

Political unrest postpones Bombay campaign

PASADENA — Political turmoil aggravated by the United States' Feb. 24 decision to lift a decade-old ban on weapons shipments to Pakistan, combined with internal problems in the Indian state of Maharashtra, has forced postponement of Herbert W. Armstrong's scheduled March 1 personal appearance in Bombay, capital of the state.

"As plans stand now, the campaign has been rescheduled for late in 1975, probably in November or December," explained Robert Kuhn, assistant to Garner Ted Armstrong.

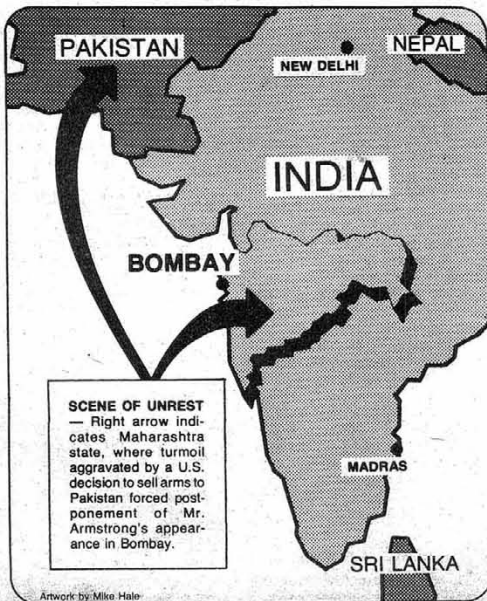

"While we were all disappointed at the postponement of the campaign, our efforts in Bombay were anything but a loss," Dr. Kuhn said.

Mr. Armstrong spent the week of Feb. 23 speaking before civic groups, meeting with community and business leaders and appearing on radio and television programs in Bombay, Dr. Kuhn said.

"Mr. Armstrong spoke before the Rotary Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce and other groups on five or six evenings of the week," Dr. Kuhn said. "Each meeting was attended by 400 to 600 leading people in the city. In fact, one group asked Mr. Armstrong to return in April to address a general meeting of 4,000 of its members.

"A blessing in disguise which may come out of the campaign's delay is that we may now have a chance to build a Plain Truth circulation in India between now and the rescheduled campaign."

Dr. Kuhn, who remained in close contact with Mr. Armstrong's party during the week of the postponement, said the Work is considering building a PT readership of up to 75,000 before Mr. Armstrong returns for his personal appearance.

"The businessmen and civic leaders Mr. Armstrong has been reaching have pledged their help to help prepare a circulation list and pave the way for Mr. Armstrong's campaign," he said.

"The list would be selective and limited for the time being and would be aimed at the leading people of Bombay."

Unrest in Bombay

Stanley Rader, general counsel for the Work, who accompanied Mr. Armstrong to Bombay, explained the background of the postponement via a telephone report filed Feb. 23.

"Professor [Osamu] Gotoh [Ambassador College's director of Asian studies and Mr. Armstrong's campaign director] advised me that there had been a considerable amount of unrest in Bombay of a political and industrial nature and that the entire state of Maharashtra of some 50 million people was actually in a period of turmoil and turbulence amounting to a crisis," Mr. Rader said.

"The chief minister [head of the state government], Mr. Naik, had paid the extreme price of the political unrest and had had to step down from his high post . . . It was the chief minister as well as the statewide head of the major political party, Mr. Patel, . . . upon whom we were relying for governmental endorsement of the campaign and public appearance.

"In addition, Professor Gotoh advised that there was very strong anti-American feeling being manifested throughout India at the universities and in the legislature because of the recent lifting of the United States' ban on arms shipped to Pakistan."

Mr. Rader quoted an Indian newspaper, March of the Nation, which stated Feb. 22 that "Maharashtra is in the throes of a serious political and industrial crisis — thanks to scheming and power-hungry politicians and an avoidable, but crippling, power cut. Religious bigotry, labor unrest and campus discontent are slowly but surely gaining strength . . . Maha-

Garner Ted Armstrong

Dear Brethren in God's Church:

Greetings in Jesus' name! I'm dictating this from Pasadena on a beautiful sunny Sunday [March 2] after having spoken to you all in a specially taped sermon delivered at the beautiful Auditorium here at headquarters yesterday.

Depending upon where you are, the taped sermon should be heard in your local-church area within another week or so after you read this issue of the WN.

Since so many hundreds wrote of their appreciation for my last sermon and many of the ministers expressed enthusiasm, I decided to take the opportunity during my third Sabbath in a row at Pasadena to give the entirety of the Church a pre-Passover message. (Some told me it was a welcome change to be able to hear a sermon instead of continually having to preach and never being preached to.) I hope that it serves to inspire and encourage the entire Body of Christ.

Following postponement of the Bombay campaign, my father is on a circuitous route back to Pasadena as I write. He is expected back here in mid-March. Details of the sensitive political situation in the state of which Bombay is the capital appear on page 1 of this issue, so I will not elaborate here.

Season Ends

The first intercollegiate basketball season for Ambassador College is now history. We are very pleased with both our teams this year. Both finished the year on the winning side of the ledger. Big Sandy ended up with a 21-7 mark, while Pasadena posted a 16-12 record.

These fine records for two teams beginning their very first year in intercollegiate athletic competition is outstanding! In Pasadena, where coach Jim Petty had passed up the opportunity of using some fine ball players in the senior class because of his policy of building toward the future (rather than trying to win a few more games than we perhaps would have otherwise, merely to see the team dismantled by losing several graduating seniors), the team ended up with a winning season — an excellent record.

On the subject of basketball, as all of you have been informed, the big nationwide teenage basketball tournament to be held here in Pasadena during the Days of Unleavened Bread is on the horizon, and excitement for the tournament is really

AC hopes for accreditation or candidacy

PASADENA — The announcement on whether Ambassador College Pasadena would be granted accreditation or candidacy for accreditation is expected the week of March 3, according to Dr. Michael Germano, dean of faculty here.

College administrators had hoped the decision would be made at the close of a meeting Feb. 24 in San Francisco, Calif., by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC), by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges (WASC), by the Oakland-based accrediting commission for senior colleges and universities. Dr. Germano attended the meeting.

The WASC met to vote on the recommendation of a WASC visiting committee that had reviewed the campus late last year.

The delay, Dr. Germano said, was as a result of the committee's request for more deliberation and additional clarification from Ambassador College.

Dr. Germano said the committee would meet again and could come to a decision sometime the week of March 3.

Even if the college is not accredited, it would hope to achieve candidacy for accreditation, which according to Dr. Germano would lead toward accreditation within a reasonable period of time.

The Big Sandy campus will not be affected by the decision, although that campus is also pursuing accreditation.

CANADIAN 'PT' — Dean Wilson, right, director of the Canadian Work, and Gerry Seibert, executive of Evergreen Press, Ltd., of Vancouver, B.C., examine the Feb. 22 Plain Truth, the first PT to be printed in Canada. "Canadian subscribers will get much faster service as a result," Mr. Wilson said. About 170,000 copies of this issue were printed by Evergreen. Mr. Wilson said that the W.A. Krueger plant in Pasadena, which prints the United States PT, sends film and mailing labels directly to Evergreen, which prints the same day the film arrives and mails the next day. Evergreen operates the largest press in Vancouver, which is staffed by about 500 employees. It is a subsidiary of Ronalds Federated, Ltd., one of the largest commercial printers in Canada. An idea being considered is to have the PT printed simultaneously in Vancouver and at another Evergreen press in Montreal.

mounting. From what I've been hearing I know excitement is running high among hundreds of teenagers from all over the country.

Teens around the United States have been busily involving themselves in car washes, paper and tin drives and other fund-raising activities in an effort to finance their teams' trips to headquarters. Several groups have arranged to charter buses, while a number of other teams and their cheerleaders will be coming from Chicago aboard a charter TWA Boeing 707.

Through a special chain of events those planning the tournament have made arrangements to charter a regular for about half the price of a flight Chicago-L.A. round-trip ticket. The excess seats will be taken by a couple of men's teams and other Chicago-area members who will come out for a look at the campus. The men's teams will also play some unofficial basketball games on the side.

I know I am very enthusiastic about the forthcoming tournament and can well imagine the tremendous feeling of anticipation and excitement experienced by the young people who will be participating as well as those who will have supported their teams and helped make the trip to California possible.

Firsthand Experience

As a young teenager, the son of Mr. Herbert W. Armstrong, who was a preacher of a tiny church outside the city limits of Eugene, Ore., during the years just prior to and during World War II, I came to know firsthand the frustration and anxieties of thousands of our young people who experience the conflict of the Sabbath and the Holy Days with sports activities.

From the time when I was very small until my high-school years I had a keen desire to at least participate in sports as much as possible.

My two best friends, who were excellent tumblers, became cheerleaders for our high school two years running, along with a group of girls. I desperately desired to go out for cheerleading with them, but was prohibited because of the conflict of the Sabbath.

I think, then, I can very deeply understand and identify with the frustration many of our young people have had to experience as they grow up through junior high and high school, desperately wishing to be involved in as many of their school activities as possible, but finding themselves on the outside looking in on so many of those activities because of the observance of God's Sabbath days.

This makes it doubly enjoyable to me to see us gear up for nationwide tournaments for our youth. Seeing dozens of teens and groups of young cheerleaders becoming involved in our own interchurch basketball competition is a thrill for me. I know the excitement of a trip to Big Sandy or a trip to headquarters or some other large area, where many groups can meet together and renew old friendships or make new acquaintances among those of the same age-group in the Church, is a very valuable and exciting experience.

The tournament's coordinators are doing a wonderful job, and I plan to attend as many of the functions as possible. I imagine I'll be seeing many of you teenagers while you're here.

Property Fund

On the subject of finances for a moment, as I said in the announcement portion of the tape you will receive, there has been a steady drop in the income for the property fund for quite some time! Mr. Frank Brown, business manager, tells me that we will be looking at an absolute zero level in the property fund in the next month and a half or so unless this alarming trend is reversed. Mr. Armstrong has sent powerful letters over the past number of years, even urging people to send in "letters of intention" or a "pledge card," stipulating what they might expect to contribute monthly for the building program.

I must now mention this, even though he is currently en route to Bangkok and unavailable by telephone, in order to get word about this situation to you brethren as soon as possible. It could become a very critical situation if we have to dip into general operating moneys (the normal tithes and offerings of all the brethren, coworkers and donors meant for the preaching of the Gospel of the Kingdom as a witness to the world) for the monthly payments which must be made on the buildings and facilities.

I certainly hope all of you will be earnestly praying that God will supply MORE laborers to help share the monumental load we all collectively carry.

As I said at some length in my last "Personal," the way for the income to grow at 30 percent is only as God provides phenomenal growth in membership. I know many thousands of you are doing all you can — but there may be some exceptions here and there. I was very pleased and inspired, brethren, by the hundreds of warm and enthusiastic letters resulting from my previous taped sermon, and I certainly know the attitudes and hearts of God's people are solidly in the Work and behind my father and me and others here at headquarters and all of the local pastors and people who labor and strive to serve and help one another in the Body of Christ!

I want to personally thank you again for the response we received — and urge you to continue in that same warm and enthusiastic spirit right on up through these next few months, and not let Satan hinder God's Work in any way.

Thanks for Prayers

On behalf of several of our ministers and many of our brethren who have had serious afflictions of late, I want to thank all of you for your earnest prayers.

As you'll notice in the "Grapevine" on page 16, Mr. John Bald and Mr. Jim Redus, two of our church pastors, are on the road to recovery following illnesses.

There are still those, however, who need your earnest and prevailing prayers — among them young Jerry Sandoval down in San Antonio (also in "Grapevine," page 16). After having spoken to Mr. Sandoval on the telephone within the last couple of days, I wanted to remind you Jerry still needs the prayers of God's Church for his complete and total recovery, and especially the use of his lower limbs!

I'm sure there are many others whose names I do not know personally who continually need our prayers for God's intervention for healing.

That's about it for now. I am going to use the few hours remaining on this beautiful Sunday to try to finish up the second half of my early spring planting of my garden; I have already planted radishes, carrots, beets, three types of lettuce, bush beans, first- and second-year asparagus roots and strawberries. I'm now going to set out my tomatoes and get a great deal of additional seed in the ground yet today! (I know some of you people in the frozen North must be eating your hearts out about us in California, who can go out and plant in late February or early March, but let me tell you I would trade a shorter growing season any day for being able to live somewhere outside this choking blanket of smog that has so strangled the Los Angeles Basin for the past several days that it has been almost impossible to breathe!)

Until next time, with much love in Jesus' name . . .

Your brother in Christ,
Garnet Ted Armstrong

ashtra, which has comparatively enjoyed a measure of stability, is in for a period of turmoil and turbulence."

Mr. Armstrong, in a coworker letter prepared shortly after the decision to delay the campaign, recounted the number of governments that had toppled either shortly after he had visited leaders or before scheduled campaigns.

He wrote that "war and overthrow of governments are occurring faster and faster. This means (1) we are nearing the end of this world. It's closer than we think; and (2) we must speed up our program before more overthrows occur."

Mr. Armstrong quoted a Telex he had received from Mr. Gotoh, who was in New Delhi, India:

"My decision is to cancel the coming public meeting for the following reasons: (1) State cabinet reshuffled; chief minister resigned; and (2) recent U.S. announcements on aid to Pakistan made our activities very difficult, and made our public meeting impossible unless you make a special statement against U.S. policy. (3) Since this is already an examination period [for colleges and universities throughout India], I believe our campaign should have governmental support and local support both — without these two elements I do not believe your mission will have success."

