Goals and Achievements

The call to the ministry is the highest of all callings. The Christian vocation is the highest of all vocations. Therefore, Midwest Bible College seeks to provide the highest possible training for those who feel the call of God. This, of course, is not to be measured according to man's wisdom or man's standards. Rather, it is to be viewed in the light of God's holy will for mankind and His plan for the church.

Fundamental in the curriculum, naturally, is Bible truth. All else is secondary to this chiefest of all goals: to implant unadulterated Bible truth in the minds of the students. And with this implanting there is also instruction in the defense and promotion of Bible truth. The graduates, therefore, enter the field of Christian service with this as the foundation of their education.

Midwest Bible College further aims at rounding out the students' training with instruction in related studies. Along with this there is also the cultivation of good working techniques and the best of the students' attributes and talents. And to complete the curriculum there is great emphasis upon individual spiritual growth and power.

Classroom instruction is augmented by in-field service that the students find in the local and nearby churches. Junior and Senior ministerial students are involved in directing the local program, including home visitation, pulpit delivery, service leadership and office management. All students with musical talent are called upon for special numbers. Others are employed in other ways to assist in the leadership of the services. This all gives the students valuable training.

Administration

Midwest Bible College is an institution of the Church of God (Seventh Day) and is owned and operated by the General Conference of this church. Direct control of the college is vested in a Board of Directors, appointed by the Executive Board of the General Conference.

History and Purpose

Midwest Bible College was organized and established to fill a great and important need—the training of young men and young women for the gospel work of the Church of God (Seventh Day).

For many years the people of the Church of God felt that a school was needed wherein young men could be prepared for the ministry of the church, and where other young people could be trained for Christian service in various capacities. An attempt at establishing a ministerial training class was launched in 1941, when a small group of prospective ministers studied under the direction of Elder Stanley J. Kauer, who was then editor of The Bible Advocate. The class was taught in the old church building of the Stanberry, Missouri, Church of God.

In 1945 plans were started for the erection of a new building at Stanberry which would house the publishing plant and the local church, as well as provide rooms for a Bible college.

In 1951 the ministerial training school opened under the name Midwest Theological Seminary, with Elder Burt F. Marrs as director.

Through the years the college has added facilities and continued to improve its work. Today it stands as a monument to those who gave their best for its establishment and development.

Spirit-filled young people who believe God has called them to a place in His great work here receive the special training and knowledge needed to carry on successfully for the Lord in this modern world. They have come directly from high school, from other colleges, and some who never completed high school have come after passing college ability tests. Still others have come after establishing businesses, following the professions, or working for years as laborers. Every effort has been made and is being made to provide training for those with the ability and the assurance of the call of God.

The alumni include twenty-seven who are ministers in the Church of God, and still others who are serving the church in other responsible positions. Therefore, it can be stated with confidence that Midwest Bible College is serving the Church of God in bringing a spiritual education to her young people, preparing them for Christian service, in a way that is a glory to God and of notable benefit to the church.

Campus Facilities

Midwest Bible College is housed in an attractive brick structure that was dedicated in 1949. It is built in the shape of a giant "L." The one wing is devoted to the sanctuary for the local church worship, and the other wing is for the publishing plant and the college. All three institutions have separate entrances.

On the second floor of the south wing are the college classrooms, library, offices and chapel. This entire area was renovated two years ago and now presents a greatly up-dated and more cheerful appearance.

In the south end of this wing is the library, containing about 2,000 volumes of good research and reference material. The college chapel occupies the north end of the wing, offering scattering space for 50 in an inspiring setting. The classrooms and offices are situated in the remaining section of the wing.

New furniture was added to the classrooms and offices two years ago, and the foyer and halls were carpeted and given more illuminating light fixtures. The atmosphere throughout is becoming of a college with the high commission of training Christian workers.

The men's dormitory is across the street from the college in a two-story frame house. It will accommodate up to 12 men. There is a central lounge, plus 5 sleeping rooms, each furnished with beds, study tables, closets and bookshelves.

