Former academic dean to fill new executive post

PASADENA - An executive vice president of Ambassador College was appointed March 16 by college Presi-dent Garner Ted Armstrong so Mr. Armstrong will have more time to devote to what he called "front-line responsibilities of the Worldwide Church of God."

VOL. VI, NO. 7

Mr. Armstrong, commenting on the appointment of Dr. Donald Ward, nic dean on the Texas campu of Ambassador until it closed last vear, said:

"In order to effect drastically needed improvements within the Work, I must now delegate much of my mainline responsibilities in the college. Therefore I am appointing Dr. Ward and delegating to him the day-to-day administrative responsibilities of Ambassador College."

Dr. Ward, who was academic dean (dean of faculty) from 1976 until the Big Sandy, Tex., campus closed in May, 1977, has served as pastor of the Tyler, Tex., church since the school

Dr. Ward said he will move here to assume his duties as soon as possible. though his wife, Wanda, may remain in Texas until the end of the school year because of their two daughters, who attend Texas schools

In announcing Dr. Ward's appointment, Mr. Armstrong characterized him as being "highly re-spected by faculty and student body alike during his term of office in Big Sandy.

Mr. Armstrong said Dr. Ward will "relieve me of a massive burden of day-to-day responsibilities in the college. Thus I will retain the office of sident and will be dealing directly with Dr. Ward and he with those at the (See NEW EXECUTIVE, page 11)

Area coordinators meet; goals for growth outlined

PASADENA - Area coordinators of the United States field ministry met for almost six hours a day for four days here beginning March 24 to discuss and make recon mendations regarding ministerial transfers, manpower needs and general church-area planning.

Gamer Ted Armstrong opened the meetings by addressing the coor-dinators, their counterparts from Canada and key Church administrative personnel concerning goals for Church growth. (The Canadian area coordinators remained only for the first day's meetings.)

Ted Herlofson, director of ministerial services, said recommendations were made regarding which ministers would come here for sabbaticals for the 1978-79 academic year, where those presently on sabbatical should be transferred, other ministerial transfers within the United States and the starting of new churches. He said all recommendations are being presented to Mr. Armstrong for approval

Edward Smith, coordinator for the Great Lakes Area, said the meeting went well.

GTA states goals

Mr. Armstrong began the first meeting at 9:15 with informal remarks. The meeting began officially shortly after 9:30 with an opening prayer

Mr. Armstrong said the subject of church growth had been much on his mind recently, and he wanted to call on the entire ministry to help shoulder the responsibility of member growth. He said every pastor has just as much responsibility to share in the first-commission efforts of the Work as anyone else, noting that the Church does not have two commissions as much as the one "great commission" (See NEW GOALS, page 11)

He said Mr. Dart had done such a fine job organizing the field ministry that a "top evangelist" is no longer needed to "function as an intermediary between myself and the ministry at large.

Mr. Armstrong praised the job done by Mr. Dart, saying he took the job "at a time during which we were very much in need of additional organization, stabilization and de-velopment. Dear brethren in Christ:

Greetings from Pittsburgh!

I just returned from a very inspiring (I hope!) Sabbath service with 1,980 brethren at the Soldiers & Sailors Memorial Hall here in Pittsburgh!

Before going over to Sabbath services at 2:30 this afternoon, I had been on the telephone to headquarters with Mr. John Robinson, managing editor of The Worldwide News, who tape-recorded for me a vitally important member - co-worker letter you will be receiving soon. I had asked that excerpts of letters from many of our members and co-workers, plus a good deal of information in the form of an outline from Mr. Richard Rice, head of our Mail Processing Center and subscriber development, be forwarded to me here at the hotel via Telex. After it arrived I spent some time in study of the Scriptures, preparing notes and doing research preparatory to my letter to members and co-workers which was dictated earlier.

I had barely completed that task when the telephone rang and Mr. Thornhill informed me he was waiting out front with the automobile, so I had to very quickly change into a suit and rush off for the Sabbath services.

Hastily scribbled notes

Thankfully I had spent a great deal of time in the last few days in thought and prayer over the message I wanted to bring to the brethren in Pittsburgh and so hastily scribbled a few reminders on a piece of paper during Mr. Thornhill's sermonette!

(I had intended to outline my remarks very carefully, since they tied directly into the lengthy statement I had made before the area coordinators in our meeting at headquarters only a few days earlier, but I simply didn't have the time.)

I found the brethren at Pittsburgh very responsive, warmly receptive and enthusiastic to all they heard. Mr. Thornhill gave a brief sermonette in which he outlined the tremendous wealth and value of the YOU program to the Church, including the recent conclusion of our national cheerlead-ing and basketball contests at Big Sandy, plans for the Summer Educa tional Program and the tremendous benefit the Youth Opportunities United organization is proving for the thousands of young people in the Church.

Following this we heard an inspiring choral number from the Pittsburgh choir, and I spoke for about an hour and 35 minutes.

Now I am here in my hotel once again talking to all of you brethren via long-distance telephone and Mr. Robinson's tape recorder for this "Personal."

VOII national tournament

We were particularly inspired to be able to attend several of the sessions (both cheerleading and basketball) in the beautiful newly remodeled field house on the Big Sandy campus for the Youth Opportunities United national finals in cheerleading and basketball!

To be involved with all these hundreds of young people, to share in their hopes, their excitement, their despair and their rejoicing, is a deeply rewarding experience. It gives us a great deal of satisfaction to see the hundreds of young people represent-ing the membership of the Worldwide Church of God our own children being able to participate in their local regional and even national sports, talent contests and other activities! We saw many fine examples (and a

Extinguishing Africa's lights of freedom

PASADENA - The map of Africa is being painted red once again. But this time it is not the old color of the British Empire; it is the scarlet of the world's greatest imperialistic power, the Soviet Union. This year, 1978, will be a crucial one to see just how far this new imperialism extends

While Moscow advances, the so called free world, which may not be free for much longer, is suffering from an almost total paralysis of both comprehension of what is going on and the will to do anything about it.