While in New Delhi Mr. Gotoh conferred with Dr. Nagendra Singh, a justice of the World Court and friend of Mr. Armstrong, who also advised the postponement of the meeting.

U.S.-Indian Relations Threatened

The international situation was grave enough that it threatened U.S. relations with India.

According to the New York Times, Feb. 25, William B. Saxbe, the new U.S. ambassador to India, was told by the U.S. government to remain in Bangkok, Thailand, until the situation quiets down. T.N. Kaul, Indian ambassador to the United States, said that Indian Foreign Minister Y.B. Chavan may postpone a scheduled March trip to Washington, D.C.

While technically the U.S. policy now allows arms sales to both India and Pakistan, it really only affects Pakistan. India has supplied its weapons requirements with arms from the Soviet Union for years, the Times said.

According to the Los Angeles Times, Feb. 24, Foreign Minister Chavan had told the Indian parliament the previous week that any lifting of the embargo would have "serious repercussions on the peace and stability of the subcontinent."

After the ban was lifted, the Indian government denounced the move as an unfriendly act.

People with know-how

Want you all to know just how pleased I was with the soap article, "Making Soap the Galloway" [Feb. 3]. Many, many of us would greatly appreciate more of this type of "do it yourself" article. There are so many things we could do if only we knew how. Try to find people who could tell us how to — make cottage cheese, yogurt, dress a chicken, make candles, wine, cheese (many types), can with honey, make yeast and all kinds of other neat things that would not only save us money, but add to our growth and sense of accomplishment! Thanks for a great paper.

Teacher of life

First of all, I want to thank you very much for the article on Mr. Ivan Wilson, the artist who not only taught art, but life [Feb. 3]. The article was written very well and very lovingly. Those of us who know Mr. Wilson continue to be amazed but inspired and encouraged by his wonderful attitude. I just wish everyone could know him! You just can't imagine what it's like for this little bitny man — confined to his house much of the time and often in bed — you can't imagine this — but you go to see him and you yourself are inspired and encouraged!!! The first thing he does is ask about someone else! Thank you very much for paying tribute to this very dear man.

From the bookshelf

This is written in appreciation for your publication of the review (WN, 12-9-74) by Dr. [Herman] Hoeh about The Boy Who Sailed Around the World Alone. It stimulated me to read Dove, the fuller account of the same voyage. What a great experience! If Dr. Hoeh had not reviewed that book and if you had not published the review, I would have missed reading that book. And that would have been a great loss.

It was stirring to discover two young people who want to live real lives in a real way — and who are searching for the Way Jesus wants them to live (as Robin says it in Dove — last chapter) as they homestead in the Montana mountains. I hope they find what they are looking for.

Now I'm at reading Congo Kitabu, by Jean-Pierre Hallet, which Dr. Hoeh called attention to in the January, 1975, PT. It'd be another good book to have reviewed by Dr. Hoeh — as it helps one understand people of different ways and culture among whom the Gospel is being published.

Unbend a little

Your story on "Soap the Galloway" [Feb. 3] set off a series of recollections centering on the theme of gratitude, particularly during rough times during the Japanese occupation of Southeast Asia.

I thought I might like to share a few events and comments with brethren, readers, especially as it seems to get increasingly difficult to understand the meaning of gratitude and to practice it in the tangled jungle of materialism. Especially in blessed nations and strata of society that "never wanted."

During the "Occupation," as we used the term here, my family made soap from red-palm oil, soda, woodash and mutton fat (when available). I believe my mother and sister even sold the stuff, and cookies!

Red-palm oil was also "vitamins" for the children, and I'll admit that it tastes a couple of degrees better than castor oil. Prisoners of war at the main camp in Sime Road, which is less than a mile from where our minister lives today, did not even have the "luxury" or "nourishment" of palm oil. Every day they had to pick the grass shoots and collect snails and detoxify them for food. Some said the snails were "chewy like rubber."

When even palm oil was in short supply (let alone cocunut oil), the Japanese administration sold noodles made with rubber-seed oil. Some persons were said to have died from stomach complications from this diet.

My father, a civil engineer and an American graduate, was the only qualified man left to manage the Utilities, especially the waterworks. He had to "manufacture" his own chlorine by electrolysis of brine. He even had to make his own carbon rods for the process (I never asked him how he got the rods). He managed to "water" the city for some four years. He ended his career as city administrator, an office equivalent to a U.S. mayor, in 1965.

There were also lighter moments. I "graduated" as a cook around age 7 with a concoction of bananas with rice. Also, there was a family picture of me lagging a golden pumpkin that I grew. It was around 30 pounds.

I would like to think that these experiences were later extended into factory and restaurant work in England when I was studying there. I also had the privilege of spending time working on the kibbutzim in Israel with a student summer party.

I think one should know how to "abound and to be abased" and one should learn to work willingly with his hands. These are the blessings that God in His wisdom tries us in, so that we can build solid, balanced and useful character.

With the price of gas climbing out of sight, I suppose more people are willing to unbend a little and not regard nonpossession of a car as a "stigma and an embarrassment."

I know. I felt a little naked, initially, when I got rid of my wheels. I guess I just grew armour that really counts.

By the way, Mr. [Guy] Ames has never owned a car since he came in 1973.

PASADENA — The Summer Educational Program (S.E.P.) at Orr, Minn., is slated again for this summer, with the usual two sessions plus an expanded activities program.

Garner Ted Armstrong, in announcing the 1975 program, said two sessions — June 18 to July 15 and July 17 to Aug. 14 — will be open to students 12 to 18 years old whose parents or guardians are members of the Worldwide Church of God.

The new activities for this year's S.E.P. will include cheerleading, gardening and social recreation.

Spanish Work spans streets, jungles

By Mark O. Rorem
Spanish Department Employee

PASADENA — In 1964 La Pura Verdad's Spanish-language subscription list hovered just above 2,000 readers. Today the list grows by 3,000 subscribers per month, and, despite stringent renewal programs that trim the disinterested, the number of subscribers was 132,235 as of January.

Ambitious Task

The Spanish Department has the ambitious task of carrying the Gospel to 353 million people, including all the nations of the Americas and the Iberian Peninsula. To achieve this the Spanish Department has the tools of La Pura Verdad (the Spanish-language Plain Truth), the Correspondence Course and a variety of booklets and reprinted articles.

The area reached varies from the sophisticated cosmopolitan streets of Buenos Aires to the jungles of Guatemala, from steamy rain forests to the heights of the Andes. The task of the Spanish Work is to reach diverse peoples with a unique message.

The Publication Explosion

La Pura Verdad has had two main advertising efforts: one in 1968 in Reader's Digest editions in Mexico, the Caribbean and northern South America, the other in 1973 in Mexico City.

Apart from these efforts no new advertising has stimulated the list, yet new requests constantly pour in, raising the subscription list from 38,079 in the spring of 1969 to 132,235 in January, after a renewal program that reduced the list from more than 150,000.

This exceptional growth is the product of avid readers who pass the magazine on to friends, relatives and, it is sometimes suspected, total strangers. The results are now evident in the form of new Church members and potential new congregations.

Since the Spanish Department cannot afford to have a second magazine like The Good News, but desires to give articles of deeper religious content to its readers, a special religious supplement was added to La Pura Verdad in December, 1973.

In 1974 the number requesting that supplement increased by 100.8 percent to 61,783.

At the same time the Correspondence Course leaped ahead with a 212.1 percent increase to 25,835.

The effect on Church membership is encouraging. Spanish Work reports for 1964 hardly mentioned Church members in the Spanish-speaking world. But today 248 members of God's Church reside in that world, and 632 more people are prospective members, an increase of 83.7 percent over 1973.

With this growth the income of the Spanish Work also shot up in 1974. Donations in Colombia increased by 120 percent, in Peru by 85.9 percent, Spain 56.6 percent and on the average for the whole Spanish Work by 36.7 percent.

Nonetheless, the Spanish Department still has to operate with funds provided by headquarters; present growth is not yet enough to meet all expenses. The Spanish Work is still racing toward greater impact and the goal of self-sufficiency in financing, despite this year's 60 percent reduction in budget and the termination of six employees in headquarters' belt-tightening efforts.

The Travels of Robert Flores

Robert Flores, a preaching elder, spent five years, ending in 1974, in the southernmost countries of South America. Living first in Chile and later in Argentina, he pastored churches in Santiago, Chile, and Bahia Blanca, Argentina, as well as outlying Bible studies and members throughout Chile, Argentina and Uruguay.

He returned to headquarters in the spring of 1974 to spend time with the Spanish Department here before taking off for further assignments.

On his trip back he visited prospectives in Argentina, Peru and Colombia. Then, after a brief rest here, he returned to South America to conduct the Feast of Tabernacles in Argentina and Chile. He finished that activity with a three-week visiting tour through Argentina, Chile, Peru and Colombia, baptizing 19.

As a result of these efforts, the churches in Argentina and Chile grew by 14, and there are the beginnings of a church in Peru.

Peru as a consequence of Mr. Flores' efforts now has 10 baptized Church members and 60 prospective members. A small group of prospectives and members meets every Sabbath in Lima to study literature from Pasadena. In one year the Peru membership has grown from one member to 10.

Mr. Barriga Tours Mexico

The summer of 1974 saw Fernando Barriga of the Spanish Personal Correspondence Department assigned to the Mexico City office while office manager Enrique Ruiz toured Europe.

Seeing the many prospectives scattered throughout Mexico waiting for a minister's visit, Mr. Barriga traveled to northern, central and southern Mexico and as far as the Yucatan Peninsula, all in eight weeks.

That summer Mr. Barriga made five different tours, using the Mexico City office as base. He visited 93 people altogether and baptized nine. He also pastored the Mexico City church during Mr. Ruiz's absence and held Bible studies in as many areas as possible.

He returned enthusiastic about the potential growth he saw in Mexico, realizing that there could be a number of congregations and outlying Bible studies in that country.

Shortly after the Feast, duty once more called Mr. Barriga to travel. Northern Mexico, particularly around Monterrey, had had much growth, and John Bald and his assistants in San Antonio, Tex., had been visiting Monterrey every month for a Bible study.

By flying, Mr. Barriga covered four Mexican states in 11 days. In all he visited 22, baptized two and held two Bible studies each in the states of Chihuahua, Coahuila, Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon.

As a result of his two tours through the northern areas of Mexico in 1974, Chihuahua now has seven members. The Bible study in Monterrey, which is now a monthly event, is attended by 20.

Colombia Calls

The most dramatic growth in the Spanish Work has been in Colombia, at the top of South America. In 1975, as a result of this growth, the greatest efforts of the Spanish Work will be in Colombia, a nation that varies from tropical Caribbean beaches to the heights of the Andes.

The subscription list in Colombia now exceeds that of the whole Spanish-speaking world just a few years ago. At the beginning of 1974 the 12 members, 97 prospectives and 13,181 Correspondence Course students in Colombia could no longer be served with intermittent visits from headquarters. So it was decided that the man for the new job was Pablo Gonzalez, the former voice of The World Tomorrow in Spanish.

Moving to Puerto Rico for additional training under Clarence Bass, Mr. Gonzalez soon began commuting to Colombia, mostly with the PASADENA — One of the most helpful public agencies to offer clear advice on starting business is the Small Business Administration (SBA), which was set up by the U.S. government to help those who are planning to start businesses as well as those already established.

The SBA has hundreds of easily understood booklets on every aspect of operating a small business. Such publications are either free or inexpensive. These aids can be picked up from a local SBA office or by writing: Superintendent of Documents,

Washington, D.C., 20402. In large cities such as Los Angeles, a government bookstore will carry many SBA publications.

Ask for two publication lists regarding small businesses. They are "Free Management Assistance Publications" (115A) and "For Sale Booklets" (115B).

One of the first publications you will want to read is Starting and Managing a Small Business of Your Own, by Wendell D. Metcalf. It costs about 50 cents.

Some Questions

Some of the questions you will need to answer for yourself:

- What are business conditions in my area?
- How much management experience will I need?
- How much money will I need to invest?
- What kind of space will I need?
- What equipment will be necessary?

- Should I buy a going business? What demand is there for my product?
 - Which is the best method of distribution of goods?
 - Should I advertise?
 - Will I need employees?
 - What taxes will I need to pay?
 - Will I need a business license?
 - What records should I keep?
- Don't let these and other questions discourage you. Research each area carefully, get proper information and advice, then plan and act.

The SBA is always ready to help you with personal questions. Don't hesitate to talk with them about anything you may wonder about. As you wade into the business stream you'll find the water warmly receptive.

A private source for further research is How to Start a Profitable Retirement Business, by Arthur Liebers, Pilot Books, 1968, $2. The author in chapter two — "Checklist for Going Into Business" — offers 63 pertinent questions as a safeguard for further business pursuit. Notice the first question mentioned: "Have you had any actual business experience?" Don't let a negative answer necessarily thwart any further attempts.

For those more seasoned in small business, another source is Up Your Own Organization, by Donald Dible, Entrepreneur Press, 1971, $14.95. This book is a library in itself and is rather large. But its contents more than compensate for the price.

A helpful feature of Mr. Dible's work is a list of references one can refer to for concentrated areas of research.

Finally, in following through on the ABCs of starting one's own business, a list of required reading is submitted for emphasizing the importance of "asking the authorities," seeking small-business counsel. Such a list offered here is primarily made up from SBA publications. Private research at a local library will lead one to other gems of knowledge.

