he founder of Ambassador College, Herbert W. Armstrong, often spoke and wrote of what he called the "missing dimension in education," that is, the knowledge of the purpose and meaning of life. Young people today need to know what that purpose is and how they can fulfill it.

There is an authority that governs human experience. That authority contrasts two quite different ways of life and clearly explains the results of following each. The authority is the Word of God — the Bible.

One of the ways of life it describes is acceptance of God as Supreme Ruler and obedience to Him. The other is rejection of God and His law — deciding for oneself what course he or she will pursue, what is right and what is wrong. The terrible result of the way of rejection of God's authority in men's lives is evident all around us. Warfare, strife, hatred, crime, injustice, untold suffering — all a direct result of breaking the Creator's revealed law.

Jesus Christ summed up the law of God by describing it as love — love for God and love for fellow humans. But society today is most definitely not a reflection of love! The way of life that Jesus Christ Himself personally lived and taught is utterly foreign to human societies.

Ambassador College recognizes the Word of God as having authority over human lives. Engraved on an outer wall of Ambassador Hall on our Pasadena campus are the words "THE WORD OF GOD IS THE FOUNDATION OF KNOWLEDGE." An identical inscription in bronze is imbedded in stone outside the library on our Big Sandy, Texas, campus. True education must be based upon this sure foundation. If it is not, it will surely have no substance — no permanent, lasting value.

The development of character is a fundamental goal of an Ambassador College education. For of what value is knowledge unless it can be put to use for the benefit and well being of others?

Knowledge has produced amazing technological advances. But without character, that technology has resulted in weapons of mass destruction with sophisticated delivery systems. It has resulted in global environmental poisoning from toxic waste. Without the restraint of godly character to govern how it is used, the continued advance of human knowledge is serving only to make our world an increasingly dangerous and frightful place to live.

Ambassador students are taught this missing dimension in education. The motto of Ambassador College, "Recapture True Values," is based upon the need to combine knowledge with responsibility. Ambassador College is only a small foretaste of a coming new world — a new order based on the Word of God — to be established by Jesus Christ in power at his return.

But Ambassador students have the opportunity to pioneer its way of life now — a way of give, not get. A way of love, of true outgoing concern for others. A permanent, enduring way that, once established, will last forever!

40 YEARS AND COUNTING

Chancellor Joseph W. Tkach opens the Visitor's Center in Ambassador College's Hall of Administration during the College's 40th-anniversary celebration in August. Mr. Tkach later received a proclamation signed by California Gov. George Deukmejian that praised Ambassador College as "a creative and innovative leader of our nation."

Promoting Peace and Understanding

Chancellor Joseph W. Tkach, Ambassador College President, and California Governor George Deukmejian, Sacramento, California, are seen shaking hands during the signing of a proclamation in Sacramento, California, August 1988. The proclamation praised Ambassador College as a creative and innovative leader of our nation. The proclamation was signed by Governor Deukmejian and signed by Chancellor Tkach. The proclamation was signed in the presence of Ambassador College President and Ambassador College Vice President. The proclamation was signed in the presence of Ambassador College President and Ambassador College Vice President.

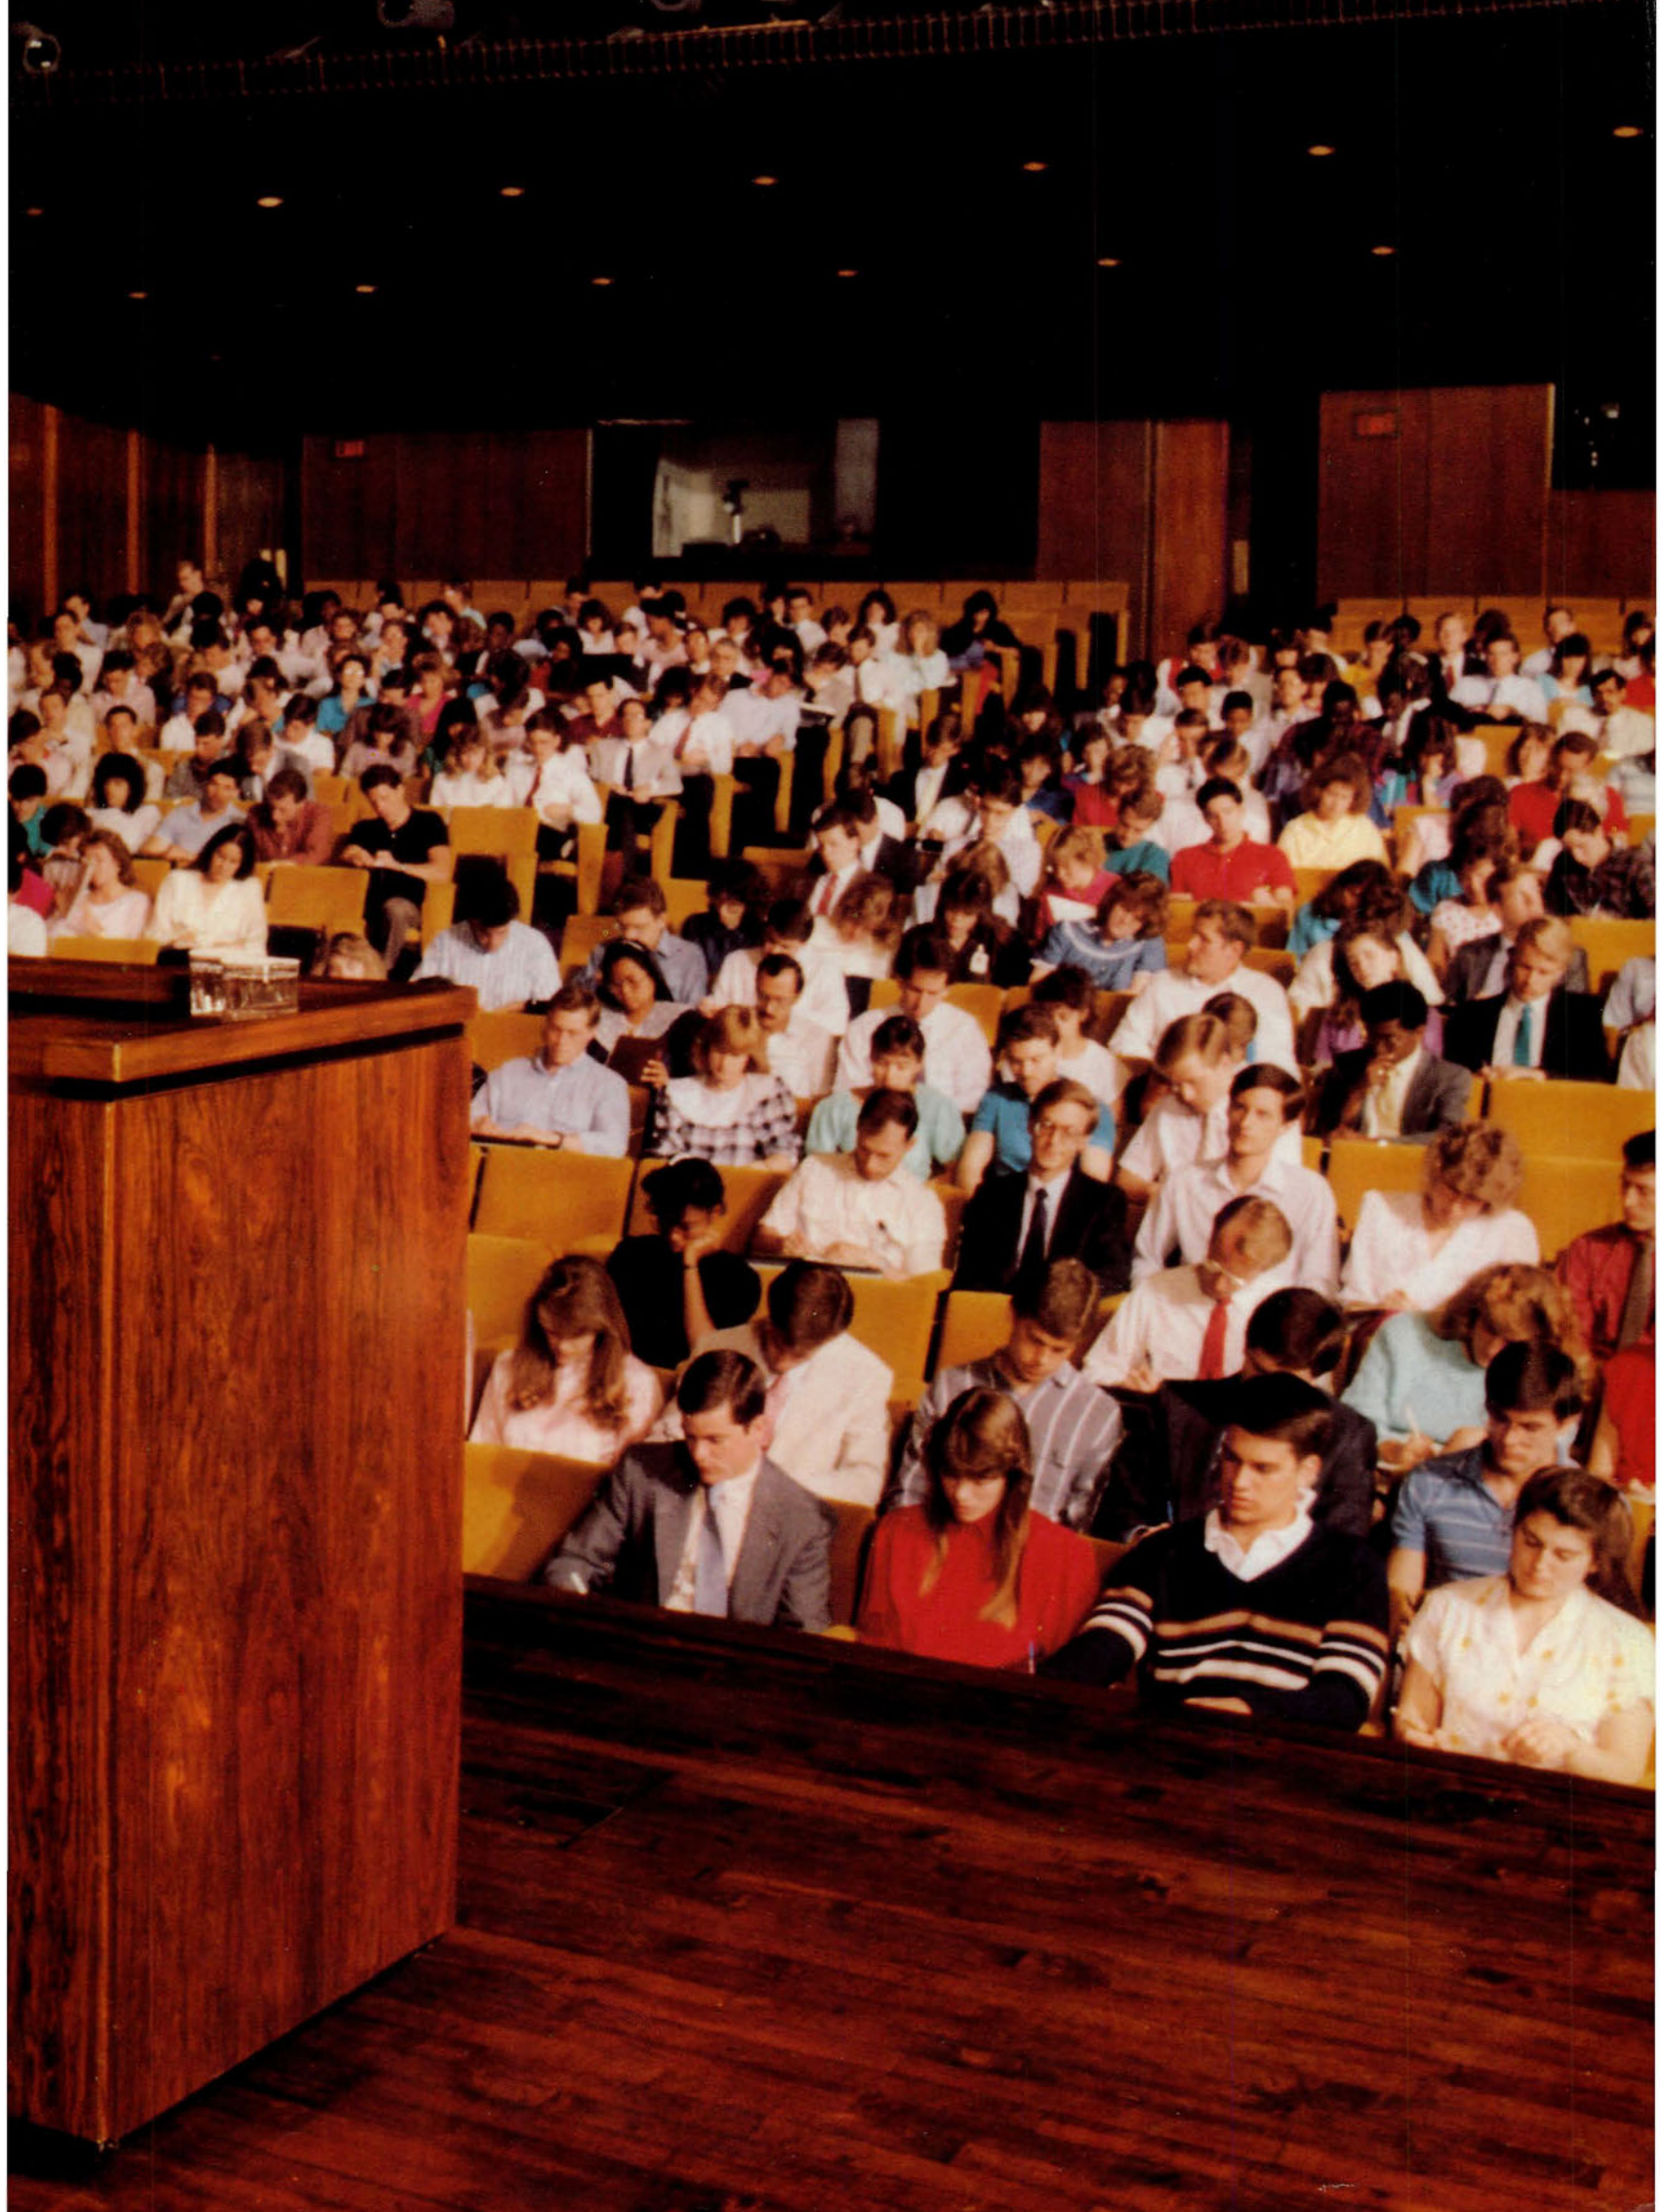

"A TIME TO BUILD UP"

Donald Ward, formerly academic dean of Ambassador College in Big Sandy, Texas, was appointed vice chancellor of the Pasadena and Big Sandy campuses in November. In his first address before the students, faculty and administration in Pasadena, Dr. Ward told them, "I see this as a time to build up, to really go on to greater things in the Work of God, in the Church of God and in the colleges."

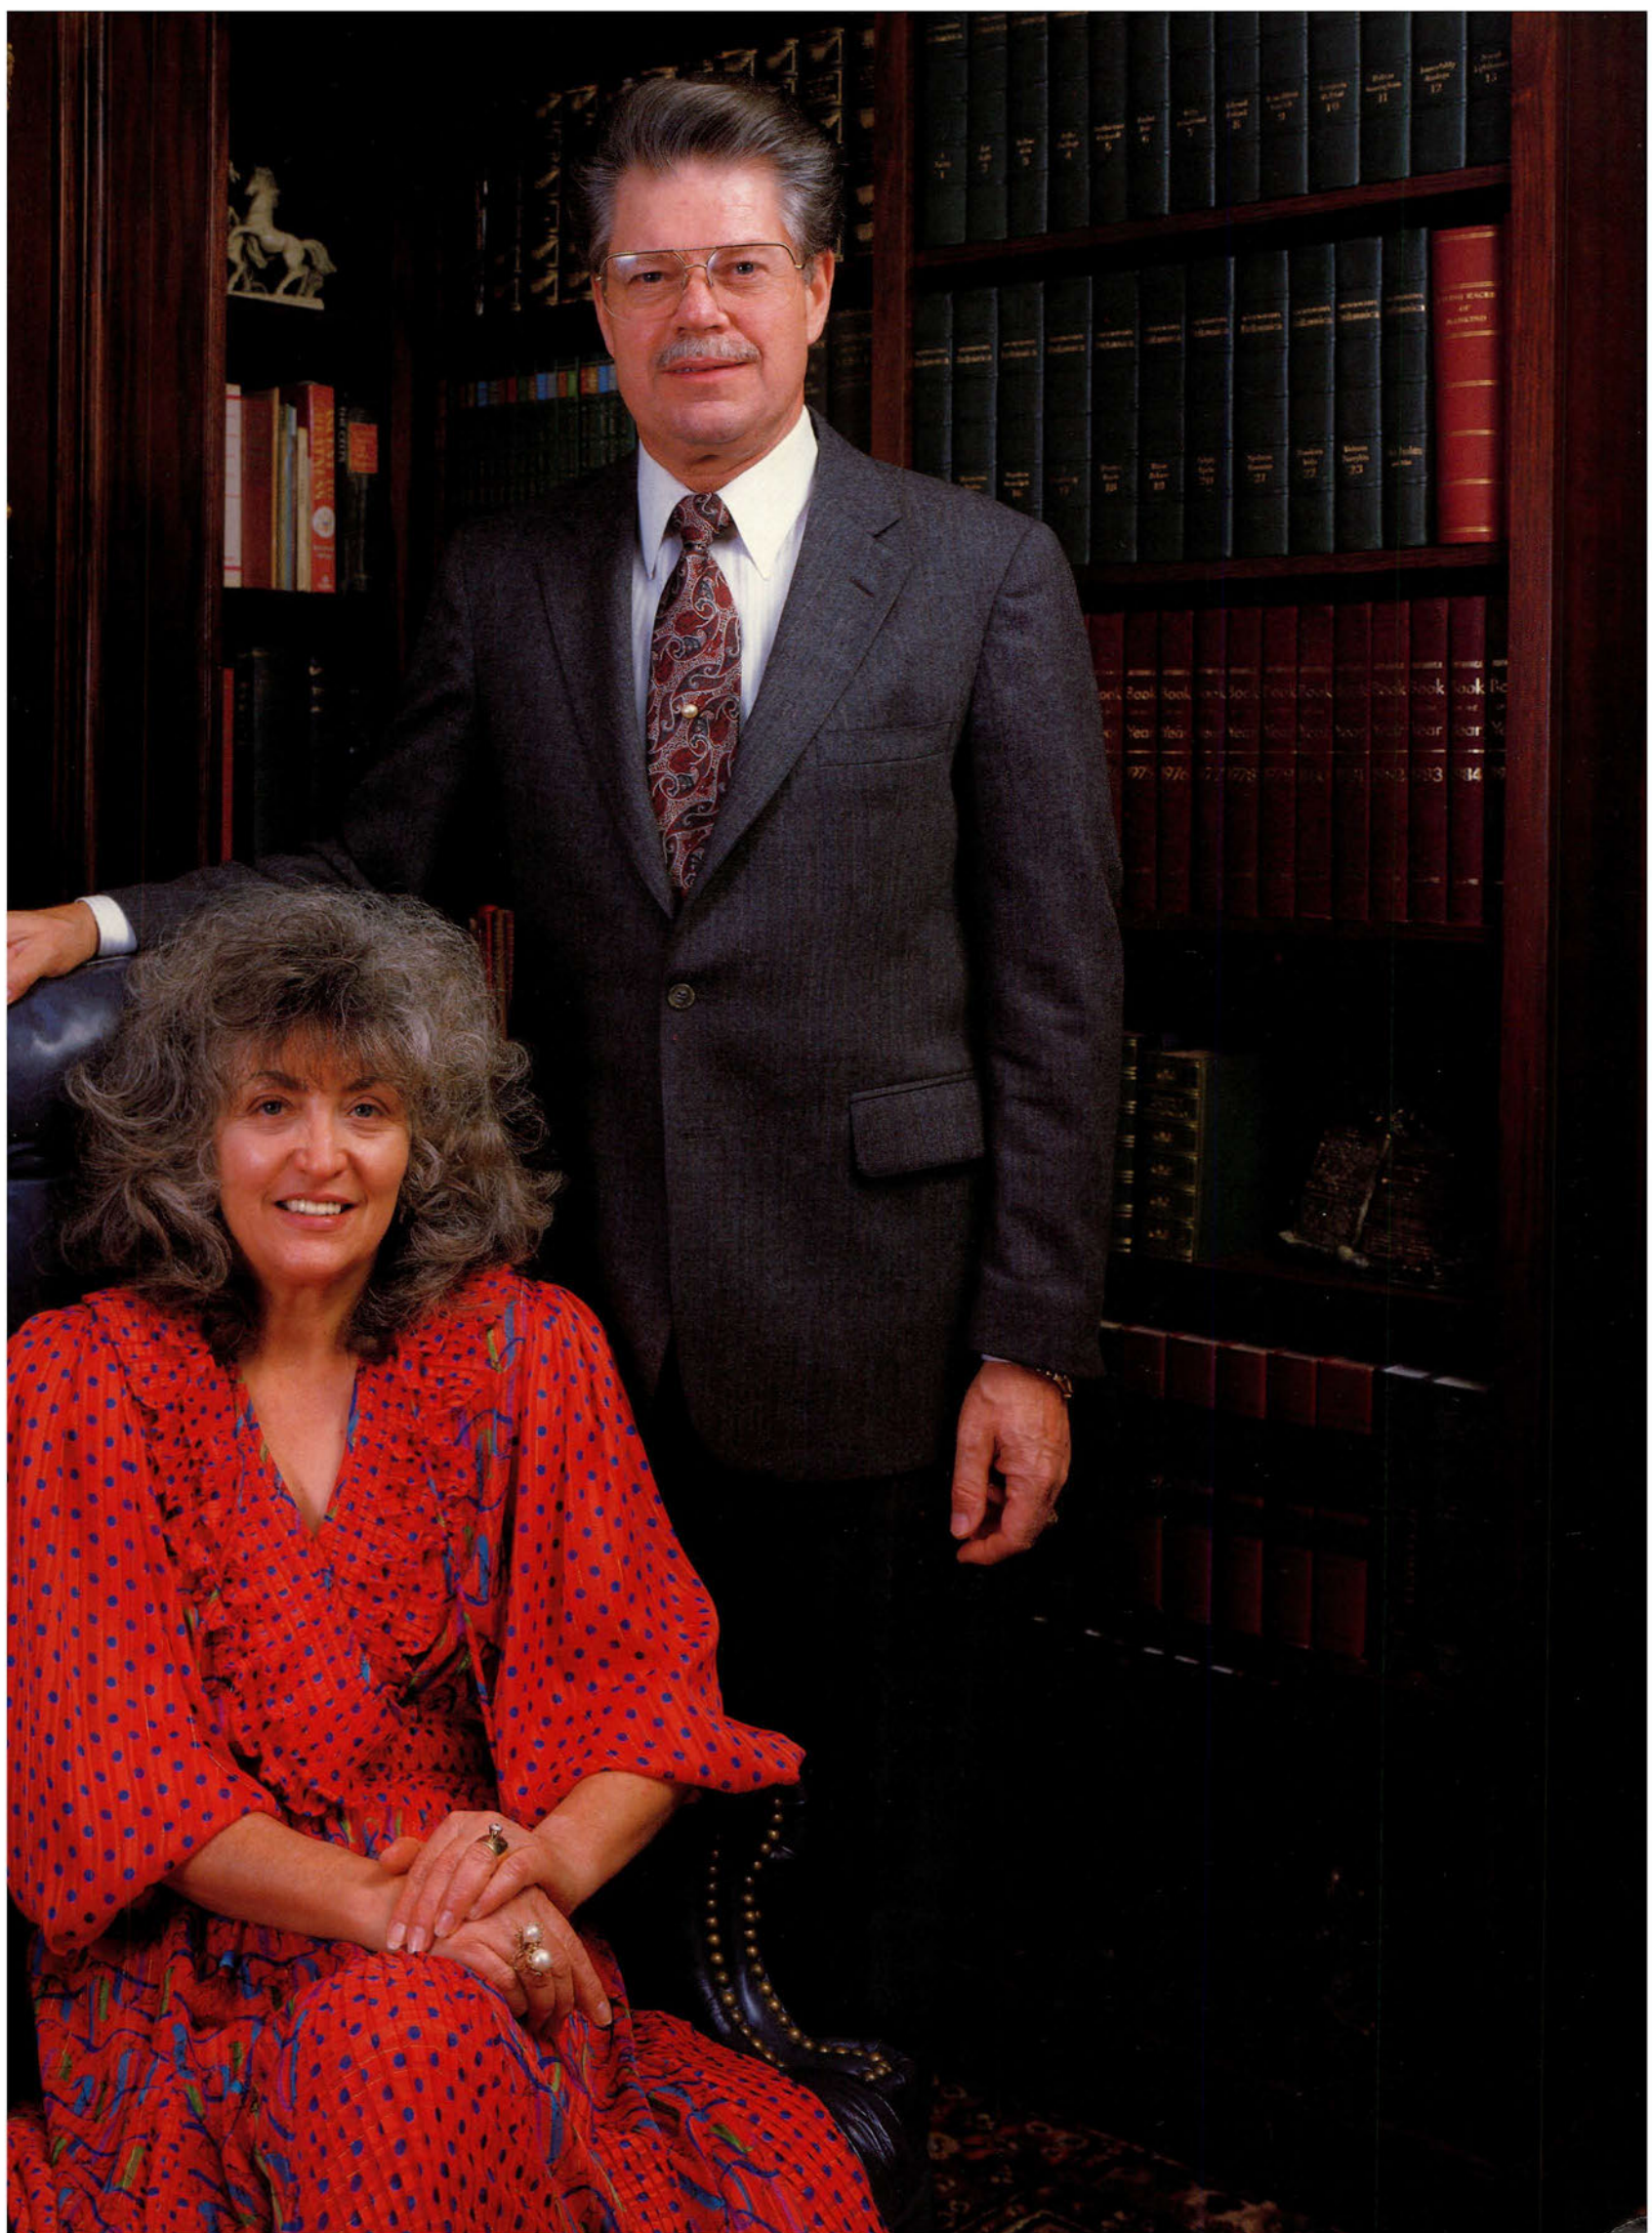

ON TO A NEW CHALLENGE

Raymond F. McNair, deputy chancellor of Ambassador College in Pasadena since 1978, in November was named regional director for the Worldwide Church of God in New Zealand. He and his wife, Evelyn, moved from Pasadena to Auckland in April. Mr. McNair, who enrolled at Ambassador in its second year (1948), previously served as deputy chancellor of Ambassador College in Bricket Wood, England, for 14 years.

