TEST 13

an open letter from

THE STAFF

WHY is it that almost no one really understands the meaning and purpose of the book of Acts? Why, after Chapter 8, do we lose sight of the twelve apostles and read only of the ministry and work of the Apostle Paul?

Why Such Confusion?

Did God have a purpose in bringing Paul as a prisoner to Rome? Was Paul merely an obscure religious prisoner at the mercy of the tyrant Nero? Or did he speak before and influence the Roman leaders while still a prisoner?

And when was Paul in Rome?

There were only certain specific years during which Paul could have preached in Rome — and survive. A child can understand the reasons why. Yet there is no single event in the book of Acts about which there is more disagreement among theologians!

Luke plainly describes the conditions of Paul's imprisonment. He shows that Paul was not hindered in his teaching of the Gospel in Rome!

Let's notice it!

The Apostle Paul "dwelt two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in unto him, preaching the kingdom of God and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, NO MAN FORBIDDING HIM" (Acts 28:30-31).

This is the key!

Theologians have simply ignored this major Biblical clue in dating Paul's Roman imprisonment!

The Apostle Paul's Commission

Paul had been chosen by Jesus Christ to accomplish three specific jobs (Acts 9:15). First he was to teach the Gentiles — which he did in Cyprus, Asia Minor and Greece.

Next he was to appear before kings. It was for this very reason that he had to be brought to Rome.

While Paul was yet in Jerusalem, Christ repeated this commission: "And the night following the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good cheer, Paul: for as thou has testified of me

The correct answers to the first two questions are already circled for you as examples. Repeat this procedure for each question. (Generally speaking, the incorrect answers are FALSE ideas which are taught and believed about the subject.)

Notice that the questions are divided into four parts—corresponding to this present group of four lessons. We advise you not to cover more than one lesson at a sitting. Take sufficient time to understand each question. Try to answer as many questions as you can without referring to the lessons. If you find any difficult questions, then refer to the lessons. We expect you to do so—it isn't cheating!

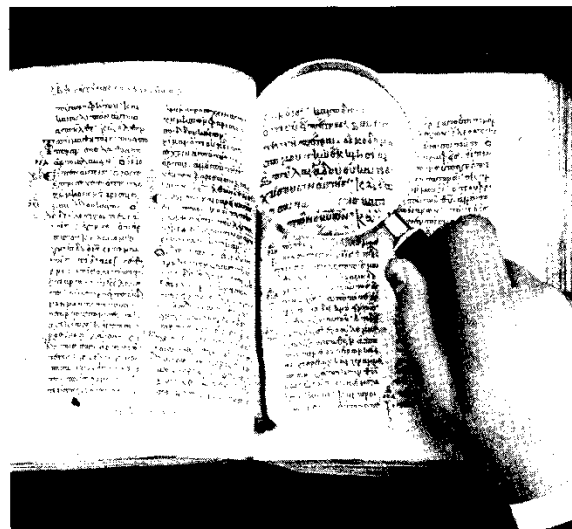

Once you have finished going over the questions and are satisfied with your answers, fill out your ANSWER CARD by placing an "X" in the box which corresponds to the selection you have chosen (circled) to be the correct answer for each question. (Notice that the first two questions are already marked correctly for you on your answer card as examples.) That's all there is to it! It's very simple and fast.

You are to SEND ONLY THE ANSWER CARD in to us when filled out. Handle your answer card carefully at all times. A SMOOTH CARD is easier to grade. Your grade will NOT be recorded in any of our files—only YOU will have that record once we return your answer card. After doing this, check over your completed answer card with the answers you circled in the test to be absolutely sure you placed the X's in the proper squares. Also check to see that your name and address has been PRINTED CORRECTLY on the mailing label! If you have moved or changed your name, please print the changes on the label.

Mail your completed answer card back to us by just adding postage and dropping it into a mailbox. But be sure not to bend or fold it. Smooth cards help us to speed the grading of thousands of test cards every month.

BE SURE TO KEEP THIS THIRTEENTH TEST. Notice that it has three holes punched in its margin. This is so you can file it in your notebook after the four lessons it covers.