If the Russians and their Cuban surrogate forces continue to have their way in the Horn of Africa, solidifying their hold on Ethiopia, suing beaten Somalia for peace, they will have pulled off the biggest colonial coup since Mussolini's own Ethiopian imbroglio in 1936.

Pitifully weak

Moscow is laughing all the way to the political bank. The most the United States, Britain or anyone else has said about the Kremlin's naked power grab in the Horn is President Carter's pitifully weak statement to Center's printing weak statement to the Soviets that, once Somali troops would leave Ethiopia's Ogaden re-gion, a pullback of Cuban troops and Soviet advisers in Ethiopia "should beein " begin." "should begin"! What does that Britain's mean? It typifies, says Britain's noted geopolitician Lord Chalfont, the West's "faint and spineless

Having acted with impunity in the African Horn, the Soviets are now ready to fish for bigger bait elsewhere in Africa

As Lord Chalfont sums it up: What we are faced with in Ethiopia is the latest phase in a carefully coor-dinated Russian plan. What happened in Angola is now happening in the Horn of Africa. If it succeeds there as it succeeded in Angola, the

The policy and practice of the Russian government has always been to push forward its encroachments as far and as fast as the apathy or want of firmness of other governments would allow it to go, but always to stay and retire when it met with decided resis-

But America and Britain have lost the will to resist. This fact, opines the mes of Johannesh urg, is the "brutal reality of the matter." Nowhere is this fact more evident than in the failure to support peaceful solutions to the dilemmas in Rhodesia and South-West Africa. In each case, because of fear of a new confrontation with the Soviets, the United States and Britain are leaning over backwards to compromise with guerrilla leaders who show no in-terest in compromise, nor in the concept of majority rule, for that matter. In Rhodesia Prime Minister Ian Smith and three moderate nationalist leaders have decided on their "internal agreement" for the transformation to majority rule by the end of this year. One would have thought this would satisfy Washington, which must also be a party to the solution. Mr. Smith has extended his hand to the guerrilla leaders with the provision that they renounce their ter-rorism. But the two outsiders have refused. Realizing they could never win in a free election, they have elected to go to Moscow for the guns needed to put them into office. Instead of turning a cold shoulder to the mischief makers, the United States and Britain have decided to ete with the Soviet Union for their affection, a contest that is un-

The United Nations, of course, supports the revolutionaries. The General Assembly even refused to give the rostrum to one of three moderate leaders to explain the virtues and mechanics of the internal settle-ment. Instead it let Mr. Mugabe have the microphone. He denounced before the "august body" (his words) the moderate black leaders, calling them "African stooges," adding that the Patriotic Front would continue to fight until it completely overthrows "the existing colonial regime now joined by a small clique of black puppets." America's UN ambassador, An-article about the man himself in "Whter-view" in The Worldwide News of Jan. 30. I have found that I have a far deeper understanding of world events — espe-cially from his articles on Africa and Rhodesia — than I could get from fighting for, if majority rule is in-sured? Personal power, of course.

Fear of involvement

The western "powers" are afraid to back up their own majority-rule policy out of fear of "getting in-volved." As the Johannesburg Star editorial, mentioned earlier, went on to say:

'No more humbug about 'majority rule,' no more sanctimonious posturing about racism, no more pretense of moral superiority. Just a failure of will. The sad truth of the matter is that when the United States lifted its ambassador from the roof of his embattled embassy in Saigon it abandoned not only its allies in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, but it abandoned a cause. Angola bore this out; so does the Pavlovian anxiety of the United States on the Horn of Africa; and so does Mr. Young's [comment] on Rhodesia." In South-West Africa (Namibia), the problem is much the same. The big five western powers

(America, Britain, France, West Germany and Canada) have cravenly condescended to almost every demand of the terrorist South-West mand of the terrorist sourn-wess Africa People's Organization (SWAPO) in negotiations over the political future of South-West Af-rica. This even though SWAPO isn't even interested in majority rule! The South African daily Beeld editorialized: "The West is prepared to accommodate SWAPO to such an extent that it will actually be able to take over South-West Africa without moving an inch." The newspaper Hoofstad lamented about "the paralysis and helpless-ness of the West."

American negotiator for Namibia Ambassador Don McHenry, who leads the group of western negotiators, defended the group's preoccupation with SWAPO by say (See AFRICA, page 11)

Whom to write

Whom to write Regarding the "Special Requests" sec-tion, may I point out a problem that has come to my attention and offer a solution to it. A good example of the problem is the very first entry in that section in the Feb. 27 issue. Many people respond to those requests by writing letters or send-ing encouraging cards or notes back. However, sometimes when only an al-phanumeric identification is assigned (as in this case), or when only one name and address are mentioned, it is difficult to determine just who the reader is writing to. For example, in the first entry, when a determine just who the reader is writing to. For example, in the first entry, when a person writes to E141 are they writing to the sister and her son, or to the person sending in the request? Obviously the content of the letter may be quite differ-ent, depending on who is receiving it.

ent, depending on who is receiving it. As a solution, may I suggest that either the writers of requests be advised to specify the name and full address of the people to receive the cards, letters, etc., or just to have it completely anonymous if that is desired. I sometimes wonder why people are at times so desirous to receive cards and letters and yet want to remain unnamed. It does make it difficult to an-swer appropriately for the writer in these cards. Though by the time you read this it may all be over, I could not help but speculate that it appears the state of Arkansas may well take it all this year! In our own YOU national basketball fi-nals, the team from Little Rock, Ark., emerged victorious while at the same time I was awaiting word of the semi-finals in the NCAA basketball championship from St. Louis, where Arkan-sas was to play Kentucky later today or this evening and Duke was to play Notre Dame. Incidentally it was certainly inspiring to see the many people, the stands packed with spectators, the lights, action, color and sound of the national tournament on the Big Sandy campus. I was told by one observer: "You have an absolutely magnificent, beautiful campus here. What a shame it cannot be reopened and we cannot see hundreds of young people here in a col-lege setting!" ## Spoke with father

1 spoke to my father recently and found him to be in good spirits, par-ticularly pleased over the opportunity to have spent several hours with the second increment of our sabbatical ministers recently and looking forward very much to the next, and final.