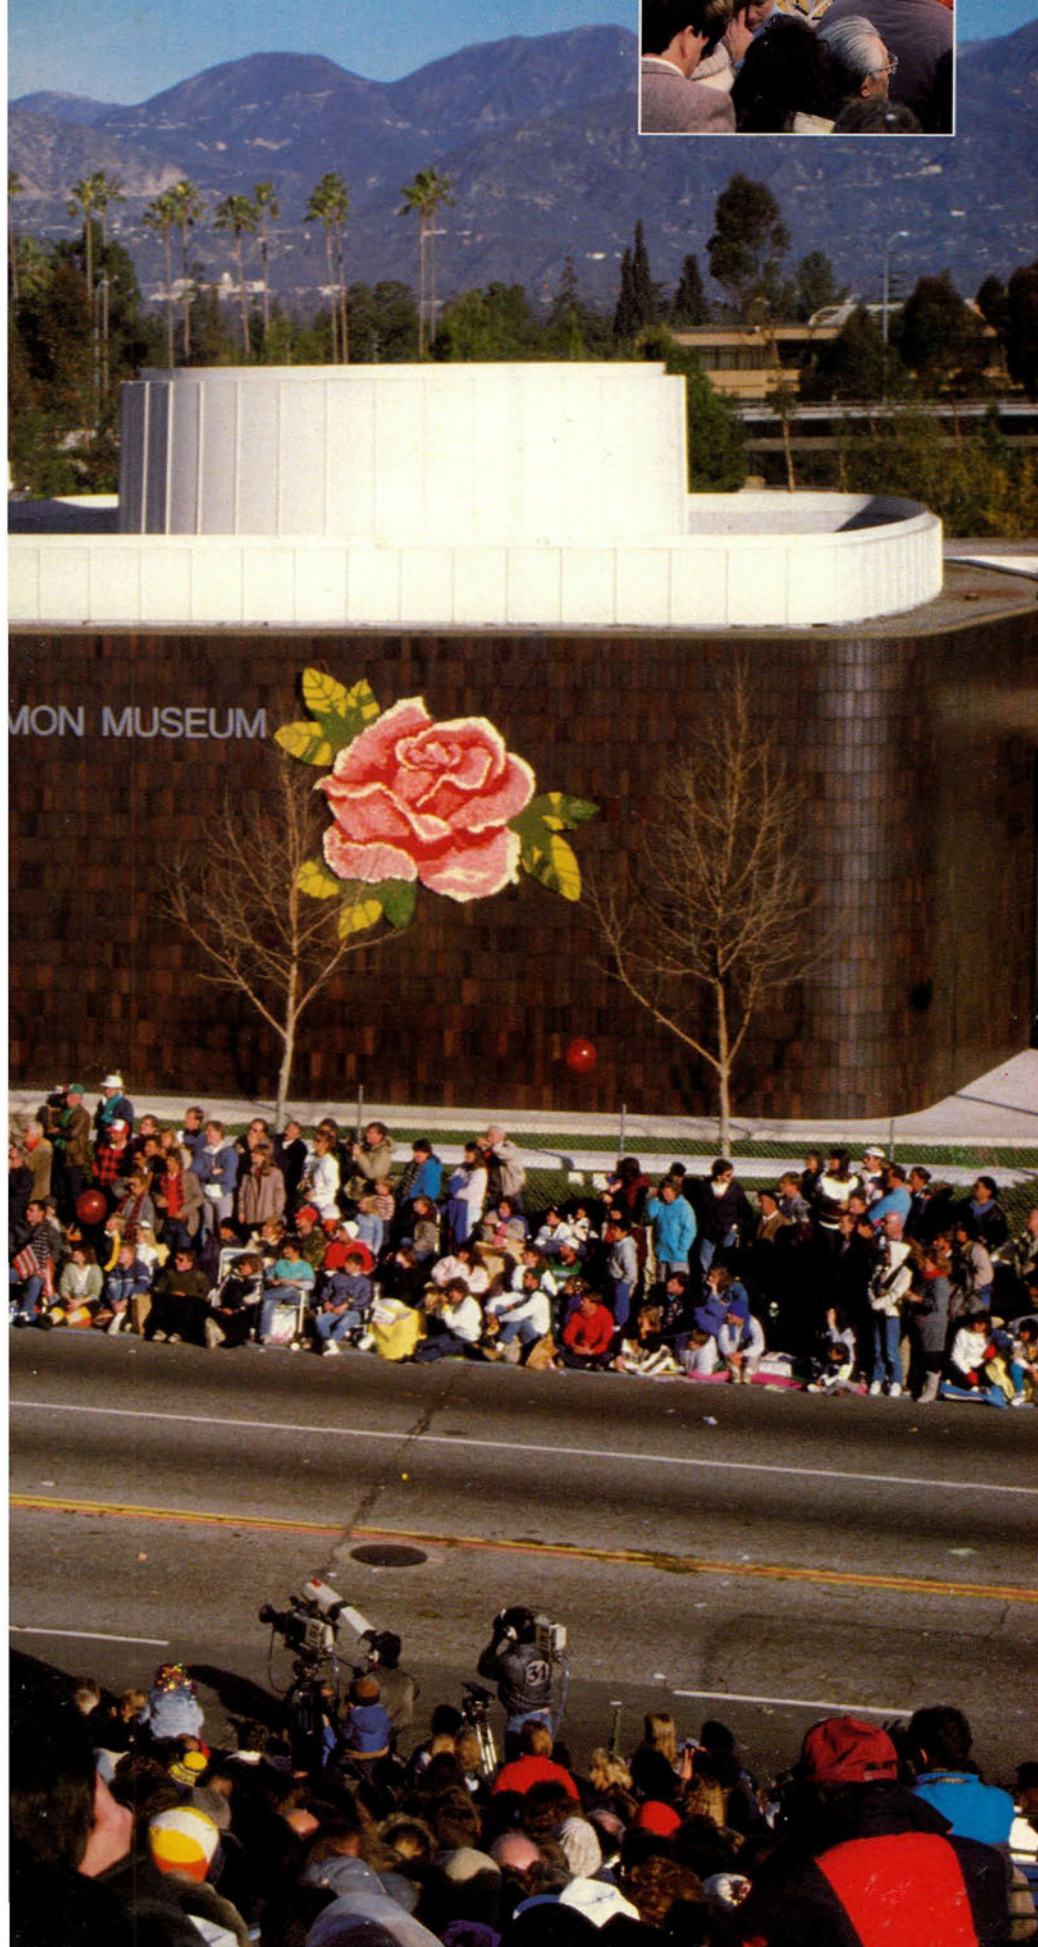

PICTURE PURR-FECT

Nearly one million people lined Pasadena's streets on January 1 to view the 99th Tournament of Roses Parade. The parade route begins on Orange Grove Avenue, next to the Ambassador College campus. Ambassador students assist the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association and earn money for the student activity fund by selling programs and concessions, providing parking, and assisting with cleanup following the parade.

WITH BEST WISHES

U.S. President Ronald Reagan sent a copy of this photograph to Chancellor Joseph W. Tkach following Mr. Tkach's visit to the White House in December. Mr. Tkach was in Washington, D.C., to attend the 10th Annual Kennedy Center Honors.

SEE AND SKI

Colorado's Rocky Mountains drew more than 200 students and faculty from Pasadena and Big Sandy to Vail for Ambassador's traditional ski trip during winter break. The students shared condominiums in Vail's Lionshead Village for a week before returning to their respective campuses.

'GO YE THEREFORE...'

Some 2,500 helium balloons rise above the Auditorium Mall following Ambassador's commencement ceremonies in Pasadena. Ambassador graduates were challenged to "reach for the stars, and keep your feet on the ground and your eyes on God" by Chancellor Joseph W. Tkach. The two campuses awarded a total of 155 bachelor of arts degrees, 206 associate of arts degrees and 77 associate of science degrees to students from 19 nations and 40 U.S. states.

Building On The Foundation

O f A m b a s s a d o r C o l l e g e

The inscription on the west wall of Ambassador Hall, on the Ambassador College campus in Pasadena, Calif., is explicit. "The Word of God," it states, "is the foundation of knowledge."

It was on this premise, on the eighth day of October in 1947, that Herbert W. Armstrong, 55, a successful advertising executive, founder of The Plain Truth magazine and pastor general of the Worldwide Church of God, opened the doors of Ambassador College to four students in a renovated 18-room mansion at 363 Grove Street.

FROM HUMBLE BEGINNINGS

The College had a faculty of only eight. There was no gymnasium, no athletic field, no dining room, no dormitories. For a library, the school had a few books and encyclopedias stacked on shelves in the one room that served as music room, assembly room, library, study room and lounge.

"I suppose many people would laugh at the idea of dignifying that by the name 'college,'" Ambassador's founder would write.

Building On The Foundation

Nearly 39 years later, when Herbert W. Armstrong died in January, 1986, Ambassador had become one of the greatest education success stories in history.

Its Pasadena campus, which now comprises 40 acres and several of the city's most distinguished mansions, has been acclaimed as the most beautiful in the United States. A sister campus of 1,600 acres thrives in Big Sandy, Texas. A third campus was open from 1960 through 1974 on a 150-acre estate in Bricket Wood, England, about five miles from London.

Ambassador's enrollment, now more than 1,000 on the Pasadena and Big Sandy campuses combined, includes students from more than 40 nations. And the College's impact, as its enrollment indicates, is worldwide. Queens have praised the College. Kings have visited its campus. Others have tried to emulate its methods.

The influence of Mr. Armstrong, nationally and internationally, through the College, was such that upon his death his successor, Joseph W. Tkach, was to say, "No man can fill his shoes, but Father, we aim to follow in his footsteps." Under Mr. Tkach's direction, Ambassador College is doing just that.

"Some might look and say, 'Well, Ambassador College has been built, and all we need to do is to preserve it,'" said the College's vice chancellor, Donald Ward, in an address to students in December, 1987. "Well, I'm here to say we need to preserve it, but we also need to go on and on. There is never a time to just hold your ground.... There is a time to build. That time is now!"

The work to which Dr. Ward referred has little to do with constructing offices, dormitories or classrooms. Rather, it concerns fulfilling the commission for which the College was established. Summarized briefly by Mr. Armstrong, this is to provide an institution of higher learning according to the highest spiritual, intellectual and cultural standards of advanced scholarship; to cultivate within its students high moral and spiritual character, personality, poise and true culture; and to train those who may be called for the many responsibilities in the Work and ministry of the Church of God for the preaching and publishing of the very Gospel Jesus taught as a witness to all nations.

Ambassador was founded as a liberal-arts college, and remains committed to a true liberal-arts education — one which frees us from fear, ignorance, superstition and the dogmas of men. One is liberated, after all, not by information but by his or her attitude and approach toward life. Ambassador's "liberating influences," therefore, come from its life as much as from its studies.

THE SOURCE OF TRUTH

The means by which such freedom comes is clearly revealed in the Word of God, which states, "You shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." God's Word, we are told, is truth.

Merely acquiring knowledge of the truth, however, falls far short of Ambassador's goal. There must be more. As stated by Chancellor Tkach, "Of what value is knowledge unless it can be put to use for the benefit and well-being of others?"

And, as an Ambassador faculty member remarked, "We must keep up to date with our facts, our knowledge and our understanding, and see new directions and new applications of the truth if we expect to have stability in a changing world."

That's why Ambassador places such emphasis on building character, and on developing every facet of one's being — mentally, physically, emotionally, psychologically and, most importantly, spiritually.

MEETING THE CHALLENGE

Ambassador students are challenged in the classroom to examine the why and how of all areas of life — why they believe what they believe, and how to prove what they believe. They also are challenged to put their beliefs to practice: initially in the classroom, at work and in recreation; later in their homes and communities — in every facet of their lives.

Such training is essential if Ambassador students are to meet the demands beyond graduation, when they will be commissioned to fulfill their calling as ambassadors for the government of God.

A college, as defined by Vice Chancellor Ward, is "a collection of individuals who are dedicated to building a lighthouse of learning that will serve to guide the steps of future travelers on the road of life."

For 41 years Ambassador has stood as a lighthouse to the world, illuminating the path to a true liberal education.

Building On The Foundation

Maintaining that light is necessary, but the challenge facing those at Ambassador today is to continue building on the College's foundation, to ensure that the light of learning will burn brighter and brighter.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING

Herbert W. Armstrong lit that lamp in 1947. That historical mission still burns deeply in the heart and mind of Joseph W. Tkach, who in turn has issued the same charge to Ambassador's administration, faculty and students. "Ask not what Ambassador can do for you," he said recently, paraphrasing former U.S. President John F. Kennedy, "but ask what you can do for Ambassador."

The chancellor's call to build Ambassador College was reminiscent of another statement by President Kennedy: "Let us go forth to lead the land we love, asking all blessing and all help, but knowing that here on earth, God's Work must truly be our own."

Ambassador's graduates are trained to meet the demands beyond graduation, to make a solid contribution to their communities and the world in which they live.

ARCHITECTURE

During Ambassador College's third year, in 1950, Hulett C. Merritt, who owned the mansion that is now Ambassador Hall, was walking on the campus one day and observed an Ambassador student working on the grounds.

"Young man, what are you doing?" Mr. Merritt questioned.

"I'm helping build Ambassador College," came the reply.

So began a tradition that still exists — much of the upkeep of Ambassador's buildings and grounds is entrusted to its students.

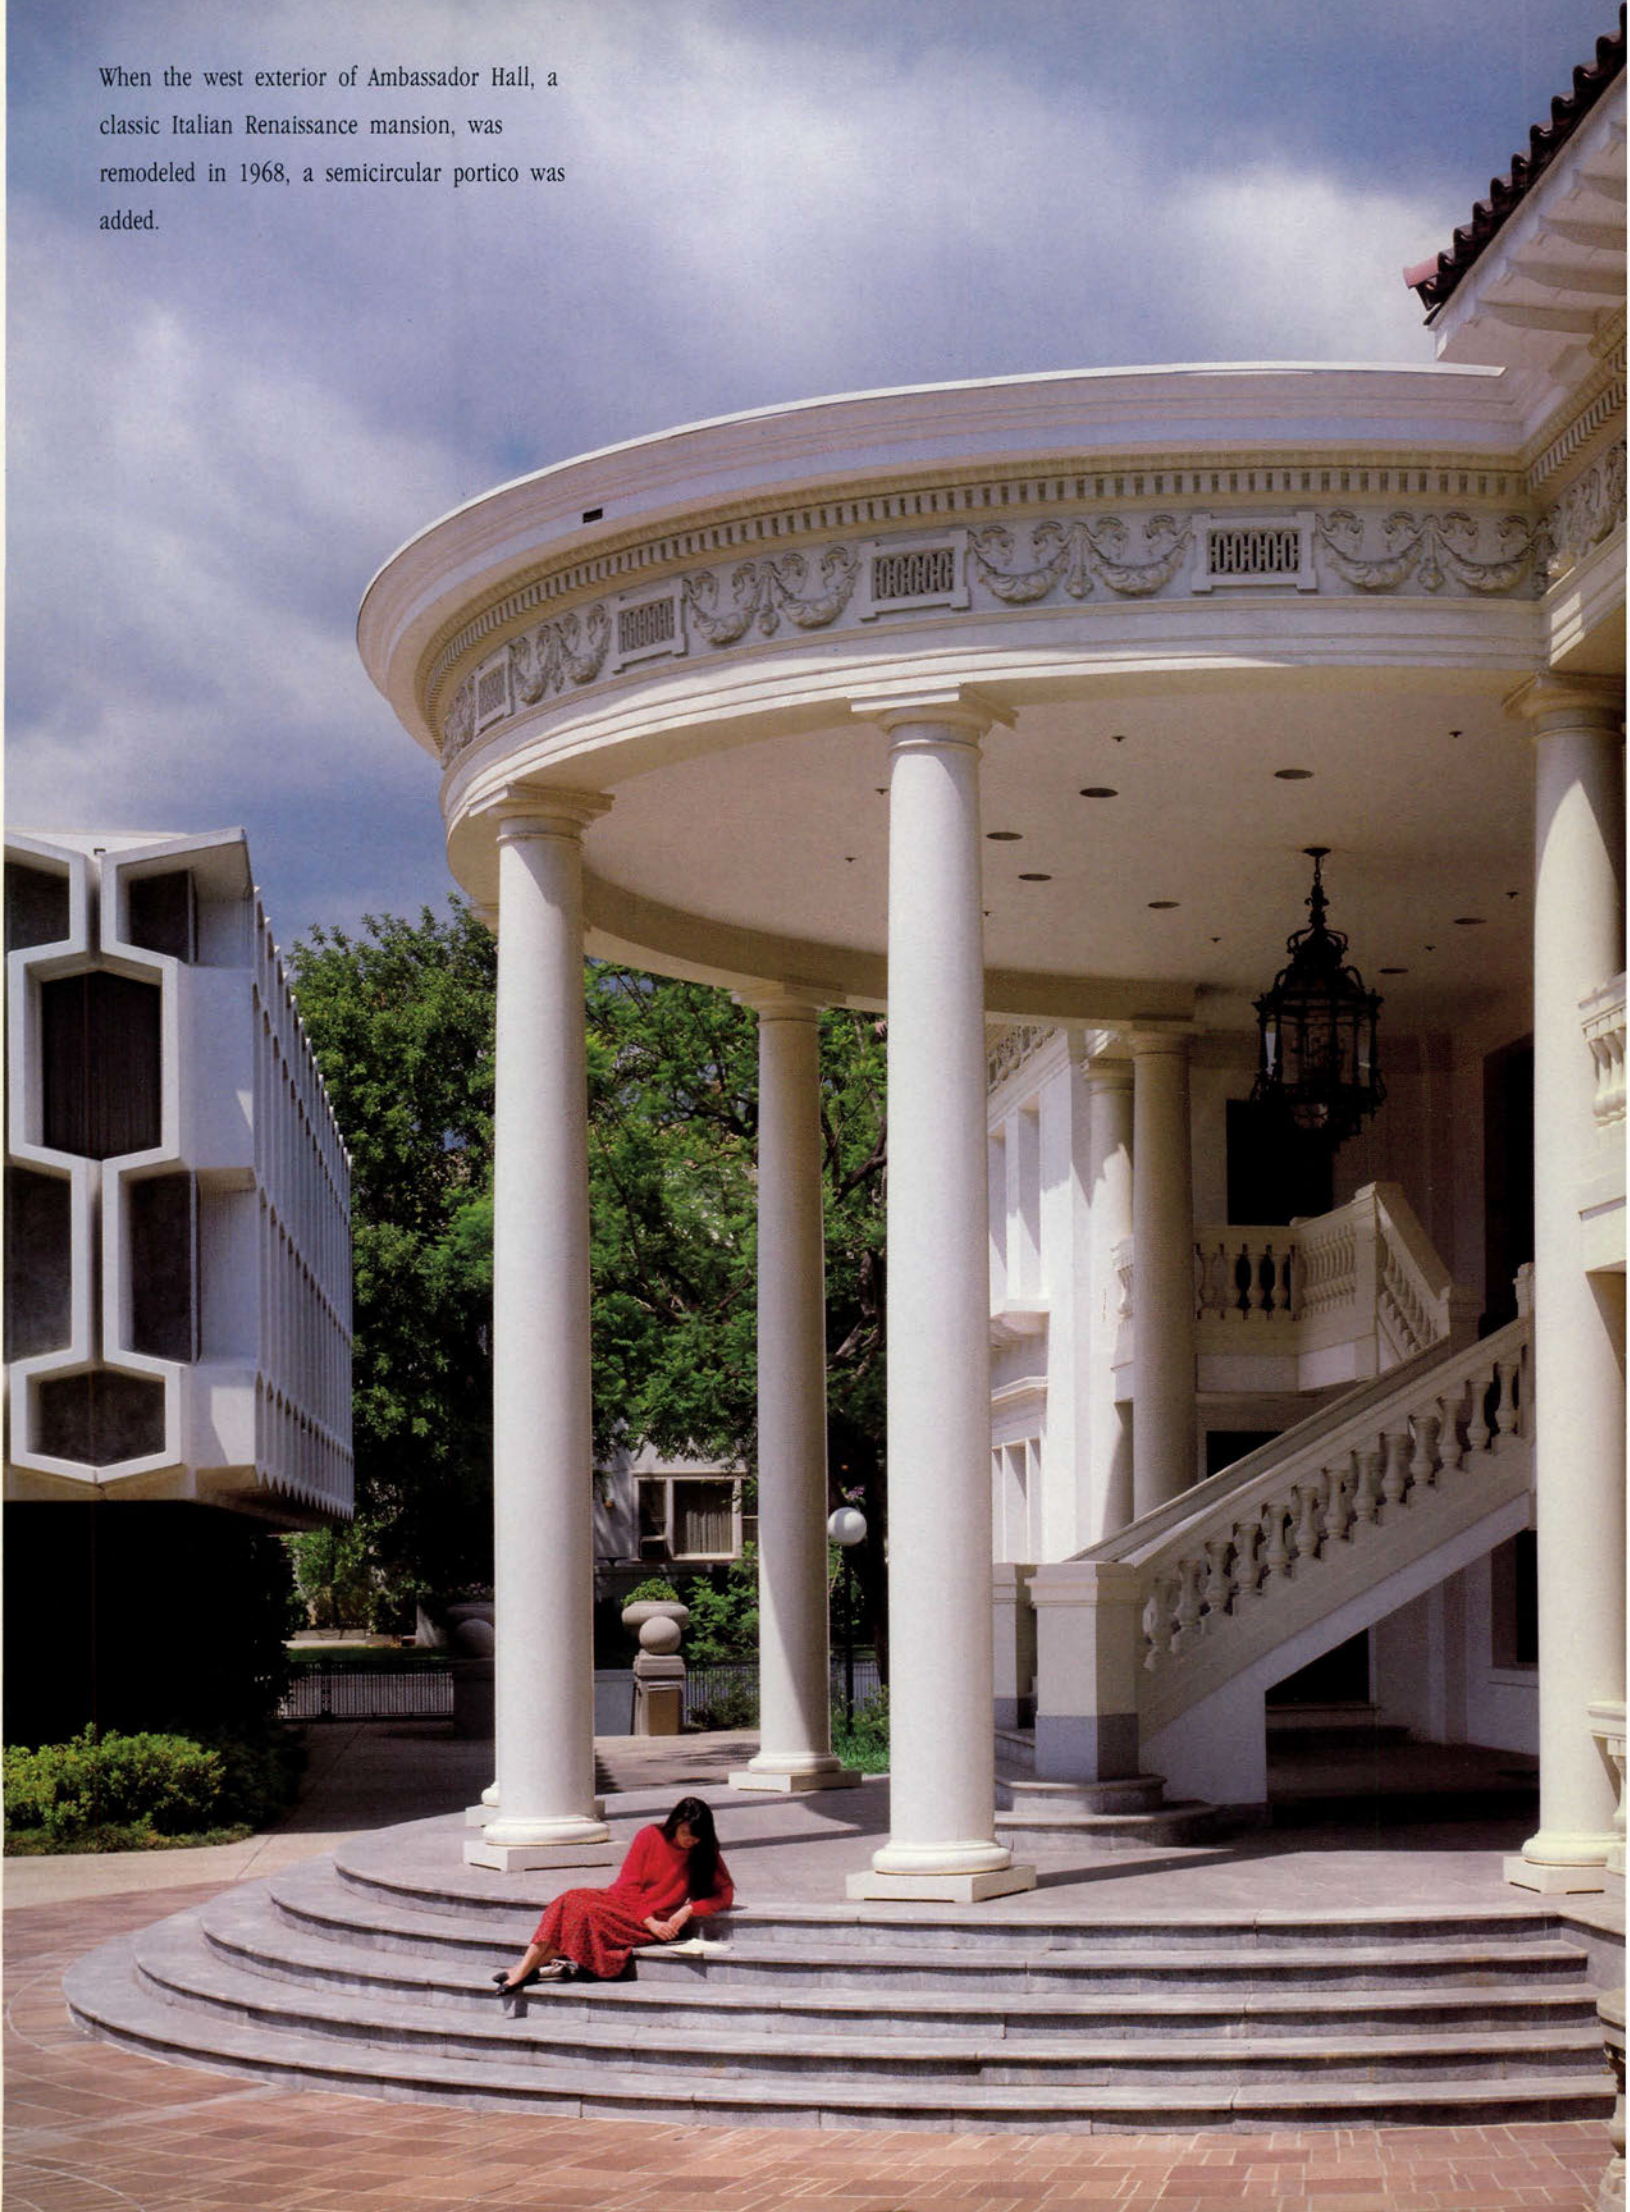

When the College made its first addition to the original property in May, 1949, annexing a Tudor-style mansion called Mayfair, with it came 1 3/4 acres of unkempt grounds that badly needed a facelift. Most of the work was done by students, using a rented bulldozer to recontour the sloping grounds, bringing them into harmony with the original plot.

A skilled, full-time staff of 20, assisted by 36 students, now is responsible for maintaining the campus.

The idea is this: Providing students with a stimulating environment, such as Ambassador's campus, is one thing; teaching them to produce and maintain such an environment for themselves and for others is another thing altogether.

"This is the campus so many people talk about, that everyone takes pictures of. It was such a privilege just to help upkeep it," said a second-year Ambassador student.

When the west exterior of Ambassador Hall, a classic Italian Renaissance mansion, was remodeled in 1968, a semicircular portico was added.

ARCHITECTURE

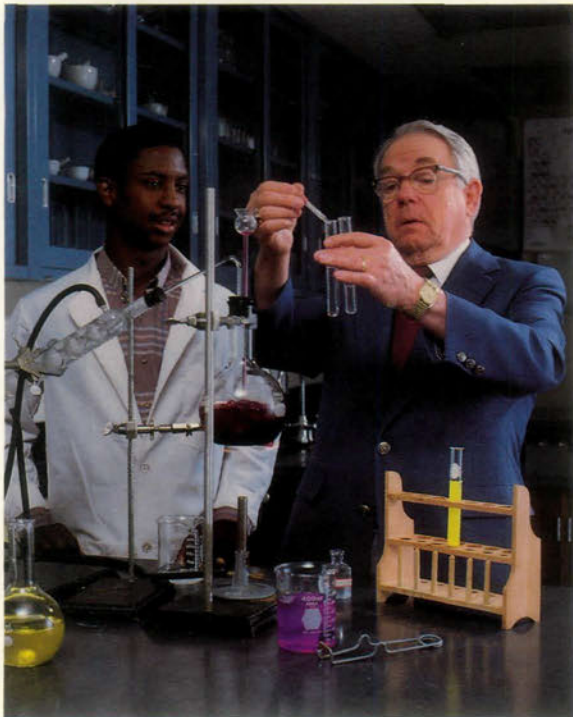

The Hall of Administration (right) houses offices for the administration and faculty of Ambassador College, and serves as headquarters of the Worldwide Church of God. The Egret fountain rises out of a one-half-acre reflecting pool.