A house one block from the college is reserved for the women's dormitory; however, its use is dependent upon the number of single women enrolled.

It includes a central living room, plus 3 sleeping rooms, furnished with beds, dressers, study tables, closets, and bookshelves.

The library is a favorite place for study.

General Information

WHO SHOULD COME TO MIDWEST?

The special purpose of Midwest Bible College is the training of workers for the gospel mission of the church. Those who come should, therefore, be mature in thought, serious minded, consecrated and zealous for the work of the church.

Men who come should come to train for the active, full-time ministry of the church or for the purpose of being Bible workers or better lay helpers. Women who come should likewise come to receive training, so as to be helpers in the work of the church.

Men and women who come to Midwest should be in harmony with the doctrinal beliefs and enthusiastic for the organized work of the Church of God (Seventh Day) with offices at 1510 Cook Street, Denver, Colorado. They should be familiar with the work of the church and should have respect for and confidence in the leadership of the church, as well as a desire to see continued improvement in her work and methods.

Men and women, 18 to 40 years of age or even older, are encouraged to answer the call for the work of the Lord and to train at Midwest.

Young people who plan to go on to secular college for a degree are especially welcomed for the one-year Biblical Foundations Course that will help them face the atheistic, satanic, unscriptural teachings now being taught in many secular colleges.

Members of the Church of God who may not feel the call to the ministry but who desire to increase their knowledge of the Bible and to be more useful as lay workers in the church, are also welcome to attend:

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Young people of high school age must have completed high school. Older students may be admitted on the basis of results of a school and college ability test. High school graduates should have had a "C plus" average or better. Those whose high school grade average was C or below are required to take a college ability test. Students who have not completed high school, and foreign students, are required to take this test.

Prospective students are to fill out and mail the application forms, then wait for notice of acceptance before coming for enrollment. The application forms provide for the sending of high school transcripts, the securing of character references, and the signing of the student pledge.

All students will not only pledge to obey the college regulations, but are expected to show cooperation and a manner of life that is in keeping with the Christian standards upheld by the college.

DOCTRINE TAUGHT

Students attending Midwest Bible College are expected to know, believe, and uphold the doctrinal teachings of the church. Those who have differing views on Bible doctrines set forth in the pamphlet "Doctrinal Beliefs of the Church of God (Seventh Day)" and/or which are common in the Church of God may be admitted only on special arrangements.

Bible study and discussion are approved along lines which are helpful to the work of the church. But any student who insists upon advocating or teaching, or holding studies to teach anyone else, doctrines contrary to those set forth by the Ministerial Council, will be dismissed from the college.

REGISTRATION AND PROGRAM

Students should plan to arrive so as to be present to register on the date announced in the college calendar. If it becomes necessary for a student to be late in registering, he should notify the college as far in advance as possible, stating the reasons for his delay. Students who do not receive permission to register late or who have no acceptable reason for so doing, will be charged $1.00 per day late, to a maximum of $10.00. Only in an exceptional case is any student enrolled after the third week of the semester.

For full-time student rating, a student must carry at least twelve credit hours per semester. Those who plan to be part-time students must make special arrangements.

With most course subjects, the second semester is a continuation of the first. Students working for a degree or certificate and who are enrolled the first semester in such courses, are expected to continue the second semester. Unless special permission is obtained, the discontinuing of such a course the second semester will invalidate the first semester for degree credit.

Any change in a student's schedule of classes must be made during the first three weeks of a semester. After three weeks no class is to be dropped or new class taken up without special permission of the faculty. Any violation of this rule will result in failure of the course with loss of honor points.

Students are not to be absent from or tardy to classes or chapel except in event of illness, or by special arrangement or permission. Students must arrange their work schedules so that they do not interfere with class attendance. Unexcused absences and tardiness will deduct from the student's honor point record. Absence from one third or more of class sessions during a semester will result in a loss of all credit in that class for that semester.