As usual I spoke to him at some length about his diet, the need to walk a good deal more and the progress he is making. As we have explained for so many times, it seems, his primary concern is umes, it seems, it spirmary concern is to force himself to take enough of the kind of red-blood-building foods such as meats and vegetables, foods strong in iron such as beets, beet tops, spinach, cranberry juice, etc., so his body can gather, strength. As he so well knew back during the most critical part of his recent illness, this was going to be a long process. involving several months of recuperation.

I am sure my father is hopeful that he will be able to resume at least a partial schedule of his duties some time soon, and I can certainly com-miserate and empathize over his personal desire to once again be back "in harness" and as active as possible.

It is now some seven months since his illness, and I know that he is very thank ful to be able to be contributing to The Plain Truth, receiving groups of ministers into his home in Tucson for meetings and be continually involved in the decision-making process at the top level in the Work, even though I am sure he is very eager once again to assume an even more active role.

Book deadline

Meanwhile I am once again looking at a book deadline in a matter of days, and I only have about half the manuscript written!

However, 1may see if my publisher won't be satisfied with the first two to three hundred pages of copy to at least give them a fair idea of exactly where the book is going for their own marketing surveys, etc., and request a slight extension so that I can finish the entire project within a reasonable period of time.

Since I have chosen to do a narrative of all four of the Gospels as they harmonize in logical and chronological sequence, I chose to put the entire story of Christ's birth, young life, (See PERSONAL, page 11)

Ministers on the move

PASADENA — Here are short biographical sketches of the men who will transfer to new areas to assume the posts to which they have recently been appointed by Garner Ted Armstrong. (For more details on the ap-pointments, see "GTA Announces Reassignments," page 1.)

Martin Bode, 34, who will soor assume the post of regional director for the Work in Germany, and his wife, Helena, became members of the Church in 1971 in Johannesburg, South Africa.

The Bodes later attended the English campus of Ambassador College from 1973 until 1975. After the English campus closed, the Bodes completed their Ambas-sador education in Pasadena.

Upon graduation, the couple returned to their native South Africa, where Mr. Bode has most recently been employed as mail-processing mager, systems analyst and com puter programer for the Work's Johan hannesburg operations. He has served simultaneously as area representative for South-West Africa and associate pastor of the East Rand church.

Besides his bachelor's degree from Ambassador, Mr. Bode holds a bachelor-of-science degree from the University of Stellenbosch, South Af-rica, which he received in 1965. He holds a degree in business manage-ment and administration from the same university, received in 1969. The Bodes have two children: Estelle, 10, and Belinda, 5.

Since graduation from Ambassador in 1954, C. Wayne Cole, 48, who is the new coordinator for the ministerial-management team at Pasadena, has held numerous posi-tions in the Work.

He served as a field minister in the United States for seven years after graduation, until 1961, when he and his family were transferred to Aus tralia to direct the Work there.

During his 11 years in Australia he was named vice president for finan-cial affairs for Australia, New Zealand and the Far East

In 1972 Mr. Cole returned to head quarters as vice president in charge of publishing and was later named direc-tor of church administration and development in 1974. He also served as chairman of a doctrinal committee. Mr. Cole was transferred to Vancouver, B.C., to head the Canadian Work in 1976. He married the former Doris Allen in 1953. They have three children: Randall Brian, 22, Richard Allen, 13, and Patricia Ann, 20.

* * *

Abraham "Bram" de Bree, 48, will move from Canada to the Netherlands to be the director of the Dutch

Mr. de Bree, originally from Flushing, Netherlands, is a Montreal, Que., architect. He and his wife, Geertruida, have two daughters: Catherine, 21, and Jane, 17. Mr. de Bree attended a technical school in Arnhem, Netherlands, and a school of architecture in Amsterdam.

He was ordained a deacon in 1973 and a local elder in 1976. * * *

Currently on sabbatical in Pasadena, Lyall Johnson, 40, who will soon be head of the Work in New Zealand, graduated from Ambassador's English campus, in Bricket Wood, in 1967.

He was ordained a deacon in 1969 became a local elder in 1970 and a preaching elder in 1974.

After graduation he served as assis-tant manager of the Mail Receiving Department at Bricket Wood until early 1968, when he was transferred to New Zealand to become a ministerial assistant. He served as office supervisor and

Plain Truth circulation manager until 1973

After serving in the New Zealand field ministry from 1975 to 1977, he came to Pasadena for a sabbatical.

Mr. Johnston and his wife, Wyn-nis, both native New Zealanders, have three children: Lianne Kay, 16, Paul Craig, 14, and Karen Ruth, 9

* * *

Dr. Roy McCarthy, 53, most re-cently director of the Dutch Work, will move to Johannesburg to assume the post of director of the African Work.

Dr. McCarthy graduated from Ambassador, Bricket Wood, in 1970 and was appointed manager of the Mail Processing Department there. Since December, 1974, he has lived in the Netherlands, adming the Dutch Work.

