

Worldwide Church of God begins Feast of Tabernacles

Some of the 15,000 Worldwide Church of God members register for festival services in Mount Pocono.

Mount Pocono—Harriet W. Armstrong, leader of the Worldwide Church of God, opened the eight-day Feast of Tabernacles today by addressing a gathering of 15,000 members at the annual festival site near Mount Pocono. Armstrong, an adherent of the religious gathering, said throughout the world only one million followers of the Worldwide Church of God are present.

"The 15,000 members who are here today are the first to be here since we began our festival in 1954," she said.

Special welcome to Worldwide Church of God members included in today's "The Pocono Record."

Using the great number present as a starting point to describe the history of the Worldwide Church of God, Armstrong said, "We have been very busy since the start of the year."

"The fact of the matter is that we have been very busy since the start of the year," she said.

"We have been very busy since the start of the year," she said.

The Feast of the Tabernacles, according to Armstrong, is a time when the people of God are to be gathered together to worship God and to be united with one another in a common faith.

"We have been very busy since the start of the year," she said.