For years classes met in Ambassador Hall (right), which now is used as a reception hall for special occasions and to hold home economics classes. The Science Building's lab (below) has specially designed lab tables with acid-resistant sinks.

ARCHITECTURE

The Loma D. Armstrong Academic Center (left) includes Ambassador Hall, the Fine Arts and Science buildings, and the Italian Sunken Garden. The Fine Arts Building includes a 274-seat recital hall with small stage, and the Science Hall includes six standard classrooms and two lecture halls, one seating 218, the other seating 132.

The Italian Sunken Garden has been a part of the landscape since Ambassador Hall, originally called Villa Merritt Ollivier, was constructed in 1908.

ARCHITECTURE

Ambassador has been recognized three times by Grounds Maintenance magazine as having the best maintained school or university grounds in the nation.

Terrace Villa, a Mediterranean-style mansion built in 1925, is a women's residence for 29 students.

Mayfair, a 28-room English Tudor-style building, has served simultaneously as a student activity building, a dining hall and a men's and women's residence. Now it serves as a student residence for 42 women.

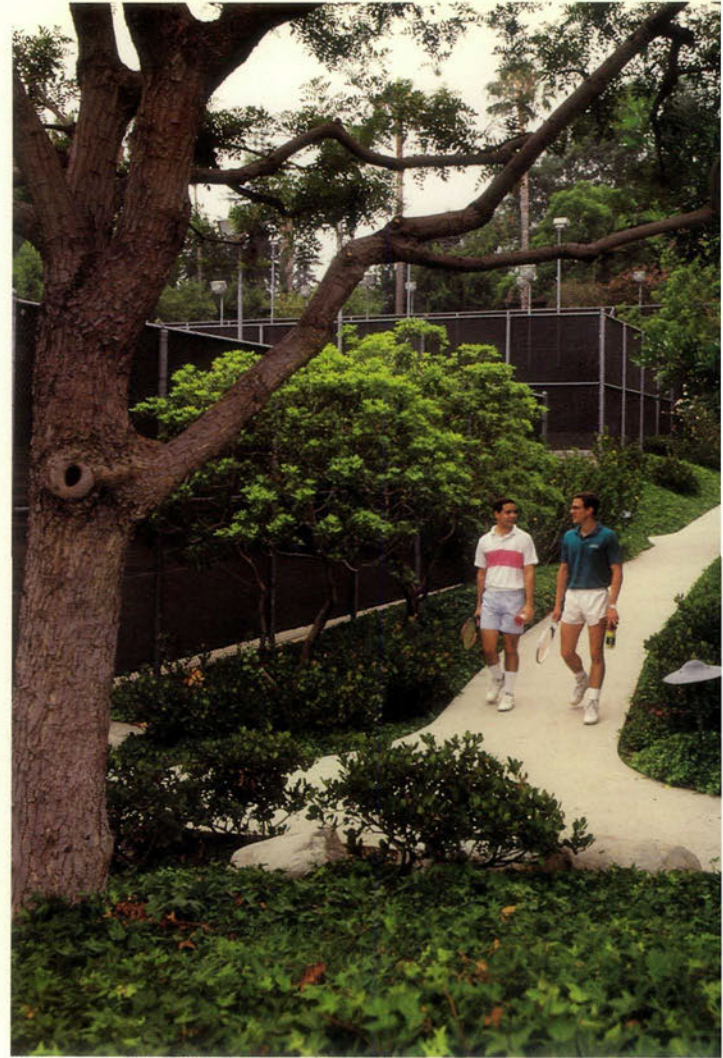

The Grove Villa apartments were acquired in 1962 and converted into student residences. Their design reflects the Spanish influence in Southern California.

ARCHITECTURE

The gymnasium and natatorium, along with a running track, playing field and tennis courts, comprise the Ambassador College Physical Education Complex. The Physical Education building (below) also includes offices, handball courts, a weight room and carpeted locker rooms.

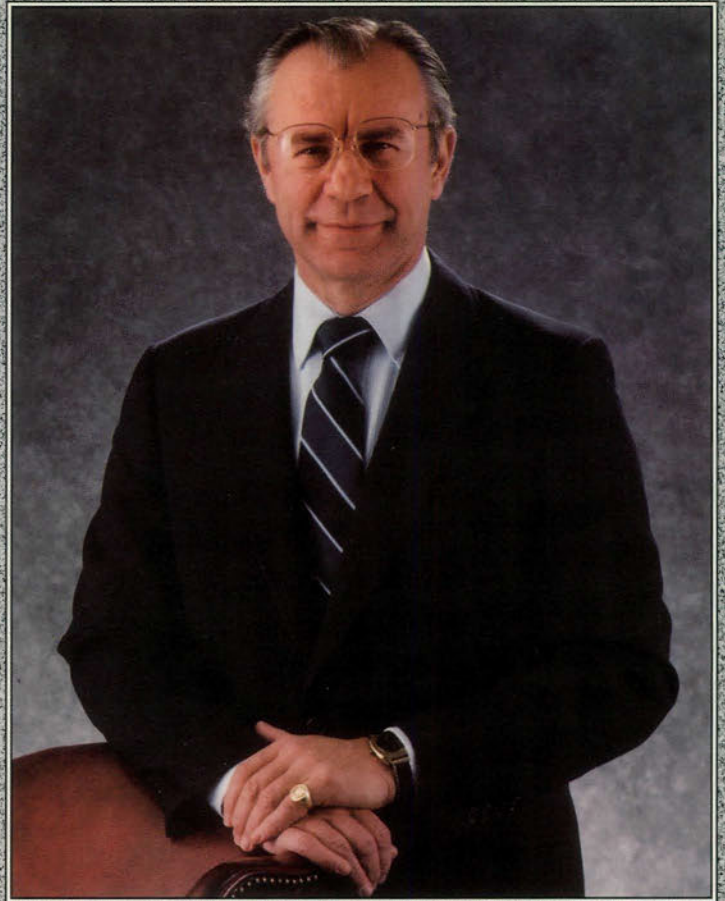

The natatorium, which includes one- and three-meter diving boards, was a site for semifinal tryouts for the 1964 U.S. Olympic diving team.

ADMINISTRATION

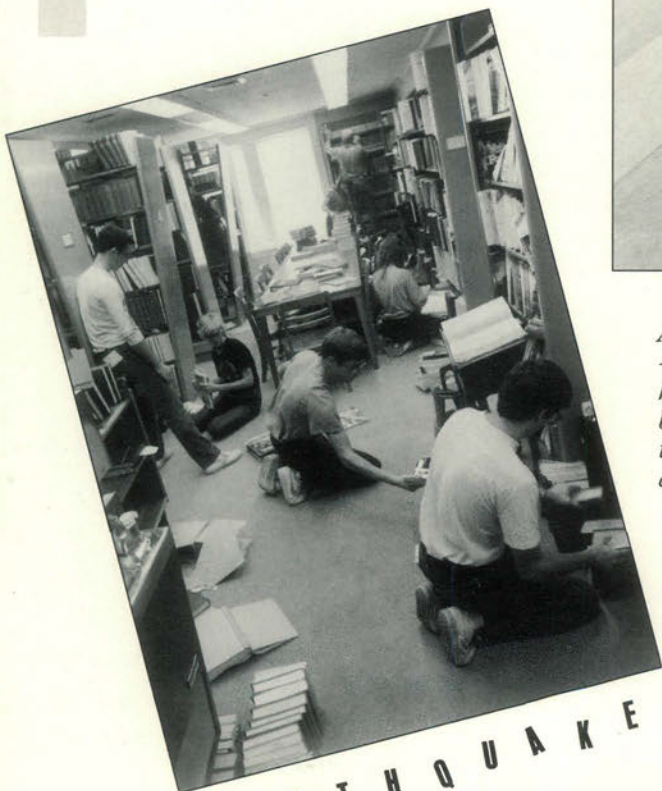

Following the lead of Chancellor Joseph W. Tkach, Ambassador College's administration supervises the daily affairs of the College, assuring that Ambassador adheres to the foundational principles that set it apart from all other colleges.

PASADENA LIFE

As soon as students arrived on campus with their dreams for the future, they were confronted with visions of Ambassador's past as the College celebrated its 40th anniversary in August.

A proclamation presented to Chancellor Joseph W. Tkach, signed by California Gov. George Deukmejian, praised Ambassador as "a creative and innovative leader of our nation." During his anniversary address, Mr. Tkach said, "We are not here just to glory in the past, but to look forward to what we must yet accomplish."

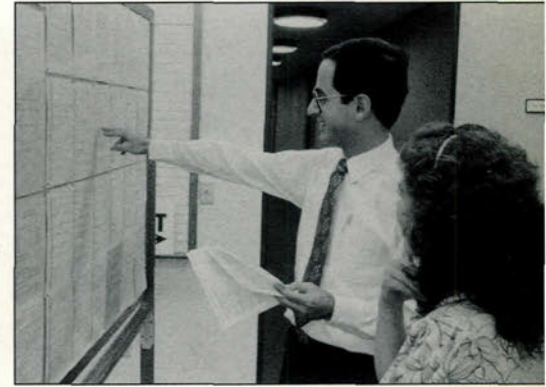

With that in mind, 616 students began the 41st year at Ambassador College in Pasadena. What follows is a glimpse of some of the year's highlights.

SPORTS

INTRAMURALS SERVE AS TRAINING GROUND

Intramural sports at Ambassador College always have been regarded as an extension of the College's curriculum, as a ready-made environment for practical instruction and experience. While team sports such as basketball and softball generally have attracted greater interest, Ambassador has for years included individual sports tournaments in its athletic program as well.

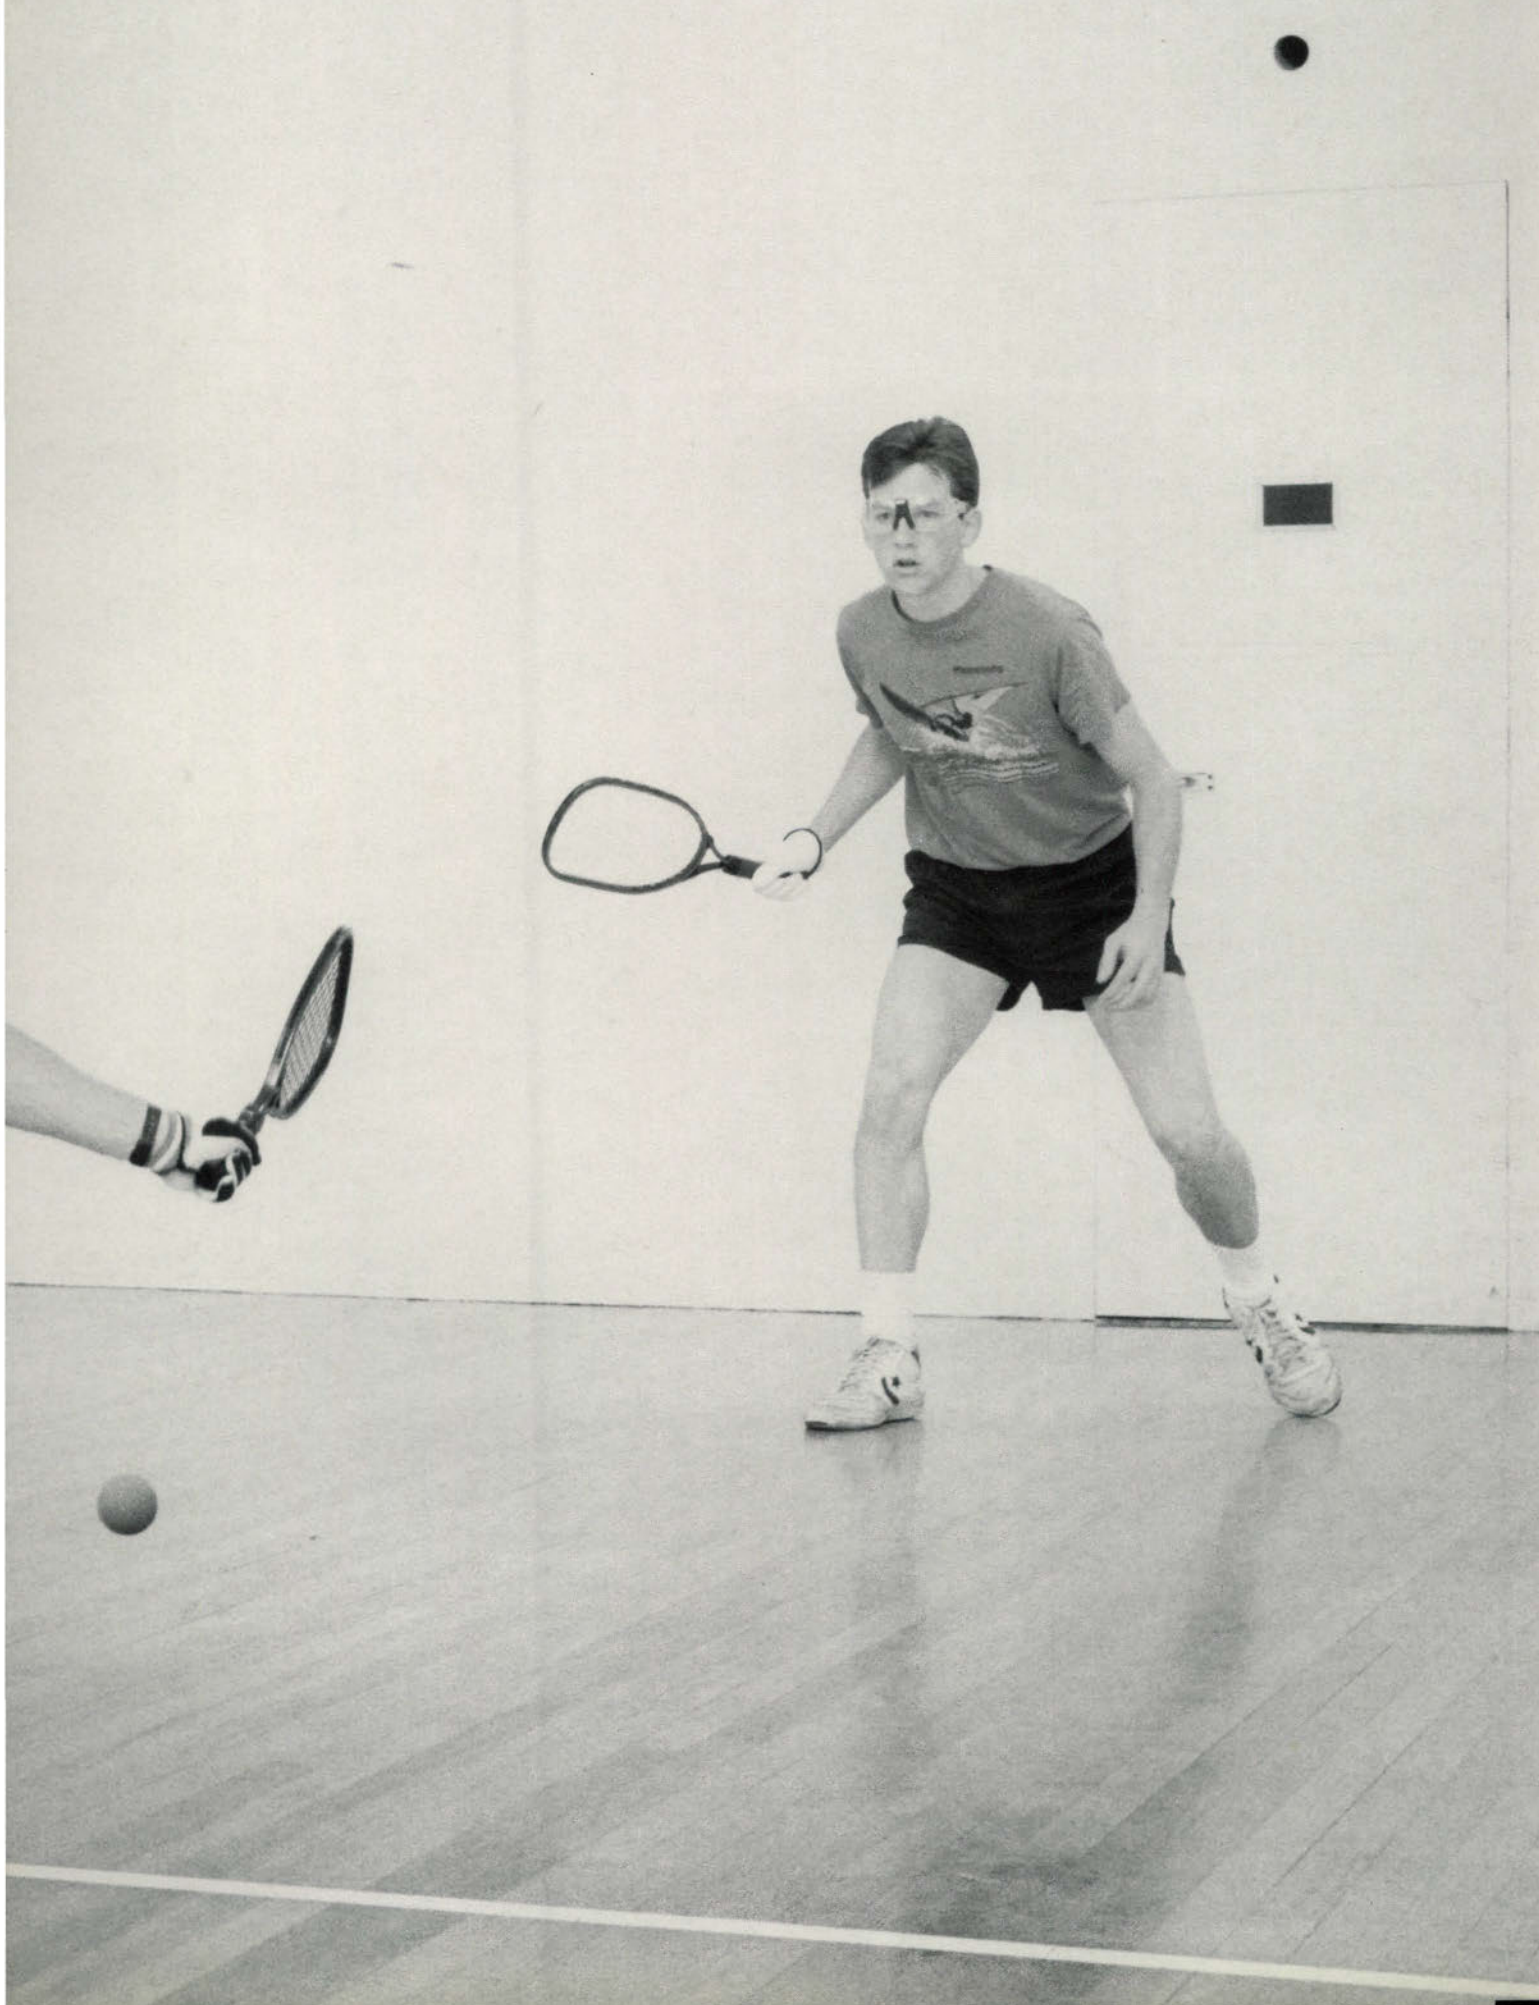

"We like the balance of having both team sports and individual sports — they both have lessons to teach us," said Jim Petty, director of physical education. "In team sports, for instance, you have to learn to get along with others and to use the strengths of others. In individual sports, you have to learn to stand on your own two feet, to rely on your own ingenuity, your own strategy. You have to take the initiative to do your own training. It has a lot of good lessons for young people."

Senior Dave Buckley won three of the seven men's tournaments this spring, in golf, bowling and racquetball. Hamlyn Jailal, a senior from Trinidad, won the table tennis tournament; freshman John Onstott was the badminton champion; freshman Jerome Feltracco won the tennis tournament without losing a set; and senior Gary Roth won the free-throw competition.

Special student Pina Duskis won two of the six women's tournaments, in table tennis and lawn tennis. Junior Lori Yeager won the bowling competition; senior Irene Francis won the badminton tournament; junior Liana Graham won the racquetball tournament; and freshman Sarah Parman was the free-throw champion.

SENIORS REPEAT AS CHAMPIONS

Many teams would be content to score 96 points in a whole intramural season. Not the juniors and seniors. In their mid-season matchup, the two teams amassed 96 points in a single game. By surviving a junior rally in the second half, the seniors won the shootout, 52-44. The seniors went on to complete the flag football season in first place with a perfect 4-0 record, the second year in a row they went undefeated.

Leading by a mere touchdown at halftime, 30-22, the seniors added three touchdowns to the juniors' one in the second half to take a commanding 52-30 lead. First came Gary Roth's 58-yard scoring pass to Dave Buckley, which the juniors answered with Doug Orban's 20-yard toss to Kevin Brownlee. Then the seniors broke the game open with back-to-back touchdowns. After a 50-yard scoring drive put the seniors ahead, 44-30, Rob Zacharias intercepted a junior pass to give the seniors possession again. The seniors capitalized with a touchdown pass from Marcus Allen to Nick Chalaris.

With the game seemingly out of reach, the juniors went to the long pass. First Doug Orban connected with his favorite target, Brad Reed, to set up Doug's touchdown pass to Steve Madden. Later, in the game's closing seconds, Doug hit Brad for another touchdown despite the seniors' double coverage, bringing the juniors to within eight points, 52-44.

The loss was the only one for the juniors, who finished in second place with a 3-1 record. Their final victory did not come easily, however. In the last game of the season, having trailed the sophomores for the entire game, the juniors scored on the final play to pull out a 28-25 victory. The faculty finished in third place (2-2), followed by the sophomores (1-3) and freshmen (0-4).

VOLLEY

SENIOR BONDS BUILD RESULTS

When Intramural Director Jim Petty instituted a rule change for the women's volleyball season, the seniors' coach, Teresa Peterson, countered with some new strategy. Her scheme had little to do the team's alignment, which interspersed setters Darcy Derrick and Marie Myers among hitters Brenda Todd, Toshia Peters, Sherri Palm and Stacy Woods. Nor did it concern defensive assignments or strategy. Still, it had a dramatic impact on the seniors' undefeated season, during which they lost only four games out of the eight matches they played.

What was the seniors' secret? Before the season began, they gathered at Miss Peterson's house several times for a barbecue.

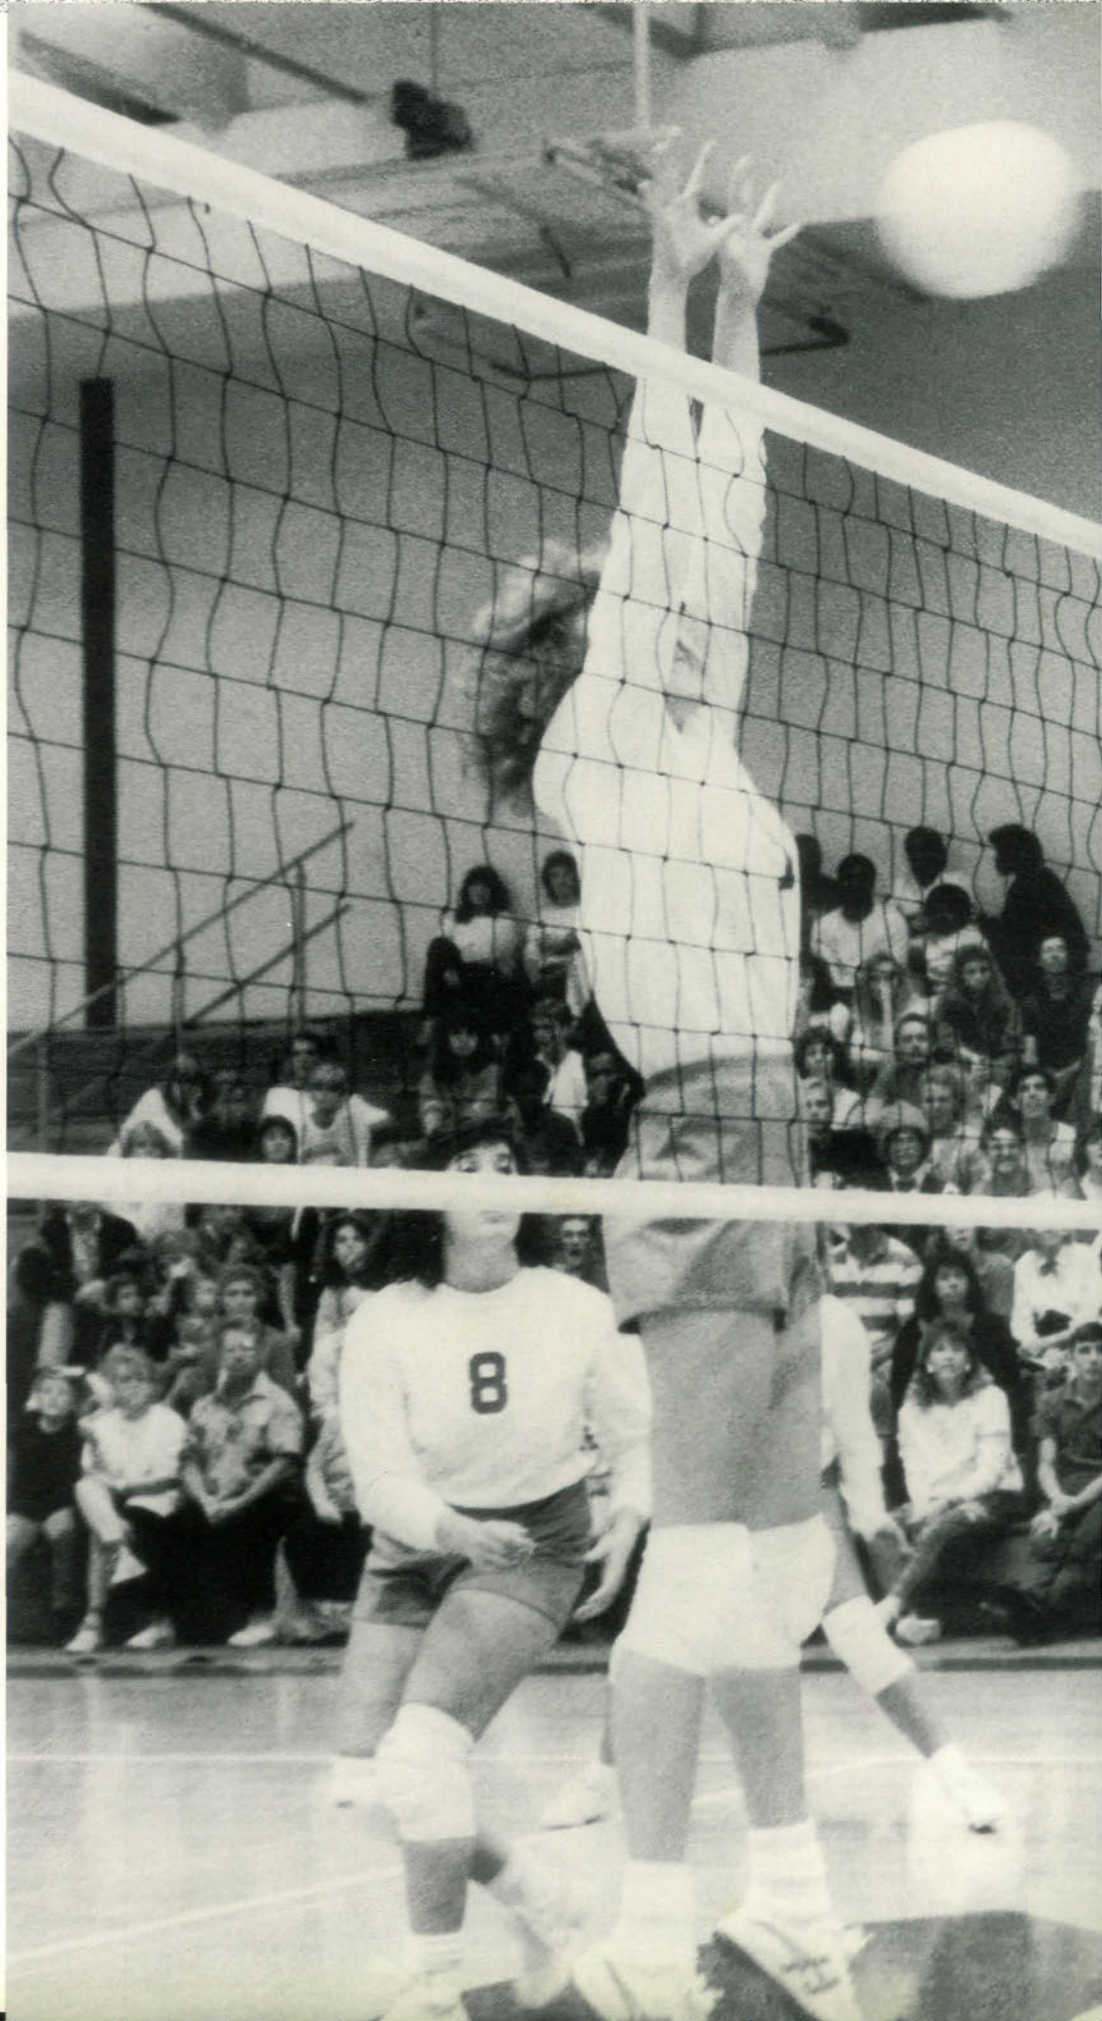

"When you do things with the team off the court, it creates more of a bond that will help you on the court," said Marie Myers. "That's what happened with us. Getting together with our teammates socially and just enjoying being around one another helped us play so much better together."