Dr. McCarthy was a physician in general practice in South Africa before coming to Bricket Wood in 1967. He received his medical degree from Cape Town University in 1948 and practiced medicine from 1949 until 1966 the tournament's most valuable player. Joining Baugh on the all-tournament team were teammate Donnell Washington, John and Jim Murray of Santa Ana, Barry Richard of Lafayette, Dan Reyer of Des Moines and Rob Shafer of Charleston. Lafayette took the sportsmanship award for the tournament. During the 12 games no technical fouls had to be called, and Mr. Blackwell said the attitudes and appearance of the bas-ketball players and the other YOU participants had improved substan-tially over last year.

Leading cheerers

Dayton took the cheerleading con-test of March 22. The competition contest of March 22. The competition con-sisted of each of the eight cheerleading squads representing each of the eight YOU regions doing three cheers and a dance routine. The cheering squads were judged by representatives from the National Cheerleading Association of Dallas and from Kilgore (Tex.) College.

Dallas took second place in cheerleading, while Santa Ana took third.

The other five teams participating, although not in order of finish, were Columbus, Ohio; Denver, Colo.; Des Moines; Greensboro, N.C.; and Texoma.

The Texoma Tornado captured the girls' basketball crown with a 26-24 victory over Jackson, Miss., on a lay-up shot with 20 seconds remaining by Sharon Stair after Jackson had led most of the contest. Texoma had advanced to the finals by defeating Des Moines 30-16 while Jackson had squeezed by Oklahoma City, Okla., 31-30. Oklahoma City captured third place with a 24-22 victory over the Des Moines Pantherettes.

Susie Smith of Oklahoma City was named most valuable player, scoring 47 of her team's 54 points. Also on the all-tournament squad were Pam Burson of Jackson, Joan Lehmkuhl of Des Moines, Linda Kay Stephens of Jackson and Donna and Sharon Stair of Texoma.

North vs. South Just before the boys' championship game, an all-star bas-ketball contest took place be-tween YOU members from the North and South selected from teams that had not made the final eight tournament teams. The South All-Stars won the contest 73-69 behind 24 points from Mike Machin of Houston, Tex., and Roylin Bond of Macon, Ga., with 23 points.

Tom Nichols, an Indianapolis, Ind., player, led the North with 14 points.

Bill Sharman, general manager of the Los Angeles Lakers, spent half the game on each team's bench, assisting the coach.

Squash champ pursues success

By Edward Smith BRICKET WOOD, England Church member Samir Nadim bas his eye firmly on a goal. He hopes his skills in the game of squash (or skills in the game of squash (or squash racquets) will someday work to the good of God's Work in Britain. Samir, 41, takes literaily the subti-tle of Quest/78: The Pursuit of Excel-lence. As founder of Squash International, this former Egyptian squash professional fully expects to rock the squash world with the coming publication of his new book, Successful Squash.

This controversial paperback will be published worldwide in late su mer or early autumn by Penguin Books, Ltd. Penguin, based at the Harmondsworth Press in England, has plans to publish the pocket man-ual throughout Britain, Europe, the Middle and Far East, Australia and New Zealand. The author will launch the book himself on a personal visit to the United States.

Samir expects the book to hit the market at a time when support for the small-ball game will hit an all-time high. It is the philosophy behind the book that Samir believes will guaran-tee it a place in the ranks of bestselling paperbacks.

Missing dimension

"The book presents God's way," said Samir. "In Successful Squash 1 shall be including one key chapter that unlocks the real path to success. It will be entitled 'The Missing Di-mension in Squash." The chapter will clearly show two key relationships, or laws, or commandments, if you will. These applied will enable all players to succeed consistently at their game.

"These laws, or principles, are so simple, yet so few recognize them. They must be obeyed, of course. It is obedience to them which leads to excellence in squash. Mr. Nadim came to Britain in 1960, when he represented Egypt in the world squash championships. His relationship with the Church and Am-bassador College began in late 1964, when he started coaching students at the then-open campus of Ambassador at Bricket Wood. In 1966 he accepted a position as an instructor at the college. He remained at that post until the college closed in 1974. Now married, with four children, Samir still lives and works at Bricket Wood, Every day he arrives at the squash courts and offices of the former Ambassador College and begins a vigorous program of coaching and encouraging an ever-growing body of clients.

His pupils come from all over the Hertfordshire area and further. In his leased facilities they learn and prac-tice his methods, eagerly applying his teachings to improve their play. Samir's main assistant and chief pupil is another Egyptian squash star. Moussa Helal, the young winner of the squash plate at the 1976 world championships at Wembley. Samir fully expects to groom Moussa to be-come outright world champion in a couple of years. Samir also coaches Piers Morris, the English junior champion, and Jan Holten, the Middlesex ladies' champion, who was recently picked for the England Ladies' Team.

Jan applied to Samir for coaching knowing virtually nothing about the game. Samir built her abilities from scratch and she is now one of the foremost young British players.

Britain's Best

One of Samir's objectives is to build the best squash center in Brit-ain, where he could train other pro-fessionals, other squash teachers and many promising youngsters. These in turn would promote his methods far beyond Bricket Wood. It is at Bricket Wood, right on the Ambassador campus, that he envisions his squash center. Architect's plans have been approved for no less than six glass-backed professional courts that Samir hopes to see built in due time. That is four more than the famed Wembley squash complex can offer

Should the college property change hands, Samir is confident the new owners would eagerly encour-age his promotion of Squash International. But, like most Bricket Wood members, his deep wish is that the

the former college property. As was recounted in The Worldwide News of Sept. 13, 1976, Samir Nadim is throwing down the gauntlet before the world of professional squash play with his book, along with his challenge that would guarantee consistent success for anyone who will implement the princi ples he spells out in Successful Squash

Though his work - the culmination of 12 years of research and experimenting on the campus - may provoke some professional jealousy in certain quarters, Samir is convinced that ultimately he will be serv-ing squash. He believes his book will bring to the game internationally a far higher standard of play and enjoyment for all players.