Other Publications

The following booklets — which furnish reference sources for individual businesses — may be ordered from the SBA. They're free:

- (1) Handicrafts and Home Businesses, (3) Selling by Mail Order, (13) National Directories for Use in Marketing, (15) Recordkeeping Systems — Small Store and Service Trade, (20) Advertising — Retail Store, (29) National Mailing — List Houses, (53) Hobby Shops, (60) Painting and Wall Decorating.

Small Marketers' Aids

These booklets provide suggestions and management guidelines for small retail, wholesale and service firms:

- (71) Checklist for Going Into Business, (96) Checklist for Successful Retail Advertising, (106) Finding and Hiring the Right Employees, (118) Legal Services for Small Retail and Service Firms, (126) Accounting Services for Small Service Firms, (127) Six Methods for Success in a Small Store, (141) Danger Signals in a Small Store, (142) Steps in Meeting Your Tax Obligations, (148) Insurance Checklist for Small Business.

Management Aids

These booklets deal with functional problems in small manufacturing plants and concentrate on subjects of interest to administrative executives:

- (46) How to Analyze Your Own Business, (52) Loan Sources in the Federal Government, (111) Steps in Incorporating a Business, (170) The ABC's of Borrowing, (174) Is Your Cash Supply Adequate?, (179) Breaking the Barriers to Small Business Planning, (194) Marketing Planning Guidelines, (201) Locating or Relocating Your Business, (202) Discover and Use Your Public Library, (206) Keep Pointed Toward Profit, (208) Problems in Managing a Family-Owned Business.

The preceding lists are taken from SBA form 115A. These are just a few titles of many more provided. This form, along with SBA 115B, "For Sale Booklets," can be obtained by contacting your local Small Business Administration office.

We will provide more data about entering small businesses in future columns. In the meantime, feel free to contact us at the HRIC office here in Pasadena. Our address is at the beginning of this column.

Extension service provides women's-club programs

By Melania Nutzman
FLINT, Mich. — Would your church like to have a women's club in which the women can learn new things but you don't have the time or resources to make it possible?

The solution to this problem, as the ladies of this church area have discovered, is the county's Extension Home Economics (EHE) Service. This is part of the Cooperative Extension Service, established by Congress in 1914 to help citizens of the United States improve their homes, farms and communities.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, state and local governments, and land-grant colleges and universities in the 50 states, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands share in the support of this national out-of-school educational program for adults and youths in cities, small towns and rural areas.

The EHE makes possible up-to-date data on many subjects without hours of research on the part of the women.

The EHE holds a meeting on a subject of interest such as the energy crisis, antiques, small-claims court or fabrics and fibers. An expert in the field (often from a state land-grant university) presents the talk. One or two ladies from each club of 12 to 15 members attends, and they in turn bring back the information to the club in a meeting held in a home.

Handout material is often given, and the women have a chance to continue their education in an informal and enjoyable atmosphere. They can also exchange ideas in the discussion that usually follows the presentation.

If the topic isn't of interest to the group that month, the club can order free kits with slides from the EHE on various subjects.

The information received is current and very helpful and is a free public service to taxpayers.

If you're interested, look up your local home economist in the phone book under "County Cooperative Extension Service" and get your club going.

church in Bogota, Colombia's capital, 8,500 feet in the Andes.

Helped Over Hurdles

While making occasional visits Mr. Gonzalez began seeking ways to register the Church with the Colombian government. Fortunately, or coincidentally, on a flight to Colombia to investigate this possibility, he sat next to the government official in charge of these matters. As a result, the Spanish Work is now registered, and Mr. Gonzalez has made friends in government who help the Colombian Work over legal hurdles.

The one factor delaying Mr. Gonzalez's establishing his residence in Colombia immediately has been the small size of the Bogota church. Realizing that not everyone who wanted to attend services knew we had a minister anywhere near Colombia, the department sent a letter to prospectives and certain subscribers introducing Pablo Gonzalez, minister of the Worldwide Church of God.

The result is that now 950 people await a visit.

Mr. Gonzalez is now swamped; he uses his two-week stays to visit as many of these people as possible.

To reach this many in a reasonable time, Mr. Gonzalez will soon hold a series of introductory Bible studies especially for these people.

Before long Mr. Gonzalez should be living in Bogota, pastoring a rapidly growing church and laying plans for expansion into other Colombian cities.

Volunteer therapy program aids cerebral-palsy-stricken youngster

By Carol Fowler
SPANISHBURG, W. Va. — "Junior" Maxey of the Wolf Creek Road near Spanishburg is a 17-month-old boy [as of December, 1974] who, due to a combination of two forms of cerebral palsy, can't crawl, walk or play with his toys.

But there is hope for little Junior, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Maxey. He has been started on a special program prescribed by doctors at the Institute for the Achievement of Human Potential, also known as the Doman-Delacato Clinic, in Philadelphia, Pa.

His parents are convinced that this program over a period of time will allow their son to live a normal, healthy life. There is only one major obstacle presently: The family needs volunteers to help put Junior through the extensive program.

"We need help. We need between 72 and 80 people who will volunteer their time to help our son," Mrs. Maxey said. "The program they prescribed for Junior involves giving him exercises nine hours a day, seven days a week."

For some of the exercises, referred to as patterning, more than one person is needed. "I just don't have enough hands," Mrs. Maxey said, "and we need people to help."

Discovered in 'WN'

This program was discovered by the Maxeys through their church's newspaper, The Worldwide News. A case similar to Junior's was written up and told how the 3-year-old girl progressed through the program and learned to walk [The Worldwide News, Jan. 21, 1974]. Mrs. Maxey wrote to the family asking how she might get the same help for her son. The Institute was contacted and an appointment was made.

"It sounds so promising," she exclaimed. "We're so happy about it

This article is reprinted by permission from the Dec. 22, 1974, Bluefield, W. Va., Daily Telegraph. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Maxey are members of the Worldwide Church of God. Mr. Maxey said Feb. 23 that Junior is now crawling, has better head control and can say "daddy" and "mommy," which he was unable to do before. Mrs. Maxey said that women in the Bluefield church area have been "fantastic" in their help.

and even though we know it will be a rough road, we are encouraged that with God's help, Junior will be okay."

The little boy has been taken to several hospitals by his mother and his father, who is a Vietnam veteran.

The Maxeys learned in Philadelphia that their son has severe brain damage in the midbrain and cortex. During the visit there they learned the ideas behind the Institute's program.

Instead of employing surgery and braces and working on the results of the problem, the idea there is to work on the cause of the problem: the brain itself.

The Maxeys spent many hours in classes at the Institute, while the youngster was undergoing extensive tests from which a program could be designed.

The parents learned about the brain, injuries to the brain and what their part would be in helping their son. Junior will have to be put through exercises and patterning with 18 sessions a day, each lasting one-half hour.

The Maxeys are to take Junior back to the Institute on March 10 and "by then he should be able to crawl and reach," they were told.

"The idea of working with Junior may scare some people," they explained, "but if we can get people to help, we can show them what to do. It's not hard."

Three People Required

The idea behind the program is that since Junior's brain doesn't know how to tell his muscles to crawl, it has to be taught. One patterning session requires three people to put his body through the motions of crawling.

The expense for Junior's doctors and hospitalization have been overwhelming. "We're really not asking for money, although we need it. We're asking for people's time to help our son so he can live a full life," his mother explained.

Those who volunteer will be giving a small child a future. As one mother observed, "They'll in effect actually be giving him life."

"We're not going to give up, we're too stubborn for that," she said. "When Junior was seven months old, I knew something was really wrong, but I decided that crying wasn't going to help."

When Junior was two days old, his heart stopped beating and he was rushed to a Charleston hospital. "This was one time when I was thankful the West Virginia Turnpike was bumpy," Mrs. Maxey said. "Its being rough was the one thing that kept him alive—it caused him to gasp for breath."

The child was released two weeks later and his parents were told to treat him as any other normal child would be.

Junior is not alone in his plight. There are an estimated 25,000 children born every year in the United States who face this problem. These children are victims of cerebral palsy, a condition arising from brain damage which occurs before, during or shortly after birth.

Cerebral palsy is a term applied to any of five pathological neuromuscular conditions of the human body caused by damage to the brain.

Mrs. Maxey explained that this specific program for Junior will condition his muscles. "The human brain is like a computer. You can't get out of it what hasn't been put in," she explained.

What It Involves

Patterning involves putting Junior through the actual motions of crawling, other movements and moving his head, arms and legs in proper synchronization. In this way a portion of his brain is being trained to perform in place of the portion damaged.

"The Institute can't guarantee that our son will come out of this, no one can but God, but we have hope that everything will be okay," she said.

Before the volunteer program can be effectively started, there is a need for an individual or a couple to act as coordinator for the volunteers. Shifts will have to be worked out and a phone number available in case one can't make it and another called.

All of this will be a tedious process and the Maxeys do not have enough hours in the day to do it all, even though they say they will do anything necessary for their son. They have two other children, Ramona, 4, Teresa, 6.

Is it worth all the time and trouble to give one child a normal life? Apparently a lot of people think so, because in other areas of the country, ample volunteers have worked with other similar cases.

Presently the first step will be getting a coordinator, then enough people to volunteer to help an hour or two a week. Junior will be on his way. Right now the Maxeys and a few friends are doing the necessary work.

The Maxeys can be contacted at 425-0614.

David Melton, author of When Children Need Help, an up-to-date handbook of guidance for parents of children who have been diagnosed as brain-injured, stated in the preface of his book:

"Being the parent of a brain-injured child is not fun. It is hard work. The days are not measured in eight hours at the office. There are no coffee breaks and no two-week paid vacations.

"There are no mountains high enough and no sandy beaches remote enough for parents to hide from the needs of their child. Amazingly, and contrary to popular belief, they rarely search for that escape. Instead, they choose to stay with their child or to take him along.

"Parents are courageous people. Parents of brain-injured children are the most courageous."

Child with muscular dystrophy encouraged by cards, letters

By Evelyn Dowell

CECILIA, Ky. — Tommy Dowell is in the grips of muscular dystrophy. However, his mind is truly something to reckon with. He is a very bright student; his school is here at home, and his visiting teacher and he sit at the kitchen table. This way Tommy is able to write and do all necessary school work. He is getting a basic education — English, math, reading and writing.

Tommy's favorite place is the kitchen table. Here he sits and waits to see if the mailman has brought more cards or letters from the members. The cards and letters are in response to a personal ad in The Worldwide News.

To date he has gotten mail from 26 different states and from three foreign countries. The farthest away from here has been Switzerland.

His bedroom wall is covered with the cards he has received. He loves the cards best, since they are easily read.

Tommy's address is Rt. 1, Box 226, Cecilia, Ky., 42724.

A Heart for Mr. Flint

"Hey, you! What're you doing in my backyard?" shouted Mr. Flint from his kitchen window.

"I was just getting my football. I couldn't catch it and it came over your fence." Seven-year-old Jimmy wished Mr. Flint weren't so crabby.

"Well — all right, this time. But I'm tired of finding you kids in my yard. Get your ball and get on back home!"

With that Mr. Flint slammed down the window and disappeared from sight.

Jimmy snatched up his football and hurried back over the fence into his own yard. He plodded toward the house, frowning.

Jimmy's brother, 11-year-old Scott, was waiting. "What happened?" he asked.

Jimmy told him how grouchy his neighbor had been. "I just wish old Mr. Flint would have a heart!" he said. "He always talks mean to us, even when we aren't doing anything wrong!"

Scott snorted. "That old geezer doesn't have a heart," he said. "I'll bet if they cut him open, instead of a heart they'd find a great big rock as hard as flint — just like his name."

Scott held out his hands. "Come on, Jim, let's play catch."

Jimmy shook his head. "I'm not in the mood any more," he said.

A STORY FOR CHILDREN
By Vivian Pettyjohn

"Getting bawled out for nothing takes the fun out of playing. Guess I'll go in."

Jimmy's Idea

As Jimmy walked slowly to his room he suddenly got an idea. "Scott would think it's silly, but I'm going to try it." At his desk Jimmy got out scissors, paste and his art supplies. After several minutes of cutting, pasting and printing, Jimmy's idea had taken form. He smiled. "Now, if it will just work!"

The next afternoon on his way home from school Jimmy stopped and knocked at Mr. Flint's front door.

Mr. Flint shuffled to the door, frowning. "Well? What have you done now? What do you want, boy?"

Jimmy almost decided to give up his idea, but he forced himself to smile and answer: "I decided today is Friendship Day, Mr. Flint, and I brought you a friendship card — 'cause we give cards to friends. I want you for my friend, so — here!"

He held up a homemade, light-blue card that had a big red heart on it, containing the words: "BE MY FRIEND."

Have a Heart

Mr. Flint's mouth dropped open, but he couldn't say anything. Tears glistened behind his glasses, and he reached for his handkerchief and blew his nose loudly. Then he turned the card over and read: "TO MY FRIEND, MR. FLINT, HAVE A NICE DAY."

Jimmy looked at Mr. Flint. "My brother Scott said you probably don't have a heart — because you act so grumpy. So I brought you a heart so you would have one, and you won't have to feel that way."

Jimmy felt relieved. He had said it. But now he wondered how Mr. Flint would take it.

