

Alternative Holy Day Occurrences by Use of Different Calculations for the Years 26 to 34 C.E.¹

(The dates listed below are drawn from the programs and listings of those who advocate various forms of calendar construction and calculation. The end result is that only one form of calendar construction (that in the first column) appears to coincide with the details of the Holy Days in the last year of Christ's ministry as recorded in the Gospel of John.)

⁵ The day on which Trumpets occurs each year is the same day of the week on which the first day of Tabernacles and the Last Great Day will occur.

⁶ Hours of Molad are based on the Roman day, starting at midnight. Molads given in Calgraph and Spier are expressed in terms of the Hebrew day, starting at 6 p.m., and are hence 6 hours later than these times. They do represent the exact same time.