And, if in the process God's Work can be benefited and promoted, so much the better.

MAJOR AND THE DESERTED HOUSE

The old farmhouse on the hill stood deserted and lonely. Its staring windows had been boarded, but now half of the boards had rotted away in the rain and snows of passing years

Jim Wilson stopped at the sagging wire fence that had once outlined a yard. "I don't see Grandpa's lamb around here. Let's go on back home. This place gives me the creeps and it's getting late in the day. Major? Where are you?'' Major came around the corner of the old house, weaving a crooked path as his nose sniffed the ground. Chipmunks! And mice! They were all over the place and he searched out the delicious smells. He tracked a chipmunk to the sagging back door. As he pawed at the door it opened and creaked back far enough for him to slip inside.

"Come on, Major. What do you want in there for?" Jim pushed into the house after him.

Rodent insulted

Giving a yap of delight, Major shot after a chipmunk that dived for a hole in the corner of the empty room. Too late, he pressed his nose against the hole and hurled insults at the rodent. Turning his attention to another scent, Major started up a flight of stairs to the second floor.

"Where're you going now?" Jim called.

At the top of the stairs the smell of mice was everywhere. Com had once been stored on the second floor, but now only a pile of cobs remained. Mice had feasted on every kernel. Pawing at the cobs, Major sent several flying across the room where wallpaper hung halfway down from the ceiling. A fat, gray mouse leaped for a windowsill. Snap! Major's jaws closed on air behind it

"Major! Come down!" called Jim, "We don't belong in here.

Used to obeying at once, Major raised his head. Another mouse scurried from the cobs to a round hole in the corner. Major pawed at the cobs and sent more flying.

Thump! Thump! Jim stomped up the stairs after his dog. "I told you to come!

Splinter! Crash!

Major turned in time to see Jim go crashing down through two steps in the middle of the stairway. Now there was a gaping hole.

No doorknob

Padding down three steps, Major peered cautiously into darkness. "Aaarrff?" "You'd better say arf!" came Jim's voice. "Now look what you made me do. How will I get out of here?"

Springing gracefully past the opening, Major scampered down the rest of the wobbly stair steps and trotted around to the narrow door under the stairs. He scratched on it. Jim answered by pounding his fist on the door. "Where's the doorknob?" he called. "If you see a doorknob, turn it, will you Major, old pal? You can do it." Whining, Major paced before the door. There was no doorknob, only a hole where one once had been. And two boards had been nailed across the door to keep it shut. Rising on his hind legs, he scratched at the boards

Jim pounded and Major backed off, sneezing at dust. "This is a fine fix," Jim said. "I can't reach the top to climb out, and the door won't budge. There's nothing but dust in here. And not much light." Silence for a moment. "Major, go get Grandpa!"

Stiffening, Major raised his ears. "Home, Major! Go home!"

Major whined. I won't leave you, Jim. You need me. I'll wait till you come out. He settled on his stomach. "Major!"

"Aarrf?"

"I said for you to go home!"

"Oooohhhh," moaned Major. Do I have to? I don't want to leave you. "Go, boy, go!"

Going for help

Major turned and sadly trotted to the back door. He gave a backward glance to the closet that imprisoned his master, whined again and slipped on out into sunlight. It was a mile back to Grandpa's farmhouse, but Major knew how to make good time. He would take a shortcut. Coming to Seven-Mile Creek at a shallow place, he easily splashed across. Movement upstream caught his attention. "Baaa-aah!"

Grandpa's half-grown sheep stood in the water, stuck in mud Major trotted up to its . "Wooorff!" he encouraged. Get on out of there. Follow me home.

The sheep struggled and pulled two feet loose but sank back. Try! Major barked but the sheep would not try again. It stood in hopeless dejection.

Major turned away and scurried up the creek bank. First things must come first. Jim needed to be rescued. Hot and panting, he reached the back door of the farmhouse just as Grandma came out with scraps of potato peelings to take to the hen house.

"Oh, are you back, Major?" She smiled down at him. "Where's Jimmy?"

Grandma won't listen

Major turned around and started toward the barn. He looked back. Grandma had gone on to the hen house. He bounced over the ground, caught an apron string in his mouth and pulled.

"Here, now, Major, I don't have time to play." Bending, she Reter, now, wagor, 1 uon 1 nave time to play." Bending, she poured the peelings into a pan just inside the hen-house door. "I wonder where Jimmy is. That sheep he was looking for isn't that important. I don't like him to be wandering the countryside." Retying her apron, she picked up her dish and returned to the house. Major nipped at her shoes all the way to the door. "Stop that Major!

"Stop that, Major! Act your age." "Ococohhh!" Major pleaded. Follow me. Turning, he took three steps down the hill toward the pasture and stopped. Grandma went on into the house. He clawed at the door.

Grandma came out. "What's ailing you? You've never been so naughty before."
"Woorff!" Follow me! He started down the hill. The door slammed shut. It was no use. He had to find Grandpa.

Sniffing, Major followed the familiar scent down the walk. It led to the garage and stopped there. Grandpa had gone someplace in his car

'Ooooohhh!"' He uttered a long wail and settled down to wait. The sun sank lower until the garage was in total shade. Poor Jim. Alone in that deserted house. Waiting for help. When would Grandpa come?

Peace Corps life anything but peaceful Ambassador College in 1976, she wanted to become a teacher. But not just a teacher. She wanted to do something that was especially worthwhile, interesting and challenging. So Mary joined the U.S. Peace Corps. Today Mary is a teacher in Dong-ji Girls' School in Pohang City, South Korea. Mary is one of 200 Peace Corps volunteers in Korea at the moment. They are engaged in helping in many activities in the health and education areas. Mary was asked to teach English.