Judging from the seniors' results, teams in the future may spend as much time setting tables as they do volleyballs. The seniors won half of their matches by 3-0 margins, and won the other four matches 3-1.

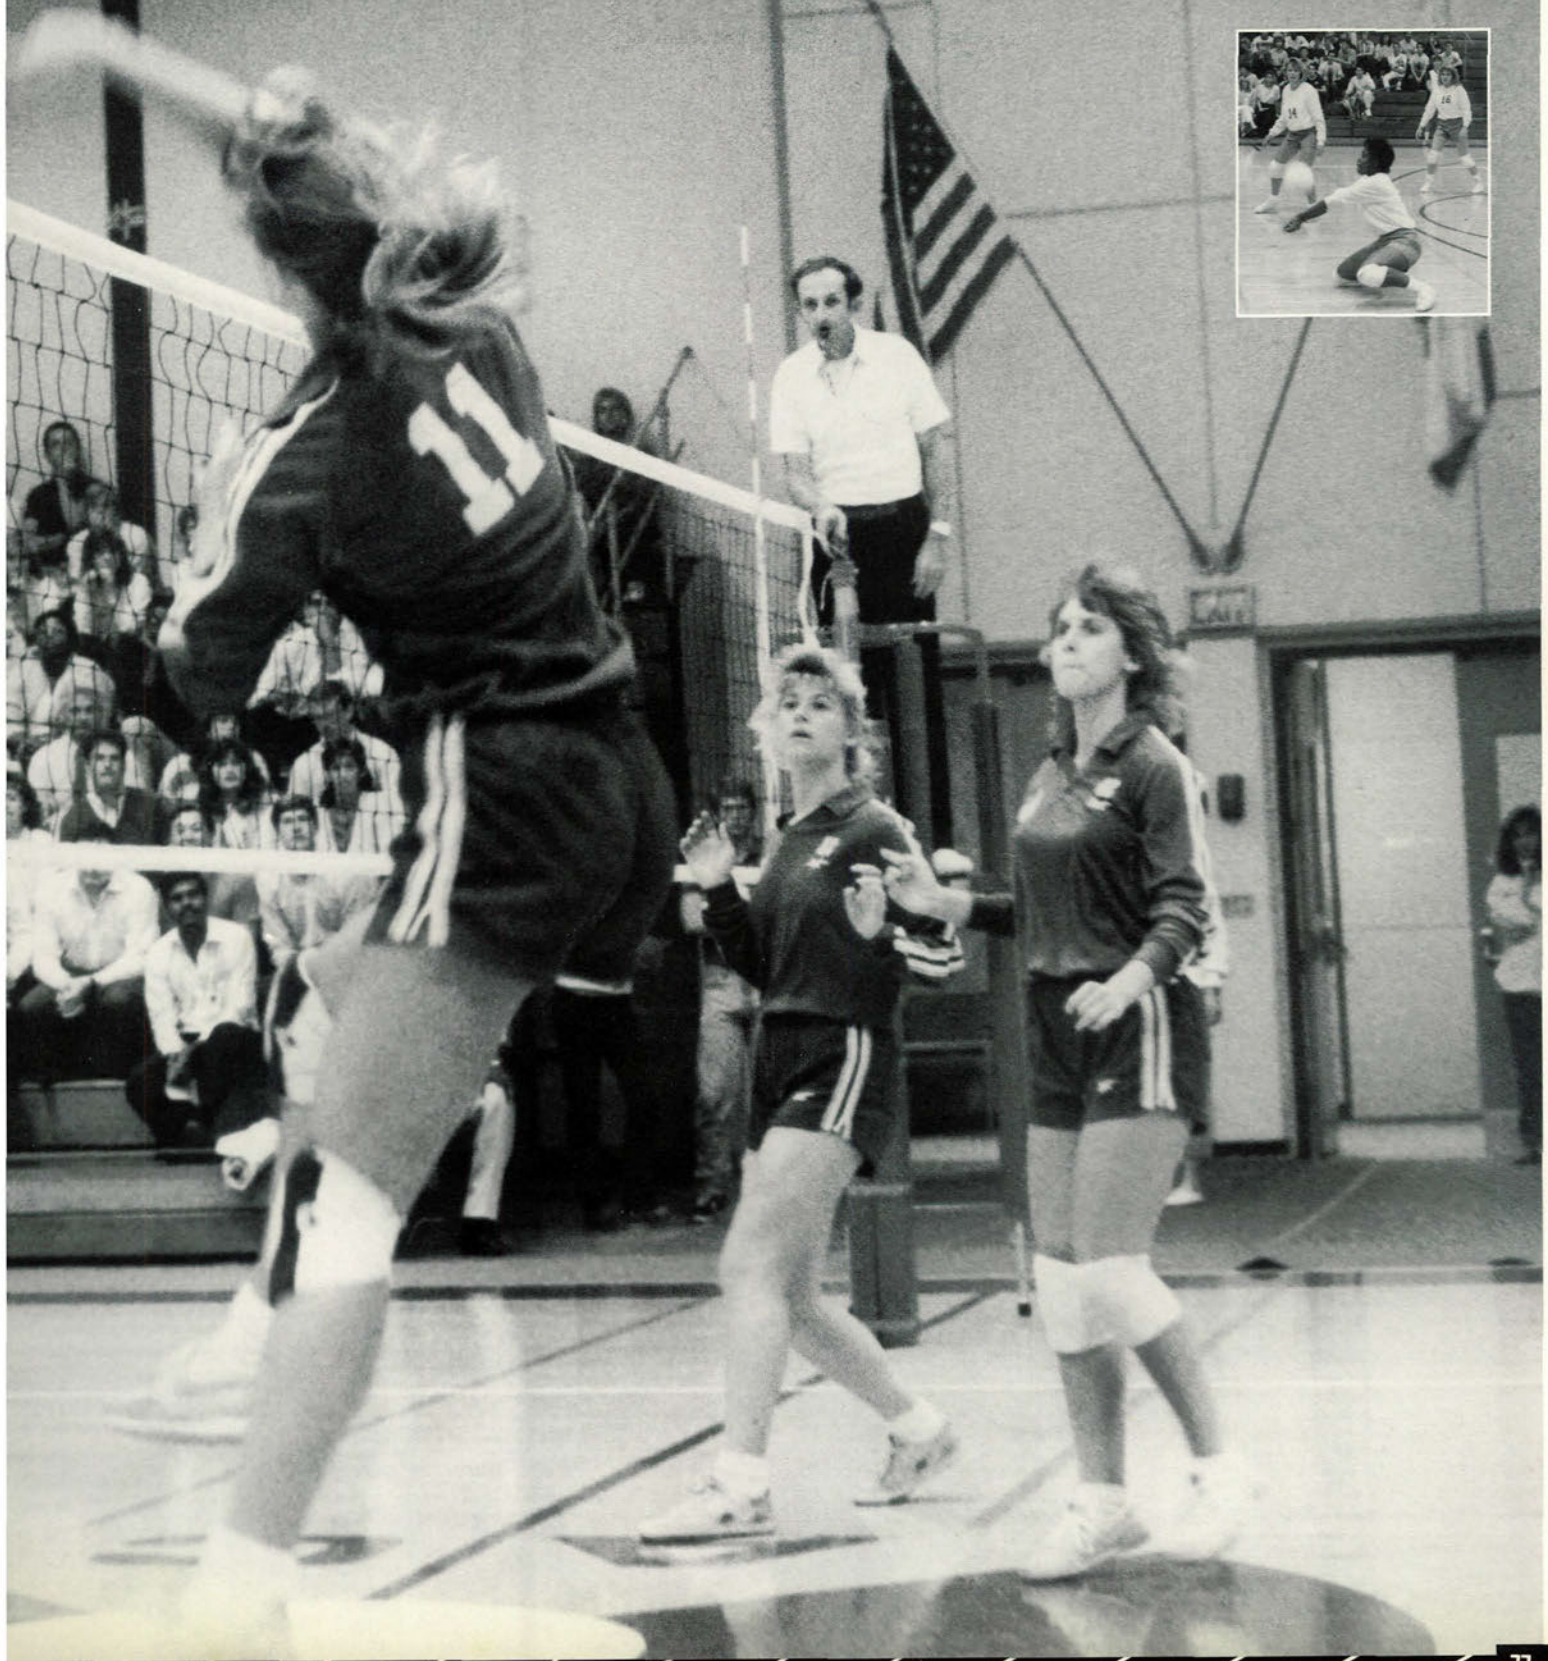

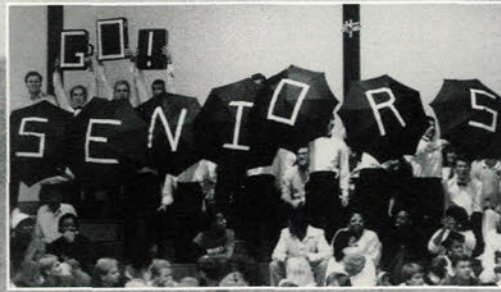

The two teams of underclassmen, the sophomores and freshmen, split their two matches and finished tied for second place, each with 4-4 records. The juniors finished fourth (3-5), followed by the faculty (1-7).

The sophomores came about their record the hard way, losing three of their first four matches before winning three of their final four.

RALLY HIGHLIGHTS ALL-STAR GAME

In a break from tradition, Ambassador's annual all-star game paired the combined classes of the seniors and sophomores against the juniors and freshmen, rather than the usual upperclassmen/underclassmen matchup. Having witnessed the way the game went to the wire, Intramural Director Jim Petty might deviate from tradition more often.

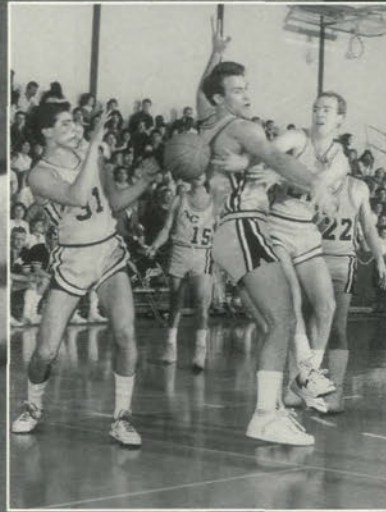

After their 12-point halftime lead vanished during a furious junior/freshmen rally, the seniors and sophomores came from one point behind to post a 74-71 victory in the season finale.

The seniors/sophomores maintained a 10-point lead for much of the half before the juniors/freshmen eventually made a run. Doug Orban began the rally with a three-point basket, trimming the lead to six points at the 10-minute mark. From there, freshman Jerome Merriweather led the attack. Scoring 13 of his 15 points in the second half, mostly on fast breaks, Jerome led the juniors/freshmen to a one-point lead with six minutes remaining.

A Nick Chalaris basket put the seniors/sophomores back in front, however, and they never trailed again. Senior Rodger Cutter followed with a three-point basket and a steal that led to a layup, giving the seniors/sophomores a six-point cushion the juniors/freshmen could not overcome.

The seniors had been familiar with such endings during the season, winning all but two of their games. The juniors finished third (3-5), followed by the freshmen (2-6) and the sophomores (1-7). The freshmen completed the first half of the season with a 2-2 record, but lost its final four games. Meanwhile, the sophomores, who had lost 14 straight games dating back to the previous year, defeated the freshmen, 60-51, for their first victory.

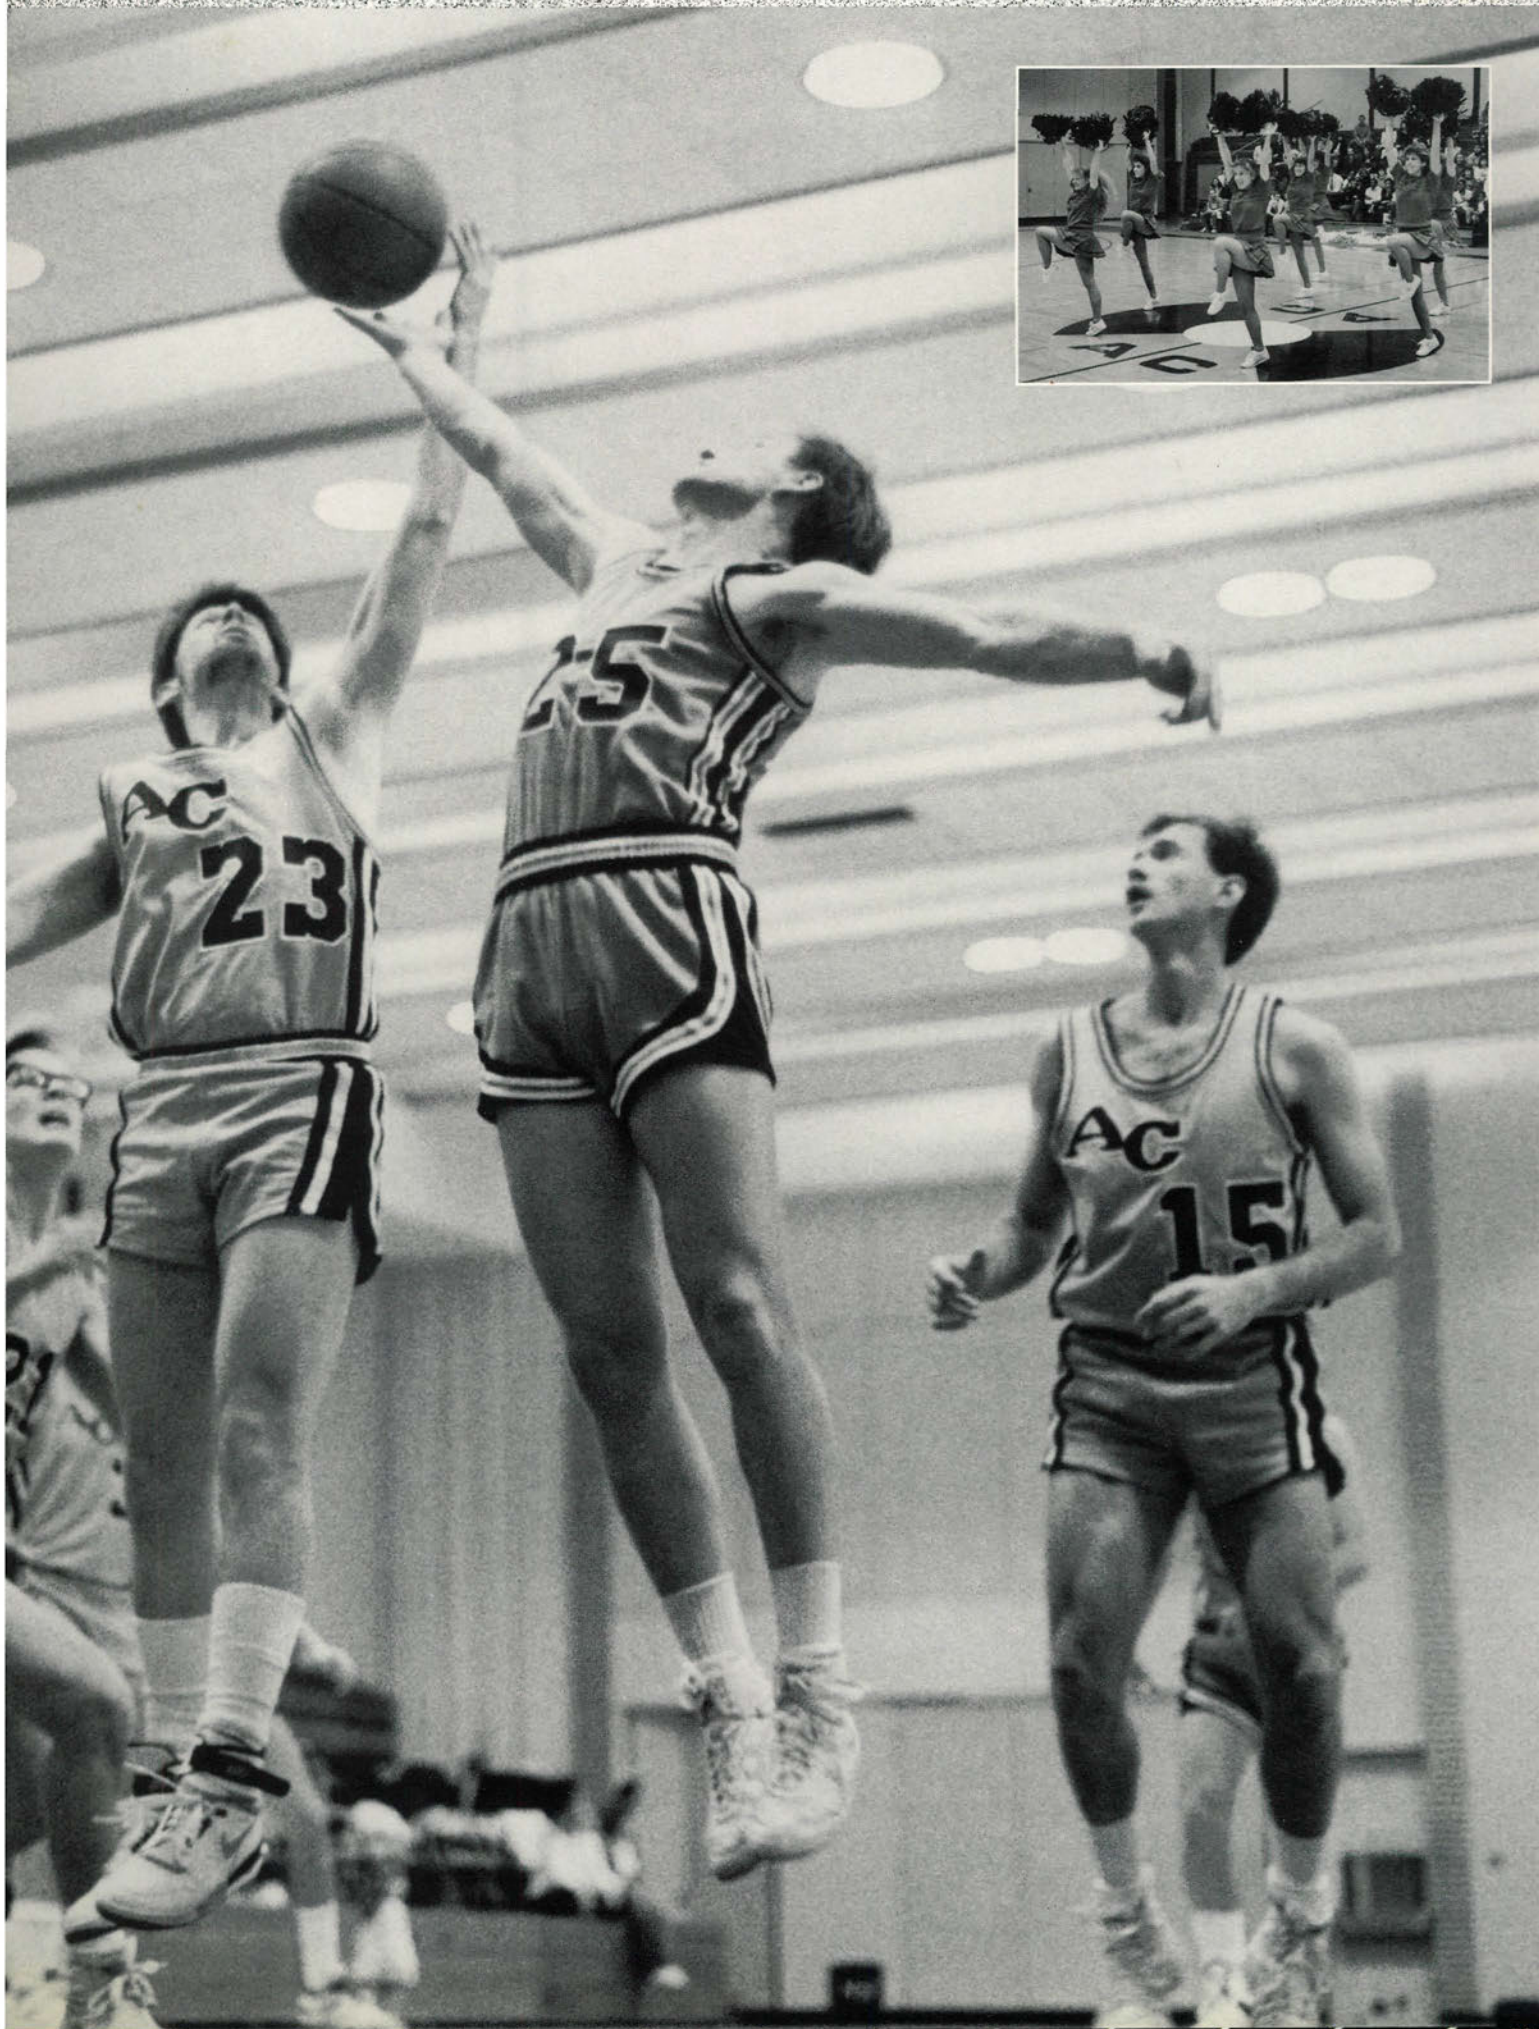

The season, however, belonged to the faculty. Relying upon center Mike Carter, whose 35.1 point-per-game average led the league, the faculty finished the season undefeated.

BASKET

ALL-STAR GAME MIRRORS SEASON

Just how evenly matched were the five women's basketball teams this winter?

Consider this: The faculty, who finished first, defeated everyone except the juniors, to whom they lost twice. The sophomores, meanwhile, who finished in last place, lost to everyone except the juniors, whom they defeated, 36-34, near the close of the season. Adding to the interest were the freshmen, who defeated the juniors but lost to the seniors, and the seniors, who defeated everyone except the faculty at least once, yet finished tied for third place with a 4-4 record.

When you figure that out, you'll understand that the all-star game had to end as it did — with one team winning by a single point on a basket in the game's closing seconds.

Shari Palm's jump shot with 20 seconds remaining gave the seniors and sophomores a 51-50 lead, and when Aletha Davis' missed 20-footer at the end of the game went astray and out of bounds, the victory was sealed for the combined graduating classes.

That Shari should clinch the victory was particularly pleasing to the seniors, considering that she missed the entire first half of the season recovering from an illness. In her absence, the seniors had struggled to a 1-3 start. With Shari back in the lineup, the seniors reversed their first-half output, winning three of their final four games.

The seniors weren't the only team to welcome back a missing team member. After a one-year layoff, Rhonda Carter returned to the faculty and helped the team improve from its third-place finish a year ago to a first-place finish this year. Mrs. Carter's 17.5 point-per-game scoring average was second only to Shari Palm's 17.7 average.

The freshmen, whose only losses were to the faculty and seniors, finished in second place with a 5-3 record. The juniors and seniors tied for third, each with 4-4 records, followed by the sophomores (1-7).

The uniforms they wear may not look like those of the National Hockey League, and their sticks and other gear may date back a decade or so. Of course, these guys aren't concerned about how they look; they're just grateful for the chance to play.

For the second straight year, about 15 Ambassador students joined a number of alumni on eight Saturday nights between November and March — about once every three weeks — for collegiate hockey, Ambassador style, at the Pickwick Arena in Burbank.

"A lot of times they don't even know what the score is during the games," said faculty adviser Andre Zick. "They just play their hearts out and have fun."

Though not officially recognized as an intramural sport, it's all these avid hockey fans — mostly Canadians, not surprisingly — could ask for.