Students are expected to maintain a C-plus average. Any student who falls below this is limited to the number of semester hours he may take the next semester.

GRADES AND HONOR POINTS

Midwest Bible College uses the standard grading system of A, B, C, D, and F with I for an incomplete or deferred grade. The honor points, required for graduation, are earned as follows: A--3 honor points per semester credit hour; B--2 honor points; C--1 honor point; D--0 honor points; F--loss of 1 honor point from the total earned.

MEDICAL EXAMINATION

Students are expected to be in reasonably good health at the time of enrollment. All new students are required to have physical examinations, record of which are recorded on forms provided by the college and kept in the students' files.

TEXTBOOKS

The students purchase their textbooks and school supplies. The books will be made available by the college and sold at approximately the cost price. Books in good condition which are to be used the following year may be sold back to the college at the termination of the course at a price determined by the college.

School supplies are sold in the college book store at a discount price.

CLASS SCHEDULE

The class schedule begins at 7:00 a.m. and continues until 12:15 p.m., Monday through Friday. This includes 25 class hours per week.

The usual student load is 16 class hours a week.

Vacations are to be limited to the exact times specified in the college calendar. Exceptions are made only in the event of an extreme need or emergency. Students away for week ends are expected to be back in classes on Monday.

DINING HALL

All dormitory students are expected to eat their meals in the college dining hall. The charge covers three meals per day, and no deduction is made for occasional meals missed or for week-end absences.

Students in outside rooms and married students may take some or all of their meals in the dining hall. Those scheduled for three meals a day are charged the flat rate; others are charged at an established rate per meal.

FEES AND EXPENSES

(per school month of four weeks)

Tuition: For 12 to 16 semester hours	$56.00
For less than 12 semester hours	5.00 each
For all over 16 semester hours	4.00 each
Room in the dormitory	20.00
Board in the dining hall	30.00

REFUNDS

In the event that withdrawal becomes necessary, the student will receive a pro-rata refund on any payments made in advance. No refunds will be made to dormitory students for occasional or week-end absences.

PAYMENT OF ACCOUNT

Each student is responsible for payment of his account, whether or not outside aid is promised. Experience of recent years has shown that students are unable to pay all their college and living expenses by part-time work alone. The college requires each student to present a sound financial plan before approving his application.

At the time of enrollment a payment is required, covering the estimated expenses for two months. This applies to the costs for the first and last months.

Statements are given at the close of each 4-week period for the succeeding month, plus any additional charges for the past month. If an account is not paid within two weeks of the billing date, the student is asked to consult the Finance Counseling Committee. Any student failing to pay his account within 30 days of the billing date, and who is unable to make an acceptable financial arrangement with the Finance Committee, shall be suspended.

FINANCIAL AID

Qualified students who are preparing for the work of the Lord are worthy of financial aid. This may be either in the form of grants or loans. In some cases the districts pay the tuition of students who show ability and who are known to be spiritual and zealous for the spreading of the gospel. A local church group may pay the tuition of a student, usually from their group, who they feel will make a successful minister. Parents and relatives have a special responsibility in this matter.

Midwest Bible College has a student loan fund which is administered by the Director and the College Board. Loans are usually not granted until the student has attended the college two years. However, each application for a loan is considered on an individual basis.

A scholarship award is given annually from the Faithful Servant Memorial Fund of the National Women's Association of the Church of God. The scholarship award is given to the outstanding 3rd year ministerial student to aid him in his 4th year at the college.

AWARDS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Midwest Bible College has established a scholarship assistance program for a limited number of students. The present program calls for awarding four scholarships each year. Each one pays half the full tuition for the year. Two of the awards for scholarship go to Ministerial Course students and two of them go to Biblical Foundations Course students. In either case the awards are for new students at Midwest Bible College.

The awards are made by the staff on the basis of an essay from each applicant, plus consideration of high school grades, need for the scholarship, and recommendations by the applicant's pastor and/or lay leader. Applications for a scholarship should be obtained from the college and returned by August 1 with an application for enrollment.