Life for a Peace Corps volunteer is anything but peaceful. Mary helps instruct nine classes in basic English. Each class has about 70 students. The school day begins at 8:30 a.m. and finishes at 5:30 p.m. Twice a week she helps at evening workshop classes. She also has to find time to teach a special class of advanced students of English.

Speaking English

Mary's goals are to get her students to be able to read, write and speak the language.

"I emphasize speaking," says Mary. "In the past the stress has been on reading and writing. Consequently many Koreans find difficulty in understanding spoken English."

Peace Corps volunteers are encouraged to fit in with the culture of the people they serve as much as possible. Mary lives in the home of one of the Korean teachers. She has a room 10 by 7 feet and a small outdoor porch on which she can cook and keep her food.

The toilet and bathroom are in a separate outhouse, the common practice in Asian countries.

"There is no hot running water, so I go to the public bathhouse when I want to take a bath," she says.

One of Mary's problems is keep ing warm during the harsh Korean winter

"The rooms are heated by a kind of coal brick that is placed under the floor of the house. Only a section of the floor is heated: the part that you sleep on. Many people die each year from the gas of these bricks. One of my students died this winter in this way."

sets. "They even took down the window curtains to use for the stage," Mary remembers.

This year she plans to put on Uncle Tom's Cabin. But first she must rewrite the dialogue in simple English. What makes Mary so Korea oriented?

"As a college student I visited Thailand on a summer education program. What I saw made me want to return to help educate the hill tribes. That opportunity never presented itself, so I decided to find some other people who could use my help for a while."

Mary Hamilton has done just that.

Unleavened Bread, Poppy Seed-Onion Crackers, Cheese-and-Rye Pie, Rum Cake, Fruit-Nut Bread, Crispy Date Bars and Vienna Cherry Tarts are some of the unleavened goodies that can grace your table as suggested by Worldwide News readers. If you want to cook up a batch of these exotic edibles, like the WN did,

Get praise with these unleavened ways

"I really enjoy all the recipes every year in the Church paper." writes Mrs. Don Gelaude of Al-gonac, Mich. "It makes the Days of Unleavened Bread easier for me and something I look forward to each year

The Worldwide News decided to bring unleavened-bread recipes back this year (after skipping last year) as a service to readers who may have a hard time finding leavenless instruc-tions in their own cookbooks.

If it falls your lot to keep yourself or your family supplied with nonleavened fare during the Days of Unleavened Bread (which this year falls April 22 to 28), you may find that baking enough flat bread to fill the alimentary gap could be a time-consuming, and pocket-breaking, project

If this is the case with you, perhaps the instructions on these pages, all submitted by WN readers, can be of help. This year, instead of printing virtually every submission by read-ers, the staff assumed the difficult task of sifting through the many, many excellent offerings and boiling them down to a few that could be printed in a type larger than in years past. Mrs. Carl Airsman of Boswell, Pa., is one reader who suggested "the recipes be printed a little larger, as in years past it was difficult to read many of them."

The members of the staff who selected and edited looked for recipes with two main characteristics: (1) those that dealt specifically with unleavened substitutes for the usual bread and leavened crackers most people eat every day and (2) those

NOTE: The abbreviations used in the recipes are T. (tablespoon), t. (teaspoon), oz.  that were not readily available in most standard cookbooks.

Though the staff condensed some of the longer recipes and decided which ones would make it into print, this is still a reader-produced feature. As Anne Grasty, a contributor from Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "I wish you much success in this 'recipe edition' and thank you for an opportunity to share in its assembling.

beautiful little bench on a steep, rocky hillside on a mountain overlooking the northwestern corner of the Sea of Galilee as the sun was painting the distant hills of the Golan Heights a light pink. As I was looking at the scattered morning clouds slowly evaporating beneath me, with my tape recorder I did a 30-minute radio broadcast in that inspiring scene, with the whole panorama of the Sea of Galilee before me and the outline of Capernaum off to my left. It has since occurred to me that it may be equally as inspiring to return to that very site and to other places in the land of Israel and the environs of Jerusalem and other areas to help me with the necessary information from a historical, ethnic, cultural and geo-graphical setting with the book.

Therefore I may even "disappear" overseas for a period of time, or at the very least someplace where I can de-vote myself almost solely (especially with the increased burden of daily broadcasting looming larger every day) to finishing the book!

entire ministry. He said, in addition to warning the world, the ministry needs to encour-age people to act on that warning and come to personal repentance. "There is a vast difference between telling someone, 'My job is to tell you the truth — let the chips fall where they may — and frankly it doesn't matter one whit to me what you do with it,' and telling someone, 'My job is to tell you the truth, knowing you might reject it, but it does matter a great deal to me what you do with it

Glad tidings

He said he is going to strive to insure that the radio broadcast in-clude "glad tidings of good things. and the message which includes the good news of the great joy that can be experienced when a person's whole life is completely changed, and when they settle and put to rest once and for all their entire eternal future." He called on every pastor to "make it his goal and aim as a vital part of his own personal responsibility to in-crease his church through his own watering, through his own diligent efforts in his community, notwithstanding absense of media

"Collectively God's Church must be a growing Church, or we will surely wither away and fail in the fulfillment of the great commission, and God will raise up others in our place."

ing, "If you ultimately want a political settlement you have to deal with the people with the guns."

Concession to barbarism

The magazine To the Point noted in an editorial, however, that the words "deal with" really mean "defer to," adding: "This is a dangerous concession to barbarism. Taken to its logical conclusion it simply means that you must cringe to the man with the biggest club ....."