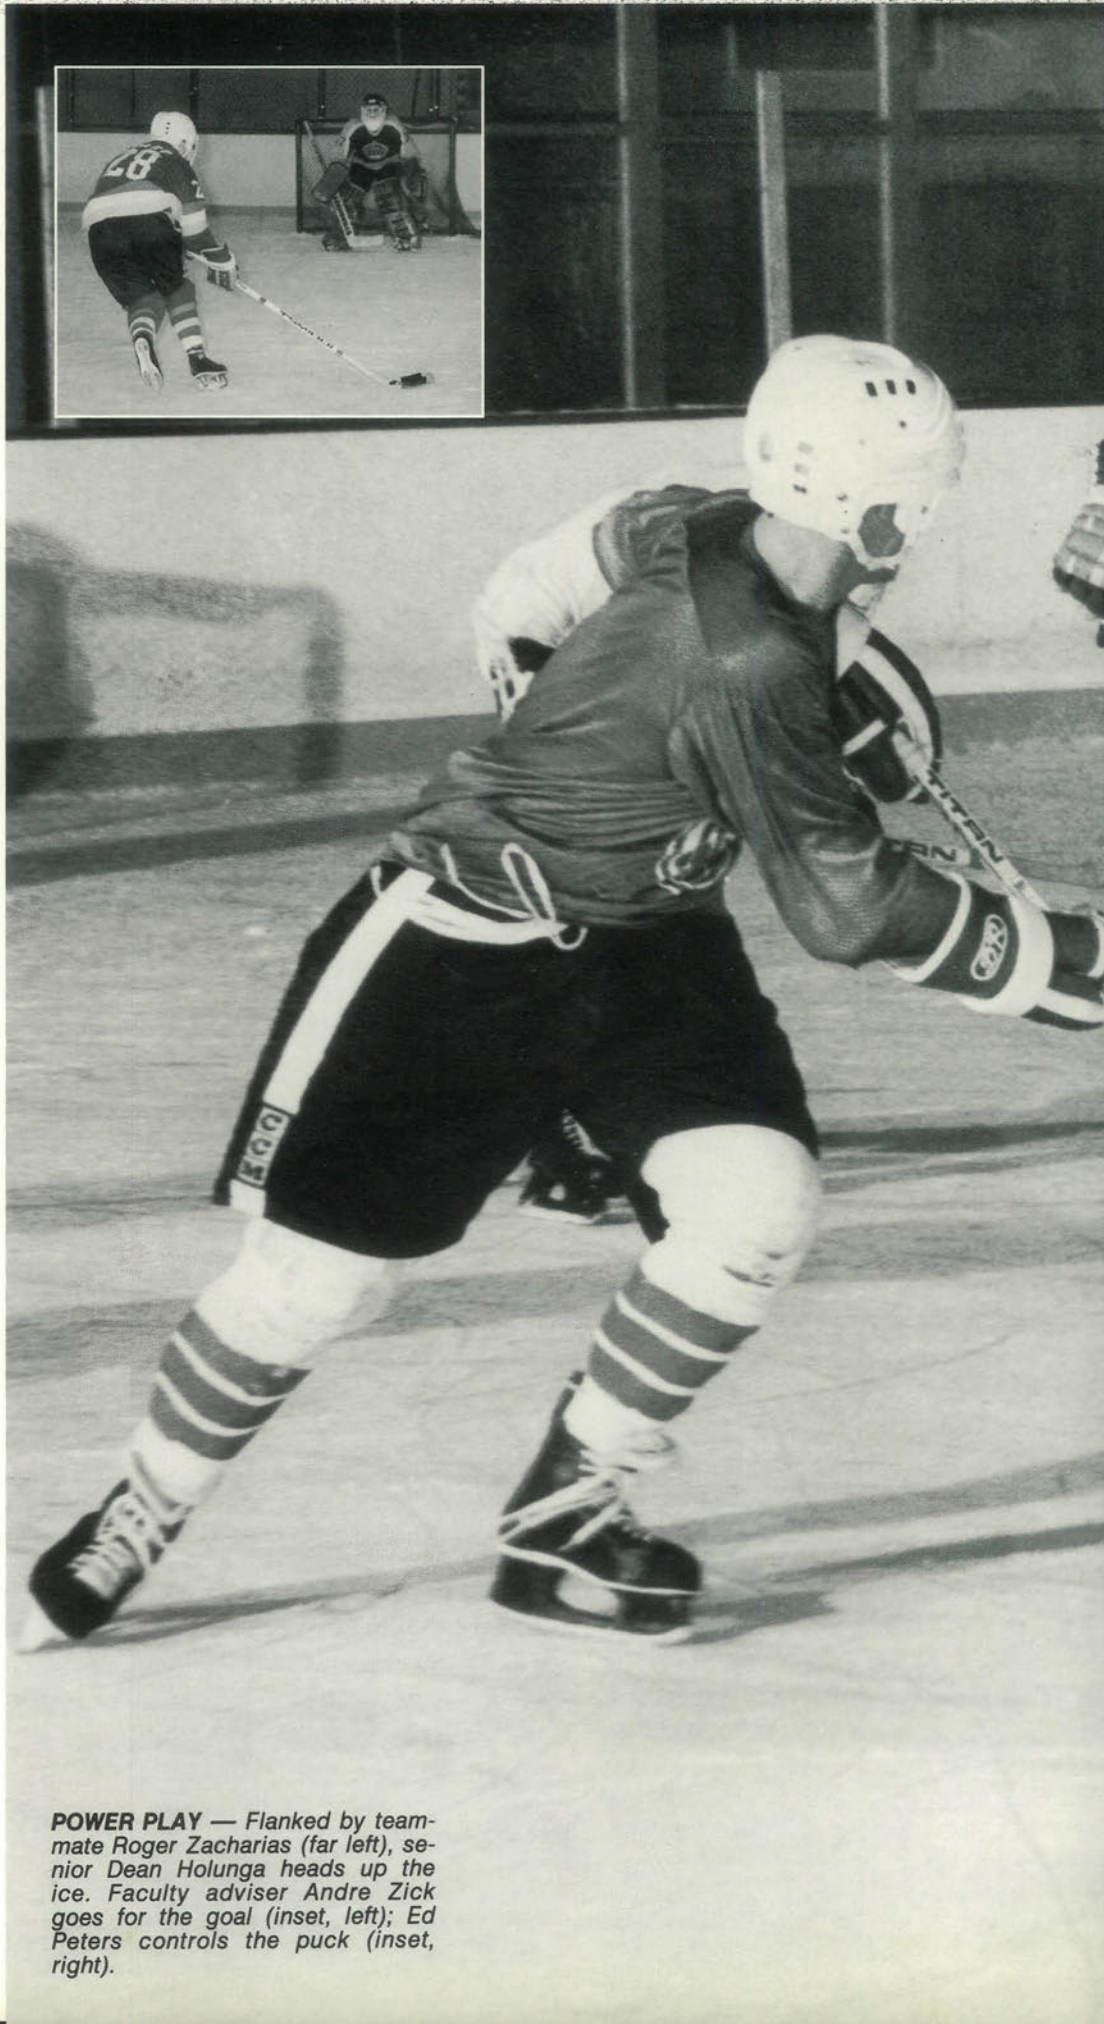

"There's no body checking, no slapshots, no rough play and no questioning the referee's calls, so it's basically all skating," explained student leader Rob Zacharias. "We usually go for an hour and a half straight, just skating as hard as we can. You feel it for the next two or three days."

The idea of Saturday-night hockey at Ambassador College originated a year ago with Mr. Robert Berendt, who appointed a student leader, under his supervision, to be responsible for its organization. The idea was met with such enthusiasm among the College's hockey players that another year, at least, was inevitable.

How well did it go over in its second year?

"We've even gotten a few first-time Americans," said Rob Zacharias. "Guys who have never skated before were coming out there and doing their best."

"We do have some with very little experience," said Mr. Zick. "They do enjoy the opportunity. Most tell me they don't feel any pressure, even though they're just starting out, and that they feel encouraged by the other players."

SENIORS SURVIVE FRESHMEN THREAT

The freshmen had just lost to the juniors, 3-1, in the first Saturday-night match of the season, and their record had dropped to 0-2. "Given time and experience, we'll be hard to beat," said freshman captain Richard Crow.

Did anyone take him seriously? You had to wonder, especially after the freshmen lost their next match, 3-2, to the sophomores, and fell to 0-3.

The freshmen took themselves seriously, however, and after they swept through the seniors, 3-2, the juniors, 3-2, and the sophomores, 3-0, in the second half of the season, so did everyone else.

"They kind of caught us off guard," said senior captain Dave West, who cited a change of attitude as the catalyst behind the freshman turnaround. "When we played them the first time and beat them 3-0, they got down pretty quickly. But the second time they really helped each other out. Even after we would win a game, they didn't get down."

With their second-half surge, the freshmen earned a spot in the championship match against the seniors. This time the seniors were on their guard. Despite an early 1-1 tie in games, the seniors won handily, 21-12, 14-21, 21-13, 21-14.

The sophomores, who had tied for third place with the juniors during the regular season, earned third place outright by defeating the juniors, 3-2, in the playoffs.

Using a 6-2 offense that paired setters Rob Zacharias and Joe Scott with hitters Dave West, Doug Hill, Nick Chalaris and Ed Mentell, the seniors survived the season with one loss.

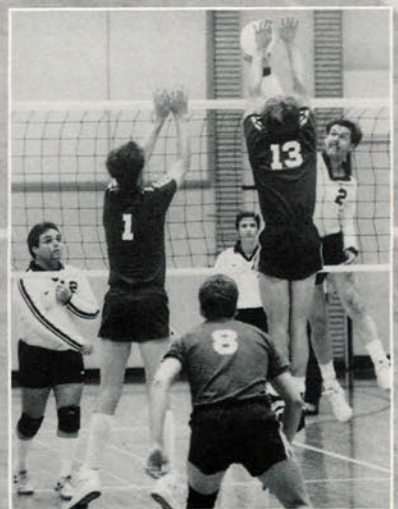

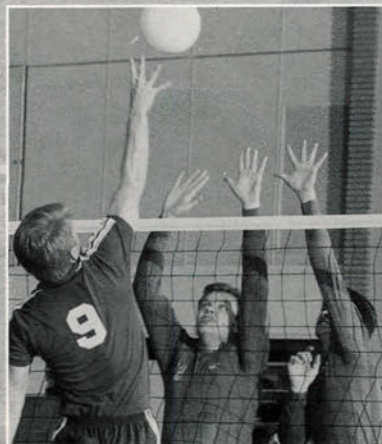

"I wanted to run a 6-2," said Dave West. "We had a shortage of setters, so I wanted to capitalize on the two setters we had and give us more strength on the front."

Although the seniors' only loss was to the freshmen, perhaps their best competition came from the sophomores. In both meetings the sophomores stretched the seniors to a fifth game, only to lose, 21-18, at the end of each match.

ALL-STAR MATCH CAPS OFF SEASON

To add spice to Ambassador's intramural soccer program, an all-star match was scheduled at the end of the season. As expected, it had an international flavor.

Englishman Peter Francis scored the match's first goal to give the combined senior/sophomore squad a 1-0 lead. Freshman Jerome Feltracco of France countered for the juniors/freshmen to even the match, 1-1, before halftime.

After the two teams went scoreless for most of the second half, Australian Steve Clark broke the tie, gaining control of a loose ball in a crowd and drilling it into the net for a 2-1 junior/freshman lead. Minutes later, and only minutes before the match ended, Jerome Feltracco scored the clinching goal, assuring the juniors and freshmen of a 3-1 victory.

For the juniors, the all-star match was reminiscent of one they had played two days earlier, this time for the championship. Against the sophomores, the juniors overcame a 1-0 deficit by scoring four goals in the second half.

The sophomores led, 1-0, at halftime on a goal by Peter Francis. Then came the juniors' second-half barrage. John Bankes of Canada put the juniors on the board minutes into the half, scoring off Ken Barker's throw-in from the sideline. Later, a Steve Clark kick gave the juniors the lead. Another goal by John Bankes, also off a Ken Barker throw-in, and one for good measure by Steve Clark closed the scoring, and a 4-1 victory, for the juniors.

The juniors, who lost their opening match, 1-0, to the seniors, qualified for the playoff by winning their final two matches. The sophomores also won two of their three matches during the regular season, losing only to the juniors. The seniors and freshmen both finished with 1-2 records.

FOR SENIORS, BEST OFFENSE IS GOOD DEFENSE

It didn't matter that only four of the seniors' runs in their 9-0 victory over the faculty in the season finale were earned. Considering that the seniors had allowed a total of only four runs all year, four runs for the seniors was quite sufficient, thank you.

Backed by a defense that was by far the league's best, senior pitcher Allen Waggoner frustrated the faculty on four hits and did not permit a faculty member to reach third base. Equally impressive as the senior defense was Grant Richards' titanic home run to left field that struck a pine tree behind the parking structure. Grant's third-inning blast with Dave Buckley on base staked the seniors to a 6-0 lead.

The seniors scored two runs in the first inning on Grant's sacrifice fly and Nick Chalaris' RBI single. They added four more in the third when Allen Waggoner scored on Roger Widmer's throwing error, Dave Buckley doubled in Richard Rittenbaugh from second and Grant homered. The seniors completed their scoring in the fifth. Grant's single down the left-field line drove in Richard from third. After a walk and an error, Dave Buckley and Grant both scored on a faculty throwing error.

In completing the season unbeaten, the seniors recorded two shutouts, including an 8-0 win over the freshmen in the semifinals. The faculty, 3-1 during the regular season, advanced to the championship game with a 3-1 victory over the third-place juniors.

The freshmen finished the season in fourth place with a 1-3 record, followed by the sophomores (0-4).

SENIORS SETTLE THE SCORE, 5-4

Having played to a 6-6 tie in their previous meeting, it was only fitting that the faculty and seniors should determine the intramural softball championship. Yet after six and a half innings of the deciding game, the two teams had merely repeated their previous effort, playing to a 4-4 tie.

Finally, in the bottom half of the seventh inning, the seniors settled the score. With the bases loaded and one out, Shari Palm drilled a ground ball to right field that drove in Stacie Woods from third base with the run that clinched the championship.

The seniors, leading 4-3 after six innings, had been one out away from winning in the top of the seventh, but allowed the faculty to score the tying run. With two outs and no one on base, Karen Albrecht reached first base on an error. Cynthia Snyder then drilled a line drive straight back to pitcher Stacie Woods, whose only play was to knock the ball down. Tammy Jutsum followed with a line drive to left field that scored Mrs. Albrecht from second base and tied the game.

The seniors reached the championship game by going unbeaten during the regular season, then defeating the freshmen, 13-4, in their playoff game. The freshmen held their ground with the seniors through five innings, but the seniors exploded for eight runs in the sixth to break open a 5-4 game.

The faculty finished in third place, behind the juniors, with a 3-1-1 record. They avenged their only loss by defeating the juniors, 7-5, in the semifinal. In that game, the faculty scored six runs in the final inning to erase a 5-1 deficit.

The freshmen finished the year in fourth place with a 1-3 record, followed by the sophomores (0-4).

JUNIORS WIN WITH STRONG SUPPORTING CAST

While two seniors, Bob Diehl and Stacey Cole, swam away with individual honors, the juniors won the team competition during Ambassador's annual swim meet in May.

Stacey won the women's 500-meter freestyle, the 100-meter freestyle and the 50-meter freestyle, setting two records in the process. She trimmed 1/10th of a second off her own record in the 100-meter freestyle, swimming the distance in 1:03.5 seconds. Her time of 28.1 in the 50-yard freestyle was two seconds better than the old record.

Bob also won three events — the 200-meter individual medley, the 50-meter butterfly and the 100-meter breaststroke — and set a record with his time of 1:01 in the 100-meter butterfly. He came within one second of the record in the 200-meter individual medley and the 100-meter breaststroke.

In all, the seniors had eight first-place finishes, more than any other team. The juniors, however, bolstered by their strong supporting cast, outscored the seniors, 89-78. The sophomores, who were the defending champions, finished third with 76 points, and the freshmen finished fourth with 72 points.

FRESHMEN RUN BY COMPETITION ON FIELD DAY

The announcement the freshmen had been waiting for came sometime after the women's 800-meter run, with seven events remaining in Ambassador's Field Day. Shortly after freshman Ruth Kirishian stepped to the awards stand and received a ribbon for her 800-meter victory, Dean of Students Greg Albrecht announced over the loudspeaker, "Juniors, 66 1/2 points; Freshmen, 70 1/2 points."

Having trailed the juniors from the very first event, the freshmen would trail no more. From that point, the Field Day finish was a foregone conclusion.

By winning 12 of the 26 events, the freshman class ran away from the Field Day competition. The freshmen finished with 103 1/2 points, followed by the juniors (79 1/2), sophomores (70) and seniors (25).

Seven records fell and another was tied during the two-day event, completed on the final day of the semester. Freshman Tracy Davis, named the most outstanding female athlete, clipped three seconds off the record in the 3000-meter run, finishing in 10:59.5. She also bettered the 1500-meter record by two seconds, finishing in 5:15.7.

Sophomore Ed Dunn, who a year ago set a new record in the 800-meter run, did one better this year. Not only did he break his own record (1:58.2) in the 800, turning in a time of 1:57.0, he also took seven seconds off the 1500-meter record with a 4:07.5 finish. Ed, named the most outstanding male athlete, also ran the anchor leg in the 1600-meter relay for the sophomores, whose winning time of 3:33.6 was less than a second off the record.

Freshman Steve Anderson ran the 60-yard hurdles in 7.9 seconds, bettering the old mark, 8.2, set by Darren Allgeyer one year earlier. In the women's hurdles, junior Marlene Myers took 3/10ths of a second off the old mark with her 9.6 finish. Junior Dave Bauman finished the 5000-meter run in 16:23.2, trimming seven seconds off the record, and freshman Venida Bell tied the record for the women's 100-yard dash, 11.8 seconds.

The juniors built a 15-point lead over the freshmen on the strength of their field events. By winning three of the first six running events — the freshmen won the other three — the juniors maintained their advantage. The remaining 11 events, however, were won by either the freshmen or sophomores. Among them was the 100-yard dash — the race to determine who is the fastest man at Ambassador College — in which sophomore David Harper edged junior Patrick Fearon.

ARCHITECTURE

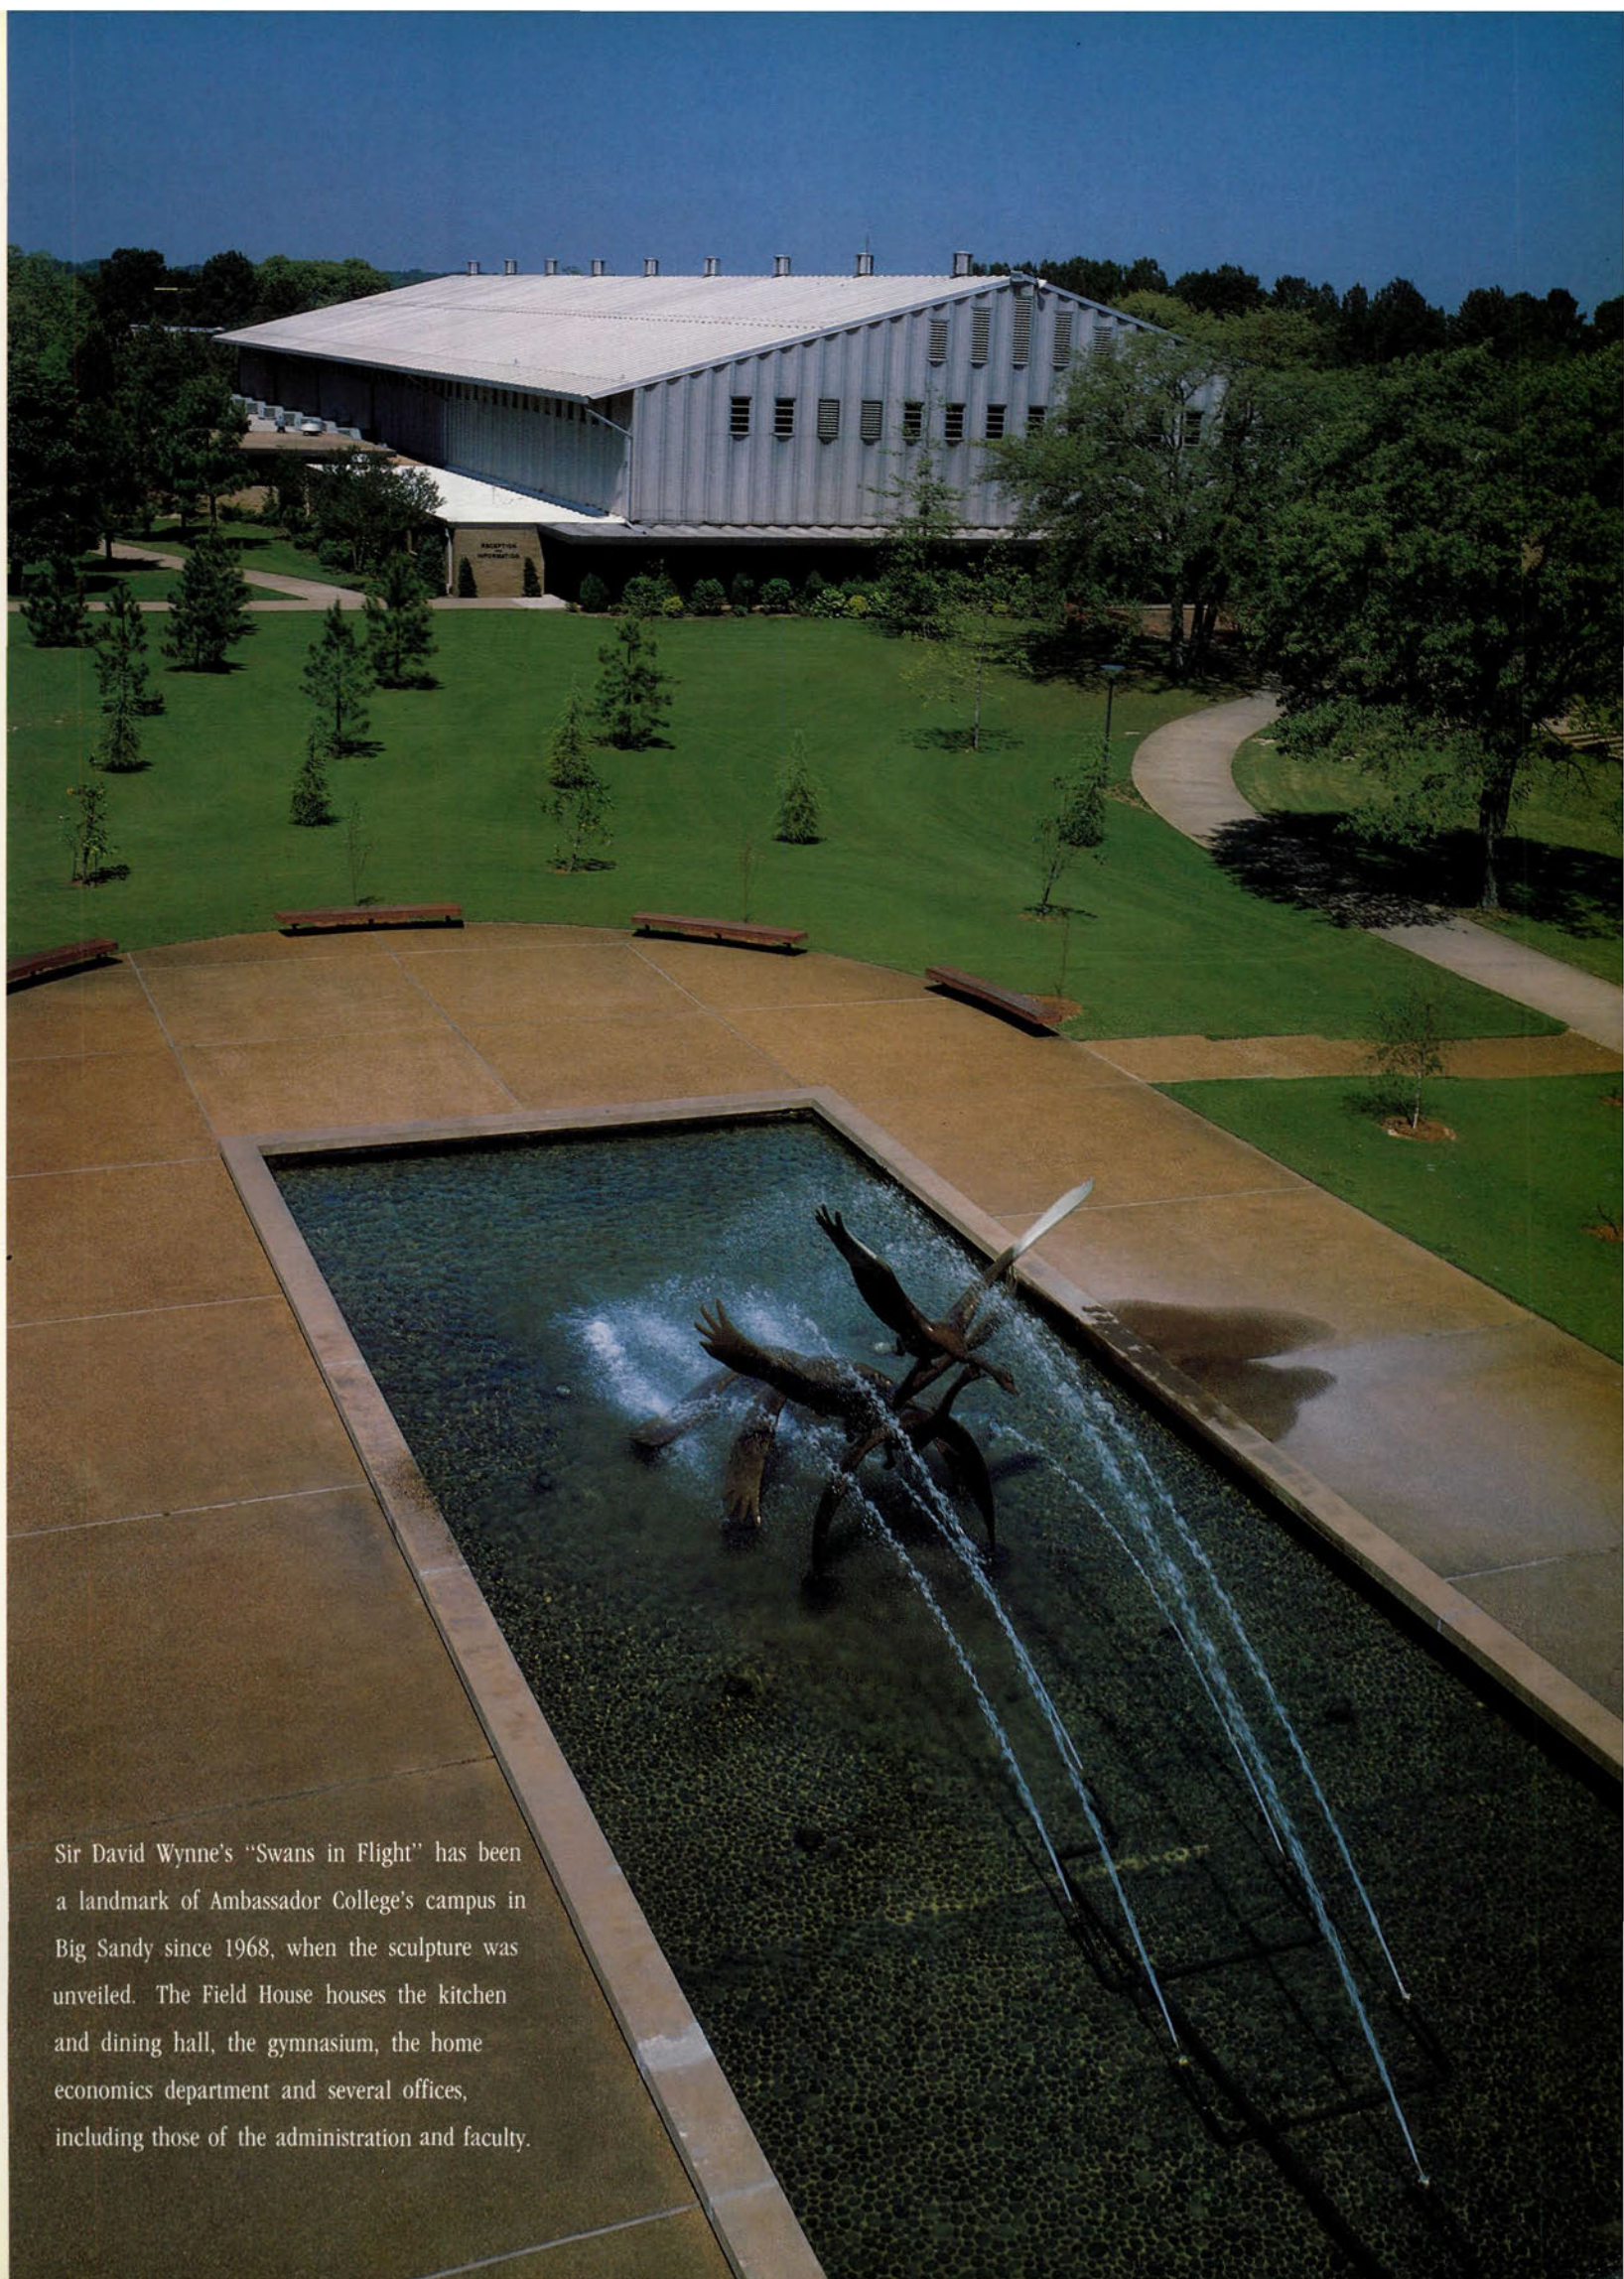

The 105 students who arrived in Big Sandy when the campus opened in 1964 inherited as their home 1,600 acres of East Texas countryside. Except for several faculty homes and a couple of bath houses, only the large Field House and the Redwood Building stood as permanent structures.