Mr. Flint looked surprised. He coughed and cleared his throat. "Hmph. Don't have a heart, huh? That's how I act, is it? Maybe that's because this is the first friendship card anyone ever gave me. Well — I've got a heart now. See?" He held the red heart up to his flannel shirt.

As he turned to go inside, he stopped and said gruffly: "Jimmy — thank you! I do get pretty grumpy, living all alone with no one to care about me. I guess I just needed someone who cared enough to bring me a friendship card."

He paused and cleared his throat again.

"How about bringing your football over sometime? Many years ago I was a pretty good football player. I'll show you how to throw and catch that ball like an expert. Soon you will be better than Scott."

Jimmy smiled at his new friend. Mr. Flint may not have acted as if he had a heart — before, that is. But he sure had one now!

Girls learn social graces through low-cost seminars

By Dave Molnar
BIG SANDY — Nearly 30 teenage girls from the church here are attending classes in the social graces on the Ambassador College campus.

"I don't like the term charm school because it has bad connotations," said Mrs. Don Edmonds, class instructor. "I think of them more as personal-development seminars."

Mrs. Edmonds, who teaches a course in fashion marketing at Kilgore (Tex.) Junior College, said that she was trying to help each girl develop her potential in appearance.

"Girls have good and bad points," she said. "I'm trying to teach them to emphasize the good and play down the bad."

The girls meet once a week for each of the six seminar sessions. The 1½-hour classes are devoted to posture, hair care, makeup and skin care, general good grooming, poise, personality and fashion.

The idea for the seminar came from Mrs. Ellis Stewart, a local-church member.

Because of Mrs. Edmonds' experience in fashion and grooming, she was hired to conduct the seminars.

So far, the girls have been excited about the classes, which cost each girl about $10.

"It's been well worth the money we paid," said Dorothy Manteufel, 16. "The only way to learn some of these things is to sit down and watch it."

"You can read about it and talk about it," said Mary Robinson, 16, "but if you can actually see it done, it makes all the difference in the world."

Minister visits lone member in Taiping

By Joseph S. Nathan
TAIPING, Malaysia — Guy L. Ames became the first minister to visit the town of Taiping when he arrived Feb. 2 at the house of the only member here after a journey of 180 miles by road from Kuala Lumpur.

Mr. Ames was scheduled to visit four potential members here.

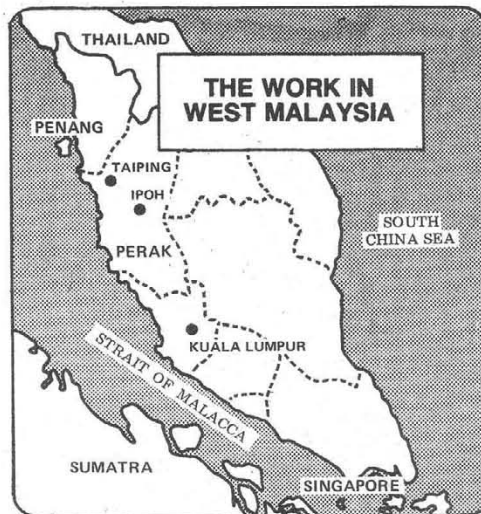

Taiping's history unfolds with the discovery of tin in the 1800s. Then began a mass influx of Chinese immigrants from various parts of the country.

The tin rush was on. The town grew rapidly.

Within 17 hours of his arrival here, Mr. Ames was packed and ready to go, this time to Ipoh, the state's new capital, in the tin-rich Kinta Valley.

To most prospective members, a visit from a minister adds a dimension to their quest for the truth.

There is a prospect of a 400 percent increase in membership in this area, and Malaysian members are thrilled over the potential for growth.

Mr. Armstrong visits Bricket Wood

By Phil Stevens
BRICKET WOOD, England — Herbert W. Armstrong was here Feb. 15 for the first time in eight months to speak before a capacity crowd in the gymnasium here. Applause from members, many of whom had traveled from other church areas in the British Isles, greeted Mr. Armstrong and Stanley Rader, general counsel for the Work, as they entered the building.

The sermonette period was taken by Mr. Rader, who said he felt the Church had come out of the troubles of a year ago stronger, and that the Work is entering a new dimension.

He said Mr. Armstrong's prestige is growing in many parts of the world, and as his prestige grows, so does the size of his audiences.

Mr. Rader exhorted members to look at the whole of the Work, not just at their personal part. With only a partial view of the Work, a member should not judge the actions of the one who has a view of the whole Work, Mr. Rader said.

After special music by the Imperial School Choralliers, Mr. Armstrong spoke of his visits to heads of state and the campaigns he is planning.

In the sermon he explained the meaning of the Gospel and how he explains to government chiefs why, after 4,000 years of human attempts, there is still no lasting world peace. He said he must get the confidence of these leaders before they allow him to talk to their people.

Mr. Armstrong observed that he had spent 40 years getting the Gospel to the "lost sheep of Israel," but now he is starting to reach gentile nations in a big way. The seed has been sown in many nations; and now those in the Work must be ready to reap the harvest.

The Work is not on a soul-saving crusade, Mr. Armstrong said. Therefore, results of these contacts with government leaders should not be judged by the number of people added to the Church. These contacts with heads of state could only be carried out at this time by himself, Mr. Armstrong said. But he felt that, with the increasing number of campaigns around the world, more people are being developed who could take on this responsibility as it becomes necessary.

BIG SANDY — The 36-voice Ambassador Tour Choral of this campus will begin a spring tour March 23 that will last 15 days and cover several states and church areas, including Birmingham, Ala.; Atlanta, Ga.; Washington, D.C.; New York City; and Columbus, Ohio.

The group represents a cross section of the United States. Singers come from Florida, Alabama, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, Maryland, Kansas, Illinois, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Wyoming, Missouri, Minnesota, Colorado, Arkansas, Washington, Iowa, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Michigan, Georgia and Nevada.

This school year the group has performed in Big Sandy, San Antonio and Dallas, Tex.; Little Rock, Ark.; and Durant, Okla., and will yet appear in Tulsa and Oklahoma City, Okla.

Plans call for tours to Chicago, Ill.; Nashville, Tenn.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Denver, Colo.; and Amarillo, Tex.

Press releases have been sent to New York and Washington, D.C., newspapers.

On March 16, 17 and 18, just before the tour, the singers will present Gilbert and Sullivan's musical comedy The Pirates of Penzance in the college's field house here. The East Texas Symphony Orchestra of Tyler, Tex., will perform with the cast.

Ray Howard, choral director, has studied at the Dalcroze School of Music in New York City and North Texas State University at Denton.

The dates and locations of the Ambassador Tour Choral's performances on its East Coast tour are as follows:

- Birmingham, Ala., March 24, 7:30 p.m., Birmingham Southern College Auditorium, 800 Eighth Avenue West.
- Atlanta, Ga., March 27, 7:30 p.m., Therrell Auditorium, Panther Trail.
- Washington, March 29, 7:30 p.m., Shoreham Americana Hotel, Connecticut Avenue.
- New York, April 2, 7:30 p.m., Brooklyn Academy of Music, Brooklyn, N.Y.
- Columbus, Ohio, April 5, 7:30 p.m., Yearling Auditorium, 675 South Yearling.

CHORALE TOUR — The Ambassador Tour Choral of the Big Sandy campus, which has scheduled a 15-day tour of the U.S. East Coast to begin March 23, performs Dec. 19 in Big Sandy. Now You Know

By W.E. Stewart
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — The Worldwide News of Nov. 25, 1974, reported that Carson Barber, 20, was severely injured in a car accident on Nov. 7.

Mr. Barber was unconscious for 11 days. On Nov. 18 Carl Barber, his father, was to sign a document authorizing brain exploration. But the neurosurgeon on the case pinched the younger Barber and he said, "Stop that, you mean of' nurse."

The doctor walked away shaking his head in disbelief. No form was signed. God had intervened.

From then on Mr. Barber's recovery was evident. He is now at home undergoing physical therapy as an outpatient and is making excellent progress.

He has expressed his gratitude for all the prayers, cards, flowers and other acts of kindness.

Unleavened reci

BIG SANDY — If there's one thing I don't know much about, it's cooking. If there's one thing I do know a great deal about, it's eating.

And that's exactly what we did Feb. 17 at the second annual Worldwide News Unleavened Bread Tasting Party. Ambassador College's Home Economics Department did the cooking and Worldwide News staffers and college-press employees did the eating to determine if the taste level of this year's batch of unleavened goodies had risen above that of last year.

Judging from the favorable reaction of my stomach, this year's "bread of affliction" should be quite tasty.

Once again, you readers were the source of the recipes. And once again you proved that, during the spring Holy Day season, man does not live by unleavened bread alone, but by a host of unleavened brownies, cookies, crackers, cakes and even a pizza.

Because of the volume of recipes received, all of them could not be tested. Therefore, several student employees of the Home Ec Department picked and prepared at random some of the recipes.

"We followed the recipes exactly as they were sent in to," said Mrs. Anna-Be Johnson, department head. "There were just a few cases where we substituted different types of fruit or other minor ingredients that we couldn't obtain."

Of the 120 recipes sent in, nearly 30 were tested. An unofficial WN tabulation shows that the majority of these were quite tasty.

My personal favorite was the Crazy Crust Pizza, but I must admit a personal weakness for Italian foods.

So, in accordance with the principle "By the mouth of two witnesses let everything be established," I asked Mrs. Johnson to pick her favorite.

"I was impressed with the pizza because its unleavened crust was more tender than a yeast crust we had made earlier in class," she said.

The pizza, in fact, seemed to be the unanimous favorite of the WN and Home Ec staffers involved in the testing.

Among the desserts, the Gold Bars rose above the others, at least in the opinion of the WN staff of unleavened connoisseurs. However, Fruit Casserole, Honeybear Brownies and Toffee Cookies were highly touted as well.

Mrs. Johnson said that, from what she could tell, those who tried last year's reci-

MAIN DISHES

CRAZY CRUST PIZZA

Batter: 1 c. whole-wheat flour; 1 t. salt; 1 t. Italian seasoning or 1/2 tsp. oregano; 1/2 tsp. pepper; 2 eggs; 3/4 c. milk. Topping: 1 lb. ground beef or beef sausage; 1/2 c. chopped onion; 1 can mushroom steak sauce or 1 can (4 oz.) well-drained mushroom stems and pieces; 1 c. pizza sauce (if desired use 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce); 1/2 c. shredded mozzarella cheese; 1/2 c. shredded cheddar cheese; 1/2 c. shredded pepperoni or sausage; 1/2 c. shredded mozzarella cheese. Brown ground beef, seasoning to taste. Drain well. Set aside. Lightly grease and dust with flour or cornmeal 14" or 12" pizza pan or 15-by-10" jelly-roll pan. Prepare batter and pour into pan, tilting pan so batter covers bottom. Arrange topping of meat, onion and well-drained mushrooms over batter. Bake on low rack in 425° oven for 25 to 30 minutes until pizza is deep golden brown. Remove from oven, drizzle with pizza sauce and sprinkle with cheese. Return to oven for 10 to 15 minutes. Mrs. Carolyn Comer, Elk City, Okla.

QUICK CHILI PIE

Combine 2 1/2 c. cold water, 1 t. salt and 1 c. cornmeal in saucepan over low heat. Cook until thickened (about 15 minutes), stirring constantly. Line sides and bottom of 13-oz. buttered casserole with 1/2 of cornmeal mixture. Spoon remaining mixture over waxed paper, top to fit top of casserole. Bake in hot oven (400°) about 20 minutes for crisp crust. Remove from oven and add 4 c. homemade or 2 1/2-lb. cans of chili con carne. Top with crust from waxed paper. Bake about 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings. Phyllis Godfrey, Pearmount, Calif.

HONEYED CHICKEN

2 cut-up fryers; 1/2 c. honey; 1 c. orange juice; 1 c. hot water; 1/2 c. melted butter; 1 t. salt; 1/2 t. pepper; 2 eggs; 2 T. water; 1/2 c. peanut oil. Heat oil in skillet or frying pan. Beat eggs and the 2 T. water together. Mix matzo meal, salt and pepper. Dip chicken in egg mixture and then roll in matzo meal mixture. Brown in hot oil. Remove to a Dutch oven or roaster. Mix hot water, honey and orange juice. Pour over chicken and cover. Simmer slowly on top of stove or place in oven (325°) for about 45 minutes or until tender. Baste occasionally. Serves 6 to 8. Dorothy A. Sanborn, Berwyn, Ill.

VEGETARIAN PARMIGIANA

1 medium onion, sliced thin; 1 clove garlic, chopped fine; 1 1/2-c. can tomatoes; 1/4 t. dried basil; 1 1/2-c. pkg. sliced mozzarella cheese; 1 egg; 2 T. flour; 1 T. evaporated milk; 1 eggplant; oil; salt; pepper; 1/2 c. tomato sauce; 1/2 c. saute onion and garlic oil until tender. Add basil (crush in hands), 1/4 t. salt, 1/4 t. pepper and tomatoes. Simmer uncovered 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Peel eggplant and cut into 1/2" slices. Preheat oven to 350°. In shallow bowl beat egg, add 1/4 t. salt, 2 T. flour and 1 T. evaporated milk. Dip slices in batter. Fry in oil in large skillet (should sizzle gently) until golden brown. Drain on paper towel. In greased 11-cup casserole arrange slices, sauce and cheese in alternate layers — should be sufficient to cover. Bake 30 minutes (turn oven off last 10 minutes to save heat). Serves 6. Mrs. Rose Aloia, Scott Depot, W. Va.

