

Friends of the Sabbath introduce the International Biblical Learning Center

GPO Box, 864, Sydney, NSW 2001

An institution of higher learning developed for the special needs of the international Sabbatarian community. Designed to make the best scholarship and sabbatarian studies available for the working professional and the layman in his and her own home, office or fellowship. Designed to inform, edify, and to strengthen personal and collective faith and action.

International Biblical Learning Center (IBLC) is non denominational and has lecturers and tutors from a variety of Sabbatarian Churches. It respects and reflects the unique histories and teaching of many sabbatarian congregations and organizations. It reaches across denominational barriers to teach, serve and uplift all in their own current fellowships. Faculty come from a wide variety of sabbatarian fellowships. IBLC is based on the most modern extended learning methods, while supporting our solid and ancient foundations. IBLC is established to reach out to you, where you are, without the need for expensive, inconvenient travel and time away from home and work. The Center is established to provide the most stimulating, encouraging and valuable educational courses available for your own specific needs, and at the least possible cost for quality education. In Australia we hope to be announcing some exciting initiatives soon. We will keep you informed.

IBLC does not compete with other programs, but supplements the educational and spiritual programs of your own church or assembly. Study Majors: Sabbatarian History; Biblical Languages; Biblical Literature; Prophetic Studies; General Sabbatarian Studies; Christian Counselling. A note from Dale Stogner, a founder of the IBLC: Things are progressing with the new International Biblical Learning Center. We have been recruiting faculty and the filming and taping of classes has begun. We are presently planning to have about six or seven classes available by the end of November. Eventually, we hope to have college level classes covering the entire Bible. These classes will hopefully be of service to all of God's people. Presently filming or beginning shortly are classes on the following:

Introduction to the Old Testament by Mark Kaplan; Life and Teachings of Jesus by Don Ward; Epistles of Paul by Ron Dart; Stewardship in the Churches of God by Wayne Cole; World Religions by Gary Antion; Other faculty and classes are being added as well. The Trustees of IBLC have basically started with very little resources. We have purposely structured IBLC to have as many variable costs as possible and as few fixed costs as possible.

A note from Friends of the Sabbath, Australia: As the contact point for information and ordering material and tapes from the IBLC, we ask for your co-operation and to place all orders through us. We are currently exploring certain avenues and opportunities which are rather exciting. They will be announced in due course.