Meals and meetings were held in the Redwood Building. Classes met in buildings intended for short-term use, until permanent classrooms could be constructed. Activities were scheduled in the Field House. Until dormitories could be built, students slept in temporary metal booths.

Today's students enjoy a different setting, but not without pleasant reminders of the past. The Field House and Redwood Building have been renovated, and other buildings — four men's and four women's dormitories, the Science Lecture Hall, the Feast Administration Building, a physical education complex as well as classroom and office space — are nestled among Big Sandy's rustic scenery.

Still present, however, and still popular, is the collection of metal booths, affectionately known as "Booth City."

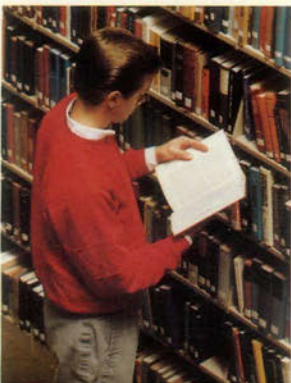

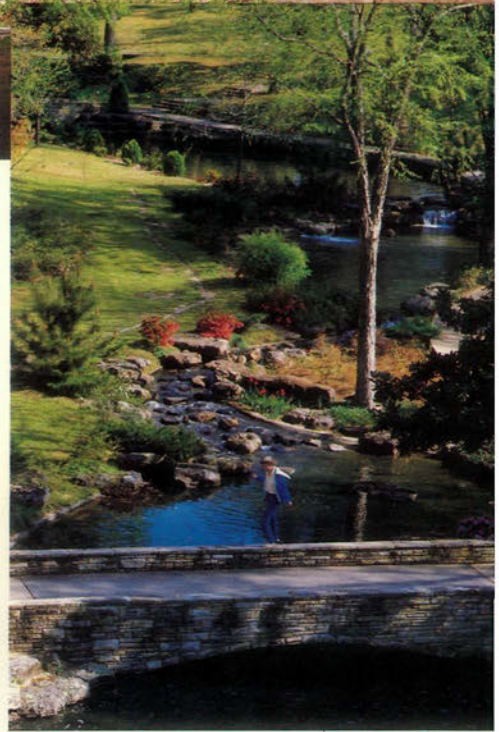

"When a need occurred, we were innovative enough to make more room, either in the Field House or on some other part of campus," said Lynn Torrance, a member of Big Sandy's original faculty and now director of admissions. "The campus just gets better and more beautiful every year."

Sir David Wynne's "Swans in Flight" has been a landmark of Ambassador College's campus in Big Sandy since 1968, when the sculpture was unveiled. The Field House houses the kitchen and dining hall, the gymnasium, the home economics department and several offices, including those of the administration and faculty.

The Redwood Building was the first constructed for the College on Big Sandy's campus. It houses the library, faculty offices, the data processing center and the student lounge and bookstore.

ARCHITECTURE

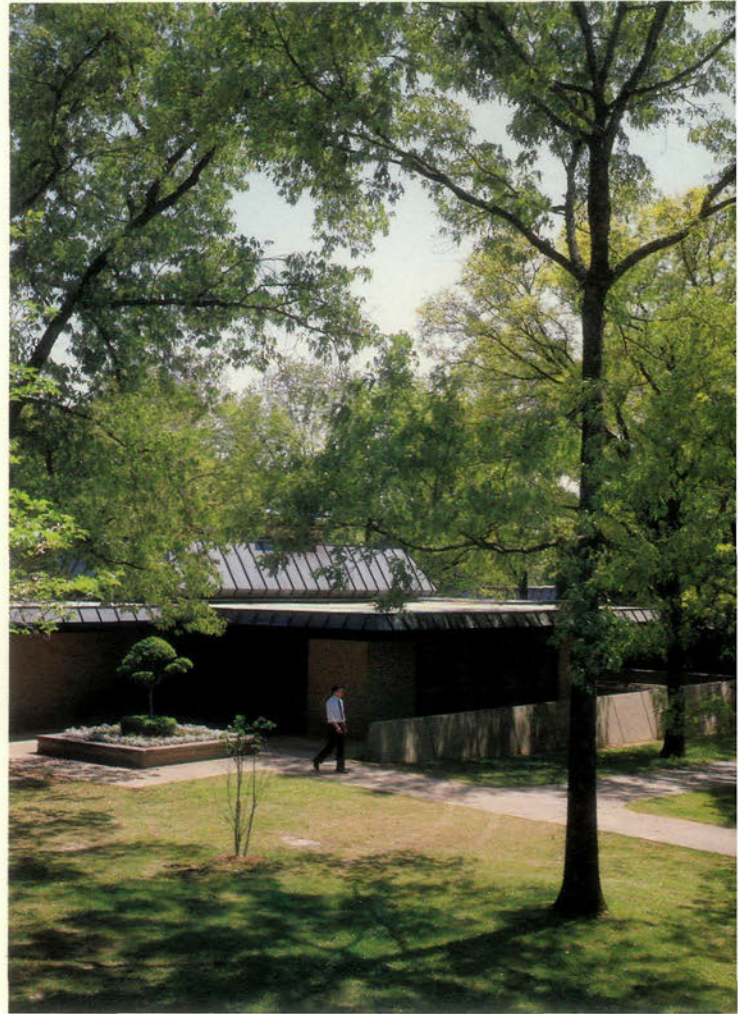

Big Sandy's natural landscape is complemented by several man-made features, such as the stream between the library and Field House as well as the Swan sculpture and reflecting pool.

ARCHITECTURE

Situated in Big Sandy's rustic setting are four men's and four women's dormitories, which accommodate 24 students each. A local architect from Tyler was awarded for his design of the dormitories, built in 1964 and 1965.

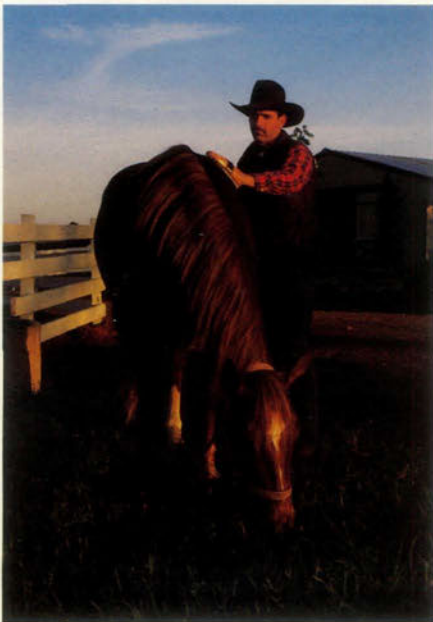

The lower stream was constructed by the landscape department and masonry crews in 1968. The footbridge that crosses it connects the men's dormitories with the main campus.

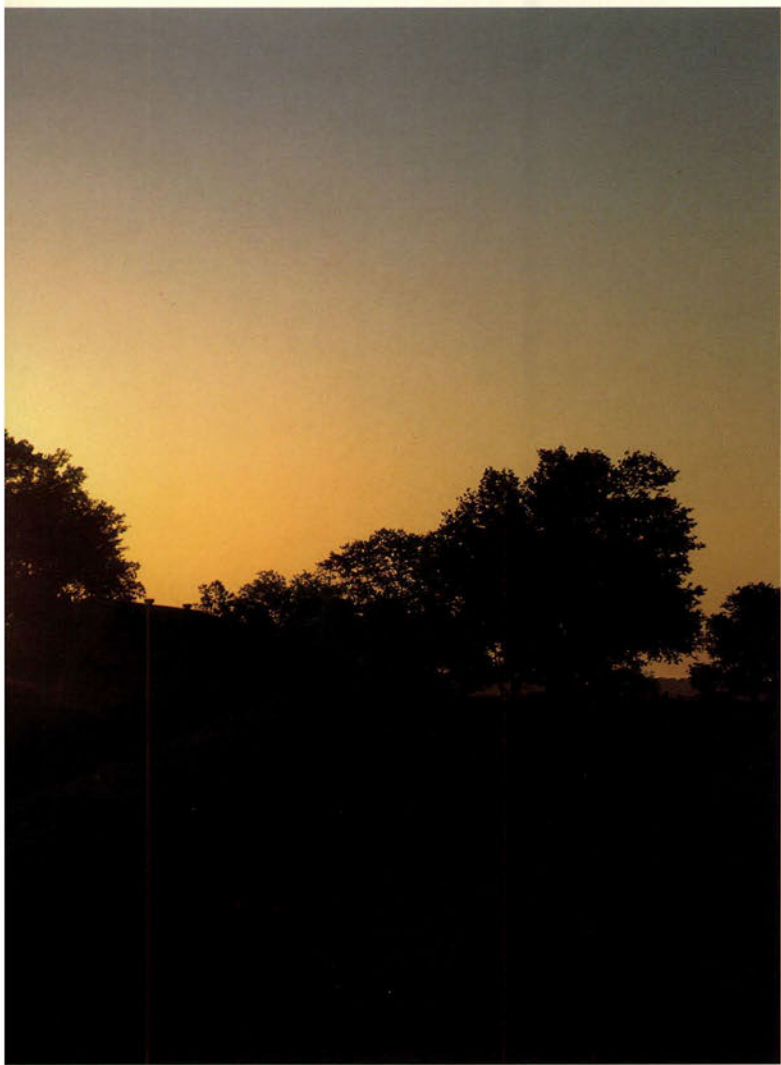

Ambassador College claims 1,600 acres of East Texas countryside, more than enough room for the College and farm to coexist.

Much of the upkeep of the College farm is entrusted to Ambassador's students. The farm includes dairy cattle, chickens and horses.

Big Sandy's farm and surrounding countryside provide an ideal setting for the College's 10 horses and for students to take a leisurely break from the hectic College pace.

ARCHITECTURE

Just below "Faculty Row" is the shore of Lake Loma, the setting for several student activities such as cookouts, fishing, swimming and canoeing.

Big Sandy's two outdoor tennis courts get plenty of use, both during class and for recreation.

The College constructed a new running track in the Fall, replacing the old surface that had been in use since 1973. The new track, dedicated in November, is expected to last from 15-20 years.

The physical education complex houses faculty offices and handball courts. The road surrounding the immediate campus provides a handy training ground for the College's cycling program.

ADMINISTRATION

Residing on the campus in a cluster of homes known as "Faculty Row," the Big Sandy administration maintains an intimate association with every aspect of campus life.

BIG SANDY LIFE

Ambassador's student body — almost 400 — was one of Big Sandy's biggest, so its students appropriately set their sights on making this year one of Big Sandy's best. Chancellor Joseph W. Tkach set the pace from the beginning when he arrived in Texas for the Freshman Reception and Ball. During his visit he not only confirmed his commitment to keep the College open, but also expressed his hope that Big Sandy eventually might become a four-year institution.

On the following pages is a brief look at the year at Ambassador College in Big Sandy — a year that included a number of transitions which brought out the best in the College and its students.

CHANGES HELP IMPROVE A.C.'S INTRAMURALS

Ambassador's 1987-88 intramural season featured soccer and basketball in the first semester, and volleyball, softball and track in the second, as well as the College's ongoing cycling program. This year Gil Norman, director of the Physical Education Department, instituted several changes, most notably one that affected scheduling.

Whereas a year ago games began at 5:30 p.m., games this year began at 4:30 p.m. and concluded by 6:30 p.m.

"We have felt that we needed to fit intramurals into a more definite time slot because it was extending past that," said Mr. Norman. Under the new system, "students can be finished, go eat, and study the remainder of the evening," he said.

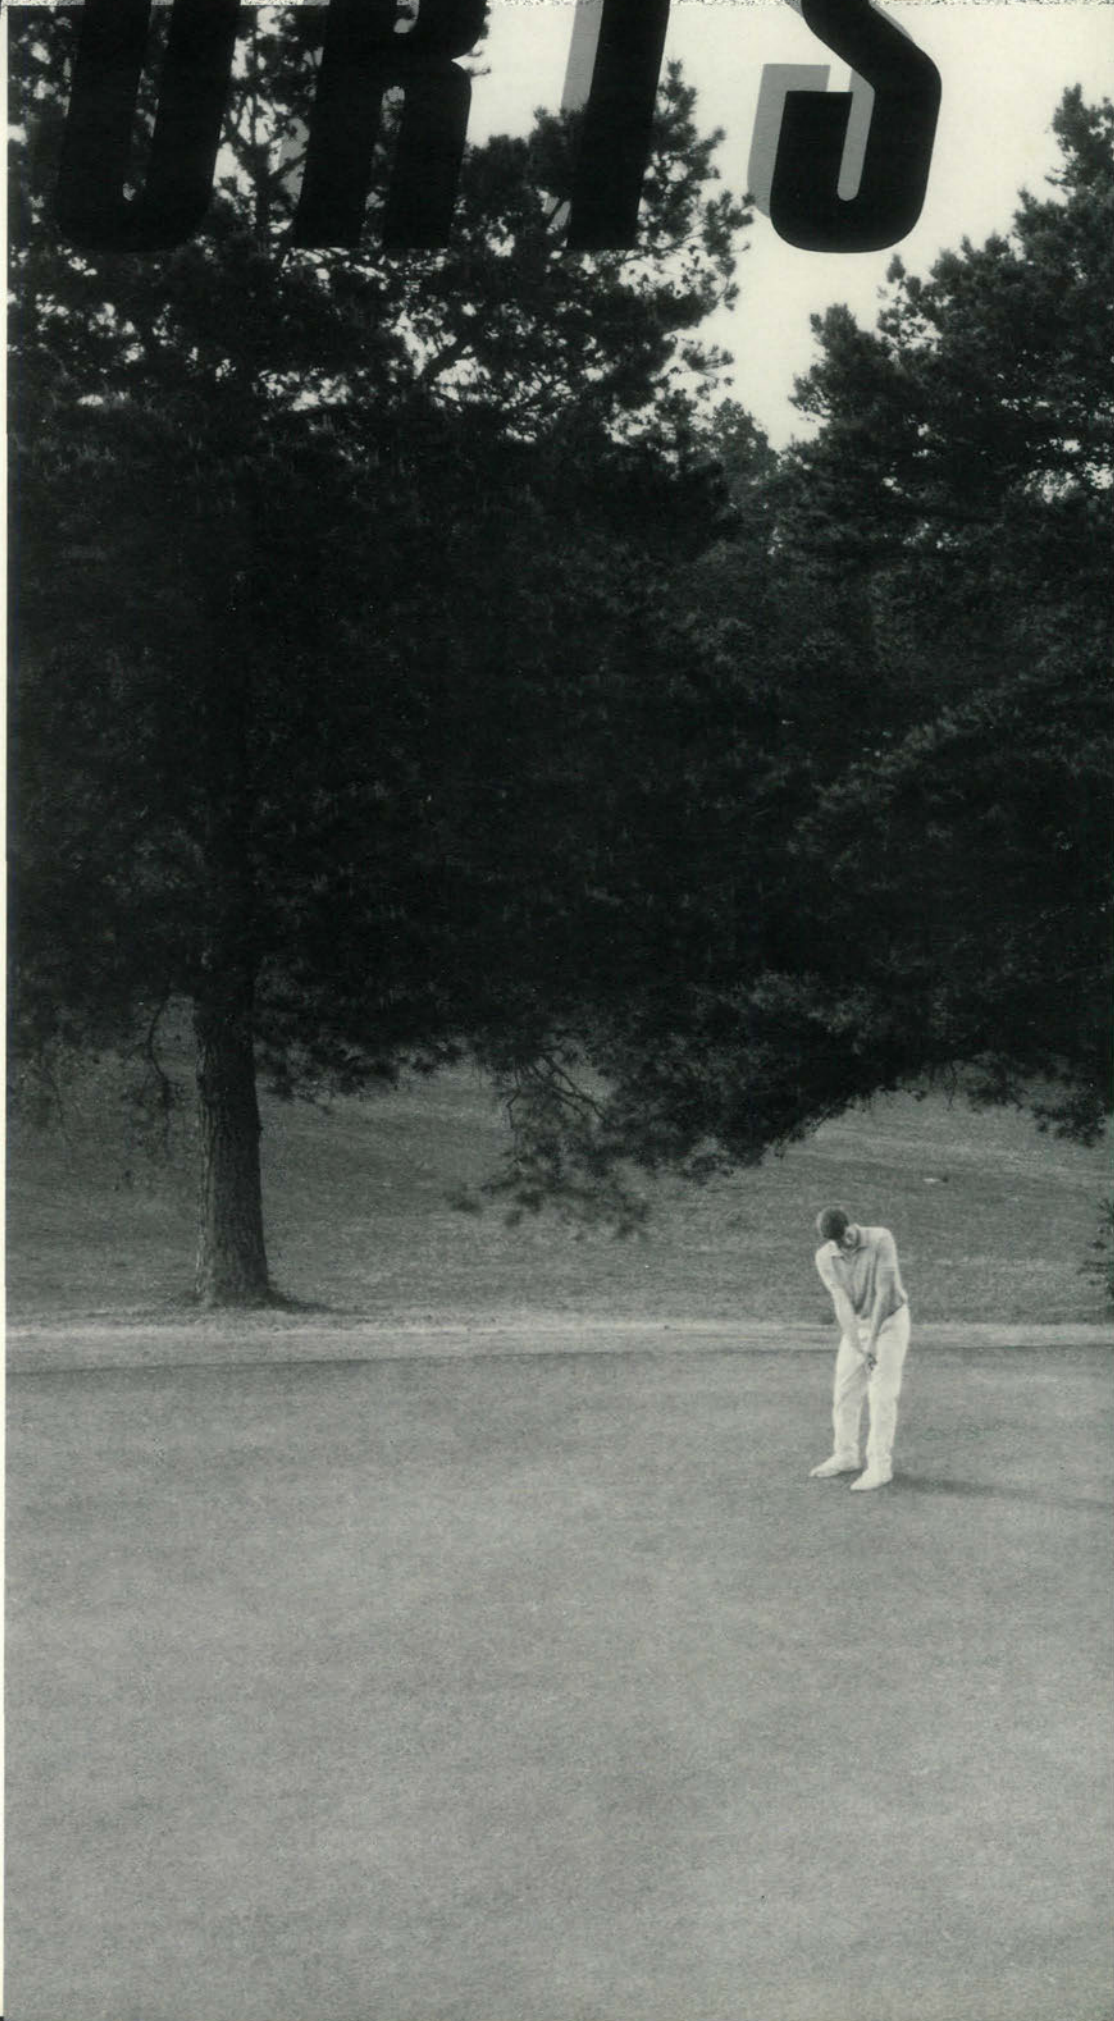

Mr. Norman also emphasized giving more formal practice and guidance to students throughout the year.

"They learned more about sportsmanship and character," he said. "We gave personal help to a lot more students, and they'll go out of here much more qualified to help others than they were before."

The purpose of intramural sports at Ambassador, according to Mr. Norman, is recreation, skills development and character development.

"We're striving for a balanced approach," he said. "We feel the intramural season is just about the right length to allow for fun and exercise, but still allow students to maintain their priorities."

SOCCER PROGRAM HEADS IN NEW DIRECTION

Because of a growing interest among Big Sandy's students, the Physical Education Department expanded its fall soccer program, which included three men's and two women's teams.

Danny Smith supervised the program, as he has for the past four years. The three men's teams, captained by Dr. Smith and sophomores Jeremy Loxton and Philip Neal, played each other twice. The two women's teams, coached by sophomores Grant Chick and Kevin Graham, played three matches.

By virtue of a win and a tie against Danny Smith's Team One, Jeremy Loxton's Team Two finished atop the standings with a 2-1-1 record. Danny Smith's team also finished 2-1-1.

In both of their meetings, Team Two had to come from behind against Team One. In the season opener, goals by Martin Slaman and Kevin Graham staked Team One to a 2-0 lead. Team Two's Ian Bearman then struck for three consecutive goals, and his teammate, Gary Pinder, added another to give Team Two a 4-2 victory.

In the rematch, Team One built a 1-0 lead by halftime. Team Two tied the score in the second half with a freak goal that caromed off the foot of Team One's goalkeeper and into the net. Despite a 10-minute overtime, neither team could break the tie.

Philip Neal's team finished third at 1-2.

For the women, Team One, coached by Grant Chick, won two of the three matches with Team Two.

2ND-HALF HEROICS DECIDE GAME

It was no mystery why the Red all-stars had trailed by as much as 14 points in the first half of Big Sandy's All-Star game. Nor was it a secret how the Red pulled within a point of the Black with less than four minutes remaining.

While guards Tim Gander and Tim Salcedo were pacing the Black to a 34-20 first-half lead, Red center Terry Howell had been held to a single point. In the first half's final minutes, however, Terry scored six points to help cut the Black lead to eight points, 44-36, by halftime.

When play resumed, so did Terry. He scored the Red's first nine points, cutting the Black lead to three, 48-45. From there, the Black all-stars held the Red at bay until, late in the game, time came for more Terry Howell heroics. With Red trailing, 71-66, Terry converted a three-point play, hitting a turnaround jump shot and the free throw that followed. Because Black had surpassed the limit on team fouls, Red also was awarded a penalty point, bringing them to within 71-70 with 1:43 remaining.

Tim Salcedo and Mike Miller traded baskets for the Black and Red, respectively, before Terry followed a Monty Bobo miss with a basket that put Red into the lead, 74-73. After Tim Salcedo's layup regained the lead for Black, Monty Bobo's 15-footer put Red in front for good.