REVIEW these questions occasionally. Why? Because reviewing will impress the true answers more firmly upon your mind. And reviewing the false answers given for each question will help you to realize more clearly some of the false ideas which you may have taken for granted. in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome" (Acts 23:11).

Christ had ordained that Paul (not Peter) would preach the Gospel in Rome. Even during the voyage to Rome He sent His angel to reassure him, "Fear not, Paul; thou must be brought before Caesar: . . ." (Acts 27:24).

Paul fulfilled the second part of Christ's commission during his two-year imprisonment in Rome (Acts 28:30-31).

The Praetorian Guard

Paul's witness even extended to the Praetorian guard.

Notice it!

"I want you to know, brethren, that what has happened to me has really served to advance the gospel [notice, just as Luke wrote in Acts, the gospel was being preached], so that it has become known throughout the whole Praetorian guard and to all the rest that my imprisonment is for Christ (Phil. 1:12-13, R.S.V.).

The reason for Paul's imprisonment — and for the gospel as well — was known by the Praetorian guard.

The Praetorian guard was first established by Augustus Caesar as a detachment of troops to be his private bodyguard. They "were kept up by successive emperors and, being under special organization and enjoying several privileges, they became in time so powerful that they were able to raise and depose Emperors at their will" (Encyclopedia Americana, 1944 ed., Vol. 22, p. 502).

But even more important, this special guard was ruled by the Praetorian Prefect who "held not only the supreme military and judicial authority, but even legislative power and the control of the finances and the provinces" (The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, Edward Gibbon, Vol. i, p. 108).

"And it seems to have been almost impossible to exercise an important influence in political affairs, except in concert with the Praetorian Prefect, . . ." (Student's Roman Empire, J. B. Bury, M.A., p. 281).

Upon his arrival in Rome, Paul was delivered to the Praetorian Prefect (Acts 28:16). The King James Version translates this phrase "Captain of the guard," but Thayer's Greek Lexicon more correctly translates it "the Praetorian Prefect."

This old woodcut shows some members of the Praetorian guards — the emperor's bodyguard. When Paul arrived at Rome the Praetorian guard was under the leadership of Burrus.

Even in Caesar's Household

The Bible indicates that Paul had considerable influence on the Praetorian Prefect, the Praetorian guards and even the very household of Caesar!

Paul ends his letter to the Philippians: "All the saints salute you, chiefly they that are of Caesar's household" (Phil. 4:22).

It was Paul's influence on these Roman leaders which also helped his fellow Christians preach the Gospel more boldly. Notice, as Paul continues the story in Philippians 1:14: "and most of the brethren have been made confident in the Lord because of my imprisonment and are much more bold to speak the word of God WITHOUT FEAR" (RSV).

God's truth was being spread as a direct result of Paul's influence on the Roman leaders while he was in prison.

But when could all these events have occurred?

It was during the time of two rival factions — Poppaea (Nero's mistress) on one hand — and Afranius Burrus (the Praetorian Prefect) on the other.

Now, let's take a close look at these two rival factions and how they influenced Paul's Roman imprisonment.

Nero's "Golden Age"

The Praetorian Prefect, Afranius Burrus, was largely responsible for making the teen-age

Nero the emperor of Rome. For the first few years of Nero's reign, Burrus and the philosopher Seneca maintained the stability in the Roman government.

Then a drastic change occurred.

"The year 62 A.D. was a turning point in Nero's reign. Hitherto he had been under the constraint of Burrus and Seneca, who, while they indulged judiciously his licentious and frivolous tastes, had prevented him from exerting his imperial power to the detriment of the state. Thus the first five years of Nero's reign became proverbial for good government — the quinquennium Neronio. The death of Burrus early in 62 A.D. was the beginning of a change for the worse. The influence of Seneca, deprived of his friend's support, immediately began to wane...

"But the estrangement of his former pupil [Nero] was chiefly due to the enmity of Poppaea, who was jealous of the old courtier's influence over her lover. It was mainly due to Burrus and to Seneca that she had not yet succeeded in displacing Octavia, and marrying the Emperor" (Bury, p. 281).

Burrus' opposition to Poppaea's marriage to Nero wasn't the only reason for this strife. In addition Burrus, like many of the Roman leaders, was against the Jews becoming influential in the Empire.