TURKEY AND UNLEAVENED DRESSING

Prepare a 23-lb. turkey as usual. Boil the neck, gizzard, heart, liver until well done. Cool and save both to equal about 2 1/2 c. Dressing: In a large mixing bowl add 1 box of Wheat Thins; 1 box of Tri-Salts; 1 stalk of celery, chopped fine; 3 large onions; 4 or 5 large potatoes, diced fine; 4 T. sage; 2 T. thyme; 2 T. cummin; 2 T. sawory; 1 T. black pepper. Cut up the gizzard, heart, liver and neck and add to this mixture and mix well, adding the broth also. Crunch crackers as small as possible while moist, then proceed to fill the turkey. The extra dressing put in a large pan and cover and cook in oven 300° until well done. The reason I don't add any salt in the dressing is because the Triscuit crackers have enough salt on them for flavoring and I rub the turkey inside and out with salt before filling. I also rub the outside with olive oil. Mrs. Lenore V. Padroia.

NOTE: — The abbreviations used in the recipes are T. (tablespoon), t. (teaspoon), c. (cup), lb. (pound), oz. (ounce), qt. (quart), " (inch), pkg. (package), doz. (dozen), pt. (pint), ° (degrees Fahrenheit). All temperatures listed are Fahrenheit. To convert Fahrenheit to Celsius (centigrade), subtract 32 from the number of degrees Fahrenheit and multiply by 5/9. In other words, C=(F-32)/9.

BREADS

MOCHA TEA BISCUITS

1 c. flour; 1 t. cocoa; salt; 4 T. sugar; 2 T. sugar; 1/2 c. coffee essence; 2 T. butter; 1/2 c. cocoa and salt in bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles bread crumbs, and add sugar. Stir in coffee with egg yolk, mixing to stiff paste. Knead and roll out on floured board. Cut into shapes. Bake on a greased tray at 350° for 10 to 15 minutes. Cool and ice. Substitutes instead of coffee use 1/2 t. vanilla or almond extract. Makes 1 doz. Mrs. Karl W. Busche, Cape Girardeau, Mo.

GRANDMA'S SPOON BREAD

1 c. cornmeal; 2 eggs; 1 t. salt; 1 pt. boiling water; 3 T. melted butter; 1 t. sugar; 1 pt. sweet milk. Pour boiling water over meal to make soft mush. Stir in salt, sugar, butter and eggs. Add milk and pour into hot buttered baking dish. Bake in hot oven 450° for 40 minutes. Serve hot with butter. Serves 6 to 10. Mrs. Rose Christie, Hot Springs, Ark.

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD

1 c. margarine or butter; 3/4 c. brown sugar; 1/2 c. flour; 1/4 c. cake flour; Cream sugar and margarine, add flour. Mix thoroughly with hands. Chill dough. Roll out 1/2" thick, cut into fancy shapes or squares. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 20 minutes at 325°. They don't brown much or change shape. Makes 3 doz. Mrs. R.C. Oberholtzer, Wauwat, Minn.

WHOLE-WHEAT SANDWICH BREAD

6 eggs; 1 t. lemon extract; 1 t. salt; 1 c. oatmeal flour or meal; 1/4 c. milk with honey to sweeten. With blender running add pinch of oil and oatmeal to grind into fine meal. Measure out 1 c. and reserve if you don't have a blender; use meal and rest for a few minutes before cooking. Beat eggs, salt and lemon in a large bowl. Stir in meal. Thin to desired consistency with milk. Drop by tablespoons onto hot buttered griddle and shape into squares with bottom of spoon. Turn once. Cool. Serve hot for pancakes old or bread. Marie Mayberry, Cadiz, Ohio.

TWO BY TWO'S

2 c. hot mashed potatoes; 2 c. cornmeal; 2 c. whole-wheat flour; 2 c. milk; 2 T. salt. Mix dry ingredients, add potatoes and milk, mix well and let stand for 1/2 hour. Take heaping tablespoon of mix and knead like bread dough on floured surface, until it forms a compact ball. Roll out with a rolling pin into a 8" circle 1/4" thick. Fry on a griddle (do not grease oil griddle) until brown spots form like lefse. Turn and brown on other side. Cool. Can be frozen up to 2 months. Butter and use like bread. Makes great sandwiches too. Joan Stanfield, Sun River, Mont.

SHORTENING BREAD

1/4 lb. soft butter; 1/4 c. high-brown sugar; 1 1/2 c. sifted flour. Cream butter and sugar. Add flour and mix thoroughly. Roll out on lightly floured board or waxed paper about 1/4" thick. Cut shapes. Bake on lightly greased and floured cookie sheet at 350° for about 20 minutes. Mrs. F.E. Nail, Lake Charles, La.

UNLEAVENED BREAD

5 c. flour; 1 c. oil (may be part butter); 4 T. sugar or honey; 1/4 c. cream; 1 c. milk; 1/2 t. salt. Mix dry ingredients. Melt butter if used and blend with oil, milk and cream together. Stir liquid into dry mixture. Knead well. Roll out on floured board. Cut into desired shapes and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in slow oven till lightly browned. Mrs. Edmond Walter, Big Sandy, Tex.

WHOLE-WHEAT MUFFINS

2 eggs; 2 T. oil; 2 T. honey; 1 1/2 c. whole-wheat flour; 1 t. salt; 1 t. cinnamon; 3/4 c. milk; 1/2 c. raisins. Beat eggs. Stir in oil and honey. Add flour, salt, cinnamon and milk. Stir in raisins. Pour into greased muffin tin, filling 2/3 full. Bake 375° for 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 12 muffins. Mrs. Marge Coulson, Eggwold, Md.

UNLEAVENED BREAD MUFFINS

2 c. whole flour; 1/4 t. to 1 t. salt; 2 T. brown sugar; 1 egg; 1 1/2 c. top milk. Sift flour, add salt and sugar. Beat egg and add milk. Add dry ingredients in 3 parts. Beat vigorously. Bake in 425° oven for about 20 minutes in muffin tins or corn-pone pan. Gail Jones, Tallahassee, Fla.

CHESSE PUFFS

8 oz. cheddar cheese, grated; 1 stick butter; 1 c. flour; Worcestershire sauce, to taste; garlic salt, to taste. Combine ingredients. Roll into walnut-sized balls and bake at 325° for 15 to 20 minutes. Leonette Riley, Lawsburg, Tenn.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND YOGURT PANCAKES

1 c. small-curd creamed cottage cheese; 4 eggs; 3/4 c. flour; 1 t. salt; 1 T. maple syrup; 1 c. plain yogurt; butter or margarine. Combine cottage cheese and eggs in small bowl with electric mixer. Beat at high speed until well mixed. Add flour, salt and syrup. Beat until smooth. With spoon gently stir in yogurt. Melt butter in skillet. Drop batter on hot butter and brown both sides. Serve hot with maple syrup. Mrs. George Jones, Wellowa, Ore.

UNLEAVENED CORN CAKES

1 c. cornmeal; 1 t. each of sugar and butter; 1/2 t. salt; 2 T. milk. Sift with 1 scant c. boiling water. Bake in cakes on greased griddle. Mrs. A. Ridgway, Pence, Ind.

"I don't know if this is what Nelson Eddy sang about, but they are rich," Mrs. F.E. Nail, Lake Charles, La., says of her Shortening Bread.

CORN FRITTERS

3 eggs; 1 can creamed corn (16 oz.); 1/2 c. sifted flour; 1/4 salt; 1/2 t. pepper; 6 T. salad oil. Mix together with spoon and fry like pancakes on lightly greased and hot griddle. Makes 18 4" fritters. Mrs. Gail Spotts, Dixon, Ill.

UNENSTERLANDER PANCAKES

3 c. all-purpose flour (or a mixture of all-purpose and whole-wheat); 2 eggs; 1/2 t. salt; 2 c. milk (or 1 1/2 c. milk and 1/2 c. sour cream). Combine in a mixing bowl and beat until smooth and until it has the consistency of cream. (Add more or less milk as needed.) Heat skillet to medium high. Add batter to oiled pan to cover bottom with a thin layer. Wait until brown, then turn and brown other side. Herman Rehring, Edmonton, Alta.

COOKIES

WHEAT GERM AND OATMEAL COOKIES
1/2 c. oil; 1/2 c. honey; 2 T. molasses; 2 eggs; 1 t. vanilla; 1/4 c. soy flour; 1/2 c. skim-milk powder; 1/2 c. raisins; 1/2 c. malted 1 t. salt; 1/2 c. wheat germ; 1 c. oatmeal. Combine oil, honey and molasses. Add one egg at a time. Beat after each addition. Add vanilla. Combine soy flour and milk powder. Add raisins, walnuts, salt, wheat germ and oatmeal. Stir well ingredients into dry ingredients and blend well. Drop by teaspoons onto lightly oiled cookie sheet. Bake in 350° oven for 10 minutes. Yields 5-5oz. Mrs. Don Allez, Fairview, Okla.

MEXICAN MOCHA

1 c. butter or margarine; 1/2 c. granulated sugar; 1 t. vanilla; 2 c. all-purpose flour; 1/2 c. cocoa; 1 t. instant coffee; 1/4 t. salt; 1 c. chopped walnuts; 1/2 c. chopped maraschino cherries; granulated sugar. In mixing bowl cream together butter, sugar and vanilla till light and fluffy. Stir together flour, cocoa, coffee and salt. Gradually beat into creamed mixture. Stir in walnuts and cherries. Chill dough 1 hour. Shape into 1" balls. Place on cookie sheet. Bake at 325° oven on rack. While still warm, dust with granulated sugar. Makes 7 doz. Lena Hunger, Arlington, Tex.

ZANTE COOKIES

Bring above ingredients to boil, remove from heat, and add 3 c. instant oatmeal; 1 c. coconut; 1/2 c. chopped nuts; 1 t. vanilla. Mix. Drop mixture by spoon onto waxed paper. (Work fast!) Allow to harden. Betty Doherty, Oceanomaw, Wis.

CREAM SANDWICH COOKIES

Cream 1 c. butter. Gradually add 1/2 c. brown sugar. Blend in 1 unbleached egg yolk. Add either vanilla or almond flavoring (about 1 T.). Stir until mixture forms a dough. Chill if necessary for easy handling. Shape into balls size of marbles. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and flatten. Bake at 325° for 10 minutes. When cool place flat sides together with filling. Filling: Melt 2 T. butter. Remove from heat and add 1/4 c. powdered sugar; 1/2 t. vanilla or almond flavoring; 4 to 5 t. cream. Mix together. Makes about 4 doz. Mrs. Dennis C. Schlueter, Raymond, Minn.

ALMOND LACE COOKIES

1 c. finely chopped blanched almonds; 1/2 c. butter or margarine, softened; 1/2 c. sugar; 2 T. flour; 2 T. milk. Cook and stir all ingredients in a medium heat just until butter melts and all ingredients are well blended. Drop by teaspoons onto well-greased floured cookie sheets, leaving 1" space between cookies. Bake in preheated 350° oven 5 to 6 minutes, or until lightly browned and glossy. Cool on sheets 30 minutes until firm enough to remove to rack. Store airtight in cool place with plastic between layers. Makes 4 doz. Mrs. M. Williams, Houston, Tex.

DRIED-FRUIT-FILLED COOKIES

Filling: 1/2 lb. dried apricots or dates. Cut up or grind fruit. Add 1/4 c. sugar and 1/4 c. water. Mix and cook to a thick paste. Add 1/2 c. chopped nuts and cool. Dough: Add 1/2 c. shortening or margarine; 1/2 c. each of brown and white sugar; 2 small eggs; 2 c. flour; 1/2 t. salt; 1 t. cinnamon. Mix. Roll out to 1/4" thickness. Spread with fruit filling and roll jelly-roll fashion. Chill in refrigerator overnight. Slice thinly and bake at 375° for about 15 minutes. Mrs. William B. Recipes from Afghans Zante Cookies

... seemed to enjoy them very much. There was, however, some concern expressed by a few about the use of egg whites as a leavening agent.

"The basis for these recipes is the unleavened-recipe booklet the college put out in the early '60s," she said. "This booklet contained recipes which used egg whites."

The use of egg whites in a recipe, she explained, is a mechanical leavening process as opposed to the chemical leavening action of yeast. The mechanical process involves putting air into a product.

"This can be done by sifting flour, creaming shortening or butter, whipping egg whites or even putting water vapor into something to make it rise," she said. "Although this will make a bread product rise, it is through the use of air and steam, and not a chemical leavening process."

"There's no way we can get away from air during the Days of Unleavened Bread."

The root of the Hebrew word for leav-en, she said, actually refers to fermentation, "which is a chemical process."

"I'm not a minister," she said, "but because of my personal studies and my home-economics training, it is my understanding that it would not be wrong to use egg whites in recipes."

John Robinson, managing editor of the WN, said: "As with so many areas of life, everyone has a slightly different understanding of exactly what leavening is."

"We've reprinted these recipes which were submitted by our readers as a service — not as the official Church-approved recipes for the Spring Feast. If anyone feels some of the recipes are questionable, then I suggest they not use them."

Here at the WN, we have already determined what our favorite recipes are. Why don't you let us know what yours are? After you've tried them, clip and mail the coupon that will appear in the next issue, telling us which recipes you like best.