Namibia, of course, is but the final step to the real goal. If the Russians can overthrow Rhodesia (admittedly a tough nut to crack) and South-West Africa, they can then ring South Af rica with a belt of radical states. They already have Angola and Mozam-bique in the bag.

Losing control

Robert Letts Jones, a news analyst and past president of Copely Press in San Diego, expressed recently in words I wish had been my own:

"I feel like a modern-day Paul Re-vere. My tricornered hat is as out of Tashion as my message. But I feel obligated to warn that the trend of events convulsing southern Africa spells danger for the United States. And for Western Europe too.

"The West is losing control of that part of the world to the cleverly dis-guised thrust of Soviet Russia.

"At stake are the vast mineral resources of the region, as well as the strategic sea route around the Cape of Good Hope. A combination of the two, dominated eventually by the imperialists in the Kremlin, could, in time, force the industrial democracies of Western Europe to surrender to Soviet blackmail. Then the United States would be isolated.

'Moscow realizes that. The West

Finally, let's not forget that in the trough of the advancing red wave in Africa stand hundreds of our brethren. In six months to a year members in Rhodesia especially could be fac-ing a gravely serious situation. Let's not forget to pray for their protection.

I'm sure all of you are as aware as I of the tremendous importance of the Israeli salient into the South of Lebanon, the day-to-day possibility of the Syrian armed forces entering into the conflict, the chilly meeting between Menachem Begin and President Jimmy Carter recently, the sale, now going on, of supersonic jet aircraft to Egypt and Saudi Arabia, the deteri-orating relations between the United States and Israel, and all other developments in the Middle East that seem to continue to contribute to this most volatile and important focal point of all the world from the point of view of biblical prophecy! I have felt bottled up for q time because it seemed I did not have the outlet or the medium through which I could voice so many dozens of ideas which I felt needed to be placed before the general public for their consideration. Now all that is rapidly changing!

With the beginning of our own Pacific Coast network soon, with half-hour, daily radio once again returning (which I had been doing for the last 22 or so years and my father for so many years before, beginning clear back in 1934), I will once again have access to 1934), I will once again that forum through which I can keep, not only most of our members and co-workers, but millions upon millions of the general public thoroughly informed and aware of the true meaning of these events in the light of Bible ophecy

Personal aside

As a personal aside, though my wife and I, through so many local church visits and so much travel last year, were virtually unable to get out into the backyard and develop a garden as we had done every year faith-fully for about the last eight years, we at least enjoyed a few hours on a recent Sunday morning in the backyard, preparing the ground for planting. And I made a hesitant start by at least putting one small row of radish seed in the ground!

Maybe things will slow down enough that I can sneak a few hours here and there into the backvard vithin the next month or so and enjoy the fruits of our own garden once again, but I am beginning to doubt it! That's about it for now. I hope all of you will read every single word of my recent member - co-worker letter, and I hope you will PRAY that hundreds upon hi indreds of those who are co workers with us in this great Work will be really moved and touched by what they read and will want to be come even more personally involved in the great Work of which God has made us all a part!

Mr. Armstrong said the appoint-ment of Dr. Ward will free more time for him to spend with activities that directly have to do with the Church. "I will devote myself almost entirely to my front-line responsioned dealing with the Church and doing transion and writing," he said.

Dr. Ward enrolled as a student at Ambassador College, Big Sandy, in 1969, even though he already held a master's degree. (He received a bachelor-of-science degree from Delta State University in Cleveland, Miss., in 1961 and a master's degree from the University of Southern Mis-sissippi at Hattiesburg in 1968.)

While taking classes at Ambassador, he also began pursuing his doctorate at East Texas State University at Commerce, about 80 miles from Big Sandy. He received a second in 1972 and a year later his Ed.D. in secondary and higher education from East Texas State

Dr. Ward joined the faculty at Ambassador College in 1970 and became associate dean of faculty in 1973, before being named academic dean in January, 1976. He is a member of the American Psychological Association and Pi Gamma Mu and in 1975 was selected as an outstanding educator of America. Dr. Ward and Mrs. Ward have two daughters: Sherrie, 19, a student at Tyler Junior College, and Donna, 15, a freshman at Gladewater High

By picking up the copy once the secretaries had transcribed it from

Even though at the very beginning of both books I found the only way to really begin was at the typewriter and that some sections simply seem to flow better at the type writer than at the tape recorder. I actually use a combination of three separate methods

Overtime victory

FLINT, Mich. — The district Class II basketball final held Feb. 12 in De-troit will long be remembered by the Flint teens. The Detroit East Knights, defending champions, were chal-lenged by the Flint Royals. The Roy-als had built a 6-point lead with one minute remaining. Then the Knights' Tony Campoll, high scorer with 22 points, scored three straight baskets to tie the score. Time ran out, forcing the same into overtime

Halfway through the overtime. Halfway through the overtime, the Royals' leading scorer for the season, Doug Norkus, fouled out. But, with only four seconds remaining, Royal Ron Lee was fouled. He made the first basket of his one-and-one situation to give Flint a 40-39 victory. The first-year Flint cheerleaders were also winners, placing third in competition. G. Chalmers.

Pastor refutes charges Church in Bahamian controversy NASSAU, Bahamas - The pastor

the Nassau church, Kingsley Mather, called a news conference March 14 to refute allegations by a Bahamian religious leader that the Worldwide Church of God is "creepinto the Bahamas to indoctriing nate the minds of young people, that the Church uses "bizarre methods" to teach its followers and that it does not believe in the teachings of Jesus

Stunce Williams, director of Bahamas Youth for Christ, in a press conference of his own four days earlier, had called on the Bahamas Christian Council to "do some-thing" about what he called "cults" that are "creeping into" the country. The Nassau Tribune of March 10 said Mr. Williams had accused "cult groups such as the Children of God, the Moonies and the Armstrong group" of "indoctrinating the young people of the Bahamas.