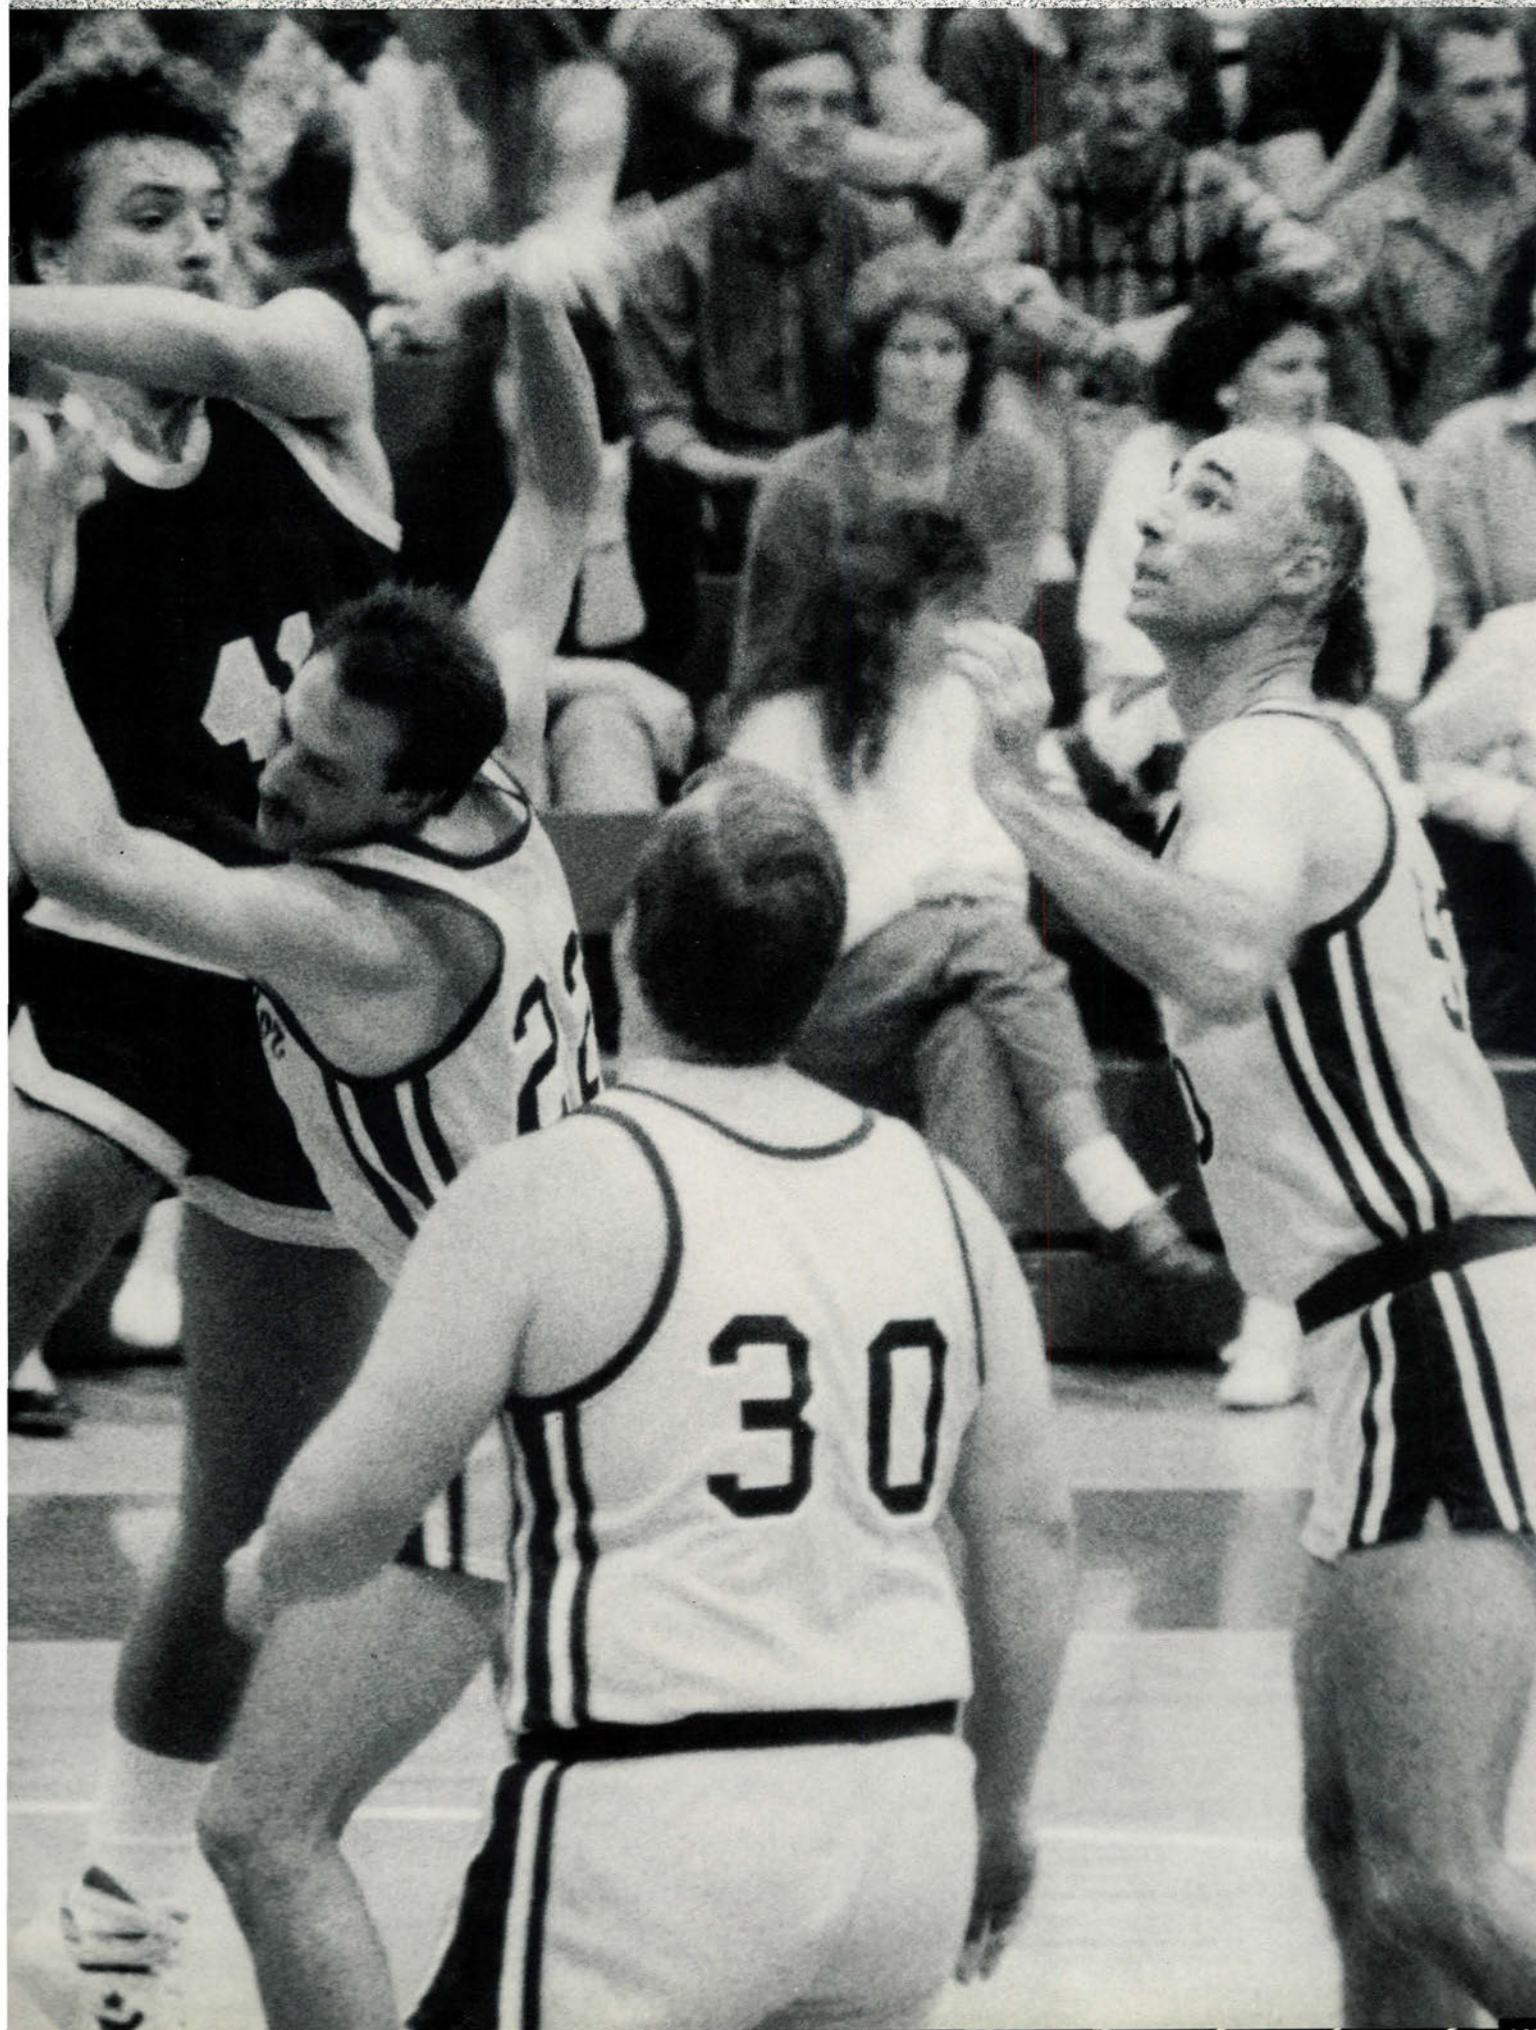

Another penalty point following a Black foul boosted the score to 77-75, after which Black failed to send the game into overtime when Tim Gander came up short on a 15-footer at the buzzer.

The conclusion of the All-Star game was a sharp contrast to that of the final game of the regular season. While Terry watched from the sidelines with four fouls, the faculty held off Danny Apartian's Red team, 62-56, handing them their only loss. More importantly, with the victory the faculty tied the Red for first place, each finishing with 7-1 records.

The Black team, coached by Jim Kissee, finished third with a 3-5 record, followed by the White, coached by Jim Garden (2-6), and the Blue, coached by John Hanson (1-7).

SOPHOMORES EVEN THE SCORE

A funny thing happened on the way to the women's intramural championship this year. Someone forgot to tell freshman Leanne Ingham that an Australian is not supposed to be among the better players in an American basketball league. Affectionately called "The Australian Wonder" because of her unorthodox yet effective playing style, Leanne helped the Gold team, composed of freshmen and a single senior, captain Laura Hirschler, to a perfect 6-0 record.

The White and Blue teams, both composed of sophomores, finished tied for second place with 3-3 records. The Red team, composed of freshmen and a senior leader (0-6), finished fourth.

After the two sophomore teams had each lost twice to the Gold team during the regular season, redemption came in the form of the all-star game, won by the sophomores, 68-60. Even then, the sophomores needed a surprising second-half surge to win a game that otherwise had been controlled by the freshmen.

The freshmen led by as much as eight points in the first half, and increased a two-point halftime lead, 32-30, to five points early in the second half. That's when the sophomores exploded for 13 unanswered points to take a 50-42 lead.

The freshmen fought back to within a point, 51-50, with six minutes to go, setting up a furious finish.

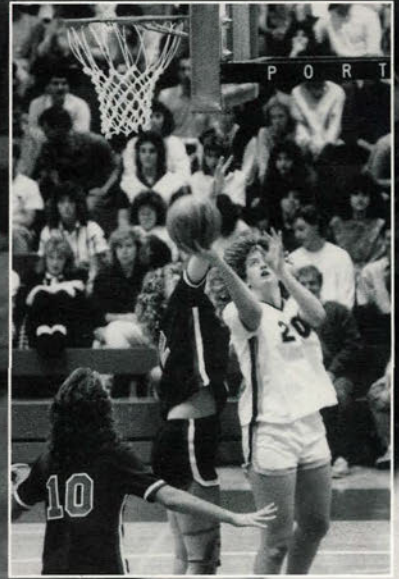

The teams traded baskets for the next few minutes, during which the sophomores managed a four-point advantage, 60-56. At that time, the freshmen still were in contention, but Deanne Yelverton almost singlehandedly took them out of it. After scoring a layup on a sophomore fast break, she stole the inbounds pass and converted it into another layup, giving the sophomores a 64-56 advantage.

Each team added another two baskets to account for the final score.

VOLLEY

HISTORY PLAYS A PART IN ALL-STAR MATCH

This looked like one of those times to throw in the towel. The Blue all-stars trailed the Red two games to none, and were behind, 14-11, in game three. What's more, Red's Mike Miller, one of the league's best servers, was serving for the match. Actually, the Blue had the Red right where they wanted them.

"I told the guys, 'If we just win the next point, we can win the match,'" said Blue captain John Hanson. "We had done it before," he said, referring to his team's March 7 match when, trailing two games to one, they eventually came from behind to defeat Mike Miller's Team Three, 15-5, 7-15, 10-15, 15-12, 15-11. "I knew if we just got the serve back, we could do it again."

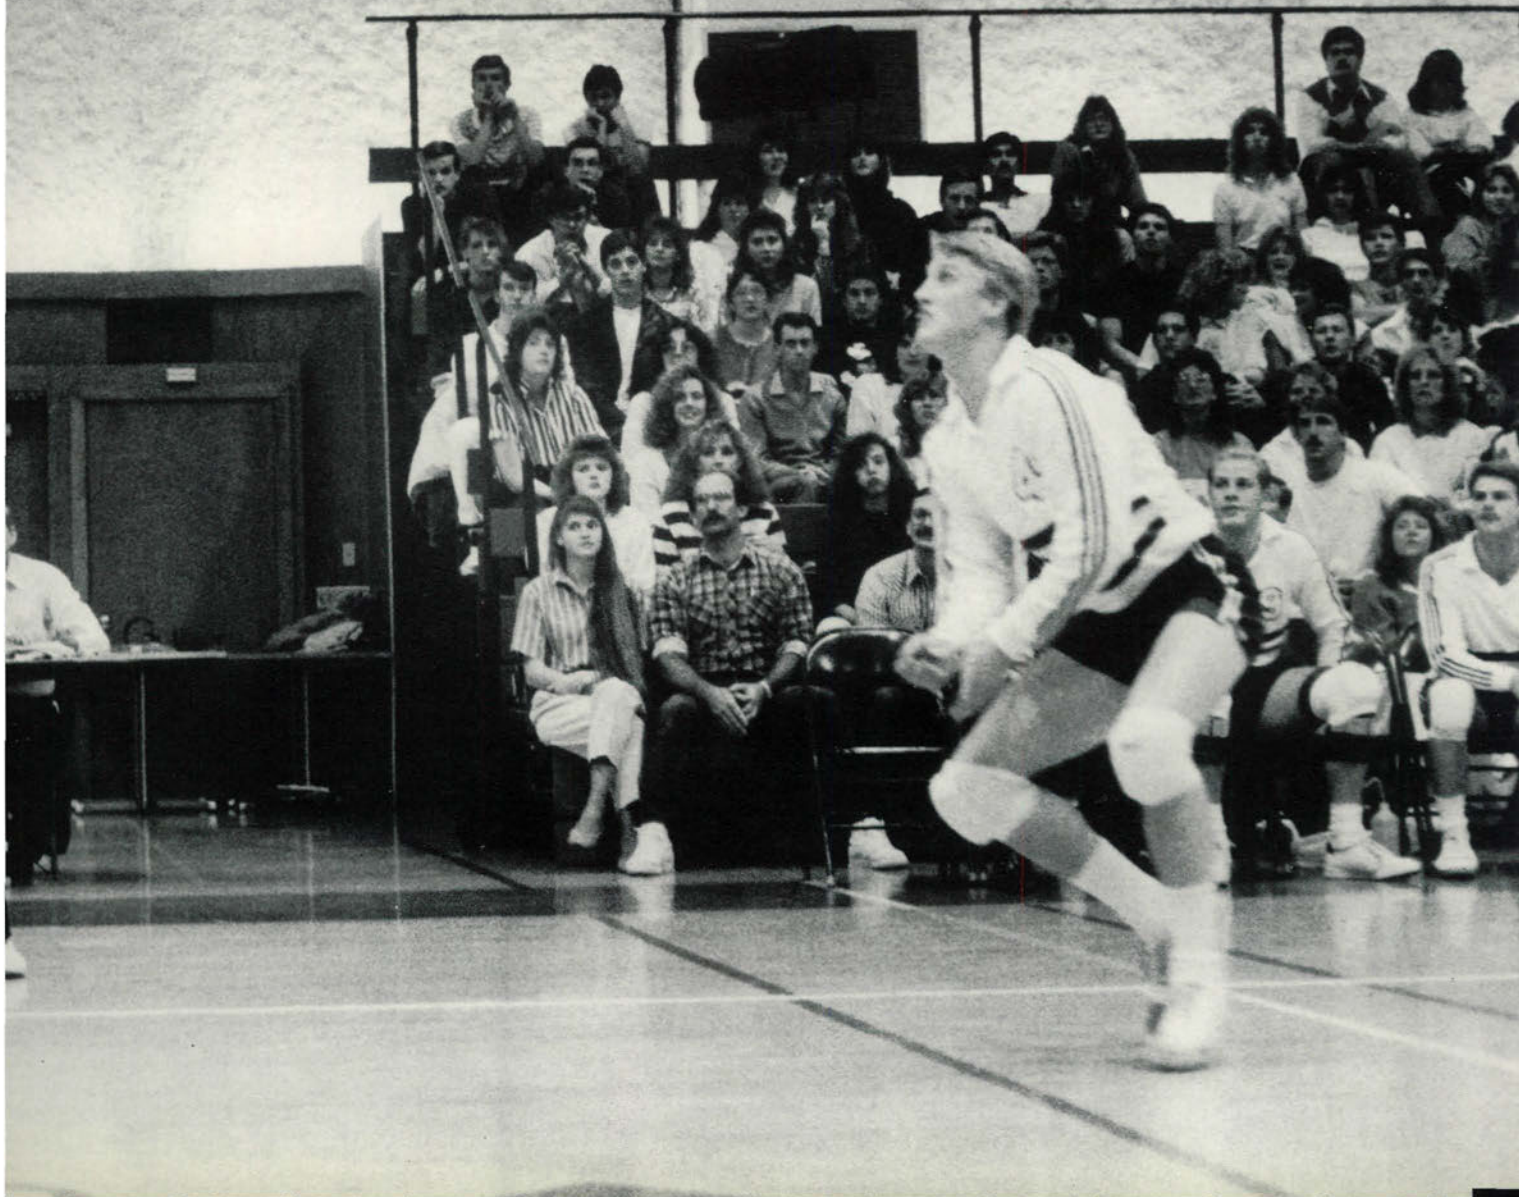

John got his first wish when Mike's next serve sailed into the net. He got his next wish when Blue held serve for the next five points to win game three, 16-14, and rode that momentum to sweep the next two games and the match, 8-15, 8-15, 16-14, 15-7, 15-12.

Among the five A-league teams who competed during the regular season, the faculty finished in first place with a 6-2 record. Team three, captained by Mike Miller, and Team Four, captained by John Hanson, tied for second place with 5-3 records, followed by Danny Apartian's Team Five (3-5) and Tim Rule's Team Two (1-7).

VOLUME

MIRACLE DOESN'T STRIKE TWICE

Down to their last point, the Blue all-stars hoped freshman Teresa Abbas could work another miracle. Already in game three, with Blue trailing in games, 2-0, and in points, 12-9, Teresa had served six straight points to give the Blue a 15-12 victory.

Now matters were more grave. Gold was one point away from winning the match, holding a 14-7 lead, and Teresa was called on to serve the Blue out of another hole.

Three times she slapped the ball toward Gold's court. Three times Gold failed to return it, prompting Gold Coach Scott Herridge to request a time-out. When play resumed, Scott got what he had hoped for — Teresa's next serve caught the net.

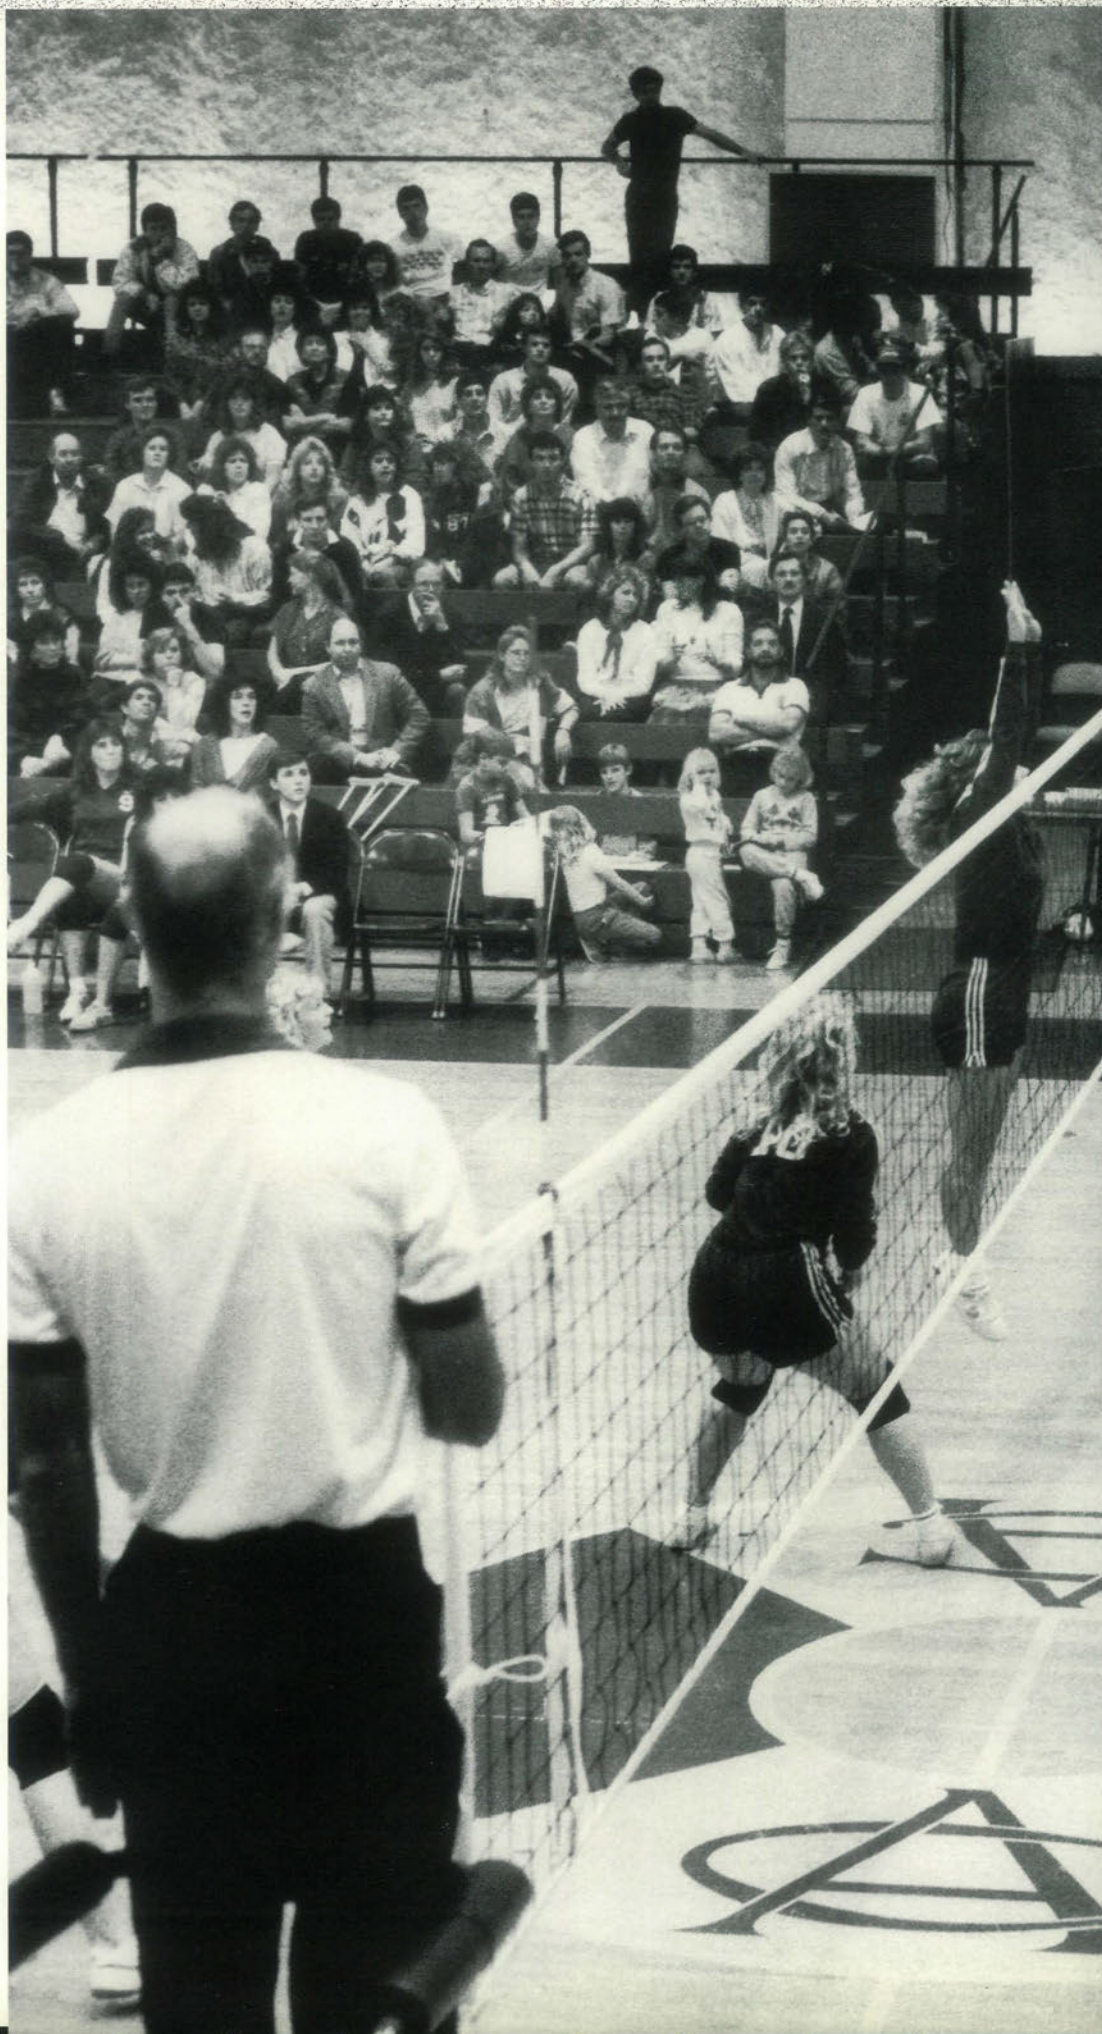

Once Blue had run out of miracles, Gold needed only one more point to put the match away. Laura Cook's dink caught the Blue team off guard, clinching the Gold's 18-16, 15-7, 12-15, 15-10 all-star victory over the Blue.

If Gold was dissatisfied with anything about this match, it was their knack for losing a grip on games that had seemed so well in hand.