PASTRIES

APPLE WALNUT STRUDEL
Basic strudel dough: 2 c. whole-wheat pastry flour; 1/2 t. salt; 1/2 c. oil; 1 T. orange or lemon juice; 2 egg whites; 1/2 t. lukewarm apple cider or water. Roll out dough in a large bowl. Add salt. Make a well in the center of the flour and cut in oil. Add orange or lemon juice and egg whites, and work these into the dough, gradually adding apple juice until a very soft, sticky dough is formed (use your hands or a wood spoon). Knead on a floured surface about 10 minutes, or until smooth and elastic. Place in an oiled bowl, brush top of dough with oil. Cover and set in warm place. If there is no warm spot, place in a pan of hot water until dough becomes watery (about 10 to 15 minutes). Cover wooden surface or table with a pastry cloth or clean old tablecloth; large enough to drape over sides. Rub flour into cloth. Place dough on cloth, sprinkle with flour, and roll out in rectangular form 1/2" thick. Brush with oil in dry places and disregard holes. Allow dough to rest 5 to 10 minutes. Trim off excess dough. Brush entire surface with oil. Filling: 1 c. raisins; apple juice or cider; 2 to 3 c. chopped apples; 1/2 c. chopped, roasted walnuts; 1/2 t. tahini or almond butter. Soak raisins in apple juice or cider to cover until soft. (Drain off liquid and use for dough.) Mix raisins and almond butter in the strudel. Sprinkle or spread surface of dough with oil. Roll up from the center toward the edges. Fold these two ends toward the center. Brush with oil. Lift up the pastry cloth on either end and edge of pans. Filling: 24 oz. creamed cottage cheese (1 lb.); 1/2 c. sugar; 1/2 c. flour (all-purpose); 1 lemon (juice and rind); 3 eggs, separated. Press cheese through sieve. Add sugar and egg yolks; stir well. Add lemon and flour. Stir. Whip egg white stiff but not dry. Add to cheese mixture. Flour into baked crust. Bake at 325° for 1 1/2 hours. Cool. Can top with sweetened berries or cherries and whipped cream. Mrs. Rose Stark, Milwaukee, Wis.

CHOCOLATE FRAPPE PIE
Chocolate coconut crust: 1/2 pk. sweet chocolate; 2 T. butter; 1/2 c. water; 1/2 c. flake coconut. Chocolate frappe filling: 1/2 c. corn syrup; 1 T. vanilla; 6-oz. pkg. semisweet chocolate morsels; 1 T. vanilla; 1/2 c. heavy cream; 1/2 c. sweetened condensed milk; 1 T. walnuts, chopped. Crust: Combine chocolate, butter and water in saucepan. Place over low heat and stir until chocolate is melted. 3 to 5 minutes. Remove from heat, blend in coconut. Spread on bottom of greased 9" pie pan. Chill until firm. Fill with chocolate filling. Filling: Combine corn syrup and water in pan; bring just to boil over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add chocolate morsels and egg whites, and work these into the dough, gradually adding apple juice until a very soft, sticky dough is formed (use your hands or a wood spoon). Knead on a floured surface about 10 minutes, or until smooth and elastic. Place in an oiled bowl, brush top of dough with oil. Cover and set in warm place. If there is no warm spot, place in a pan of hot water until dough becomes watery (about 10 to 15 minutes). Cover wooden surface or table with a pastry cloth or clean old tablecloth; large enough to drape over sides. Rub flour into cloth. Place dough on cloth, sprinkle with flour, and roll out in rectangular form 1/2" thick. Brush with oil in dry places and disregard holes. Allow dough to rest 5 to 10 minutes. Trim off excess dough. Brush entire surface with oil. Filling: 1 c. raisins; apple juice or cider; 2 to 3 c. chopped apples; 1/2 c. chopped, roasted walnuts; 1/2 t. tahini or almond butter. Soak raisins in apple juice or cider to cover until soft. (Drain off liquid and use for dough.) Mix raisins and almond butter in the strudel. Sprinkle or spread surface of dough with oil. Roll up from the center toward the edges. Fold these two ends toward the center. Brush with oil. Lift up the pastry cloth on either end and

1/2 c. flour; 1/2 t. salt; 1/2 c. uncooked oatmeal; 1/2 c. butter; 2 c. any cooked fruit or berries (if tart, omit lemon juice); 2 T. lemon juice; 1 t. cinnamon; 1/2 c. brown sugar; 1/2 t. vanilla. Mix flour, salt and oatmeal. In paper meat boiler add brown sugar and add vanilla. Pour over oatmeal mixture and stir until texture is coarse and crumbly. Put fruit into lightly buttered casserole. Add lemon juice. Do with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Spread oatmeal mixture evenly over fruit and bake in 375° oven for 45 minutes. Serve hot or cold with milk or cream. Dale Hall, Fayetteville, Ark.

KOOKIE BRITZLE
1 c. butter or margarine; 1 1/2 vanilla; 1 t. salt; 1 c. sugar; 2 c. uncooked oatmeal; 1 1/2 c. semisweet chocolate morsels; 1 c. finely chopped nuts. Preheat oven to 375°. Combine margarine, vanilla and salt in bowl and blend well. Gradually beat in sugar. Add flour, chocolate morsels and nuts and 1/2 c. butter. Put mixture in 9" x 9" x 1 1/2" pan. Sprinkle remaining nuts over top. Bake for 25 to 30 minutes, until golden brown. Cool. Break into irregular pieces. Makes about 1 1/2 lbs. June Johnston, Cassar, Wis.

APPLE CRISP
3 c. pared, sliced apples (or canned peaches or apricots); 1/2 c. cinnamon; 1/2 c. flour; 1/2 c. water; 1/2 t. lemon juice; 1/2 c. flour; 1/2 c. rolled oats; 1/2 c. brown sugar; 1/2 c. butter. Put apples in 9" x 9" x 1 1/2" pan. Sprinkle with salt and cinnamon. Pour water in at one side. Grate walnuts with lemon juice. Into a bowl measure flour, sugar and oats and mix them. With pastry blender cut in the butter. Sprinkle mixture over apples and pat down firmly. Bake at 350° for 1 hour. Mrs. W.S. Leipi, Montmarre, Sask.

GRAHAM CRISPS
Sift 1/2 c. whole-wheat flour. Stir in 1/2 t. salt. Add 1/2 c. of cream and stir until the dough leaves the sides of the bowl and forms a ball. If it does not quite hold together, add a teaspoon or two of milk. Place bits the size of large marbles on a cookie sheet (biscuit sheet for English readers) and spread at one end. Flatten with brown around 350° oven until just toughened. Remove from the oven and transfer the crisps to a plate immediately. The crispness is very heavy, you may use 3 T. of cream and 1 T. of milk. Mrs. H.E. McCluskey, Fort Worth, Tex.

SESAME WAFERS
1/2 c. margarine; 1 t. vanilla; 1/2 c. sesame seeds, toasted; 1 c. brown sugar; 1 egg; unbleached; 1 c. flour; 1/2 t. salt. Cream margarine, sugar and vanilla. Beat in egg, then stir in sesame seeds. Sift dry ingredients, add and mix. Drop small, ball-like mounds 3" apart on well-greased baking sheet. Bake at 350° for 375° for 8 to 10 minutes. Cool a minute, then remove from sheet. Makes about 4 doz. thin, crisp cookies. (To load seeds, spread in shallow pan. Set in 375° oven until browned - 8 to 10 minutes. Stir often.) Mrs. Virgil Jordan, Endicott, Wash.

CHEDDAR CHIPS
1 c. flour; 1/2 t. salt; 1/2 t. salt; 1/2 t. salt; 1 c. grated sharp cheddar cheese; 1/2 c. finely grated walnuts; 1 egg yolk; ice water. Preheat oven to 375°. Place flour, wheat germ and salt in a bowl and mix well. Work in the butter with the fingertips until the mixture is like coarse meal. Stir in cheese, walnuts, egg yolk and enough water to make a dough. Knead briefly to distribute ingredients. Roll out a lightly floured board to 1/4" thickness and cut into 1" rounds. Place on lightly greased baking sheet and bake 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool and store in light-tight container. Makes 48 chips. Mrs. George Koerner Jr., Durdin, Ill.

RYE WAFERS
2 c. butter or margarine, melted and cooled; 1 c. rye flour; 1 c. all-purpose flour; 1 t. sugar; 1/2 t. salt; 1/2 c. corn meal; 1/2 c. cream (optional). Combine all ingredients. Mix till smooth. Chill 1 hour. Divide into 2 parts and roll each out on lightly floured board until very thin. Cut in 2-by-3" rectangles. Put on ungreased baking sheets and bake in preheated 375° oven 8 to 10 minutes or until well browned. Cool on rack. Good with cheese or butter. Makes about 4 doz. Elaine Gayler, Anderson, Ind.

HEALTH CRACKERS
3 c. quick-cooking oats; 2 c. unsifted flour; 1 c. wheat germ; 3 t. sugar; or honey; 1 t. salt; 1/2 c. salad; 1 t. water; 1 egg white; butter; sesame or poppy seeds; garlic or onion salt.

"I have been baking this unleavened fruit cake since the year 1930 . . . I am an old 'dough-head' baker, retired," John J. Urech Sr., Houston, Tex., writes of his Old-Fashioned Fruit Cake.

OLD-FASHIONED FRUIT CAKE
Line 3 bread-size loaf pans with brown paper. Remove linings and grease pans with shortening. Then insert the linings into pans and grease the brown paper well. Soak raisins. Ingredients: 4 ozs. (one stick) margarine; 8 ozs. brown sugar; 1 t. cinnamon; 1 t. nutmeg; 1 t. allspice; 1/2 t. salt; 3 eggs; 1/2 c. orange or lemon juice; 2 lbs. shelled pecans or mixed nuts; 1 c. unbleached flour; 12 ozs. figs or pitted dates; 8 ozs. white raisins; 8 ozs. currants; 12 ozs. citron (candied); 4 ozs. lemon peel (candied); 8 ozs. orange peel (candied); 12 ozs. candied cherries; 8 ozs. candied pineapple; 1 c. wine. Mix margarine, sugar, spices and salt together until creamy. Add eggs one at a time. Mix well. Add the molasses. Mix well. Add all the fruits and nuts. Mix well. Add the wine. Mix well. Add the flour and mix well. Divide the cake mixture equally between the 3 prepared loaf pans. Bake 2 hours at 325°. Insert a toothpick to see if it is done. Remove cakes with brown paper still on. Place on wire rack to cool. Keeps well in refrigerator in a plastic bag. May be frozen. John J. Urech Sr., Houston, Tex.

begin to flip the dough over the filling. Continue until the dough is completely rolled around itself. Flip dough onto well-oiled baking sheet. Bake in 350° oven for 45 to 60 minutes. Brush top and sides of strudel with oil while baking. The strudel may be glazed before or after baking (optional). Helen Goodrich, Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

MYSTERY CHEESECAKE
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese; 1 egg; 1/2 c. sugar; 1/2 t. vanilla; 1 unbleaked 9" pastry shell; 1 c. beaten eggs; 1/2 c. sugar; 1/2 c. dark corn syrup; 1 t. maple flavoring; 1/2 t. vanilla. In small mixer bowl combine cream cheese, 1 egg, 1/2 c. sugar and 1/2 t. vanilla. Beat mixture until light and fluffy. Spread over the bottom of unbleaked pastry shell. Arrange pecan halves on top. In bowl combine 2 eggs, 1/2 c. sugar, 1/2 c. syrup, 1/2 t. maple flavoring and 1/2 t. vanilla. Mix carefully pour over pecans. Bake in 375° oven 40 to 45 minutes or until done. Makes 6 to 8 servings. Mrs. James Brackett, St. Joseph, Mo.

BLUE RIBBON CHEESE PIE
Crust for 9" pans: 1 c. unbleached flour; 1/2 c. sugar; 1/2 lb. (1 stick) butter or margarine; 2 T. ground nuts. Mix ingredients together as for pie crust. Press into pans and bake at 400° for 10 to 12 minutes. The crust should be all the way to the

"It took me two Passovers to perfect this recipe," Mrs. Rose Stark, Milwaukee, Wis., says of her Blue Ribbon Cheese Pie.

Local church news wrap-up

Boxful of Boxes

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Ministerial trainee Jim Tuck and his new bride Joan were surprised by the members of the Harrisburg church Saturday evening, Jan. 25, at the Central Penn Business School theater auditorium.

The newlyweds were entertained by a full-length feature film, The Living Desert.

Afterwards were fun and games for the children, followed by snacks and dancing.

The bride and groom were presented a huge boxful of boxes, which, after much unwrapping, revealed two gift certificates of $150 each. Shirley J. Trogans Jr.

FIVE GENERATIONS — An article about Mrs. Fred Mancowicz of the church in Glenwood, Ill., was run in a local paper Nov. 28, 1974. Mrs. Mancowicz is the middle generation of five living generations of a family. Mrs. Mancowicz is at the top. Seated left is her mother; Mrs. Thomas Amsteden. On the right is Mrs. Mancowicz's daughter, Mrs. David Ogwyn. Holding the Ogwyn baby, Joby David, is his great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Donovan.

Potluck Meal

MERIDIAN, Miss. — Laughter and gaiety marked the success of a social here Feb. 8.

After a full day of services and Bible study, the hall was prepared by a buffet potluck meal amid brightly colored tablecloths.

Then the room was cleared for party games that included egg rolling, balloon popping, a Lifesaver-and-straw relay, baby-bottle drinking, a grapefruit transfer and a push-a-Brazil-nut-with-the-nose relay.