The newspaper quoted Mr. Wil-liams as saying: "I have been inves-tigating for three years now but I just cannot get enough support. Me and Cyril Stevenson [Bahamas Informa-tion Service chief] have spent hours and hours together trying to get information to expose Mr. Herbert Armstrong.'

The Tribune said Mr. Williams claimed "the Armstrong group" does not believe in the teachings of Christ

Warning signs

The Youth for Christ director, according to the report, called for young people to put up signs similar to traffic signs to warn youths against having their minds indoctrinated by cult religion.

Another newspaper, the Nassau Guardian, the next day printed in-formation Mr. Williams had reportedly supplied the paper. In its article the paper said Mr. Williams claimed followers of the "H.W. Armstrong Movement . . . do not believe in Jesus Christ, do not believe that he was sinless, do not believe that he was born of a virgin and do not believe that he is the Son of God. If this teaching is brought to the minds of the young, it could be very damaging At the conference called to refute the statements attributed to Mr. Williams, Mr. Mather said:

"Contrary to this gentleman's statement, Mr. Herbert W. Arm-strong's visit to the Bahamas [in 19761 was widely publicized. For weeks prior to his coming, radio and newspaper ads made the public aware of his plan to visit. 'His stay here received wide news coverage, and his activities included meetings with a number of the nation's top leaders. These activities are in no way consistent with, quote, creeping into the Bahamas."

(Mr. Armstrong visited the Bahamas in March, 1976, to meet Governor General Milo Butler and Prime Minister Lynden Pindling and conduct a three-day personalappearance campaign.)

Follow Scripture

Mr. Mather then addressed the charge that the Church and Mr. Armstrong do not believe in the teachings of Christ: "An individual wishing to become a member of the Worldwide Church God, of which Mr. Herbert W. Armstrong is pastor general, is re-quired to follow the scriptural princi-ples of repentance of sin, acceptance of the shed blood of Jesus Christ and water baptism. You can find that in Acts the second chapter and verse 34 in the New Testament.

'The Church sponsors a radio and television program and offers literature free on request as a means of fulfilling its commission to preach the Gospel." The charges by Mr. Williams and the refutation by Mr. Mather were reported widely in Nassau, with front-page reports appearing in the Tribune and the Guardian, and radio Tribu and television prominently reporting the statements. Mr. Mather told reporters at his press conference he was checking with the Church's Legal Department in Pasadena to see if any action against Mr. Williams or his organization were appropriate, As a result of the allegations and the ensuing publicity, an anonymous letter to the editor appeared in the Tribune March 14 from a writer identifying himself as a member of the Youth for Christ, the organization Mr. Williams directs. The letter stated, in part: "Mr. Williams attacked several

Mr. Williams attacked several groups including what he and Canon Thompson [vice president of the Bahamas Christian Council] called 'the Armstrong Empire.' Most peo-ple who have heard Gamer Ted Arm-strong and his father, Herbert W. Armstrong, on radio and when Mr. Armstrong, on radio and when Mr. Armstrong senior gave his personal lectures here in Nassau will agree with me that the organization does most strongly believe in Jesus Christ as the Son of God who was born of Virgin Mary. If Mr. Willia and the Christian Council had really done any research, they would not in any honesty make these false allegations. All literature regarding the Worldwide Church of God, Garner Ted Armstrong, Herbert W Armstrong is free of charge, and just to help these religious leaders you may write to P.O. Box N3934, Nassau, Bahamas. "I am a Youth for Christ follower and a listener to the Garner Ted programme and subscriber to The P Truth magazine. As a young Bahamian, I cannot agree with Mr. Wil-liams and others that real Christianity is being threatened by allowing our minds to be exposed to these various teachings. I thought that the Bible said that if anyone comes with any teachings, as Christians, we are to search the Scriptures prayerfully and see if these things are so, and then if they are, no matter what we have been told, we are to obey God, rather than man. "So Stunce look within yourself

Christian Council, get down to the Bible and look hard and honestly at what you have been giving the youth of this country as truth. If you have been doing such a great job, why do we have this crime wave, why are our families breaking up so easily and rapidly, why is there so much im-morality?

'Search the Scriptures'

Fellow Bahamian young people. ask questions, don't just accept anything because the minister says so You can read. Search the Scriptures for yourself. It is God who reveals truth not man

"In closing, let me say that I think it is a tremendous time to be a young person and I wouldn't be anything of anywhere else at this particular time. There are some wonderful young people in the Bahamas who are trying with all the adverse publicity about 'young people' to develop good character and a philosophy of living that adheres to God's way and the way of helping our fellow Baha-mians. We have lots of questions and we need directives and guidance, but, please, religious leaders, stop trying to pass the buck. We can see through all your vain attempts to avoid the real issues. Level with us: If you don't know, admit you don't, id together let us ask God to show us the way.

"The Armstrongs are not doing any harm to Christianity; they're only trying to help us to find the real meaning of our existence and how to live abundant, happy lives. If you don't believe me, listen to the programme or send for some literature and judge for yourself. I believe this is still a free country!" Mr. Mather, 38, a native of the Bahamas who has also served church areas in Barbados, Bermuda and Jamaica, attended Ambassador College from 1969 to 1971. He lives in Nassau with his wife, Janice, and their three children.

PASADENA - The response to Garner Ted Armstrong's letter on Summer Educational Program scholarship donations is "overwhelm-ing," reports Ron Dick, associate ector of YOU.

Last year the YOU office recorded 825 donations. Responses this year already total 594, which have enabled the YOU office to award financial aid to 36 students to attend the SEP camp in Orr, Minn. More students will be accepted as funds become available

The program awards full and par-tial scholarships to students who would otherwise be unable to attend the camp.