Josephus explains how Burrus wrote an epistle "to disannul that equity of the Jewish privileges of citizens which they hitherto enjoyed" (Antiquities of the Jews, XX, viii, 9).

Burrus was against the Jews and a hindrance to their cause. Burrus, for political reasons, would have taken Paul's side against his Jewish accusers.

A Change for the Worse

Poppaea Sabina became Nero's wife in 62 A.D., after the death of Burrus — literally over his dead body! According to Josephus she was a Jewess, or at least a proselyte, and most certainly would not have tolerated Paul's Christian teachings.

Josephus says that she influenced Nero to decide in favor of the Jews against his own Roman officials, Festus and Agrippa, in a dispute over a wall in Jerusalem (Ant. XX, viii, 11).

She was also influential in saving the Jews from the persecution which Nero inflicted upon the Christians in 64 A.D.

SENECA — the Roman Philosopher and political leader. He was the teacher of Nero and the close friend of Burrus the Praetorian Prefect. It is interesting to note that his writings contain ideas similar to Paul's teachings. These ideas appear in letters he wrote to a friend after the Apostle Paul had been in Rome.

and in order to divert suspicion from himself he sought a scapegoat. He might have turned to the Jews, who were always unpopular with the mob, but his wife Poppaea was interested in Judaism and her interest may have saved them" (From the Gracchi to Nero, H. H. Scullard, p. 320).

Poppaea was able to save the highly unpopular Jews from Nero's destructions. Instead his wrath fell upon the Christians — the "sect" Paul belonged to — whom the Jews regarded as their arch enemy.

The Third Part of Paul's Commission

Paul's witness in Rome was only the second part of his commission. Remember that the third and last part of Paul's commission was to bear the name of Jesus to the "children of Israel" (Acts 9:15) — the Lost Ten Tribes.

This is not a prophecy concerning the Jews, whom Paul had previously reached in the Greek world. This is a prophecy of Paul's mission to the British Isles! (For more information about this astounding commission write for the free article "Where Did the Twelve Apostles Go?")

Paul had to be released from prison to accomplish this third part of his commission. But he would not have been released from prison after Poppaea had become Nero's wife. She would have regarded Paul as a traitor to the Jewish religion.

Paul could not have been in Rome in 62 A.D. and LIVED!!

After the death of Burrus (early 62 A.D.) Poppaea had her friend, Tigellinus, appointed Praetorian Prefect. Tigellinus — like Poppaea — was not spotless in character. "The tyranny which marked Nero's later years dates from the appearance of Tigellinus on the scene" (62 A.D.) (Bury, p. 281).

With a man of Tigellinus' character in control of the Praetorian guard, Paul most certainly would not have been able to influence "the whole Praetorian guard" or preach in Rome "with all confidence NO MAN FORBIDDING HIM!!!"

Combining the facts of history and the Bible, Paul had to be released from prison before the death of Burrus (early 62 A.D.).

Claudius Expels the Jews

Now to find the date of Paul's arrival in Rome we must go back to his stay in Corinth (Acts 18:1-2). From this point onward, the Book of Acts, gives us a continuous account of the Apostle Paul's activities. Once we discover when Paul arrived in Corinth we can work forward in time to find when he arrived in Rome.