Token prizes were awarded, and then the social evolved to table games such as Risk, spoons, The Newlywed Game and Chinese checkers. Charla Steinback.

Small World

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio — The first formal dance of 1975 was held here Jan. 5.

A variety of music was provided by the church's own Jimmy Vivo and company. Several get-acquainted dances sparked the evening.

A timely "Small World" display was given added life during the entertainment portion; the workshop of Italian toymaker Michele (Mr. and Mrs. Mike Buccini) came to life as he wound up eight "dolls" representing seven areas of the world.

Jamaica was represented by a colorful Bimini doll who played a flute solo (Mrs. Denise Nazarian); the balmy shores of Waikiki beckoned as the Hawaiian doll played a number on the steel guitar (Roger Andrusky); a Spanish senora came to life and sang "Cuando Caliente el Sol" (Mrs. Rose Ann Cannon); a Russian cossack dazzled with his powerful acrobatics (Steve Kovalchick); an Austrian grandfather clock's dancers performed a graceful Vienna waltz (Mr. and Mrs. George Batchelor); a Polish doll played a polka on the accordion (Chester Yozwiak); and the Arab representative completed the tour by exhibiting his power when he drank and bathed in a quart of oil (Joe Nazarian).

Behind the scenes were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Orr, Ron Henn and prop crew and the overall guidance of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Noel. Katy Hoskinson and Jim Cannon.

Fort Smith Club

FORT SMITH, Ark. — The first meeting of a new ladies' club here was held Dec. 29. An organization meeting and a brunch here had been sponsored by Mrs. Allen Bullock, wife of the pastor here, in the Bullock home in Roland, Okla.

Mrs. Dan White presented table topics with questions about hobbies.

The theme of the main program was flower arranging, presented by Mrs. Charles Hallmark, who works for a flower-and-gift shop. She showed how to care for flowers and redo old arrangements to keep a home alive and lively.

"Use the S form in arranging," Mrs. Hallmark said. "It's the most pleasing. Make your design natural; make them look happy. Use water tubes when going away... Add a flower to a house-plant arrangement. Keep the background simple." Mrs. Robert F. Russell.

Stompers Stomp

WATERLOO, Iowa — The church here was host of a basketball tournament at Dunkerton, Iowa, Feb. 2. Teams represented were from Des Moines, Iowa City and Waterloo, Iowa, and Rochester, Minn.

Play opened with the Des Moines Duncors edging the Waterloo Stompers during the first half. In the second half Des Moines pulled away to sack the Stompers 60-34.

The Iowa City Slickers controlled

In the first-place play-off dark horse Des Moines led Iowa City in a seasaw game in the closing minutes to take the championship.

The final game saw an upset victory for the Waterloo Stompers over Rochester's Streakers 60-37. Steve Kieler.

Rustic Winter

CARTHAGE, Mo. — It was dance time here Jan. 18.

The Simpsonian Institute, a band from the Tulsa, Okla., church, was surrounded by mounds of "snow." Couples crowded onto the dance floor as the band swung into action, accompanying a group called the Ladies' Trio as it sang the evening's theme song, "Winter Wonderland."

A decorated Memorial Hall greeted guests. The paper-lined walls were etched with rustic winter scenes and tables were clothed in white, centered with replicas of Frosty the Snowman and boughs of evergreen. Lowered lights shimmered on silver snowflakes hung from the ceiling.

Adding to the evening were refreshments provided by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart and committee.

Jeff Powers emceed the entertainment portion of the evening, with skits by teens and music numbers by local and visiting groups. A pantomime of Barbra Streisand's "Sam, You Made the Pants Too Long!" was performed by Sandra and Gene Hilgenberg. Geri Mason.

Western Night

WINNIPEG, Man. — "Howdy!" said the sign at the entrance of the St. James Civic Centre Jan. 26 for a "western night."

After passing through a corral gate, members here had a meal of beans, biscuits and beverage.

Emcee Bill Defoort, a former Ambassador College student, presented a number of acts. Between acts Mr. Defoort participated in the final act of the show by singing "I Can See Clearly Now," accompanied by Art Alyca on guitar.

Later an outside group challenged the brethren to a game. (The outside group won.)

The women played a card game called Pit. Some members strolled to the water to swim. A longtime member of the Kuala Lumpur church, Chew Bin Pan, caught a few toe-size jellyfish.

Other picnickers played softball on the beach.

Mr. Ames and three others played Scrabble.

"Beautiful. Superb fellowship and plenty to eat," said Mary Lew, a member, of the picnic.

After posing for pictures, the group left Morib.

The picnic had been arranged by M.C. Low, a member. Peter Chan.

the scoreboard in the first half of a game with the Rochester Streakers. Rochester couldn't close the gap, despite outstanding defense efforts, and was defeated 60-50.

Then a scrappy Iowa City teen team gave way to a great height advantage by Des Moines 64-16. Though outscored, team supporters wildly outcheered Des Moines.

Women's volleyball pitted Des Moines and Iowa City against Waterloo and Rochester. Waterloo-Rochester fell 21-9 in the first game and lost a hard-fought second game 21-18.

The teen play-off between Rochester and Des Moines saw Rochester take a steadily increasing lead to defeat Des Moines 46-28.

The evening ended with a sing-along followed by a short dance. Ken Fedirchuk.

Beach Picnic at Morib

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — A hired bus left the Jaya Puri Hotel the morning of Jan. 26, headed for the coast town of Morib, 50 miles from here, for a church picnic. In the bus were Guy L. Ames, minister, and his family and other brethren.

Others traveled by car to join those who went by bus, making 47 people.

There was a crowd at the beach. Food stalls were doing a roaring business, creating a festival-like atmosphere. The fair-and-cloudy weather was suitable for a picnic.

A volleyball court was set up.

Attendance was 49. Basil Harris.

Monumental Task

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — January inventory at a large department store can be a monumental task for those involved. But for Explorer Post 679, sponsored by the St. Louis North church, it was a financial success.

Beginning at 6 p.m. Jan. 25, 23 members, parents and friends of the post gathered to view an inventory training film at Zayre's Department Store.

The job began at 7:15 a.m. the next day for 300 temporary and permanent employees of Zayre's and ended by 3 p.m.

For the volunteers from the Explorer post, 179 man-hours earned $375, averaging 7.7 hours per person.

All funds, after tithes, will be used to help finance summer activities planned for the 15 Explorer members. Dick Schwaab.

Old Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. — The Baton Rouge church hall was transformed into a scene of old Louisiana the evening of Jan. 16 for a semi-formal dance.

With murals depicting historic Louisiana — a French courtyard, a ferry and a black jazz trumpeter — the atmosphere took on the flavor of La Louisiane.

Music was furnished by the New Orleans church band.

At intermission was a talent show that spotlighted local talent. Marie Carrico sang a medley of Tom Wiles tunes, accompanied by her husband and Dewey Edwards on guitar and the fiddle. As she left the stage the playing continued and was climaxed with a hoedown.

Paula Laird sang two numbers, followed by a comic skit by Fran Richardson and Jeanette Brumfield.

To wind up the show a choir sang "What the World Needs Now."

The band returned to the stage and dancing resumed. Eleanor Cape.

Expensive Pie

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — The members of the church here met at the Clark High School gym for a box-pie sale and square dance Jan. 20.

Four judges chose the best costumes in men's, women's, boys' and girls' categories.

The highest price for a pie box was $17.50. A member, Berry Ryan, was auctioneer.

Proceeds from the social will be used for a talent show. David L. Larsen.

Healthy Start

CINCINNATI, Ohio — The Spokesman Club here made James Walter Marsh, 95, an honorary member and presented him with a gift at a meeting Jan. 19.

Mr. Marsh has inspired the brethren here since he first attended services in 1964. He keeps physically fit by walking two miles each day. He says he got a healthy start in life by living on a farm as a boy.

Over the years Mr. Marsh has seen Cincinnati change from a small town on the Ohio River to a large industrial (See WRAP-UP, page 13) city.

A retired barber, Mr. Marsh says he has gotten a lot of "cuts out of life." He says his goal was "just to see the Scriptures fulfilled; I spend a lot of time studying the Scriptures. I can recite 32 chapters of the Bible."

Mr. Marsh is often seen at services with a group of young women around him. When asked if he wears a special cologne to attract them, he said, "I just don't understand it myself."

He remembers the help the Spokesman Club gave him a few years ago by painting his house. While club members tried to burn out a wasp nest, the roof accidentally caught on fire. So this time the club decided to show its appreciation by making Mr. Marsh an honorary member and presenting him a new Bible. Ralph Schutter.

Alumni Basketball

SAN DIEGO, Calif. — A smooth offense combined with excellent rebounding provided the Alumni (a team of Ambassador College, Pasadena, graduates) basketball team with an easy 96-63 victory over the San Diego Monarchs in a game played Feb. 9 at the Boys Club in nearby Chula Vista.

The Alumni took an early lead and were never threatened. Keith Speaks' height proved devastating under the boards; he led his team's scoring with 30 points, followed by Wayne Antion with 19.

Al Miller was high scorer for San Diego with 12, while Jim Butler, Paul Smith and Randy Stidham had 10 each.

The game was refereed by Mike Quinn and Mike Lohr.

Each team now has a 2-1 record. Susan Karoska.

A First for North Battleford

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. — The first day of February marked a first in this young church area — the first ladies'-night dinner meeting for the Spokesman Club here, which is in its first season.

Bruno's Restaurant, in the center of this 13,000-population city, was the site of the meeting while blowing snow and sub-zero temperatures surrounded the little A-frame building.

The church pastor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. James Wells, had driving. Mrs. Anna Samons showed how to give a formal tea. After her demonstration she served tea and cookies.

Other club meetings will have lectures on cosmetics, nutrition, finances, karate and self-defense. About 30 attended. The group plans to meet once a month. Debbie Booth.

Fur Coats and Ponchos

EDINBURGH, Scotland — Several Church members participated in a trade fair Dec. 15 at the Royal Highland Showground here to raise money for the British campaign fund.

Items sold ranged from fur coats to handmade flowers, paintings and ponchos. Bob Jeffrey.

Tea for 30

LEXINGTON, Ky. — What would you do if you were asked to arrange flowers for a sick friend? Or give a formal tea for an important person? The Lexington homemakers, a group of women of the church here, got some ideas at a meeting Feb. 2.

After a topics session by Mrs. Joyce May, Mrs. Linda Adams discussed the basics of flower arranging. Mrs. Anna Samons showed how to give a formal tea. After her demonstration she served tea and cookies.

Other club meetings will have lectures on cosmetics, nutrition, finances, karate and self-defense.

Longview-Lufkin Semiformal

KILGORE, Tex. — The anticipated evening finally arrived as the Longview and Lufkin, Tex., churches held a semiformal dance at the Community Inn here Jan. 25.

Ambassador College's stage band, led by Gary Briggs, and the college's New World Singers provided the music. Modern songs, Glenn Miller tunes, country-and-western music and polkas were provided by the college students.

Several guest soloists appeared with the band. Jerold Aust, Longview's and Lufkin's pastor and an accomplished singer, joined the band for several songs, including "Up the Lazy River," "Hello, Dolly!" and "Misty."

Hors d'oeuvres, nuts and mixed drinks were served.

The New World Singers concluded with "Spread Some Sunshine." Carol Klotz.

Kicking Off 1975

BIG SANDY, Tex. — More than 100 Big Sandy-church teenagers attended a church-sponsored dinner-dance at Buck's Auditorium here Feb. 3, kicking off the first of 1975's teen activities.

Dressed in white hats and jackets, ministers Norvel Pyle and Al Mischnick and their wives joined others in serving the group a spaghetti dinner.

A cartoon-drawing contest was held during the meal. Joy Tipton's cartoon of an octopus, The Under-Arm Expert, won first prize in the girls' division, and Rusty Ingle's Mickey Mouse won in the guys' division.

During the dance Mike Kottke and Tina Barker won a contest called Name That Tune; David Smith and Joy Tipton were winners of a "freeze dance."

Camtamos, a combo — Marty Yale, Mark Henson, Mark Wynne, Bill Bartholomew and Jennifer Agee — played music for the affair.

Then, on Feb. 11, the second teen (See WRAP-UP, page 14)

Fund raising in the Rockies

By Erl Koellner
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah — It was carnival time in the Rockies. Actually, it was the Wasatch Mountains (the western slope of the Rockies).

The church here sponsored a fund-raising carnival Jan. 26 that raised $1,400.

Carnivalgoers tested their skills at a dart game, dime toss, ball throw, dunk tank and shooting gallery.

The biggest splash with the children was a fishing well where all contenders received prizes. Bingo games, hot dogs and chili added to the atmosphere.

The biggest fund raiser was an auction where handmade items such as quilts, paintings, ecology boxes, vests with matching cowboy hats, stuffed toys and decorated cakes were auctioned. Crafts were used for most of the prizes at the booths.

The turnout was large, considering the snow and cold weather. The proceeds were donated to the Work.

Royal Debs

LONGVIEW, Tex. — The Royal Debs of the church here are competing in the Longview Women's City-Church Volleyball League.

The team includes cocaptains Mary Ann Aust and Ann Wright, plus Charlene Burrows, Linda Foster, Evia Hewitt, Patti Hewitt, Ruby Newsom, Donna Patillo and Verna Torrance.

As of Feb. 20 the team had a 2-8 record, according to Jerry Aust, pastor of the church here. Ruby Newsom.

