

Exodus from Worldwide: three couples explain why

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles about a rift within the Worldwide Church of God, an international religious organization with a central site in Mount Pocono.

MOUNT POCONO — As yet it is undetermined just how many members of the local church will still call Mount Pocono members of the new church in the developing rift among the Worldwide Church of God. Three couples, who asked their names be withheld for personal reasons, will be known as couples A, B, and C in subsequent announcements regarding their leaving the church.

Couple A: Here the children, ranging in age from eight to 18, have been members for seven years.

Quiet spoken and rather bashful to speak because "we feel so guilty that for the past seven years we have sacrificed so much, especially when our children are involved."

It has been hard to say to us what the greatest wish is to be a doctor, that we haven't been able to have a better education, because we've been told the work of the church comes first.

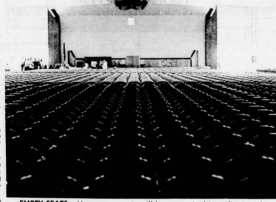

Our hearts ache when we say you can't have some secondary other children have to travel to Pocono to attend school that they must be attending their own school.

Couple B: who live in Allentown. They have asked our children have asked the same question to go to the store for a few days of fun, we must give money for the Fringe of the Tabernacle or send that money to Pocono.

Couple C: who live in Allentown. They have asked the same question to go to the store for a few days of fun, we must give money for the Fringe of the Tabernacle or send that money to Pocono.

Couple D: who live in Allentown. They have asked the same question to go to the store for a few days of fun, we must give money for the Fringe of the Tabernacle or send that money to Pocono.

Couple E: who live in Allentown. They have asked the same question to go to the store for a few days of fun, we must give money for the Fringe of the Tabernacle or send that money to Pocono.

EMPTY SEATS—How many seats will be empty in this auditorium the next time the Worldwide Church of God gathers in Mount Pocono is still a matter of speculation. Three couples in the Pocono area won't be there.

Ted and his father to travel to the United States. "But we've talked to a couple who went to Pocono to see Ambassador College before enrolling their son."