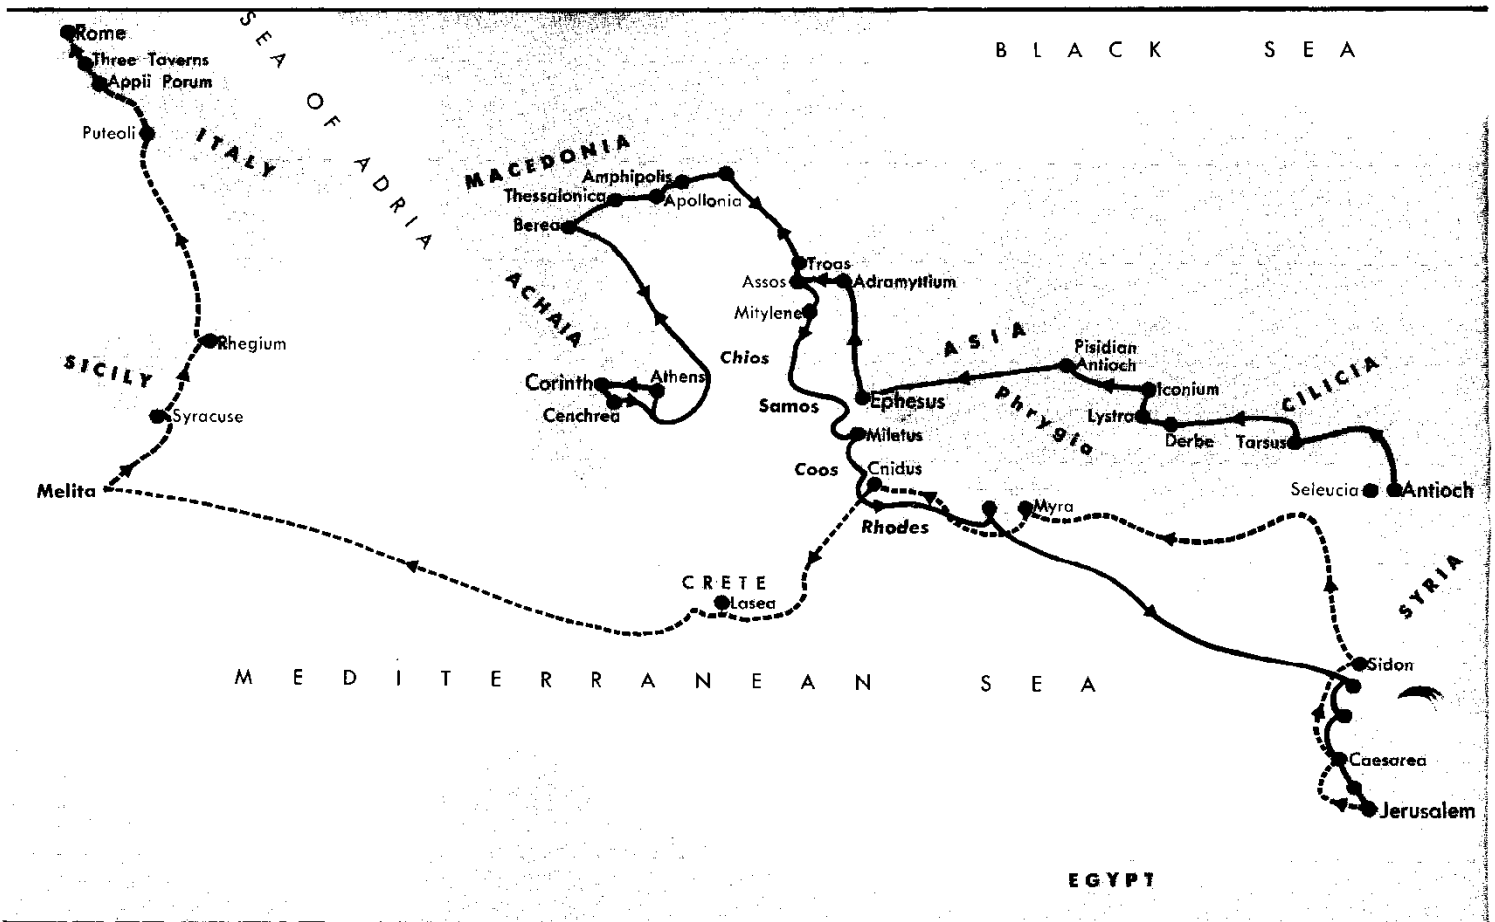

The Apostle Paul arrived in Corinth shortly after the Roman Emperor Claudius had expelled the Jews from Rome.

"After these things Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinth; and found a certain Jew named Aquila, born in Pontus, lately come from Italy, with his wife Priscilla; (because that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome:)..." (Acts 18:1-2).

According to Orosius, in Seven Books of History Against the Pagans, Claudius expelled the MERCHANT SHIP — this is a model of the ships used during the life of Paul. They were very small and were not used for long trips on the open sea. Captains would sail close to the coast in order to be able to head in for land if a sudden storm arose. Sailing on the Mediterranean was very dangerous — especially after the Day of Atonement (Acts 27:9).

Jews from Rome the year before a great famine (Histories, Book VII, 6). Historians agree that this famine occurred in 51 A.D. So Aquila and Priscilla would have arrived in 50 A.D.

Paul arrived in Corinth shortly after Aquila and Priscilla. His arrival would have been late in the year 50 A.D. because he did not leave Philippi until after Pentecost (Acts 16:12-15).

The Arrival of Gallio

After Paul had spent eighteen months in Corinth preaching the Gospel, a new Roman Proconsul, Gallio, was sent to Achaia (Acts 18:11-12). Roman proconsuls arrived in their provinces in April, and held the office for one year.

Since Gallio arrived after Paul had been in Corinth for eighteen months, his arrival would have been in April of A.D. 52. This date is further substantiated by a fragmented letter from the Emperor Claudius to the city of Delphi (across the gulf from Corinth). The letter was written in 52 A.D. and it mentions Gallio as the proconsul of Achaia. (See Archaeology and the New Testament, Merrill F. Unger, p. 245).

The Apostle Paul was brought to trial before Gallio by the Jews (Acts 18:12-17). Gallio dismissed these charges as ridiculous and freed Paul.

After the trial, which occurred shortly after Gallio's arrival (April 52 A.D.), Paul stayed in Corinth a good while (Acts 18:18). He then left Corinth for Jerusalem for a feast (verse 21).

Since Paul had stayed in Corinth a good while after the trial, the feast he intended to keep in Jerusalem had to be the Feast of Tabernacles in the fall of 52 A.D. After the feast he went down to Antioch where he spent some time (Acts 18:22-23).

After wintering at Antioch, Paul made a three-year journey through Galatia, Phrygia, Ephesus, and Greece (Acts 18:23; 19:1; 20:3, 17-31). He began this journey as soon as weather permitted early in 53 A.D.

At the end of this three-year journey Paul returned to Jerusalem to keep the day of Pentecost (Acts 20:16). This brings us to Pentecost in the year A.D. 56.

The Road to Rome

It was during this visit to Jerusalem that Paul was arrested by Roman soldiers and put into prison (Acts 21:33). Paul was transferred to Caesarea where he remained in prison for two years.

After that two-year period a new Proconsul, Porcius Festus, arrived in Judea (Acts 24:27). It was in 58 A.D., under Festus, that Paul appealed to Caesar (Acts 25:10). Once Paul had appealed to Caesar there was nothing Festus could do but send him to Rome (Acts 25:11-12, 25-27; 26:31-32).

The Apostle Paul began his voyage to Rome after the day of Atonement in A.D. 58 (Acts 27:9). During the voyage to Rome the ship which carried Paul was destroyed in a storm (Acts 27:20, 41). After the shipwreck Paul and his companions spent the winter on the island of Melita, (Malta) (Acts 28:17).

Paul left the island and arrived in Rome early in the spring of A.D. 59, and was delivered to the Praetorian Prefect (Acts 28:16).

Now we can see, from the Bible itself, when Paul arrived in Rome. He arrived in the spring of A.D. 59, and spent two whole years there (Acts 28:30-31). Therefore he was released in the spring of 61 A.D. — while Burrus was still Praetorian Prefect!

Paul, the Ambassador in Bonds

As we saw before, the Apostle Paul had extensive influence on the Roman leaders of his day. He could only have maintained that influence while Burrus was the Praetorian Prefect!

Jesus Christ — the LIVING HEAD of HIS Church — sent the Apostle Paul to Rome to preach the Gospel. He was sent as an Ambassador of the Kingdom of God to the Roman Empire!

In the last verses of his epistle to the Ephesians, Paul admonishes them to pray that he might be able to boldly preach the Gospel.

Notice it!

"And [pray] for me, that utterance may be given unto me, that I may open my mouth boldly, to make known the mystery of the gospel, for which I am an AMBASSADOR in bonds: ..." (Eph. 6:19-20).

Paul, not Peter, was God's Ambassador to preach the Gospel as a witness to the leaders of the Roman Empire of that day!