STUDENT HOUSING

Married students will find suitable housing available in Stanberry at low cost. Furnished apartments and house-trailers are available ranging in cost from about $40 to $50 per month. Unfurnished houses rent from about $45 to $75 per month. Usually utilities and heat are added.

All unmarried students are required to live in the dormitories, or in college-approved, supervised rooms. The dormitory rooms are furnished with 39-inch beds with mattresses. (Students furnish their own bedding, towels, and personal articles and are expected to keep their rooms clean and in neat order.)

Students make their own arrangements for laundry. There is a self-service laundry in town, and several people also do laundry at reasonable cost. Ironing boards and electric irons are provided in the dormitories.

Single students in the dormitories or in approved rooms will be required to observe dormitory regulations. Midwest Bible College dormitory rules uphold high standards and are not to be compared with the lax regulations current at many secular colleges.

Special Regulations

The matter of what is right and proper dress and conduct for Christians is frequently a subject of discussion with differing opinions expressed. It is, therefore, necessary for the college to adopt standards for its students.

The standards upheld by the college are those set forth in "Doctrinal Beliefs of the Church of God (Seventh Day)." Therefore, students are to conduct themselves as is becoming to Christians. This excludes the use of alcoholic beverages, tobacco, habit-forming drugs, un-Christian speech or behavior. It also excludes excessive jewelry, lipstick, and extreme or immodest dress.

Students are to present a high standard in personal appearance, both in apparel and personal grooming. Personal appearance should be that which would be above reproach and give proper dignity to the school and ministry. Personal dress and personal grooming, including hair style and beard and mustache, must comply with faculty approval.

Radios, record players, televisions, and musical instruments may be used in the dormitories with consideration for other students, subject to the permission of the dean.

Cars or motorcycles must be registered with the college and must be equipped with proper mufflers so as to operate quietly. Students are expected to recognize the true value of a vehicle and conduct themselves accordingly. When the faculty feels that a student is persistently abusing his privilege to use his car or motorcycle, the student will be required to submit his keys to the dean, and permission thereafter must be obtained for use of the vehicle.

Courses of Study

The Ministerial Course is for men who believe that God has called them to the work of the gospel ministry. Graduation from this course does not guarantee that one will be given license or be employed in the work of the Church of God, but other things being equal, successful completion of the course should fit one for ministerial work.

The Ministerial Course, consisting of 124 credit hours, leads to the Bachelor of Religion degree. Such honors will be given in appropriate services upon the successful completion of the required credit hours with at least 200 honor points, and with the recommendation of the faculty.

Credit for work completed at other colleges may apply on courses at Midwest. The faculty will determine the extent to which such credit may be applied to reduce resident hours at Midwest necessary for diploma or degree.

The Biblical Foundations Course is for both men and women. It is a one-year course, consisting of 30 credit hours, intended to give the student a firm basis on which to build his Christian life. Completion of the required number of hours with a minimum of 45 honor points is honored with a certificate.

The Biblical Foundations Course is particularly desirable for the high school graduate who intends to go on to secular college for a degree. This one-year course offers scriptural support for Church of God doctrine and defense against such theories as evolution, which are encountered in secular colleges. It is also desirable for the lay person who wants to be a better layman, whether he plans to continue his education or not.

Courses completed in the Biblical Foundations Course are transferable for credit to the Ministerial Course in the event the student elects to continue his training for Christian service.

Women are encouraged to attend Midwest for doctrinal study, and Biblical knowledge, and spiritual strengthening. At present no courses are being offered leading to a graduation but certificates will be given for completion of two or more years of study with appropriate grade point average.

Ministerial Course

Except where prerequisites are required, as given in the description of the course, subjects need not be taken strictly in the order listed. Many of the courses are given in alternate years, and students will take the courses as nearly as possible in the year-grade order. (The year-grade is indicated by the first digit in the course number.)