Food and Games

MARINE CITY, Mich. — Members from Marine City and Algonac, Mich., held a potluck dinner Feb. 2.

After a meal, games were played. Children had a balloon toss with prizes. Adults played a game of Sorry.

Church celebrates 20th anniversary

By Bill Seelig

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — The church here celebrated its 20th anniversary Jan. 26 with a dance in the Villita Assembly Hall.

The church was founded in November, 1954.

The hall had been decorated, and a five-piece band performed. The church's own country-and-western attended that first meeting — eight adults and four children. The rest were from all over South Texas — an area about one fourth the total area of Texas.

Since Corpus Christi was the larger of the two when the San Antonio church was organized, the home church was there. Mr. Cole at first held morning services in Corpus noon.

This was his schedule until 1957, when David Jon Hill became pastor at Houston.

Eleven men have pastored the San Antonio church: Wayne Cole, Burk McNair, Dick Armstrong, Allen Manteufel, Bill McDowell, Roger Foster, David Jon Hill, Tony Hammer, Vince Panella, Roy Holladay and John Bald.

Some more of the highlights of the history of the church:

During a ministerial conference in January, 1955, Gerald Waterhouse, then an Ambassador student, preached in Mr. Cole's absence. On that cold, windy day the doors to the meeting place were locked, and Mr. Waterhouse tried to give the sermon from the south steps of the building until he became so cold he couldn't talk. The church retreated to the home of a member and completed the service.

A Long Day

Nov. 3, 1956, was an eventful day for the late Dick Armstrong. During the week he somehow lost a day. He arrived at the meeting place on what he thought was a Friday night to hold services in Houston to find that he was the only one present. This seemed strange to him until he checked a newspaper he had bought and realized it was actually Saturday night.

Two other churches have begun from this congregation. The Austin church began in December, 1971, with Larry Neff as pastor.

Shortly after the Feast of Tabernacles, 1974, the Uvalde church was begun to serve those north and west of San Antonio.

The church today has both morning and afternoon services, with about 550 attending.

A new policy of attaching a visit-request form to the last Correspondence Course is giving Mr. Bald and the other ministers here the opportunity to visit about 10 prospective members weekly.

band played during the other group's breaks.

Even the weather cooperated, with temperatures in the 80s. Wayne Cole, now director of church administration at headquarters, San Antonio's first pastor, who was here for the occasion, said, "I know you ordered special weather, but this is too much."

The dance lasted from 5 to 10 p. m.

A History

Only nine churches had been established in the United States before the San Antonio church was formed, shortly after the Feast of Tabernacles in 1954, from the combined Corpus Christi and San Antonio church, which had begun in Beeville July 2, 1954.

Mr. Cole was the first pastor, though he was not yet ordained.

Only 12 people from San Antonio

Christi, then drove here for afternoon services and spent the following day visiting and helping the fledgling church.

In 1955 Mr. Cole received permission to establish the Houston church. He had no local elder, deacon or ministerial trainee, yet he was attempting to care for three churches that in area covered about one third of all Texas.

Here was his itinerary: On Friday he and his wife Doris would drive to Houston — 265 miles — and hold Sabbath services in the evening. Shortly afterwards they would drive from there to San Antonio — 192 miles — arriving about 2 a. m. With only a few hours' sleep he then held services in San Antonio at 10 a. m. He opened and closed with prayer, led song services, read announcements and gave the sermon. After that he drove 144 miles to Corpus Christi and preached in the after-

New 'PT' reaches British newsstands

By Phil Stevens

BRICKET WOOD, England — Art Ferdig, managing editor of the Plain Truth, recently here from Pasadena, saw the first copies of the new-format Plain Truth delivered to a newsstand in one of London's underground railway stations. Within minutes several of the publications had been picked up.

Jack Martin, director of the Newsstand Department of the Work's office here, said his department was looking forward to trying out the new format and getting the public's reaction.

Initial response seems favorable, Mr. Martin said. A worker at the Baker Street station felt the Plain Truth had attracted a good number of his customers.

The success of Britain's newsstand program has been covered in The Worldwide News, but now Mr. Martin's team is seeking to increase the number of outlets.

About 640 new shops began distribution of the Plain Truth in February. As the number of outlets grows, subscribers will be encouraged to get their copies of the publication from their newsagent rather than receive it through the mail. With Britain's postage costs rising, this would save the Work considerable money.

The Newsstand Department's goal is to put half a million copies of the Plain Truth into retail outlets, Mr. Martin said.

German-language broadcast brings baptism of Polish citizen

By Tom Lapacka
Hannover Elder

HANNOVER, West Germany — As of Feb. 8 the Church of God is now represented in Poland. On that day the first Pole in this era of the Church, Victor Przybylla (pronounced Pree-zhee-bee-lah), was baptized in Katowice, Poland.

Mr. Przybylla heard the German World Tomorrow broadcast by accident one morning in 1972 over Radio Luxembourg. He continued his study, which led him to a deep conviction and desire to be baptized.

In the summer of 1974 the Dueseldorf office received his visit request; plans were made to see him as soon as possible.

In January of this year Mr. Przybylla traveled to East Berlin to meet Frank Schnee, director of the German Work. (Polish citizens may travel from Poland to East Germany.) Another meeting was arranged with him, at his home in a little town called Nedza in southern Poland, near the Czech border.

My wife, little son and I left the morning of Friday, Feb. 7, from our home near there and drove for 10 hours to his home.

God blessed the trip from beginning to end — from getting the required visa in one day instead of the normal eight to 10 to crossing the borders with absolutely no problem.

Arriving shortly before sunset, we found his home and spent two inspiring hours with him and his wife and five children.

The next morning we met in our hotel in Katowice, where Mr. Przybylla was baptized.

Contrary to popular opinion here in the West, the Poles do have certain freedoms and rights similar to ours. They enjoy the freedom of religion (Jehovah's Witnesses, Seventh-day Adventists and Baptists, for example, are permitted in Poland), right of religious assembly (as long as not directed against the government) and the assurance of not being fired from their jobs because of religious convictions.

These are the kinds of liberties that could provide the climate for more growth in Poland.

"Transportation to and from Orr is not included, however, and must be arranged by each parent or sponsor. We have found in the past those who choose bus transportation or who travel in groups in private cars conserve the most."

Mr. Armstrong advised parents whose children have physical handicaps that might prevent participation in S.E.P. activities to take this into consideration before enrolling their children.

"I must remind all that S.E.P. is not a reform school or military-type academy to correct young people," Mr. Armstrong said. "We do have discipline, however, which is strictly enforced. We have only rarely had to strongly discipline, but, unfortunately, it does occur."

'Best Advertisement'

While a few students have been expelled for offenses such as theft, lying and fighting, "these have been very much in the tiny minority, I'm happy to say," said Mr. Armstrong, "and we have always found the vast majority to be balanced, friendly, warm and enthusiastic youngsters who really appreciate the experiences of summer at camp."

"I should imagine there are many youngsters in any given church area who have attended S.E.P. in the past. They are our very best advertisement in most cases."

THE OFFICIAL GRAPEVINE

PASADENA — "Les McCullough had an extremely successful personal-appearance campaign in Johannesburg, South Africa, on Feb. 14 and 15," reported Steve Martin, assistant to Mr. McCullough.

Mr. McCullough is director of the International Division.

"More than 1,100 people attended each evening, over 800 of which were brand-new people," Mr. Martin said. "The South African office estimates that approximately 1,200 people were reached for the first time in the two nights. This is extremely encouraging for all the members of the South African office and gives a good indication of future growth for the Work in South Africa."

Mr. McCullough is in Australia meeting with the ministers there.

"He reported to me that the trip had been very hectic up to now and that bad weather has been following him ever since he left Pasadena," Mr. Martin said. "He has had rain in South Africa and now Australia, and we are certainly hoping he doesn't bring it back to Pasadena, where the weather has been fine."

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — John Bald, pastor of the church here, says he "feels fine" following a "mild cardiac arrest" he suffered in early February.

He began experiencing severe chest pains following work Feb. 4. Several days later he underwent a physical examination that resulted in his hospitalization from Feb. 7 to 15, the first three days of which he was in intensive care.

Since then he has rested at home.

A follow-up examination Feb. 28 showed "no evidence of the previous problem," Mr. Bald said. "The doctor ran a second EKG [electrocardiogram], which when compared with the first showed no evidence of any problem. I'm of course elated by the news."

Mr. Bald said that, though he feels fine, he tires easily and is still somewhat weak. "The doctor said I should continue to take it easy but that I could begin simple exercise like taking walks. He thought that by the middle of March I could return to work on a regular basis."

Mr. Bald said he has received more than 200 cards. "We have been deluged with cards and letters of well-wishing. I'd like to publicly thank everyone who has written, since there is no way I can answer all the mail we have received."

BIG SANDY — The Ambassador College basketball teams here and at Pasadena ended their first intercollegiate seasons with winning records.

The Big Sandy team finished 21-7, while its Pasadena counterpart finished with a 16-12 season record.

The Big Sandy team climaxed its season with a 105-71 romp over Hillsdale Free-Will Baptist College of Moore, Okla., Feb. 27 here.

The Pasadena team, coached by Jim Petty, ended its season with a 52-50 loss in Mexico to the University of Toluca of Toluca, Mexico.

BIG SANDY — The head coach of Big Sandy's Ambassador Royals basketball team, Kermit Nelson, has stepped down as head coach after leading the Royals to a 21-7 win-loss record in their first season of intercollegiate play.

Mr. Nelson has been athletic director and a faculty member on this campus since it opened in 1964. Before that he taught at Imperial Schools here, beginning in 1957. He has coached various teams for 25 years.

He will continue as athletic director, which includes coordinating schedules, transportation and other activities for the 15 intercollegiate teams Ambassador College plans to sponsor next year.

He will also continue as activity director of the Summer Educational

KERMIT NELSON

Program at Orr, Minn., and work toward completing his doctorate in physical education.

Mr. Nelson has been replaced as head coach by his assistant, Eric Williams, former basketball coach at Imperial Schools, Pasadena.

TULSA, Okla. — Jim Redus, pastor of the church here, is improving following health problems that began the middle of January. He had been in bed or severely restricted in daily activities for more than three weeks.

According to his wife Karen, Mr. Redus had severe chest pains and a "nagging cough" that he thought possibly indicated a heart condition.

"Jim called Mr. Ted Armstrong on Feb. 7, and he encouraged him to get a physical examination," Mrs. Redus said.

The results of the physical were returned Feb. 17 and revealed Mr. Redus was suffering from a lung infection.

Mr. Redus is doing much better but "still gets a little tired in the evenings and still has an occasional cough," Mrs. Redus said.

PASADENA — A publicity seminar was conducted by the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce and the Pasadena Star-News in the Ambassador College Student Center here Feb. 25.

The 92 participants came from the San Gabriel Valley business community.

George Mair, director of community services for KNX radio in Los Angeles, spoke during lunch.

Participants were offered a tour of the Ambassador Auditorium after the meetings.

BIG SANDY — Sixteen registered Brown Swiss cattle from the Ambassador College Agriculture Division have been sold to a cattlemen's association in Ecuador, reports Neal Kinsey, business manager of the division. Nine heifers and seven bulls 10 to 16 months old are included in the deal.

The South Americans are looking for cattle with a high heat tolerance.

"The cattlemen's association in Ecuador is interested in buying between 300 and 500 head of registered Brown Swiss," Mr. Kinsey said.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Jerry Sandoval, 17, who was severely injured in a car wreck Jan. 12, continues to improve, according to his father, local elder Delfino Sandoval.

Mr. Sandoval said that as a result of an operation in which a metal rod was placed alongside Jerry's backbone, Jerry should be able to sit up soon and to use a wheelchair.

Mr. Sandoval said Jerry "is in good spirits" and often jokes with doctors and nurses. "Doctors can hardly believe the strength he has," he said. "Feeling seems to be coming back in the right leg."

Doctors say that what use of his legs Jerry will regain should return within the next two or three months.

"Doctors tell him he is not going to walk, but Jerry says he believes in the miracles of God and His power and will not give up," Mr. Sandoval said. "Jerry says to thank everyone for their cards and gifts and above all for their prayers and those that fasted for his complete recovery."

He said Jerry is still getting letters of encouragement and can't find time to answer them all.

Jerry's home address is 806 Crestview, San Antonio, Tex., 78228.

PASADENA — The San Gabriel Valley Youth Chorus presented a concert in the Ambassador Auditorium here before about 400 people Feb. 23.

Worldwide Church of God youths ranging in age from 4 to 17 made up the chorus.

They were directed by David Dale and accompanied by Laurie Perman.

BIG SANDY — A contribution of $746.78 for Nacogdoches, Tex., flood victims, raised at a basketball game here between the Ambassador College faculty and the "Thunderchickens" of Tyler, Tex., radio station KTBB (The Worldwide News, Feb. 17), prompted responses from two Nacogdoches citizens.

A vice president of the Commercial National Bank of Nacogdoches, Gean B. Hale, wrote the college to "express on behalf of the community of Nacogdoches our appreciation for your concern and effort through this donation. Out of this tragedy has come many acts of kindness and heartwarming efforts of brotherly love."

A resident, Mrs. Dee von Allmen, wrote: "Please accept our deepest heartfelt 'thanks' to all of you at Ambassador College and the [radio] personnel for that wonderful check and benefit basketball game you held for Nacogdoches flood victims. This was one of the nicest Christian gestures ever. May God bless each and every one of you for your love and concern shown."