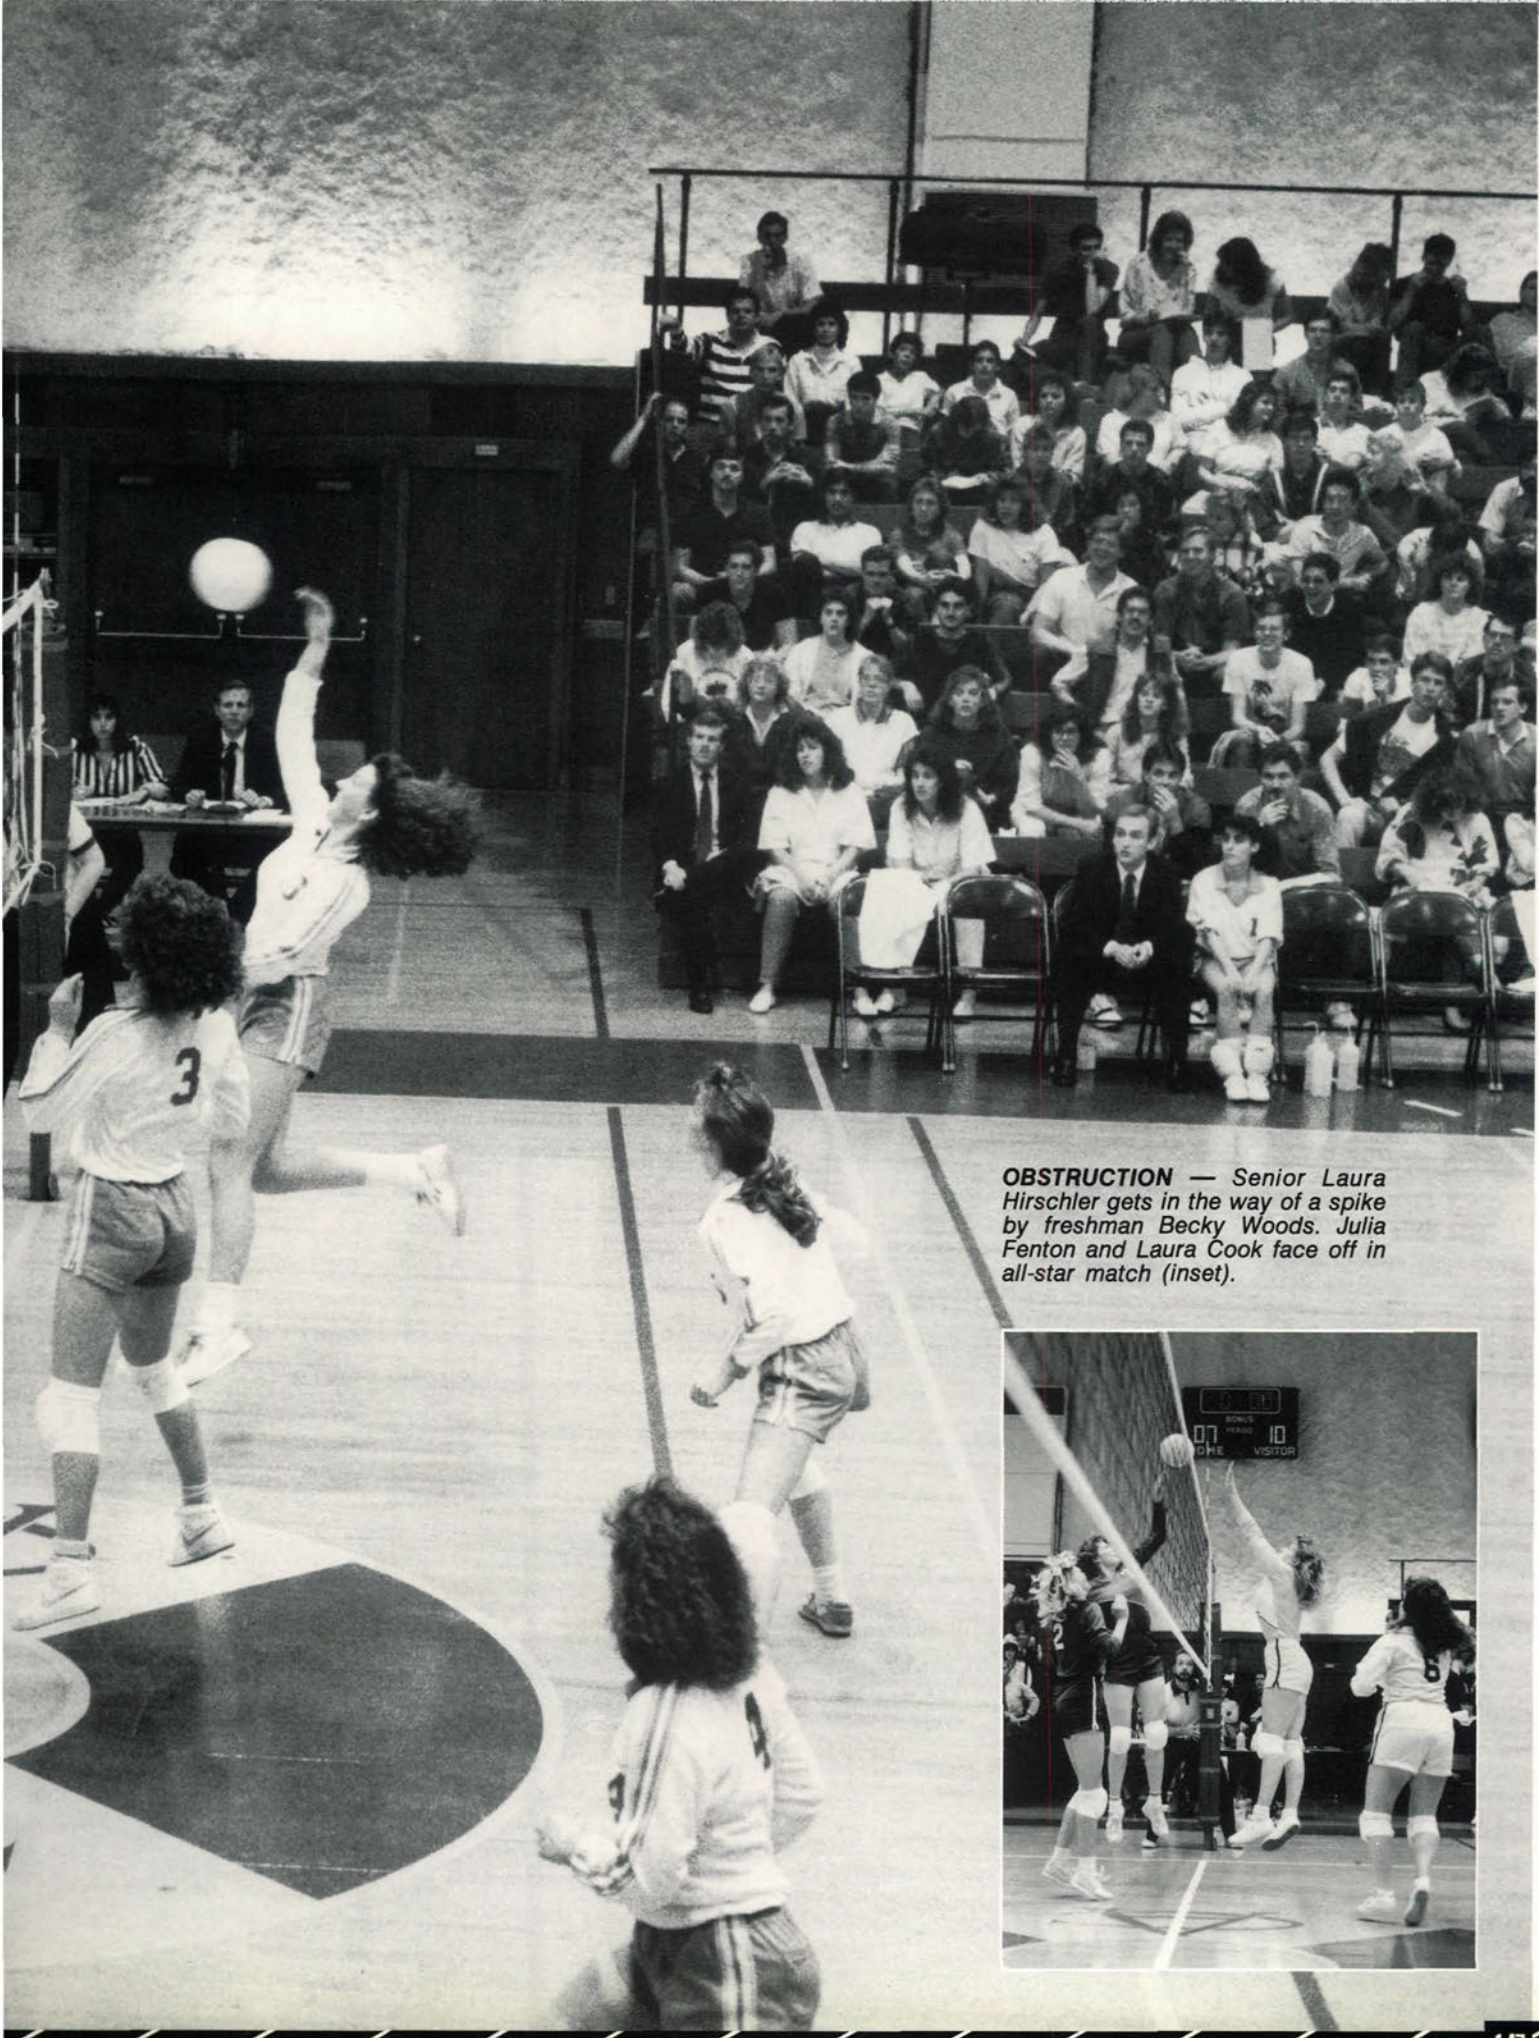

In game one, for instance, Gold built a comfortable 13-7 advantage. Blue then outscored the Gold, 7-1, surviving three game points in the process, to pull even, 14-14. After falling behind, 16-15, Gold responded with three straight points to win the game, 18-16. In game three, Gold saw their lead disappear at the hands of Teresa Abbas, and in game four, Teresa again threatened the Gold's grip.

Only in game two was the Gold's lead never challenged. Beginning with a 9-1 lead, Gold maintained at least a six-point lead, eventually winning by eight points, 15-7.

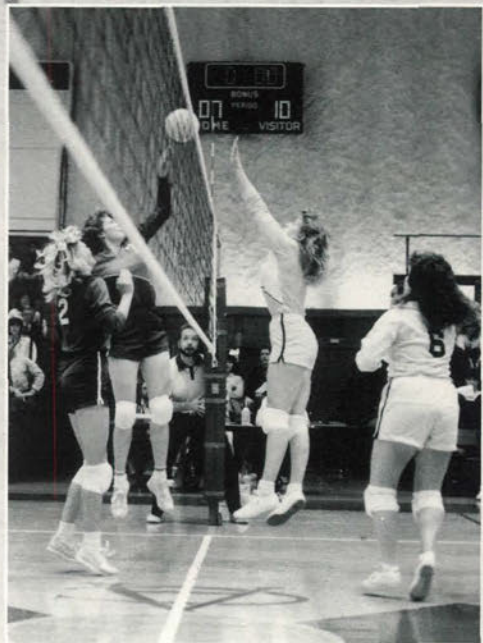

The two all-star squads were chosen from the four student teams that, along with the faculty, formed Big Sandy's women's intramural league. Deanne Yelverton's Team Four and Laura Cook's Team Five both finished with 6-2 records to tie for first place. Laura Hirschler's Team Three and the Faculty tied for third place, each with 4-4 records.

FRESHMEN BEAT SOPHOMORES FOR TITLE

Why worry? the freshmen may have thought. After all, they trailed the sophomores by only a run with two innings left to play, which was plenty of time to come from behind, win the game and, with the victory, clinch a first-place finish.

That's when the rain came and washed away their hopes. The game ended not with a freshman rally, but rather with the sophomores leading, 7-6, which assured the sophomores of at least a tie for first place of the three-team league.

By defeating the faculty, 12-5, in the final game of the season, the freshmen equaled the sophomores' 3-1 record and forced a playoff for the championship.

This time there was no rain, and there was a freshman rally. After falling behind, 4-0, in the top of the first inning, the freshmen battled back with two runs in the first, three runs in the third and four more in the fourth, then held on to defeat the sophomores, 11-8.

The freshmen trailed, 6-3, entering the bottom of the third inning. They tied the game on a bases-loaded single by team captain John Hanson and Jim McTiernan's RBI single to right field.

In the fourth inning, the freshmen took advantage of a sophomore error to build a 10-6 lead. Tim Gander's single with two runners on base drove in the first of four runs. Then Jason Suchanek's line drive to left field got past the sophomore outfielders, allowing three more runs to score.

The sophomores added two runs in the fifth inning to draw within two, 10-8, but they never threatened in the final two innings.

Freshman Dave Brown singled in John Hanson in the fifth inning to account for the final freshman run.

WOMEN'S SEASON HINDERED BY RECURRING RAIN

What was significant about Big Sandy's women's softball season was that it enabled Intramural Director Larry Haworth to predict the weather. Need to know when it's going to rain? Easy. Just check the women's softball schedule.

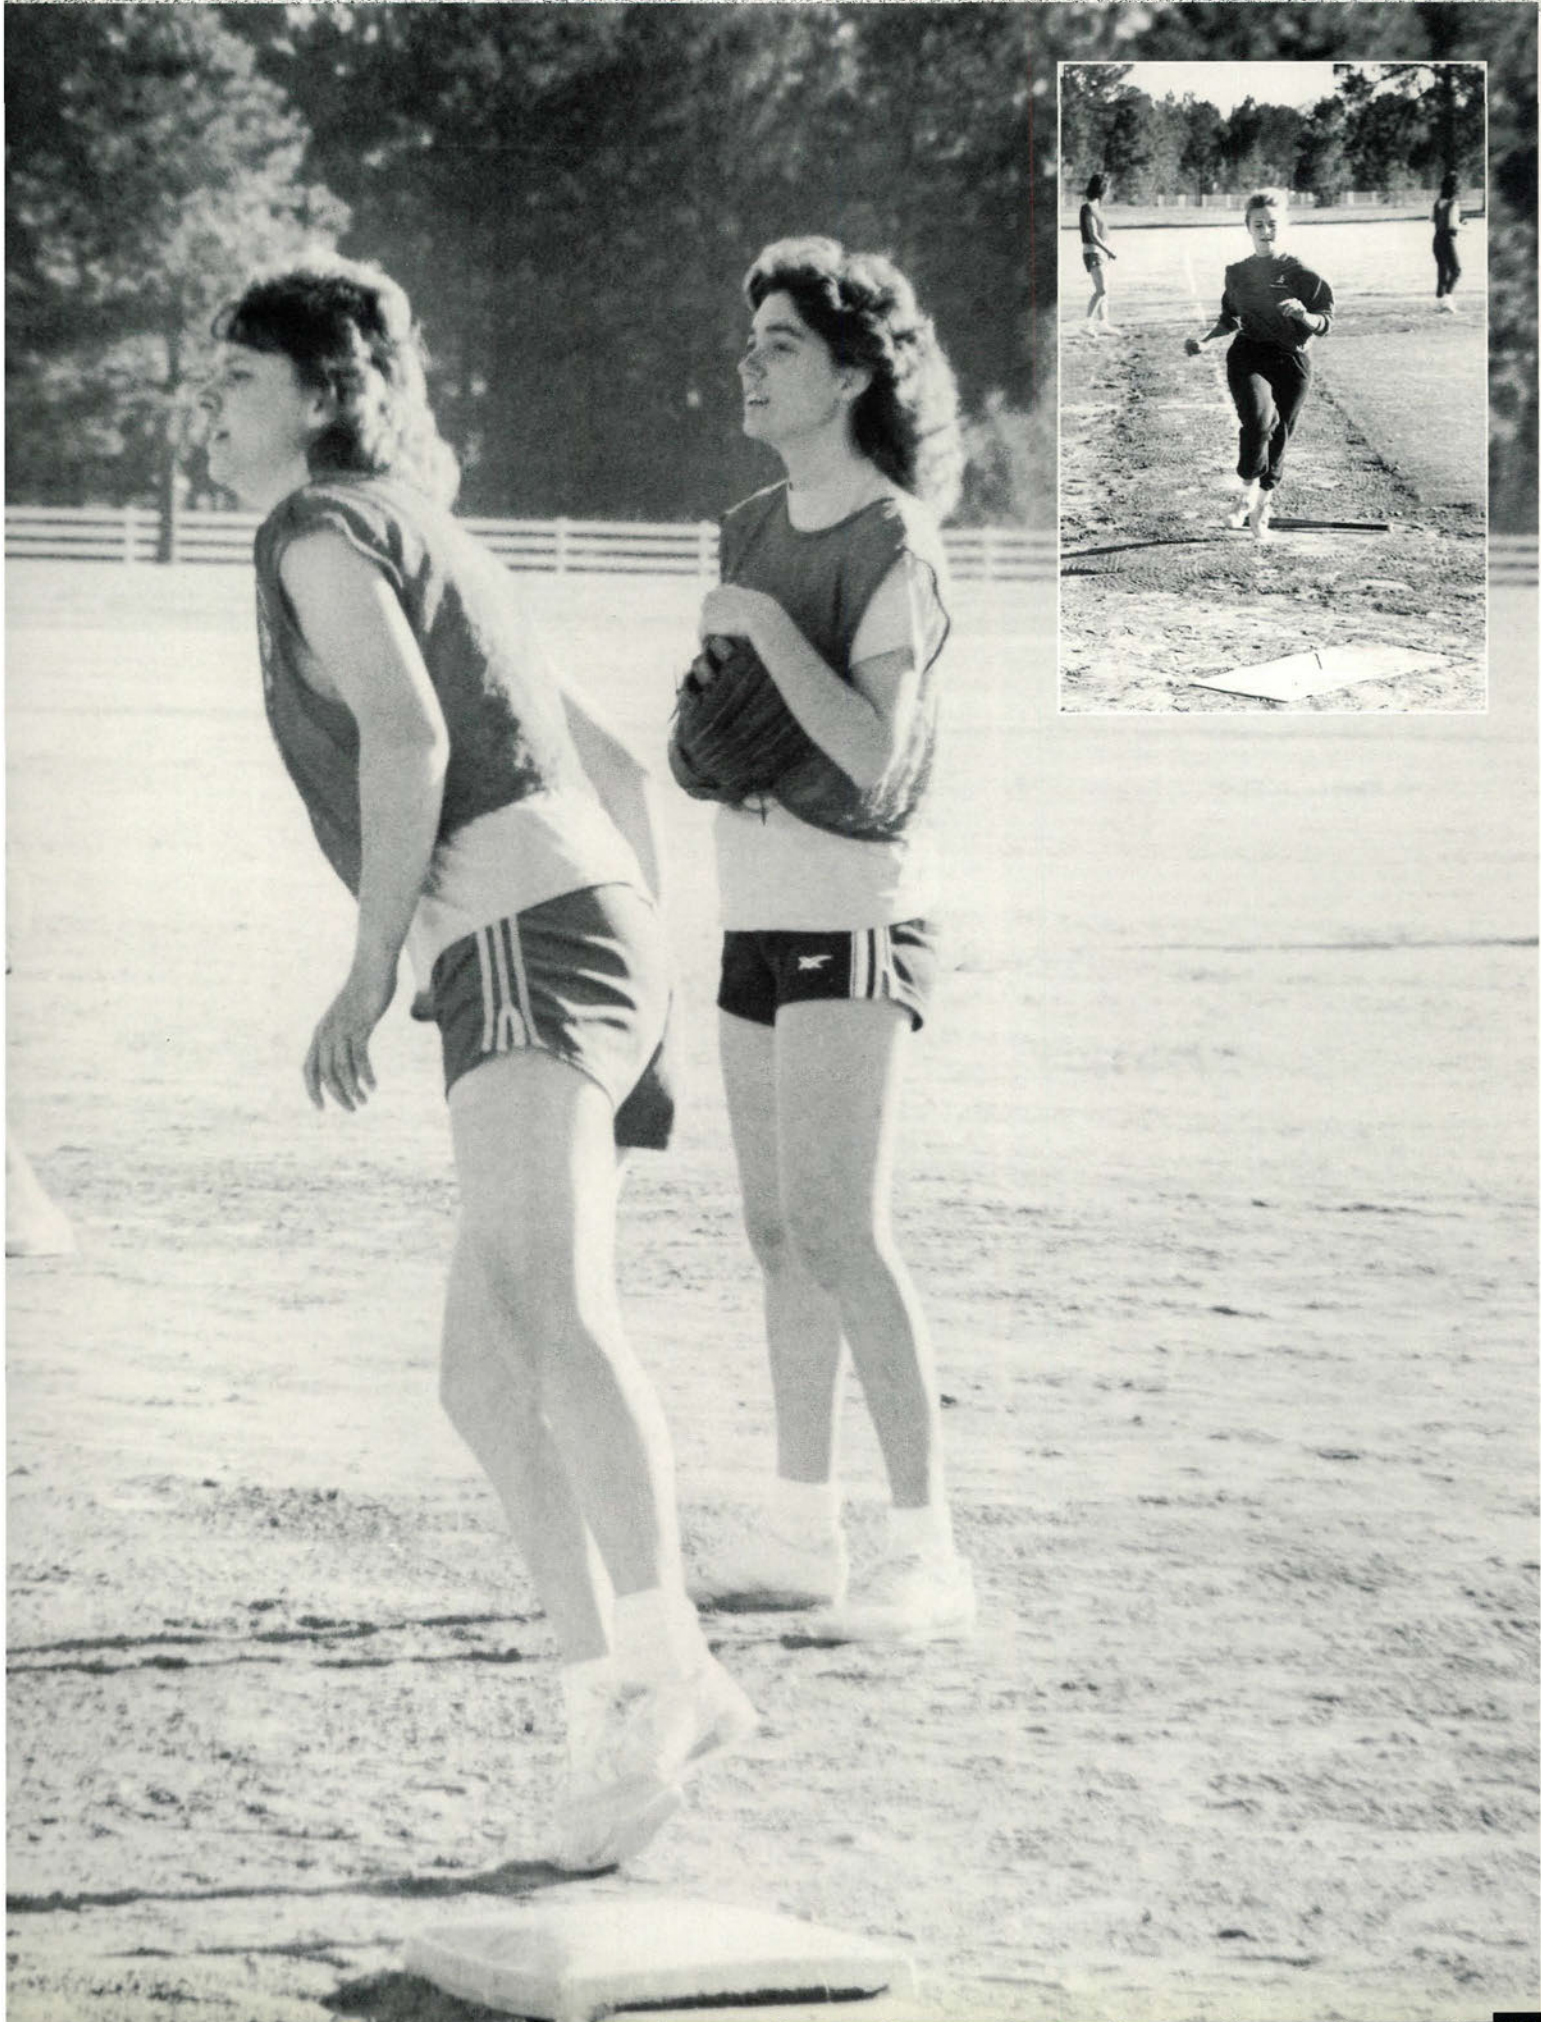

With afternoon thunderstorms occurring as regularly as the women were scheduled to play, three games were all the four girls' teams could play. Arlene Dion's team won two of those. In the season opener, Arlene's team broke a 4-4 tie with five runs in the sixth inning, enabling them to defeat Laura Cook's team, 9-5. In their second outing, Arlene's team defeated Laura Hirschler's, 16-9.

Laura Cook's team, the only team other than Arlene's able to play two games, evened its record at 1-1 by defeating Jennifer Montano's team, 13-2. The two teams captained by Laura Hirschler and Jennifer Montano, however, had to settle for an 0-1 record.

CYCLISTS TOUR TEXAS CAPITAL ON 3-DAY TRIP

In the words of cycling coach Larry Haworth, "Showing the cyclists to the country and the country to the cyclists" was the focus of April's three-day Austin tour.

"Whether they're on or off the bikes, the cyclists serve as ambassadors, as an example of God's way of life," he said. "The trip also lets students broaden their perspectives. They see more of the country, and they develop teamwork."

During the trip, scheduled at the end of spring break, the cyclists pedaled 115 miles, slept in open-air cabins at the McKinney Falls State Park, visited the capitol and other Austin highlights, and went on a six-mile canoe trip down the San Marcos River.

took the tour. It began with a six-hour bus ride from Big Sandy to Austin, where the cyclists grabbed a quick lunch, then shoved off for the first day's ride — 45 miles on a cold, cloudy day against strong headwinds.

In eight packs of between six to eight cyclists, students put to practice the principles of team touring they had been taught on campus.

"It was a challenge for everyone, whether you were a weak or a strong cyclist," said freshman Matt Siebolds. "We were off by ourselves as a pack, and we had to apply what we'd learned in class. If someone started falling behind, someone else would stay with him to encourage him or just to give him a draft. Everyone had to adjust his pace so that we stuck together as a pack."

At the end of the day, cyclists found welcome rest, but not much relief from the weather, at McKinney Falls State Park. The open-air cabins they slept in provided little shelter from the night's record-low temperatures (35 F.).

With the sunrise came the beginning of another ride. The distance was restricted to 25 miles to allow time for a leisurely, six-mile canoe trip down the meandering San Marcos River. That night the group visited the state capitol and toured Austin.

The trip concluded with another 45-mile tour on day three. Following dinner at a restaurant in nearby Waco, the cyclists packed their bikes and gear, loaded the bus and returned to campus.

Senior Laura Hirschler commented after the tour was over: "It was exhilarating to ride over the beautiful countryside, working together and drawing closer as a pack, enjoying the sights and admiring the lovely ranch homes."

SOPHOMORES WIN FIELD DAY FOR SECOND TIME

When the time came to announce the most outstanding female athlete of Field Day, there was never a doubt about who it might be. With her five first-place finishes in events ranging from the 100-meter dash to the five-kilometer run, Jo-anne Marshall clearly stood out among the competition.

Jo-anne, 23, a freshman from Perth, Australia, won the long jump, the 100-meter dash, the 200-meter dash, the 400-meter run and the five-kilometer run, an event she had never run before.

"I didn't know how well I'd do since I hadn't trained for a 5K," she said. "I was interested to find out how an old married lady could do. I surprised myself!"

Even with Jo-anne's performance, however, the freshmen could not overcome the sophomores, who for the second straight year won the track and field event, 237-230.

Sophomore Tommy Huber repeated as the most outstanding male athlete by breaking two of the six records that fell on Field Day. Tommy took a second off the old marks in both the 1500-meter run and the 800-meter run. He finished the 1500 meters in 4:01.15, and the 800 meters in 1:57.64.

also won the long jump (21 feet, 7 inches) and anchored the winning 400-meter relay team.

Sophomore Heidi Johnston set a record by throwing the javelin 84 feet, 10 inches, and four of her sophomore teammates — Lori Cooper, Margie Walter, Julia Fenton and Deanne Yelverton — completed the 400-meter relay in 54.48 seconds, beating the old record by almost two seconds.

"Men are not always made thoughtful by books; but they are generally made thoughtful by association with men who think," former U.S.
President Woodrow Wilson
once said. That's one of the reasons Ambassador College encourages an intimate association between its faculty and its undergraduates.

STUDENT COUNCIL

By implementing College policies and by addressing student issues to the administration, the student council serves as an effective link between the administration and the student body. Council members meet once a week to discuss the needs of the student body, to plan activities and to determine how to support the objectives of the College.

Because dormitory life represents a significant part of a student's experience at Ambassador, resident assistants are appointed to ensure that Ambassador's high standards are maintained. The RAs meet weekly with Student Housing Officer Gary Richards to discuss improvements, problems and activities in the dormitories.

CLUB PRESIDENTS

Ambassador Clubs and Women's Clubs have been a part of Ambassador College since the early 1950s. One of the main goals of the Ambassador Clubs is to develop a student's public-speaking skills by exposing him to a variety of speaking situations, such as prepared and impromptu speeches and discussions of current events. Women's Clubs are designed to enhance a woman's appreciation of her role in society. Club presidents preside over the weekly meetings for the men and biweekly meetings for the women.

The Big Sandy Student Council fulfills the same role as that of Pasadena's — as a liaison between the administration and the student body. Big Sandy's student council is composed of the senior leaders and representatives from the freshman and sophomore classes. The senior leaders also serve as club presidents and resident assistants.

From the staff:

This year Ambassador College witnessed a number of significant changes. Raymond F. McNair, deputy chancellor in Pasadena since 1978, was appointed director of the Worldwide Church of God's regional office in New Zealand, and Donald Ward, academic dean in Big Sandy, was appointed vice chancellor of the two campuses.

Also during the year Ambassador College reflected on its past, celebrating its 40th anniversary in August.

In light of the year's changes and the celebration of Ambassador's history, it seemed appropriate that the 1988 Envoy focus on Ambassador's dedication to build upon the foundation on which the College was started, and on how the College is preparing to go on to greater things. As Dr. Ward stated during his first address in Pasadena as vice chancellor: "We need to dedicate ourselves as never before to the building of Ambassador College. There is a time to build. That time is now!"

As always, this annual pictorial record of the year at Ambassador College could not have been produced without the help of others, to whom we offer our thanks:
