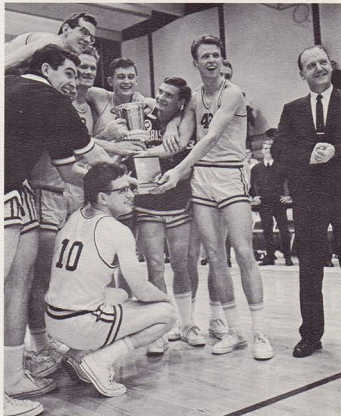

Above: The Home Economics kitchen is one of the main "work-rooms" where coeds gain the practical knowledge of homemaking.
Right: Annabel puts some "elbow grease" into the preparation of another tasty morsel.

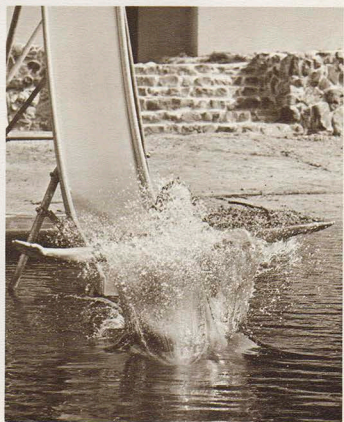

Jackie gets into the "swim" of things.

Big Sandy Varsity celebrates second consecutive victory in the Pasadena Tournament.

"Big Jim" Kisse goes up for two more in the Pasadena Invitational Tourney.

Our lakeside slide sees some more action.

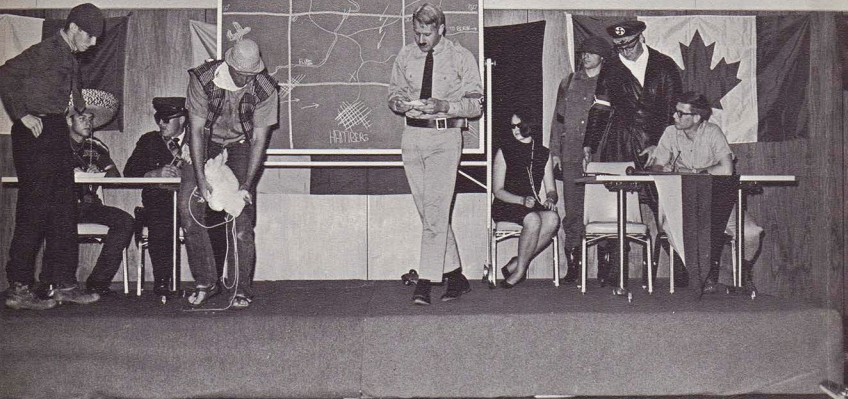

Brent "cuts the waves" on a fast moving slalom ski.

Ambassador Sports...

Sophomore Rick Gipe barely edges aging Senior Howard Smothers in the 100-yard dash.

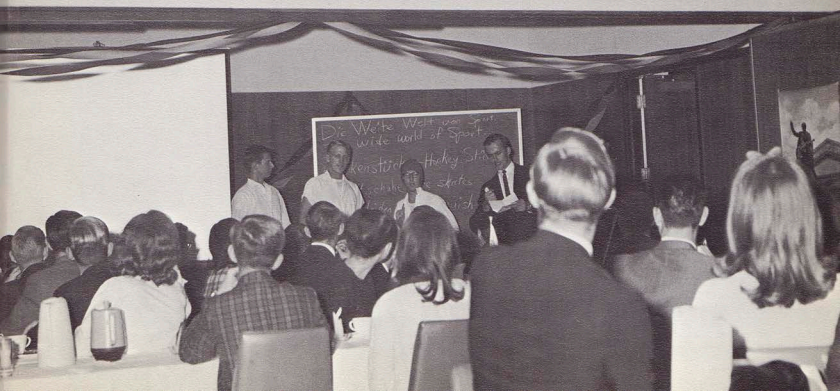

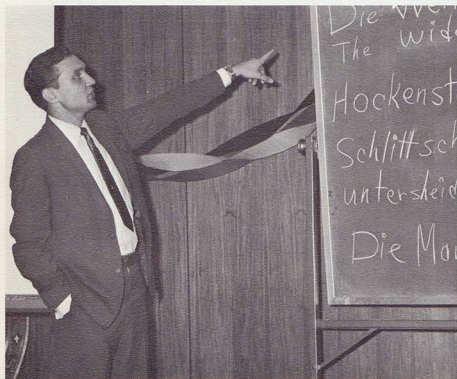

PEACE IN OUR TIME

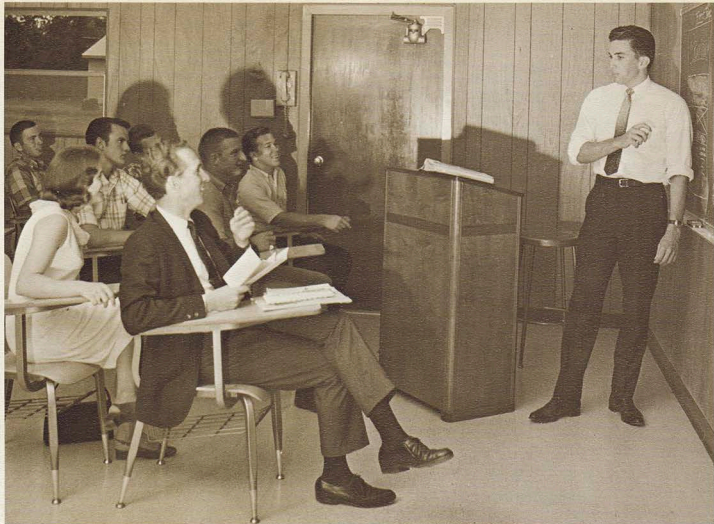

"Der Fuhrer" Ellsworth discusses world domination strategy.

Foreign Language

The PORTFOLIO staff members get another lesson in the design and layout of their school paper.

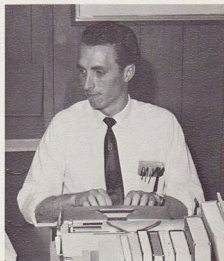

Portfolio

The PORTFOLIO, the campus newspaper, provides timely and interesting articles on subjects of campus interest. The campus publication is open not only to articles by staff members but also affords the entire student body an opportunity for journalistic experience.

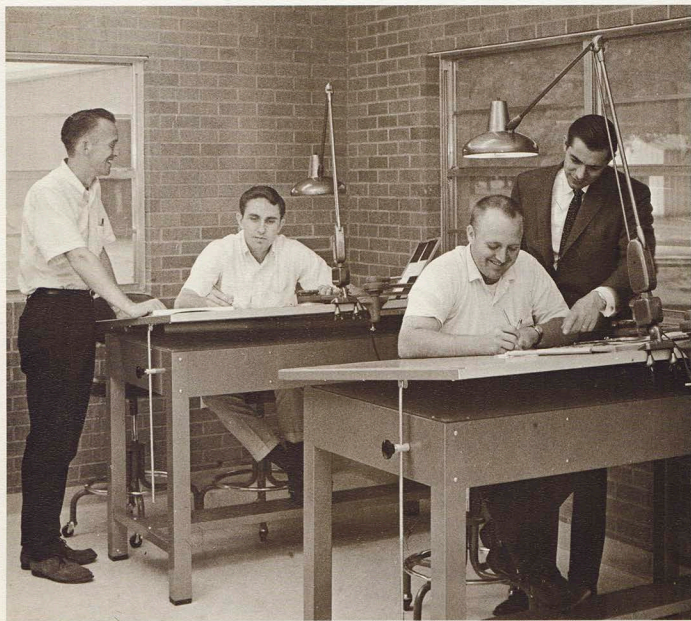

Editor Don Phears checks out one of the latest copies of the PORTFOLIO.

Associate Editor Rod Beemer writes up a last-minute article for print.

the Envoy Staff

The ENVOY provides the student body with a graphic and interesting pictorial log of the year's events. Each edition is carefully designed to provide a balanced picture of campus activities.

ENVOY Advisor Mr. Ben Chapman and Editor Terry Durkee go over layouts with class members.
